Says Meeting Could Be In New York, Elsewhere

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower wrote Soviet Premier Khrushchev today that he is seeking a summit meeting of the UN Security Council about Aug. 12 in New York or elsewhere and he hopes Khrushchev will attend.

Eisenhower challenged what he said was Khrushchev's effort to set up a system of big power dictation such as "you imposed in Eastern Europe."

The United States cannot accept that point of view," Eisenhower wrote in declaring that a meeting of heads of government on the Middle East crisis must be held within the framework of the security council.

Eisenhower also rejected Khrushchev's contention that the central trouble in the Middle East at the moment is "aggression" by the United States against Lebanon.

CITES REAL PROBLEM

The real problem, the president said, is "the threat, by others, of further indirect aggression against independent states."

"This problem is clearly the responsibility of the United Nations Security Council."

Therefore, he told Khrushchev, he is instructing Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador at the UN, to seek a special security council meeting about Aug. 12 which would bring together top government chiefs and foreign ministers.

Eisenhower expressed the hope that Khrushchev would take similar action.

IGNORES FRENCH PLAN

In talking of a summit session of the security council, Eisenhower said, "If such a meeting is arranged, I expect to attend and participate and I hope that you would do likewise."

With respect to the place, Eisenhower said the United States "agrees that the meeting should be held elsewhere than New York City but we could not agree to the meeting being held in Moscow."

The memory of the well-organized mass demonstration and serious danger to the United States Embassy in Moscow is still fresh in the minds of the American people," Eisenhower said.

WASHINGTON (CP)—Secretary of State Dulles said Thursday that if a summit conference is held Premier Khrushchev will impress on Soviet Premier Khrushchev the gravity of indirect aggression.

Indirect aggression is a term Dulles uses to mean efforts by one government to overthrow another without open military attack.

"I think the world is indeed in the danger of war" if no way is found to deal with the sort of indirect aggression in Lebanon, he said.

CONTROL THROUGH UN

If the leaders of Soviet Union do not want war, "they will almost have to agree that the practices almost have to be brought under some kind of control by the United Nations."

Dulles spoke at his first press conference since American marines landed in Lebanon July 14. He also made these points:

1. The U.S. will probably recognize the new republic of Iraq since Middle Eastern feeling there is that it is a "wise and prudent course."

2. The marines will be withdrawn from Lebanon if asked to do so by the Beirut government.

3. The United States will go ahead with a Security Council resolution proposed Thursday by French Premier Charles de Gaulle, who opposes U.S. intervention in Lebanon, that the U.S. and his Western allies on the kind of summit meeting to be held "can be damaged "the fundamentals of our relationship" with de Gaulle.

The U.S. considers Aug. 12 an acceptable date for opening the proposed conference. That date was put forth Thursday by Macmillan in a message to Eisenhower. The latter had proposed Aug. 18 for a meeting outside the United Nations. The United States is backing the Macmillan plan.

Rabbi Curses Swimming Pool At Jerusalem

JERUSALEM (Reuters) — An aged rabbi Thursday night hurled a curse at contemporaries of the builders and users of Jerusalem's new swimming pool.

Rabbi Phinhas Epstein uttered his rare pronouncement against the pool in a small Orthodox synagogue near Sabbath Square, a crowd of several hundred took up his chant.

"Cursed be those responsible for building the abomination and cursed be those who bathe in it," they cried.

The swimming pool opened Tuesday for both men and women bathers.

The extremist Neutrei Karta religious subdivision opposes all bathing. The sect says it will desecrate the holy city and breed epidemics and earthquakes.

The excommunication curse — known in Jewish tradition as Herem Dersbenan — once had dire consequences. Those cursed were shunned as the Jewish community.

But the excommunication announced by Epstein, head of the extreme orthodox community, seemed only the few thousand followers of the Neturei Karta.

There will be bright sunny skies, temperatures hugging the 80 mark and little, if any, rain.

A band of torrential rain stretching from the northern Atlantic states through Pennsylvania and Ohio, to Kansas, is slowly but steadily edging southward. In its wake, bright sunny weather has spread across all of Ontario and now stretches westward to the Pacific.

Strong northwesterly winds and mainly temperatures are forecast for Northern Ontario today with a few afternoon or evening thunderstorms expected with the arrival of cooler air from the prairie provinces. CHAMOUN STAYS UNTIL HIS TERM ENDS SEPT. 24

Marines Will Leave When Request Made

BEIRUT (AP) — Lebanon's president-elect indicated today he will not try to take office before his term officially begins Sept. 24 despite continuing rebel demands for the immediate departure of President Camille Chamoun.

The Lebanese generally were jubilant over the election of Gen. Fuad Shehab Thursday as a non-partisan compromise candidate with the best chance of ending the 94-day crisis. But one rebel leader who was pleased with parliament's choice still held out for Chamoun to quit at once.

Basically nothing has changed, former premier Saeb Salam told The Associated Press from his fortress in the heart of Beirut. "We will continue to fight until our demands are met."

WANTS TROOPS OUT

The main demands are the quick withdrawal of U.S. troops and the immediate resignation of Chamoun.

Salam, Chamoun, who asked for American troops July 14, nor Shehab indicated they were in a hurry to meet them home. Secretary of State Dulles said in Washington that there is a "wise and prudent course."

The troops will be withdrawn from Lebanon if asked to do so by the Beirut government.

Dulles spoke at his first press conference since American marines landed in Lebanon July 14. He also made these points:

1. The U.S. will probably recognize the new republic of Iraq since Middle Eastern feeling there is that it is a "wise and prudent course."

2. The marines will be withdrawn from Lebanon if asked to do so by the Beirut government.

Canada Wants UN Delegates To Discuss Parley's Agenda

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada today proposed immediate preliminary talks by the Security Council's permanent delegates on the precise wording of the security council's emergency agenda.

External Affairs Minister Smith, announcing this to the Commons external affairs committee, said Canada was leaving it open as to whether the preliminary talks take place informally or in formal sessions of the security council. Canada accepted the Aug. 12 date for the summit conference, proposed by Britain and the United States.

Mr. Smith, minimizing apparent differences between France on the one hand and Britain and the United States on the other, said "neither side has taken a definite position with regard to any particular place for the proposed meeting," scheduled to discuss the Middle East situation in its broad aspects.

"We have instructed our permanent delegate, Mr. Ronald Ritchie, to address a letter this morning to the secretary-general (Dag Hammarskjold) asking for a special meeting of the security council," the minister told the meeting in Toronto, Aug. 12, and stating that the prime ministers of Canada finds that date satisfactory and that it will be his intention to attend that special meeting."

At the same time, Mr. Ritchie was being instructed to "propose" to French delegate Jacques Kosciusko-Morizet, of the security council beginning today, that "in the meantime the council should confer, with a view to reaching agreement, on the items to be considered and to discuss with one another the procedure and technicalities necessary to avoid —regarding the procedure to be followed."

Replying to Opposition Leader Pearson, Mr. Smith said it was "premature" to say Aug. 12 meeting proceed at once to deal with the question of the conference at which would entail the heads of government directly concerned to start their consultations immediately.

Mr. Pearson asked whether it had been considered how the major powers could withdraw from the full council for their private talks.

"Undoubtedly that's the goal," Mr. Smith replied. "But we have no idea how that will be done."

He suggested the major powers could meet informally as a group or as a formally-constituted subcommittee of the security council.

Asked by Mr. Pearson to clarify his reference to France, the minister replied:

"Gen. de Gaulle has not refused to go to New York. On the other hand, Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Macmillan, they will go to New York or anyplace. Having in mind the fact that on the Western side has taken a definite position with regard to any particular place and having regard to the fact that they are in constant communication, it appeared too seriously the proposal from France that it not be held in New York."

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — It was learned today that the UN Security Council hold a heads-of-government meeting if the Big Four powers first agree on the basic issues.

Harold Beeley, Britain's acting representative, sent a letter to Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold. Glenn Olds, the object of the consultations should be "to reach agreement on the principal items which the council should discuss and on other pertinent matters" before the meeting.

Beeley said Prime Minister Macmillan wanted to be present. He proposed early consultations between council members with the help of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

Glenn Olds, the object of the consultations should be "to reach agreement on the principal items which the council should discuss and on other pertinent matters" before the meeting.

Cloudy Weather Is No Help To Men Fighting B.C. Fires

VANCOUVER (CP) —Cloudy weather which threatened Thursday would help them fight thousands of acres of burning timber in British Columbia's wood interior brought only grief Thursday. Lightning started 10 new fires.

Fortunately a storm over the Pacific Ocean may move eastward to the interior of B.C. and provide forest fires in the province. Some 3,500 men are fighting the bushfires.

The storm was plotted a short time ago off the coast. Some fighters said only a deluge will stop the flames from advancing in the dry forests. "A couple of inches would smother the flames," one man said another 24 hours would decide the storm's fate.

The work of arsonists added to fire fighting problems Thursday in the Kootenay area of southeastern B.C., long the scene of terrorist activities.

The forest service asked for RCMP help to track down "all the bastards" against the flames increased to four. Two fires, one near Richard George, 39, of Chilliwack was killed by a falling tree.

A fire control unit was scheduled today against a blaze in the Bulkley Valley in the northern part of Island which has blackened 3,000 acres of picturesque Tweedsmuir Park.

Firebreaks were to be cut on the northern front of the Vancouver fire in the hope of saving the park from disastrous damage. The fire, started by lightning, has twice forced firefighters to retreat to new lines.

Other big fires in the Vancouver fire district include one at Seton Lake, which is approaching 40 miles north of here. In Kamloops district, a 30,000-acre fire got out of control at Seton Lake.

Hid for 14 Years in France, U.S. Deserter Gets 10 Years

VERDUN, France (AP) — A United States Army court-martial drew up its sentence Thursday for a soldier who hid out for 14 years with his wife in France. He got a 10 to 10 years' imprisonment after he pleaded guilty to charges of wrongful desertion.

The 37-year-old father of five children shook his head slightly as he heard the sentence of the eight-man court was read.

The sentence now goes to Brig-Gen. Robert Fleming, area commander, who could reduce it.

Sgt. Bernard Powers pleaded guilty under a pre-trial agreement, providing for a light sentence.

Powers said before the trial started that if everything went the way it should, he would be back home "in a month or two." He has a home in Bismarck, Mo., but his home is the village of Mont d'Origny, near the Belgian border, where he lived with his five children and their French mother, Mme. Jeanne Bourgy.

Powers' strange tale started in 1944, when he was in France with the army in France. His truck disappeared and he faced court-martial.

He escaped from the army stockade and went for help and solace to Yvette, whom he had met before. That was the beginning of a bizarre life which continued for 14 years. They lived together without marrying.

(Powers had a wife in Missouri deserter.

DIEFENBAKER SOON TO PRESENT BILL OF RIGHTS

Seems to Expect Speedy Approval

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker is ready to present to Parliament shortly a bill of rights he hopes will win passage before this session ends.

Since the session is expected to end in a matter of weeks, he apparently believes there is a good chance his bill will find general approval and be passed without much opposition.

Mr. Diefenbaker has long been an advocate of such legislation, which would outline the fundamental freedoms of Canadians. But his attempts in the past to have such legislation passed by Parliament were opposed by the then Liberal government on grounds it was unconstitutional.

AFTER SEVERAL VERSIONS

The prime minister is understood to have worked over several versions and kept justice department experts busy getting out a bill that would be as widely acceptable as possible.

Special care has been taken to meet Quebec's concern Quebec has for safeguarding provincial rights. But the prime minister's bill now is understood to be considered acceptable to even the province's most provincial righter."

Mr. Diefenbaker has offered no hint of what the bill will propose, but a main purpose of it will be to draw in the form of major roadblock in the way of any attempts to legislate individual rights in Canada.

By neatly outlining fundamental rights, it would remove any excuse for inadvertent abrogation of them by legislation passed by courts or governments. Parliament would still remain supreme and able to legislate whatever action it sees fit.

FOUR MAIN POINTS

Some of its main points:

1. Everyone has the right to life, liberty and security of person and to enjoyment of property.

2. No person shall be subject to arbitrary arrest, detention or exile; any person arrested or detained shall be informed promptly and given a fair hearing within a reasonable time or released.

3. The right to habeas corpus shall not be suspended or abrogated except by law.

4. Nothing in the bill shall abridge or exclude any rights or freedoms to which any person is otherwise entitled.

Horseshoe Falls' Beauty Thrills Royal Visitor

Packed Honeymoon City Greets Princess Margaret

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Princess Margaret, refreshed after a night's sleep on her royal train in a country siding, today plunged into a whirlwind 4½-hour visit to this traditional mecca for honeymooners.

The princess stepped from her train at the Niagara Falls CNR station at 10:25 a.m. and was met by Hon. J. M. Macdonnell, federal minister without portfolio who presented Mayor Ernest Hawkins and his wife.

Her train arrived at 6:30 a.m. from Buffalo where Thursday night she saw the Shakespearean festival performance of The Winter's Tale. It stood for the night on a siding half a mile from the CNR yards. Heavily police were on guard and streets in the immediate area were closed to traffic.

From the station she moved off on a round of activities including a closeup view of the thundering Horseshoe Falls and a trip 130 feet down an elevator to their base.

Its population of 23,000 usually swollen by tourists and newlyweds to about 40,000 on a hot summer day, the city was flooded beyond normal by excited visitors.

The princess was to accompany Margaret on a slow-moving tour of the city's downtown area and of the beautiful outdoor Oaks Garden Theatre in Queen Victoria Park in the background, he was to read an official address of welcome.

With members of the Mohawk tribe attending in Indian regalia, the mayor was to present the Mohawk Bible to her for her signature.

The royal party was then scheduled to make the Falls from Table Rock House, a view from which the water pours thunderously over the cliffs and into the 170-foot rock-laden gorge.

At the lower level, the princess, dressed in specially-made oilskin garments, was to walk through the misty — located only a few feet away — to get a closeup view of the thundering waters.

The royal party's next stop was at the Sir Adam Beck generating station on the Niagara River, the Duchess of Kent, in August, 1954. Following that she was to attend a civic luncheon.

ON TO HAMILTON

Shortly before 3 p.m. the royal party was to leave Niagara Falls and head for Hamilton to continue the 6½-day Ontario tour.

At Stratford Princess Margaret rounded out an arduous day by going backstage following a festival theatre performance to meet the cast. She talked with the Canadian actors in the leading performers.

Earlier in the day the royal party had arrived by train from Toronto, where the princess attended a rigorous but packed schedule of activities.

She drove through downtown streets, met civic officials at a ceremony at city hall, attended a luncheon at the Royal York Hotel and opened a new technical school — the Canadian National Exhibition grandstand.

Cypriot Killed When Gunmen Ambush British

NICOSIA (Reuters) — A Greek Cypriot was killed today when British troops battled gunmen after an army vehicle was ambushed in south Cyprus.

Nicosia early today, gunmen opened fire at a car driven by a Turkish-Cypriot. Ten bullets hit the car but the Turk was not injured.

The toll from communal violence in July was 97, more than double the previous worst month of killings — November, 1956— when 44 died.

A total of 128 persons have died in violence since June 7 when the latest phase of clashes between the Greek and Turkish communities broke out. More than 300 have been injured in this period.

Two British buildings were set on fire during a soldiers' canteen, the other a school. The school was empty because the children are on vacation.

Political prisoners at Nicosia Central Prison staged a demonstration today and threatened a hunger strike in protest against the transfer to England of five leading EOKA terrorist leaders. The five prisoners left the island Thursday night to finish their jail terms there.

STRATFORD (CP) — Bertram Hall refused a $100 bid for his ticket and sat right feet behind Princess Margaret Thursday night during the Stratford Shakespeare Festival's performance of Winter's Tale.

Afterward he said: "I was so excited I just couldn't take every being in."

The 61-year-old Toronto music teacher added: "I intended selling his $5 ticket to the highest bidder for finance music students.

"I had to think a great deal about it but I decided it was the occasion of a lifetime and worth $100."

Great Britain Has Recognized New Iraq Regime

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain today recognized the new Republican government of Iraq, the foreign office announced.

A foreign office spokesman said Britain no longer regards the Iraq-Jordan Arab union as being in existence.

The British ambassador in Baghdad, Sir Michael Wright, today delivered the note announcing recognition of the Iraqi government.

The note said recognition followed Iraqi assurances of continued friendly relations with Britain and of the maintenance of existing international obligations.

The spokesman said it would be unrealistic for Britain not to take account of the present separation between Iraq and Jordan which merged in a federal state earlier this year.

He said it was a matter for King Hussein's government to decide whether Jordan would continue to use the federal constitution.

Over 700 Youngsters Enjoy 'Sally Ann's' Roblin L. Camp

Facilities at the Salvation Army's Children's Camp at Roblin Lake really take a beating during the summer months when upwards of 700 youngsters converge on the 18-acre playland to attend "fresh air" units of Brownie Club, and Guide camps held there each season.

The popular and well-equipped camp, situated on picturesque Roblin Lake at Ameliasburg, draws youngsters of all shapes, sizes, ages and creeds to enjoy its varied facilities, which include an ideal bathing beach, swings, teeter-totters, a merry-go-round and a large playing field.

Facilities also include eight roomy cabins each equipped with bunk beds and a separate room for the councillor, a large auditorium, a small hospital, a dining room, adequate washroom and laundry facilities, and a large dining room.

The clean, sandy bathing beach is cordoned off by an extra-long rope, apart which is equipped with slide and a raft. Roblin Lake camp is under the supervision of Brig and Mrs. Morgan Flannigan, of the Salvation Army Belleville Citadel Division headquarters.

"FRESH AIR" CAMPS

Four "fresh air" camps for less fortunate children in the Belleville area, each one week, are held there each summer. Two camps for girls, one for the girls and two for the boys.

The children, ranging in age from eight to 12 years, are given, on a free, eight-day vacation that is, in most cases, a high point in their young lives.

They are billeted in the clean, airy cabins, fed good, wholesome meals, and enjoy a program of swimming, nature rambles around the lake, baseball, and other healthy outdoor sports; handicraft classes, wiener roasts, campfire periods and singsongs. In addition devotional periods are held and the children are taught cleanliness, orderliness, good conduct and courtesy.

CONSTANT SUPERVISION

The youngsters are under 24-hour supervision by councillors whose main interest is in looking after the needs of their little charges.

A majority of these councillors are selected to staff the camp by the Salvation Army which is in constant touch with needy families in the area. Others are selected by Children's Aid Societies which co-operate with the Salvation Army in this venture.

Transportation to and from the camp is provided by Salvation Army officers or by interested bus financed by service organizations from the children's home town.

GAIN WEIGHT

The children are weighed in when they arrive at the camp and again when they leave. The average age is 9 1-2 years, and the average gain over the eight-day period is 2 1-4 pounds, although some gain up to four pounds, Brig. Flannigan said.

Reveille is at 7:30 a.m. when the youngsters awaken to the bugle call of Sandy Rowe of Campbellford, the camp bugler, and "lights out" is at 9:30 p.m. after the children have their evening snack.

Swimming periods and handicraft classes are held twice a day. During swimming periods the "buddy" system is employed and close tabs are kept on the children, with checks made every 10 minutes. Under the watchful eyes of the councillors and a life guard, Carl Fraser of Napanee, the children can swim and splash in their hearts' content.

HANDICRAFTS TAUGHT

In the handicraft classes the children are taught to make a variety of articles which they may take home as souvenirs of their happy days at the camp.

A devotional period is held in the morning, known as the "Joy Hour," during which the children are given a religious instruction and led in song.

In addition there are brief evening devotional periods, and regular Sunday services to which residents of the district are invited.

Church services are held in the morning before breakfast and in the evening after supper when the flag is lowered in solemn accompaniment of "Taps" played by bugler Sandy Rowe.

The flag is the focal point for all camp activities," Brig. Flannigan stated.

Camp inspection is held either in the morning or at some other scheduled time, and the cleanest and most orderly cabin is presented with a pennant which the cabin members display above their door for the day.

In addition to cleanliness and tidiness, she is chosen for good conduct and attention to camp activities. She is the one who "crowned" at the evening campfire period and during the day she leads the procession to the dining room or any other group activity.

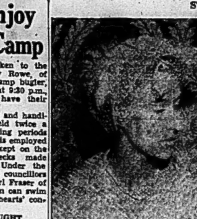
ELEVEN ON STAFF

The camp has a permanent staff of two cooks, three dining room girls, two dishwashers, a kitchen helper, a life guard, a handyman and a nurse. In addition there are the councillors who teach handicrafts, assist in the sports program, and supervise the children.

For each camp period Salvation Army officers are brought in from one of the corps in the Mid-Ontario division. This officer works under the supervision of Brig. and Mrs. Flannigan.

Brig. Flannigan explained that although the camp and building-ings were donated (through the generosity of the Belleville Kiwanis Club, Harry McFarland and Senator W. A. Fraser) the Salvation Army is left to operate year with mounting maintenance costs.

"The donors of the buildings don't contribute to the cost of their upkeep, and the more buildings donated, the higher the maintenance costs," he stated.



Expenses, such as provisions, electricity, fuel, insurance on buildings and children, and depreciation of equipment, are met by an allocation from the annual Red Shield campaign and the camp also benefits from the annual Ra. Ra. Day, the Brigadier explained.

The property is cared for in the off-season by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wood of Amelisburg, who live next door to the camp.

Skunk Aims, Fires, Hits Cop Two Suspects Gain Freedom

PICTON—When Constable Allan Marvin fired three shots into the air in an attempt to stop two men he was chasing, he did not frighten them sufficiently to make them halt. But he did frighten a black and white "kitty" which was immediately up in arms and did some firing of his own with disastrous results to the young constable. Thanks to the skunk the men escaped.

The story begins with Constable Marvin sitting in the police cruiser with Constable E. Farrington at the wheel. Passing Grindrod's garage after midnight, they noticed two men near a parked car and were ordered to halt. Instead they were seen to start running. Marvin jumped out from the cruiser and gave chase as the men fled. In the vicinity of Chapel and Main Street, the men ran into gardens behind the homes where there are fences. Marvin threatened to shoot unless the man he was chasing stopped and fired, in the air, three times. The man kept on going. As Marvin jumped a fence to continue the chase, he landed on the frightened skunk which lost no time making known his disapproval of being disturbed. The constable received the full impact, and the chase was ended.

Recently married, the constable did not reveal what his young wife had to say when he returned to his apartment, but it took a gallon of tomato juice to remove the skunk odor from the constable and the area were not so lucky as tomato juice cannot be used to take the scent from the air.

Stirling Residents All Set For Biggest Birthday Party

STIRLING (Staff) — Citizens of this village are all set to cut loose on the biggest birthday party they have ever known. Centennial celebrations begin Sunday and end after midnight Wednesday.

Up until a few weeks ago the committee in charge of arranging the birthday party were beset with the usual lack of Stirling might just take a wholehearted interest in the four-day celebration. However, Thursday afternoon "Monty" Montgomery, secretary, said Centennial Fever has smitten the townsfolk and a really enthusiastic citizenry is expected to make this 100th birthday a memorable event.

Plenty of more decorated floats will parade through village streets on Monday afternoon. More than 24 hours after special church services mark the start of festivities on Sunday.

The population of Stirling is expected to swell temporarily as former residents and visitors from afar funnel through the province to the village. Registrations have been received from former residents now living in California and Vancouver.

The two-man police department has been reinforced by at least six Ontario Provincial Policemen, perhaps more.

Thursday afternoon visitors to the village might have believed the 4th of July or Sunday. Mr. Montgomery pointed out that almost everyone was at home decorating their houses and making last minute preparations for the Centennial. Shops, although open, were not busy. Storekeepers, dressed in the fashions of 100 years ago, kept up a constant conversation about the party.

Although the village was quiet superficially, it was not difficult to feel the underlying excitement and enthusiasm which should make Stirling's Centennial one of the most memorable events in the history of the Quinte district.

Only one banner was stretched across Mill St. Thursday, but all of the stores and most houses were gaily decorated with bunting and streamers. Shop windows displayed relics of bygone years.

The Centennial "bug" has had one effect, at least, on village merchants. They have not spared the paint brush to beautify the fronts of their stores.

First thing Sunday morning the red carpet will be rolled out on village streets to welcome the arrival of Stirling's year 101. Out with the old and in with the new is the criterion of villagers today. Why don't you go to Stirling next week and catch Centennial Fever? It has soothing effects.

Britain Can Get Atomic Weapons Data From U.S.

WSHINGTON (AP) — A congressional committee Thursday cleared the way for British to obtain atomic weapons material and a nuclear submarine engine from the United States.

The Senate-House of Representatives atomic energy committee approved a proposed agreement between the two countries for cooperation in the military uses of atomic energy.

The agreement is the first full-fledged international pact to be concluded under the newly adopted relaxation of U. S. secrecy laws on atomic weapons.

While the amended law permits all friendly countries to receive more information than formerly, only those which already have achieved a significant capability to manufacture atomic weapons can receive actual weapons-making data. Britain is the only friendly country in this category.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials, surging to a 1958 high, led the stock market forward today in moderate morning trading.

Industrials added a half-point to their index as they carried their rise into the third straight session. Their index reached 463.86 in the first hour today, surpassing their previous high set Thursday at mid-afternoon.

Volume at 11 a.m. was 804,000 shares, down from Thursday's 1,145,000 in the hour.

There was little or no action among speculative issues. New Hosco was the leader gaining 30 cents at $3.25 on 131,950 shares. 40,000 less than its first hour sales Thursday. Oakland Mineral was up 6½ cents at 50 cents on 58,000 shares.

Aluminium was the industrial leader adding ¾ at 39¾. Losers generally were less than ¼ point.

Golds were lightly traded with York-Addison losing ¼ at 17¾ but gains to 10 cents by Aunor and Madsen balanced its loss.

Hudson Bay Mining, dipping ¼ at 49, pulled base metals off. Noranda added ¼ at 49¾. Uraniums and coppers were mixed in light trading.

Almost Half of Winnipeg Women Would Not Rewed Their Husbands

WINNIPEG (CP) — Given another chance, how many men would re-marry the spouse they picked the first time? And if not, why not?

The Winnipeg Free Press conducted a survey to find out. It showed that more married women in Winnipeg are dissatisfied with their husbands than vice versa.

Asked if they would marry their mates again if they were free, 48 per cent of the women said no. Thirty per cent of the men turned thumbs down on the idea.

Questionnaires printed in the paper asked men and women to give the reasons they would not re-marry, their age, number of children, and class of employment. They were not required to fill in their names.

About 50 per cent of the replies from men gave differences of opinion and unfaithfulness as the reason they would not marry their present mates. Other reasons were budget squabbles, bad housekeeping, drinking and selfishness.

Chief reasons given by women, under 40 in percentages, were: Selfishness, differences of opinion, budget trouble, bad household habits, drinking, unfaithfulness, children's upbringing and mother-in-law problems.

South Africans On Trial for High Treason

PRETORIA, South Africa (Reuters) — Ninety-one South Africans went on trial today in a converted room on charges of high treason or offences under the nation's anti-Communist laws.

The defence immediately objected to two of the three judges appointed by the government for the specially-constituted Supreme Court.

The accused—57 Negroes, 16 whites, 16 Indians and two of mixed race—are charged with having conspired between 1952 and 1956 to prepare the violent overthrow of the government and its replacement with a "Communist or some other state."

The start of the trial opened the final chapter of a case that began in December, 1956, when 156 persons were arrested in mass police raids.

Following a preliminary court inquiry in Johannesburg, 61 persons were unconditionally discharged. Three more were discharged in January. The state withdrew charges today against 40-year-old Negro Henry Makhoni when a medical certificate was produced showing he was ill and needed hospital treatment for six months.

Following the defence application urging the two judges to "excuse themselves" and withdraw, the trial was adjourned until Monday.

Charges against the accused centre on the defendants' connection with an African National Congress campaign for the abolition of discriminatory legislation in South Africa.

Those found guilty of treason could be punished by death. Penalties under the Suppression of Communism Act are up to 10 years imprisonment.

Poison Ivy Area Will Be Sprayed

TRENTON — A complaint has been made to the municipal office regarding poison ivy in Allison playground, one of the park areas off Byron Street under the Parks Board jurisdiction and used by the Recreation Commission in their summer training program. Investigation proved the complaint to be well founded and the Parks Board gardener, Bart Boers, has been instructed to spray the area immediately.

It might be interesting to note that when an attempt was made to contact John Saylor, the Parks Board secretary, on the matter, his place of business advised that Mr. Saylor was confined to home suffering from a severe case of (what else?) poison ivy.

Two Injured In Accidents

TRENTON — A woman and a child were injured last night in separate mishaps, both involving cars, and one was taken to the Trenton Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Miss Jean Eye, 26, an employee at the Officers' Mess at the RCAF Station in Trenton, suffered lacerations, bruises and possible fractures when she stepped from a parked vehicle into the path of another at Middleton Park at about 7.30 last night.

She was rushed to the Trenton Memorial Hospital by RCAF ambulance where she was treated by Dr. W. S. Bailey and Dr. Ray Weeks.

According to RCAF police who investigated the mishap, Miss Eye had turned it over to the Belleville Ontario Provincial Police, the young woman stepped from a station wagon in front of 26A McGill Apts., and in crossing the road stepped in front of a car being driven by Mrs. Shirley Pulvirik, of 282 Front Street, Trenton.

CHILD INJURED

In the second accident, which happened less than a half-hour later, eight-year-old Burting Ferguson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ferguson, 38 Francis Street, suffered injuries to her cheek, a blackened eye, skinned knees and shock when she drove her bicycle into the side of a car being driven by John J. Styles, 42, of 25 Dixon Drive, Trenton.

According to the police report the car was proceeding along Byron Street eastward at the intersection at McCann Street. The girl came out the latter street and on losing control of the bike, fell against the left rear side of the car, striking her head on the fender. She was taken to Dr. W. G. Telfer's office for treatment. The accident was investigated by Constable Herb Chatten of the Trenton Police Department.

Night Flying Training Starts Next Week

TRENTON — RCAF Station Trenton announces that beginning next week and for three weeks, night flying training of university flight cadets piloted will be carried out at both Trenton and Mountain View air stations.

Flying will commence at dusk and will continue on through the night and cease at dawn.

The air force, in making the announcement, states that although they are fully aware of the inconvenience caused by the noise of aircraft at night the training these young students in night flying is essential.

Planes involved in the exercises will be single-engined Harvards and a few multi-engined aircraft.

Trentonians were given a sample of what to expect last Wednesday night when many Harvards were in the air during the "before midnight" hours. The same type of training was carried out last year at about this time but only a few complaints were heard due to the fact most residents are used to the sound of flying aircraft and pay it little heed.

Farm Loan Board Gets More Funds

OTTAWA (CP) — The Senate Thursday gave second reading—approval in principle—to a government bill to boost the lending capacity of the Canadian farm loan board to $120,000,000 from $80,000,000. The legislation already has been approved by the Commons.

Liberal Senator William Wall of Manitoba said the bill falls short of Conservative election promises to make it easier for farmers to obtain long-term credit.

He suggested integration of federal agencies lending money to farmers. These include the farm loan board, the farm improvements loan board and the Veterans' Land Act program.

Higher Payments Requested by Harbor Cities

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities has asked the national harbors board for higher payments in lieu of taxes in cities where it owns property and has port installations.

In a brief presented to the board at a special meeting Thursday the mayors sought payments equal to the amount which would be levied as taxes on private owners for the same amount of property.

They said taxes on board property in eight cities and 66 townships would amount to $2,870,200. If the property were privately owned. Grants paid by the harbors board in lieu of taxes on the property totalled $416,500 in 1957.

The brief said that if harbor board property were privately owned, Port Colborne in 1957 would have received in taxes $30,000, and the township of Eastwardsburg, $47,000.

Board payments instead of taxes in 1957 were: Port Colborne $6,000, and Edwardsburg $6,000.

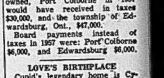
Doctor Used Sign Language In Operation

MOSCOW (AP)—An American doctor began operating on a young woman's heart without knowing how to ask the Russian nurse for a scalpel or sutures.



But Dr. Walter J. Burdette of Salt Lake City, Utah, wasn't worried.

He had worked out a sign language system with the nurse at the suggestion of a young man from Peiping who was his Russian interpreter.

"Opening and closing two outstretched fingers meant scissors and touching my fist meant forceps.

"It worked beautifully," said Burdette, a member of the University of Utah medical faculty who has been visiting Soviet medical institutions. He was told he was the second American invited to perform surgery in Moscow.

AN UNPLEASANT MEMORY

Our deepest sympathies go out to the staff of the Brantford post office which has just discovered a letter posted 58 years ago. The letter was written in April of 1920 by the postmaster in Woodstock to the Postmaster in Brantford, complaining about a letter that never reached its destination.

Our sympathy is particularly lively because of a personal experience. Several years ago, in another newspaper office, we edited some correspondence which was dated about a week ahead. Naturally we thought the correspondent had made a mistake, so changed the date and put out the items. Included was some police court news, among it an item about a prominent district resident who had been up on a liquor charge. A couple of days later the storm broke. The man in question had been up on any such charge. The correspondent had not sent the item.

Finally the janitor told his story. He had entered the office. A rat had scurried across the floor. It had dodged behind the desk. He had moved the desk. The rat evaded him, but he found an envelope. Thinking it had fallen off the desk when he moved it, he put it on top of the desk. That was where it was when we picked it up. It was exactly 51 weeks since it had slipped off that desk.

So, as we say, we sympathize with the Brantford post office folk.

Still, we do think that a post office ought to be able to devise some means to prevent letters from falling behind desks and lying unnoticed for 38 years.

Not, mind you, that we recommend the use of rats 51 weeks late in getting around to calling attention to missing mail.

FRIGHTENING

At Jackson's Point, a Lake Simcoe resort, there was a brawl last Saturday night. Fights broke out as a rock 'n roll dance was ending. A police constable was kicked and beaten. Two citizens who tried to help police were punched and kicked.

Harvey Currell, district editor of the Toronto Telegram, wrote a report on an ultimatum served on Reeve William Sellers by Michael Picov, president of the Jackson's Point Ratepayers Association — "do something to stop these weekly fights or residents will think about doing something themselves."

"Jackson's Point residents," wrote Mr. Currell, "said today they wanted to emphasize that Jackson's Point is a peaceful community and a pleasant vacation spot 98 per cent of the time. They don't want summer visitors frightened off by a tiny minority of hoodlums. That's why they are demanding stern action by council."

There is only one thing which would frighten us away from a resort as fast as hoodlums.

And that is a citizenry which regards the danger of us being frightened away by the hoodlums as the primary reason why something should be done about these hoodlums.

We prefer a place where the residents are worried first about police and citizens being assaulted, and where the effects of such incidents on the popularity of the centre as a summer resort are considered of secondary importance.

THIS IS NO BULL

By the time that this editorial appears in print, more will probably be known about the fate of the six Mexican fighting bulls which are having trouble entering Canada.

Destined for the "bloodless bullfights" to be staged at Lindsay, they have been detained by the U.S. agricultural department because inspection at the Mexican border revealed that they were infested with ticks.

It now appears that those who regard the Lindsay stunt as a lot of bull may have been all wrong. There may be no bull at all.

Those ticks, though, will not surprise a lot of people. From the first they have contended that it was a lousy idea.

THE DREAM DAYS

I like the dream days best of all,
The hollyhocks against the wall,
The rambler roses blushing red,
The lilies sticking bending overhead,
With just enough of summer breeze
To whisper in the leafy trees;
When lazily the plow boys plod,
And lazily the lessons nod,
And everything about me seems
Wrapt in somehow in pleasant dreams.

I like to lie full length and flat,
And abside my eyes with my old hat,
Building out yonder in the skies
Air castles grand whose towers rise
Higher than summer swallows fly,
Forgetting care and shirking toil,
Forgetting lust for fame and spoil.

Just dreaming dreams that won't come true,
But living as the flowers do.

I like the dream days best, for then
The world's in tune with lazy men;
The very flowers droop and sway
In such a restful, lazy way.
As though they, too, would like to be
Stretched out beneath this tree with me;
And fleecy snow white clouds float by
As though no part of earth or sky,
And far off seem the busy world hearts;
Where gather shrewd and sordid
Just roses, hollyhocks and I.
Dreaming, while Father Time goes by

Devil of a Man With Pen

Ottawa Journal

Those who have been hesitant about sending a large Summits Conference (and we have been among them) must be encountering some misgivings just now.

The leader of the Russian delegation that got the "devil of a man with a pen in his hand. His instructions provided him at one sitting to drive De Gaulle between London and Washington, Ottawa and Canberra; fears of the lack of security if the meeting were held in New York; to reiterate his offer to meet anywhere any time, to pose again as the one great power championing the rights of India to sit at the table and have at least the semblance of sense in his argument that if the Security Council, for instance, is able to pacify the Middle East problem some days ago why would it succeed a few days hence?

Now it does not escape us that many of Krushchev's points are reasonable, even sounding that sincerity. And in the matter of Khrushchev's criticism of the Security Council, the question might well be returned by Mr. Khrushchev as to why world powers were blocked in the Security Council by Russia why would they not be blocked by Russia at a Summit meeting, unless some prior limitation of Russian good will is forthcoming?

Oh no, we are not so impressed by Khrushchev's touch with a pen that we believe what he says. But we are immensely impressed by his ability with a pen (and we are impressed likewise) to impress those countries which live in fear of him or whose ideals have been so confused by him that they hanker for a piece of his handwriting.

In the sophisticated capitals of the Western democracies we may see through the devil, we may clearly imagine him laughing, silently, as he goes about his letter-writing chores with the relish of a man who knows he's making trouble for his opponents. But what of the peoples in the Middle East? Is he watching this correspondence and who find in him a man who is willing to meet De Gaulle's idea, or Macmillan's idea or Eisenhower's idea for a meeting as long as it is held at once? And there are people in Europe and elsewhere, in Asia, perhaps, who will be finding Khrushchev's amiability enhancing and disarming.

"I would like, Mr. President, to receive as soon as possible the message of mine as quickly as possible." Thus spake Khrushchev, not to some puppet chief or the head of some minor power, but to the President of the United States. It is a symbol of the state to which we have come, and it is for that reason that whether the Summit is to come about or not at all, we must either cease writing letters or write better letters.

The fact is that so far as publicity and propaganda are concerned we are already on the Summit level. Would it were the day the democracies conduct themselves in such a way that must be a spectacle even unto the angels, or, since we must assume that they are on our side, especially unto the angels.

Cat Planted Burdocks

By John Gould in the Christian Science Monitor

Theophilus, the thistle sifter, was a man full of un-idle gifts. He sifted thistles and thrust 3,000 thistles a minute through the gap of his thumb, according to an ancient legend often repeated in these parts. Not that I have known, as I do, that the common burdock, or cockle-bur, belongs to the thistle family and may be sifted with similar success. I have been sifting burdocks of late and have many more to do.

When the book says that the burdock is a thistle, it also says the root is known as Gobo in Japan, and that is a popular vegetable. The Gobo root is about three feet long and tapering, and the sprinting parsnip, being able to sink through blue clay, limestone ledge, jasper and vitreous rocks, so a harvest of a certified product requires tools. Here if I were a weary Japanese waiting for lunch, I might suggest a mine-sweeper while the cook struggled to forth a Gobo.

The burdock is not a beautiful thing, and finding it in "Wild Flowers Every Child Should Know" is stretching the definitions somewhat. But it is there, under the name I favor. Children usually know all about the burdock, for no question ever moved up through the categories without stopping to play with burdock burrs. Really rich-ed little boys rub a handful into some girls' hair, and the piling less wicked accidentally arrive at fundamentally the same end. Or I have a sweet heart, and a ball of burdock burs, and a dislike for her, and between her is a margin of error seldom neglected, and the little girl goes home with a ball in her mind. Then you get the seat of your pants covered with burrs, and the burdock business drops off for the season.

To be more specific, we had a burdock ball fight in the back seat where the tescher could get to him fastest, and he used to wear a heavy tone-knit sweater made from black sheep's wool and spliced. Those of us in the back of the room would take two or three nice burdock burs and we would throw them so as they would stick in the back of this sweater — and that ends the game. If, perchance, one of these missiles went astray we would take it, more or less, and some lucky girl in the line of fire would have it. But those that scored would pile up on Burleigh's back, and at recess time we would pick them all off and get ready to start over again. Then the burdock got only so-seemed as a food, but has a reactional value, and promotes marksmanship, and is now just that nothing is ever entirely negative.

The Gobo thrives in the clinging mud, and once in a start is likely to be on hand a long time. A few seedlings will rise it, but if you have a good catch it takes a little doing to drench all the burdocks. A few years back, after long years of careful eradication of the weed, we had none anywhere around, but then a cat came into my life, and the cat planted burdocks for me.

ed onto the Prince Hal, and spent almost a year cutting pulpwood and lumber, and they had this cat in their little shanty. When they finished that job and moved away they left the cat behind. It was a large cat, well acquainted with country life, and he didn't seem to mind. He stayed on in the tar-paper shanty and proveloned himself around the premises as best he can, and seemed both happy and well fed. Then one day cut off subsided, and a fine clutch of burdock came to them.

When the burdocks went to seed the second year, the cat would range back and forth, and would come out all slick over and looking like the back of Burleigh's head. This didn't add to the appearance of the cat, but it was a real treat to stump and lament. And later he used to come down through the woods and we would fall to sprinkle near my plum orchard, and then I would get a limb and claw at the burs in his tail, sobbing and wailing. That was sad, and you could tell.

There wasn't much you could do, because nobody could get within a mile of him to get at the cat, and he had no friends. But a couple of years later I found a ring of newly sprouted burdock bushes all amongst my plum trees, and they are doing fine. For a cat, it was a well-planted burdock patch. I put my shoe on the grindstone and got an edge on it like a razor, and then I went out and cut down the burdocks until I had dismembered Gobo, and that was that, but this didn't dispose of all of it. No matter how much I chopped, there was left a sneaker left, and each year I had more and more burdocks.

This year I invested in a tall can of sure-do weed drench, and sprinkled it around real. Each morning I mix up a sprinkling can and walk out along the fences, pouring my concoction on the broad leaves and after a few days the cat was very well, and after a few days it wilts, and then dries away to a dull gray and after a few days just a brown spot. I think if I keep at it, I can get the whole work before any more of the stuff goes to seed.

"Children (the book says) delight to gather the prickly burdburs of the Beggar's Button and form them, into birds' nests, baskets, dolls, and various assortment of other things". True then Children are not bullfighters blocks, sticking them together into choose-and-tring, wagons and anything that came to hand. And if Edith, with golden hair, came in the room, they were fairly closely cropped, it probably meant her mother had taken the scissors to clear away a goodly batch of burs, and I like that phrase—"Children delight . . .

GET YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

The words "vacation" and "vacate" come from a Latin word which means "to empty."

This is the great vacation season of the year. If we really take a vacation we shall do something that empties the mind of its cares, its frustrations, its fears, its anxieties. We shall get away from our vacation full to the brim with energy and with mental and physical well being. It will probably be because our blood stream has been emptied of a lot of underlying poisons, our muscles freed from a lot of broken-down tissue.

Many people miss the whole point of vacation. They r u n h a r o u n d at such a rate that they have to come back home to g e t a r e s t. Often they go to summer hotels and because the food is expensive, they try to get t h e i r money's worth and eat until they are surfeited and at least half sick. Some spend the vacation period with a cocktail glass in their hand — and that's bad, and still others keep right on working at tasks which leave them exhausted.

If you are going on vacation, then vacate. Empty your mind of worries and afflicts it. The hotel keepers will empty your pocketbook, but get even w i t h them by having a vacation worth all it costs.

Vacate.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Some years ago, it was commonly said that grandparents spoiled their grandchildren. This was a generally accepted notion. But grandparents assumed it as one of their rights to spoil their grandchildren. It was, in fact, the basis of the ancient happy relationship between grandparents and grandchildren.

Like many other traditions, this has changed in recent years. Today, the grandchildren are already spoiled by their parents; and the poor old grandparents are faced with the thankless job of trying to instill a little discipline, law and order into their grandchildren. It is a hopeless task.

Up until this generation, it was the custom for parents to take a firm hand with their children. Children, until around 1930, were to be seen and not heard. In a evening, anywhere in the western world, it was commonplace to see the grandparents silenced by sounds of children howling as the result of being spanked. Spanked howling had a different tone to any you hear nowadays. A n y howling now is a cry for help, a frustration. The old, lonesome howling of a small child was supposed to bed hes vanished from the earth.

Even grandparents haven't the nerve to revive it. Baffled by the failure of their children to instill the fear of God into their children, the old grandparents' parents can only scold, protest, wail, groan, moan, and cry don't, don't. The privilege of spoiling the grandchildren has been stolen from them.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Would you explain 'diastolic pressure' and how it can be overcome? I understand that a new drug is on the market for blood pressure. If your blood pressure does come down near normal can one return to his general work in life? — Dr. B."

Let's kick out a misunderstanding right at the beginning. Not some diastolic pressure, just as everybody has blood pressure.

You have, in fact, two kinds of pressure. You have systolic pressure, meaning the pressure while the heart is on a pumping beat, and you have diastolic, meaning the pressure that remains between beats. That's why it is incorrect to say that you have a "blood pressure of 140," or whatever the figure is. You should say that the pressure is "140-over-90" or "140/90," showing the two types of pressure.

Now I gather from your letter that you have high blood pressure, or have had it. Generally speaking the pumping and resting pressure will go down together. Most people who have high blood pressure. Sometimes the doctor can bring both of them down. Sometimes he can reduce the systolic, or pumping pressure, but still have difficulty in reducing the diastolic, or resting, pressure.

The behavior of the heart, and the blood pressure, and the circulatory system in general, is as complicated as the plumbing in a house that was built in 1912. It gets out of whack — and it does. It gets out of whack is a riddle that the plumbers, the plumbers' League in connection with the Salvation Army. Adjutant Trickery was in charge. TODAY'S TALK

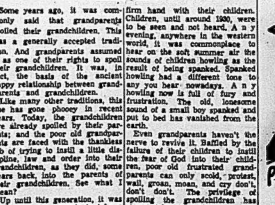
By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE OTHER FELLOW'S PLACE

What a wonderful world in which to live if people would only put themselves in the other fellow's place! It makes a lot of difference between the bitterness of regrets a washing, and instead of sorrow and blindness in their place, we get tolerance and understanding.

In a majority of cases, I believe, all disputes and misunderstandings could be happily settled if each one of us would just change situations, the other fellow to take our place, and the selfishness of human nature is the same t h e world over, regardless of nationality or personal beliefs. If y o u have a grudge, try getting rid of it by imagining the things a r e turned around and then expand your heart and drive a little good will and increased happiness into the world!



It is so easy to be pleasant and to get along happily with all our friends and neighbors. Then why do we not do it? Perhaps it is to keep us from kindness and tolerance? All bitterness has a bit of sweetness which would be spoiled. After every good deed performed a hero is created behind the dark clouds!

Putting ourselves into the place of another will not put one into a new atmosphere — an atmosphere of kindness and tolerance. We miss so much out of life when we fail to meet the other fellow half way. We can be happy in the way when you measure his side of things and then, if you can and take proposition, but we ought to give him as much as we take! Best of all is when we give all.

Learn best ourselves when we know our fellow man, and gladly respect his way of life against our own.

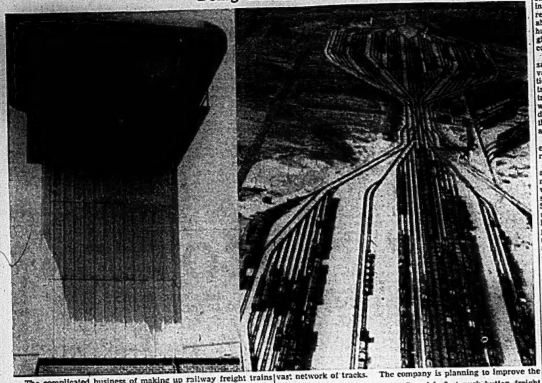
Says too Many Laws Passed



Toronto Globe and Mail

Those two flourishing enterprises of democracy lawmaking and bookmaking, should both be legalized, in the opinion of Ontario's Labor Minister Charles Daley. Many may agree. As Mr. Daley said, it is impossible to enforce only "casual" bingo (although, anyone who can sit through a session of the laws as being passed . . . I think we insult no one when we call that "casual public". Many will again agree, with the important distinction that Law's protective society against violence and dishonesty restrict the minority to benefit the majority. Laws in such fields as behavior and business in order the other way around, restricting the majority to benefit or appease the minority.

And "bookies", Mr. Daley said, would be legitimized "we know who they are". His audience of policemen may have smiled, since any bookie is likely to be known to police about as well as the mayor is.

But the two cases did illustrate Mr. Daley's basic comment — that too many laws are being passed . . . I think we insult no one when we call that "casual public". Many will again agree, with the important distinction that Law's protective society against violence and dishonesty restrict the minority to benefit the majority. Laws in such fields as behavior and business in order the other way around, restricting the majority to benefit or appease the minority.

Being Modernized

The complicated business of making up railway freight trains is becoming more automatic with a drive by the companies to cut costs. Yardmasters in towers such as the one at the Canadian Pacific Railway's St. Luc yards at Montreal control traffic on the vast network of tracks. The company is planning to improve the yards, built eight years ago as Canada's first push-button freight terminal. (CP Photo).

Automation Put to Work By Major Railways to Cut Costs and Boost Business

By ROBERT RICE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's major railways are using their "brains" to cut costs and boost business.

To stem dwindling revenues, cost-conscious railway men are putting automation to work for the old "eight wheels and a box"—the railway freight car.

With much of the freight operation already on automatic basis, it has got to the point where freight work is like an iceberg—there's far more to it than meets the eye.

TV, COMPUTERS USED

Memory machines, teletypes, television and automatic computors to sort out a daily jumble of 7,000 freight cars bound for as many as 100 destinations. To be finished in 1961, it uses the "hump" principle—the simple idea that a freight car rolls downhill for free—to make up trains.

Similar CNR yards are planned for Moncton, N.B., and Winnipeg. The privately-operated Canadian Pacific Railway has plans for automatic freight yards at Toronto and Calgary and will improve its present St. Luc marshalling yard, built eight years ago as Canada's first push-button freight terminal.

With roughly four or every five cents of CNR and CPR operating revenue coming from freight traffic, the railways eye eagerly any new automatic tricks for the 299,000 freight cars in Canada—82,378 with the CPR, 116,347 with the CNR.

Getting the right kind of car—box, flat, stock, hopper, gondola, ore, ballast, tank refrigerator—to the right place at the right time is a major problem that automation is helping solve. Biggest example of the allocation headache is grain traffic in Western Canada, a mammoth movement of Prairie wheat from elevator to lakehead shipping terminals.

The railways keep track of every freight car — what's in it, where it's going, when it'll be empty—and link this information with the economic forecasts of harvest movements, or automobile output, even soup consumption.

The CPR, for example, put electronic "brains" to work in 1949 on the Windsor - Montreal run, using teletype circuits to keep minute-by-minute tabs on all freight shipments on the 350-mile route, key section of the Chicago-Boston through service.

And the CNR is currently completing a transformation of its car accounting department, eliminating old-fashioned pen-and-ink recording of each car's whereabouts and replacing hundreds of huge bookkeeping logs with a gleaming, clattering electronic computing system.

Eventually, railway experts say, one card will keep all the various phases of freight operation, from the conductor to car tracing department, informed of traffic movement. But man's role will never vanish entirely. Old dogs will learn new tricks, although the railways will eventually reduce manpower.

Few are willing to predict, however, just how far machines will replace men in railway work.

There's another factor in car accounting. North American railroads trade their freight cars when a shipment is going from, say Montreal to Houston, Texas. So a Canadian freight car ends up far south, is emptied, reloaded for another destination, possibly in Florida, and finally months later, ends back in Canada.

BOXCARS IN U.S.

At any one time about 20,000 Canadian freight cars are roaming the U.S., with a similar number of U.S. cars in this country. That's why Canadian trains include such romantic railway names as Acheson, Topeka and Santa Fe, Central of New Jersey, Southern Pacific, Louisville and Nashville, Boston and Maine, and even the Chicago Belt Line occasionally.

Rental per day per car is $2.75, so it pays to know which line has what car and for how long.

Here's how freight trains are made up:

By the old way, each loaded car, listed on a "wheel report" giving car number, contents and destination is shunted into the freight yard, where the yardmaster has his list of freight trains. Yard engines go out and locate the cars by number and drop them onto various tracks, making up blocks of cars bound in the same general area. The blocks are combined to make trains.

The modern "hump" yard does the same thing, but is faster and cheaper. The freight car is shunted over a hump, where electronic eyes read its number and transmit it to TV screens in a control dome. The yard operator taps a button, directing the car on its like a r r a y. Automatically a "brain" weighs the car, measures the speed, calculates the "rolling distance" and sets railside brakes to retard the speed and ease the car to a smooth coupling.

Downhill run to a track in a fan.

The new CNR Montreal yard will have 81 tracks, two humps, walkie-talkie communication with ground crews and radio signals in every diesel cab. Making up trains becomes a filling job—each car goes in its proper slot.

Girl Guides Back From Fine Camp

Twenty-eight Girl Guides from Camp 4 at the Divisional Camp, Base Lake, Ont., returned home Sunday afternoon after a very happy nine days. The weather started out with rain and cold for 36 new campers, but ended up sunny and hot.

A great many tests were passed and three girls, Janis Turner, Judy Ingram and Moira McLaughlin, got their swimmers' badge. Other tests tried were compass, first aid, fire-making, 50-yard swim, half day hike and 4-mile expedition.

All cooking and eating were done out of doors and the Guides learned to look after themselves in tents. Trudi Haig and Ellen McCreary stayed after the area camp to help the new campers get pitch their tents and take them down the last day, as well as being generally useful to all in camp, assisting with swimming, looking after tuck, etc. They both earned their handywoman badge.

Mrs. Ward Ketcheson cook over from Salmon Lake each day to assist with the swimming and consequently all swimming improved greatly.

The quartermaster, Mrs. Frank Scraper, did an excellent job with the meals and the Guides presented her with a "thanks badge" at the final campfire. Her homemade cookies were a joy to all and disappeared in a flash.

Mrs. Harold Howse, the nurse, looked after the health of all Guides as well as most of the others in the division camp.

The best campers' badge went to Corinne Peverly, Ten Carmel Company, a badge voted by the campers. The winning patrol led by Rita Demerppa consisted of Corinne Peverly, Nancy Miller, Cathy Cook, Heather Person and Joyce Grant.

Danger Seen In Dual Role For Women

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Home economics experts saw dangers today in the dual role of modern woman plays at home and at work. They suggested special training for her in home and family living.

Education in home science was proposed to help the increasing numbers of wives who have to go to work.

But one Indian teacher questioned whether "in the interests of the family and children, it is wise for a mother to take up a career outside her home."

"So long as women have to bear children, the home will have to be their main responsibility," Mrs. B. Tara Bai, director of the Lady Irwin College of Home Science in New Delhi said in a paper read for her at the ninth International Congress of Home Economics. Some 1,000 delegates from 58 countries are attending.

"It may be worthwhile," Mrs. Bai suggested, "to ponder a while whether in the struggle for existence woman should or should not confine herself more to the home and family rather than take up man's prerogative of bread winning."

It is strange she said that "it is the man who is the best tailor and the best cook. The only sphere where he cannot surpass woman is that of mother and homemaker."

Fashionable Princess

Princess Margaret wears a light blue and white organza dress with a fitted bodice and sash back as she starts her first full day in Ontario. She is with Lieutenant-Governor J. Keiller Mackay as she crosses a footbridge from her train to a Toronto Park where she was greeted by 3,000 persons, most of them school children. (CP Wirephoto).

Wedding

MCINTOSH — DOHERTY

St. Mary's church, Campbellford, was the setting Saturday for the double ring ceremony and exchange of vows between Maureen Theresa Doherty and John Ross McIntosh, M.Sc., of Ottawa.

The church was beautifully banked with summer flowers. The Rev. J. C. Maloney performed the ceremony and the nuptial mass.

Miss Marie Crosson of Campbellford was organist and Mr. Raymond McCluskey of Ottawa, sang the hymns during mass.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length storybook gown of white nylon chiffon. The neckline was enhanced with a tiny organza flowers, and the tiny puffed sleeves were emphasized by three quarter length petit point gauntlets of matching material. Her headpiece was a crown of scalloped tulle pleats enhanced with seed pearls and sequins and caught to a chapel length veil. She carried a white orchid surrounded by pink Sweetheart roses.

Miss Colleen Callery, of Windsor, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Her waltz-length dress of pink brocaded taffeta was on princess lines. She wore a matching picture hat and white accessories.

Miss Margaret Durkin, of Belleville, and Miss Arleigh Fitzgerald, of Peterborough, were bridesmaids. Their dresses in sky blue were identical. All attendants carried white shasta daisies.

Mr. Lloyd McIntosh, of Fenelon Falls, was groomsman for his brother, and the ushers were Messrs. Donald McIntosh of Hull and Jack Doherty from Campbellford.

The dinner and reception were held at Edgewater Park. The bride's mother received, wearing a pale blue sheath dress of satin-like striped bengaline, and the bridegroom's mother wore a dress of powder blue flowered organdy. Both had white accessories and corsages of pink rose buds.

Out of town guests were present from Ottawa, Hull, Windsor, Detroit, Kitchener, Thorold, Peterborough, Belleville, Gravenhurst, Hastings and Warkworth.

For going away, the bride chose a white jacket dress with a red cummerbund and white accessories. She wore a corsage of red, feathered carnations.

The couple left on a two-week trip to the Atlantic coast. On their return they will live at Cardiff, Ontario, where the bridegroom is employed by the Canadian Dyno Mining Ltd.

Beggar's Opera Given at Stratford Music Festival

By ROBERT TANNER

"The Beggar's Opera", first presented in London in 1728, has enjoyed remarkably consistent success ever since. It has been revived, revised, translated and retranslated in its passage to the Stratford this summer. Director Tom Brown has returned to the original version as written by John Gay, and set to music consisting mostly of popular tunes of his day by Dr. Pepusch. The resulting production is wonderfully fresh and lively, continually giving the listener the impression that he has come upon a Gilbert and Sullivan Opera, about 150 years too early. The familiar marks of G. and S., the patter song, the mixed quartet, the madrigal and so on, all are there, together with a plot that is just as satirical and absurd as anything that Gilbert ever wrote. The Stratford cast, headed by Robert Goulet as the dashing Macheath, and Maidie Miller as Polly Peachum, and including such familiar figures as Robert Christie, Ann Casson and Helen Burns; all obviously enjoyed the rollicking production. The music is always pleasant and tuneful, with many echoes of Handel, a contemporary of Gay, and one of the composers of "Italian" opera which this work satirizes. Louis Applebaum conducts the opera with his usual skill and musicianship, and the singers are accompanied by a small orchestra for which the music was originally scored. Altogether, this is a most entertaining performance, in the best traditions of the Stratford Music Festival, and well worth a visit. There will be ten more performances during the season.

In great contrast to the racy appeal of "The Beggar's Opera", the concert given by the New York Pro Musica on Wednesday evening was nevertheless equally delightful. These eleven musicians have made a specialty of the music of Maurice Englbert of the Elizabethan period, and present it in as close as possible approach to the original manner. The vocal ensemble includes the unusual voice of countertenor, or male alto which lends a power to the lower part to which we are no longer accustomed. The instrumentation includes recorders of all pitches, treble and bass viols, six stringed fore-runners of the violin and cello, harpsichord and portative organ. The music played and sung covered the 14th, 15th and 16th centuries, a very rich period in the history of English music, and under the able direction of Noah Greenberg, all concerned performed in a most polished manner, to the obvious satisfaction of the audience. At the end of the concert, all who wished were invited on to the stage to inspect and discuss the unusual instruments, and to this writer, was accepted almost unanimously.

As this is being written, Stratford is getting ready for the visit of Her Royal Highness Princess Margaret, also of quiet expectancy hangs over the town as the decorations go up and last minute preparations are made.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Hilton S. — I want time to decide.

Monica F. — He is old enough to make up his mind fast.

Hilton S. — I am a widower in my early 60's and my daughter, with whom I have been living for the past four years, has been urging me to marry again.

A few months ago she introduced me to an attractive widow. This woman is wealthier than I am and is used to a very different kind of life from the one I have known. Nevertheless, a h e says she cares for me and wants to marry me.

I would like to go out with her for some time to see how we get along together, but she says we are mature individuals and should be able to make up our minds now. If I can't decide now, she says she doesn't want to see me anymore.

My daughter says she is right. I feel that my daughter is beginning to find me a burden in her home. She doesn't have to go to such extremes to get rid of me. I can live by myself.

Monica F. — It is very unfair of Dad to say I want to get rid of him. He knows I love him and would be glad to have him with me as long as he wants to stay. I am only thinking of his welfare. I feel he would be happier with a wife and companion of his own age.

This widow has explained to me that she has gone out with several men in the past few years. She says they fall into a comfortable relationship with her and forget all about marriage. She's just that kind of person. She says she's lonely and doesn't want any more of these "just friends" relationships.

All this is very understandable to me. I don't see why Dad should be so suspicious. He has everything to gain and nothing to lose by this marriage. He is certainly old enough to be able to make up his mind fast.

The Council: Monica has made a big mistake by labruding herself into this situation. Her work was finished after she made the introduction.

Nobody of any age likes to be railroaded into marriage. When a contract is placed before a man and he is urged by two women to sign on the dotted line — fast — he has no alternative but to sign under duress or yell for help and run.

Possibly the widow has some justification for the particular line she has adopted, but Hilton should have had the chance to consider whether he is ready to take her up on it or to risk losing her. In any case, his decision would be related only to the particular elements involved in the case.

Monica has confused things by introducing a third consideration — is the widow in a plot on the part of the two women to get Hilton out of his daughter's home? It is natural for Hilton to have some doubts as to whether he is in his daughter's way, even if he knows he is loved.

Our advice to Monica is to step completely out of the picture. Hilton ought to try to get the widow to see him on a friendly basis for a little longer, because they have really gotten off to a false start.

GOOD MANNERS

FIANCE OBJECTS TO GIVING ENGAGEMENT RING "IN PUBLIC"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

"My Fair Lady" and I have just become engaged. She and I went together to the jeweller to choose the ring, and it is now being engraved with our initials. Our engagement is to be announced soon at a big party to be given by her mother and father. Everything is rosy . . . except for one thing. My fiancee is insisting that I wait to give her the engagement ring in front of all the guests at the announcement party. To me this is a terrible idea. I think this should be a private affair, and just you and she together. I'm sure you'll be able to win your "Fair Lady" over to your point of view by intriguing her with the idea that, as y o u put the ring on her finger for the first time you have something very special you want to say to her, something for her pretty ears only, not for "public speaking"!

"HERE COMES THE BRIDE!"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My dearest girl friend, her husband, my fiance and I are going together to a very important church wedding next month. What is the correct seating arrangement for us in the pew to which t h e bride escorts us? Should we girls go first in the pew?

— "The Girls"

It's a wedding . . . and "t h e girls" should have the seats nearest the "remaining able," so to gaze on the wedding party at as close range as possible when that thrilling "Here Comes the Bride!" is played. Your girl friend's husband and your fiance may enter the pew first, and then you two girls follow, deciding who is to take the seat on the aisle. (Or one may sit nearest the aisle during the Processional, and the other during the Recessional.) This is procedure where "gentlemen first" is proper and acceptable, more convenient for the ladies-at-a-wedding.

Readers' Friday Column

As conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

. . . The recipe is for a special birthday. For years we have enjoyed on rare occasions Crepes Suzettes of a type now put in a can with orange and brandy, etc. Have watched them being made in restaurants and don't see why they couldn't be made at home if I had a recipe. I do enjoy your column and replies. Many thanks. (signature omitted by request).

ANSWER:

You are right. You can make them at home just as well — probably better.

CREPES SUZETTES:

Prepare Pancake Batter: To 1 cup warm milk add 2 tablespoons butter and when it is melted cool to room temperature. Add ¼ cup sifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder and ¼ teaspoon salt and beat until smooth then beat in 2 eggs until batter is thin and smooth again. Grease a 4 or 5-inch frying pan lightly. Pour in batter to just cover bottom, tilting pan to coat bottom evenly. Cook 1 minute over medium heat; then flip over and brown second side. If desired turn Kraik to first side a delicate browning. Roll up and keep warm while you cook remainder. Serve with Orange Sauce: Cream together thoroughly 1/3 cup each butter (preferably unsalted) and sugar. When smooth add 1 cup orange juice and 4 tablespoons finely grated orange rind. Boil gently for 5 minutes until it acquires a syrupy texture. For genuine Suzettes add 2½ tablespoons each cointreau, curacoa and brandy and at table in chafing dish burn this off, by touching a match to a tablespoon of one of the liqueurs preheated, and when it is burning pouring it over the syrup until it too is alight. This flaming sauce is spooned over the hot Crepes and served at once, 2 or 3 to a serving.

QUESTION:

. . . find your column interesting and helpful especially when you write about Herbie and Marianne . . . we have a boy there too . . . felt just as you did about peeking around the corner when the family meet . . . be spent leave in London . . . met Uncle and Auntie he had not seen before . . . they wrote telling us about our wonderful chap . . . can you send me recipes that pack and keep good in parcels for him? . . . Mrs. H. W.

ANSWER:

I'm so glad we have bairns aboard to bring us together.

CHEWY PECAN STICKS:

(Wrap each one separately before packing in box to mail overseas.) One-half cup soft dehydrated shortening (this does not get rancid with age), 1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 tablespoons water, 2 eggs, 1 cup well-packed brown sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon each baking powder, salt, vanilla, 1 cup chopped pecans (or walnuts). Mix first 4 ingredients (shortening, flour, ¼ teaspoon salt and 1 tablespoon sugar) with a fork until consistency of fine meal. Mix in 1 egg and water. Press into 12 x 8 x2" baking dish and bake 15 minutes. Beat 2 mall eggs, and remaining ingredients to them; mix well. Spread over baked layer. Bake 40 minutes at 250 deg. (same for bottom layer). Cool in pan. Cut into sticks. These keep well, but wrap each one to

The Experts Say

Opera Singer Prefers Title of Housewife

By EDNA USHER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Young Mrs. Nicholas Kilburn of Toronto likes to be known as a housewife and mother, although she is an opera singer.

"Most of the public don't think that an opera singer can be an ordinary person in private life," she says.

Known on stage as Ilona Kombrink, she has sung lead roles in the Opera Festival Company in Canada and goes to Venice soon to sing the lead in Respighi's Rape of Lucretia.

DEVOTED MOTHER

She says few people understand that behind the glamorous stage figure is an ordinary person with a husband and three - year - old daughter.

"I once took my little girl to play on the beach before I sang in the opera," said Mrs. Kilburn. "At a reception after the performance I talked to a woman who had seen me on the beach. She seemed shocked that a person who sang in opera could do something so ordinary. I'm afraid the knowledge spoiled her evening."

But genuine interest in opera is increasing in Canada, she says. "The whole opera world is growing really fast, with festivals becoming more popular."

She was born in St. Louis, Mo., 28 years ago, and studied singing at Philadelphia where her future husband was studying the bassoon. They were married and daughter Nancy was born before Mrs. Kilburn had completed her studies.

When she spent three months at Munich, Germany, specializing in lieder and opera, little Nancy went along too.

MUCH TRAVEL

"It is difficult to have much family life when both my husband and I travel, a lot—often in different directions—but women on local opera committees are always helpful in finding baby sitters," she said. "We take Nancy with us whenever we can."

The little girl will stay with her mother's parents in the U.S. while Mrs. Kilburn is in Italy.

Lucretia will be performed at a musical vacation school attended by opera students from many countries. It will be conducted by the Canadian musician Ernesto Barbini.

"It is a great honor to be chosen," said Mrs. Kilburn. "It will be my European debut."

Does it foreshadow a career in grand opera?

"That depends on many things," she said. "Chiefly that my husband and daughter must come first."

This was the ninth annual picnic and relatives attended from Windsor, Orillia, St. Catharines, Weston, Acton, Kingston, Shannonville, Belleville, Foxboro, Dunbarton, Campbellford, Marmora, Stockdale, Hastings, Carmel, Rawdon, Springbrook, Mt. Pleasant-Rawdon, Stirling, and other nearby points.

EIGHT NEW FAMILIES

Eight new families were in attendance at their first reunion and were royally welcomed into the family fold. They are: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shaw, Keith and Patricia, of Windsor, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hubble, Orillia, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Hubble, Weston, Ont.; Mr. Bruce McCausland, St. Catharines, Ont.; Mr. Sam Hubble, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hubble and family, Acton, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. Morley Tanner and family, Campbellford, and Mr. and Mrs. Sid Demerest and family, of Marmora.

Eighty-five people sat down at long tables and enjoyed the picnic dinner topped off with ice cream, provided by the organization.

Following the dinner Mr. and Mrs. John Schwass and Mr. Burton Hubble conducted a round of races for boys and girls up to five years, eight, years, and 12 years. All the participants received a special treat.

PROGRAM

The program followed with the president, Cecil Hubble, of Foxboro, as master of ceremonies. He extended a welcome to the group. Mrs. Arthur Fyear officiated at the piano.

Mrs. Russell Fyear, Stirling, gave a resume of the finances to date and the year's expenditures. The day collection amounted to $24 and will be put into the general fund.

The historians then gave their report, Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Mount Pleasant, gave an outline of what had been accomplished to date, and requested up-to-date data for the years '56, '57 and '58, regarding births, marriages, etc.

Mrs. Russell Hubel, Carmel, displayed an assortment of pictures and explained the cost of insertion. Approximately 60 books are ordered and the treasurer of the book fund, Clifford Hubble, has a bank balance of $169 for the book fund. One hundred books will be published.

Mrs. Don Terry, Stockdale, spoke briefly. She is the third member of the historic committee, and she will have the honor of distributing the books when printed.

DONATION MADE

It was later decided a donation of $25 be taken out of the Hubble general fund and given to the book committee, if needed. Mrs. Lorne Hubble gave a generous cheque to the book fund as a memorial to her husband, the late Lorne Hubble, who was the organiser of the first reunion at Presqu'ile in 1950.

The ways and means committee will plan another social evening at Foxboro in November to add to the book fund. Mrs. Clarence Hay, Redneraville, and a group of assistants will be in charge of the arrangements.

The 1959 reunion will also be held at the Frankford Memorial Hall on the fourth Sunday in July.

Mrs. Everett Hubble and Mrs. Selbourne Westover, Belleville, secretaries in charge of invitations, are revising the mailing list. This year they forwarded 102 invitations.

Prizes were awarded as follows: youngest baby, Donald Paul Terry, three months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Terry, Dunbarton, Ont.; oldest person in attendance, Mrs. Walter Barker, Stirling, 88 years; longest married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Horace McHurter, Carrying Place, 50 years; youngest married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Terry, Dunbarton, married in 1956; largest family group, Mr. Everett Hubble, Belleville, with nine members in attendance, and coming from farthest distance, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shaw and family, from Windsor, Ont.

Brief addresses were given by: Joseph Hubble, Weston; Harvey Hubble, Orillia; Bruce McCausland, St. Catharines; Everett Hubble, Belleville; Charles Hubble, Acton; Mrs. Fred Shaw, Windsor and Mrs. Lorne Hubble, Stockdale.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Mrs. Arthur Fyear conducted the election of officers and moved a vote of thanks to the executive for their year's work.

The slate is as follows: president, Cecil Hubble, Foxboro (re-elected); first vice president, Everett Hubble, Belleville; second vice-president, Elton Hubble, Campbellford; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Russell Fyear, Stirling; secretaries for invitations, Mrs. Selbourne Westover and Mrs. Everett Hubble, Belleville. Sports committee, Messrs. John Schwass, Stockdale and Burton Hubble, Belleville; hall and ice cream committee, Mrs. John McColl, Wooler.

"Happy Birthday" was sung for Mrs. Lorne Hubble, who celebrated her birthday Monday, July 28. A special greeting will be forwarded to Edward Montgomery, Foxboro, who was absent, but has been in continuous attendance for seven years.

The historians, Mrs. Don Terry, Mrs. Russell Hubel, and Mrs. Percy MacMullen are hoping to complete their book at some future date. Treasurer of the book fund is Clifford Hubble, Glen Ross.

VANCOUVER (CP) — An official of a British Columbian subsidiary of a United States company said Thursday the firm has received permission to sell pulp to Communist China.

The actual sale has not been completed, though a deal is hoped for, said William E. Breilsmach, vice-president of Alaska Pine and Cellulose. The firm recently became a subsidiary of Rayonier Inc. of the U.S.

Trade Minister Churchill told the Commons Wednesday an order for bleached sulphite pulp was about to be shipped to Red China by a Canadian subsidiary of an American firm. He understood an export licence was being issued in Washington.

Mr. Churchill did not name the firm.

Mr. Breitenbach said Alaska Pine has "an inquiry" from Red China pulp buyers and "we hope to be able to do some business."

Bleached sulphite can be used to produce viscose used in textiles, chemicals, and paper production.

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Four years ago, Pat Boone and his wife Shirley were living in a 2½ room apartment in Denton, Texas, while he went to college. The rental: $50 a month.

Today, the Boones and their four daughters are renting a Bel Air mansion that they have been told cost $800,000 when it was built in 1934. Complete with marble halls and a tremendous swimming pool, it has more rooms than they can count. The place has been used by many distinguished visitors, including Prince Rainier, when he was here courting Grace Kelly.

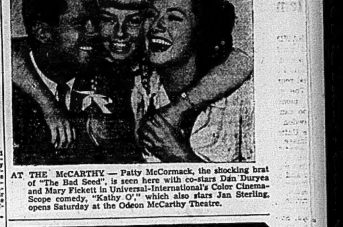
No, our boy Pat hasn't gone Hollywood, though he may be living like a prince. He still has his white buckskin shoes on the ground, but he's also enjoying some of the fruits of his amazing success.

Amazing is right. His record sales have been phenomenal. His one release after another going over the 1,000,000 mark. Starring with Arthur Godfrey and now with his own show, he has been a hit on television.

Though only one of his pictures had been in release, he was named No. 3 star at the box office, behind Rock Hudson and John Wayne, but ahead of Elvis Presley and Frank Sinatra. He's now making his third film, Mardi Gras.

Pat would like to settle in California but he says he's going where ABC doesn't have the facilities to do his show there.

Life is a bit simpler for Pat now that he has finally graduated from college.



"Shirley has been very patient with me, and now I've got some time to devote to the family," he said. "The only trouble is that it gets more difficult to take them anywhere in public."

On the same program, "The Strange Door" stars Charles Laughton, Boris Karloff and Sally Forrest. Both horror pictures will be shown Sunday at 12.05 a.m. at the Belleville Drive-In. Park Theatre for one showing only.

AT THE PARK — Handsome Richard Greene is starred with Boris Karloff, Stephen McNally, Paula Corday and Lon Chaney in Universal-International's new horror thriller "The Black Castle", also starring "The Strange Door". Champ Fails To 'Deck' Sparring Partner

OCEANSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson apparently was trying for revenge as a sparring partner Thursday but he didn't get very far.

During the workout Monday middleweight Joe Torres surprised the champ by knocking him to the deck. For a half round Thursday Patterson and Torres slugged it to toe, much to the excitement of a crowd of 300 who showed up for the work out at the titleholder's training camp.

But the sparring partner didn't go down.

Bahama Meets Miceli Tonight

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Veteran boxers Joe Miceli of New York city and Yama Bahama of Bimini meet tonight in a substitute 10-round bout. The bout will be televised.

Originally, Tony Anthony of New York, a leading contender for the light heavyweight championship, was to meet unranked Archie McBride of Trenton, N.J.

Bahama, 28, is ranked ninth among the middleweights. Miceli, once a top welterweight contender, is not ranked.

SPORT IN BRIEF

TO COMPETE IN U.S.

LONDON (AP)—Christine Truman and Ann Haydon, two of England's finest young tennis players, left for New York Thursday to compete in the American championships and three other tournaments. Miss Truman, 17, is considered Britain's brightest tennis prospect in 25 years.

FAME PAYS OFF

CUT AND SHOOT, Tex. (AP) — Thanks to heavyweight challenger Roy Harris, his home town of Cut and Shoot is getting a post office. Postmaster Gary Williams of nearby Conroe said Thursday the decision resulted from the heavy flow of mail to Cut and Shoot. Much of it is addressed to the fighter who will try to take Floyd Patterson's title at Los Angeles Aug. 18.

SET MINIMUM AGE

SARATOGA SPRINGS (AP) — The New York Racing Association has decided to establish a minimum age requirement of 18 years for admission to the state's thoroughbred race courses. The ruling, effective immediately, follows a six week's experimental period during which all minors were admitted to the tracks. The quirement that all minors admitted be accompanied by an adult remains in force.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Roger Stewart, of St. Catharines, the popular proxy of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association, has been taking a busman's holiday touring Eastern Ontario. And he liked what he saw.

Flanked by his second vice-president, Don Lee, Mr. Stewart dropped into the news room yesterday. With his wife and daughter he was enroute home from Montreal. He has visited several Eastern Ontario softball centres and takes back to his St. Kitt's home in particular and Western Ontario in general a fine report of "Lower Canada" softballing.

He has been a long-time member of the executive of Ontario's governing softball body and he takes an active interest in the twenty series it covers from squirt to senior "A".

He likes in particular the tremendous strides made by minor softball during the past few years. "This squirt series is something we have all needed," Roger said. It has hardly grown to the province-wide championship stage but has reached the zone title series. It is difficult to travel with kids ten years and under but they have a real time of it."

He was impressed with the fine brand of softball played in the Eastern Ontario neck-of-the-woods. "I would have liked to have seen a couple of the Belleville district teams in action, but games were slated the dates. We have had fine reports of softball as it is played in this area."

Is softball on the uptrend in Ontario? Roger was asked.

He smiled. "It must be," he said. "Manufacturers of balls have reported a shortage of stock for the first time in years, yet the annual output was the same. Then, too," Roger added, "the OASA for the first time in history, ran out of rulebooks."

He believed the industrial classification of the OASA inaugurated a couple or three years ago was destined to become a success. However, he was in favor of dividing the categories into two classifications. One would include firms with 500 and over employees, the other less than 500. "The smaller firms throughout the province will not compete with those, such as Tyzt and other million dollar corporations. I believe another category would see a lot more entries since industrial softball is booming all over the province."

The calibre of softball in Eastern Ontario has greatly increased over the past few years, Roger declared. "There was a time when teams from the western part of the province had it their way, now they treat Eastern Ontario clubs with a wholesome respect."

"It is the only strictly amateur sport left," he said. "It is not like hockey and baseball which have teams and leagues folding year after year because of non-financial support. In softball there seems there is always someone who is willing to dig up a few bucks to keep the game going."

If you looked in the back seat of Roger's car, you would find an umpire's pad and mask. He never travels without 'em, for being an old mask-and-padman he often does them and swings into action. He always "umps" at tournaments. And a "ritatish" nose, he says, is always a reminder of his younger days when he was a hockey player.

And in the Stewart home the "umps" had better be right. For across the breakfast table every morning sits one who knows the rule book as well as does the OASA prexy. Mrs. Stewart, the former Marjorie Ellerby, was formerly one of Canada's outstanding girl softball pitchers.

She played for the Toronto Sunnyside team and for a number of seasons played in the Montreal ladies' fastball league. She keeps abreast of the softball times, can quote the "book" from cover to cover and is Roger's most severest and most sincerest critic. He doesn't have to ask "How did I do?" following a game in which he officiated. A smile or a gentle shake of the head is his answer. But Margery knows the "umpire is always right," so there are no arguments.

WRESTLING

Don't forget, the ferocious Gene Kiniski and the Hindu sensation, Dara Singh, plus those rollicking midgets headed by Little Beaver are on tap at Memorial Arena tonight.

And for those fans who want more midget meat in their wrestling fare the Stirling Centennial Committee is staging three bouts, plus a big brother act on Monday (Civic Holiday) evening. In "single" bouts Ojibo Infantee meets Tom Thumb and Cowboy Bradley tangles with Irish Jackie. Then Tito and Jackie team up in a three-fall tag team bout with the other pair. Benny Trudell meets Bob Boyer in the "adult" match. Fun starts at 8.15 out Stirling way.

MINOR BASEBALL

Belleville's crack little peewee all-stars baseball squad is prelims ready for the OBA playdowns. They are playing exhibition games with district clubs and tomorrow night at the CNEA Park at 6.30 play the Trenton peewees. Then on Tuesday night next they go to Wellington to take on the classy village squad starting 6.30.

Those youngsters take their baseball seriously and are doing a splendid job. They are rated one of the best peewee squads ever to wear Belleville colors and should go places down the playdown trail. Some parent and other fan support is needed, so why not turn out and give the youngsters some encouragement. They will appreciate it.

Battle Of National League Leaders Starts Tonight

Braves Top Giants by Game After Toppling Bums Twice; Yanks Avenge Twin Defeats

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The most important series of the National League season, beginning tonight, finds the first-place Milwaukee Braves "up" and ready and the second-place San Francisco Giants "down" and unprepared.

The Braves are a full game in front, after winding two in a row against Los Angeles while the Giants were blowing two big ones to Cincinnati.

Thursday night's Giant loss to the Redlegs was a crusher. They led 6-0 after four innings and 9-4 after 7½. Cincinnati, however, rallied for five runs in the eighth and won, 10-9, on pinch hitter Pete Whisenant's single with the bases loaded and one out in the ninth.

WIN 4-1

Milwaukee, encouraged by Warren Spahn's first victory over the Dodgers in seven years Wednesday night, followed with a 4 - 1 triumph Thursday to capture their first series of the year against Los Angeles. Young Juan Pizarro went the distance, hurling a four-hitter for his second triumph without a defeat since his overall record.

Philadelphia won its third straight from Chicago, 4 - 1, to sweep past the Cardinals into sixth place. The Chicago Cubs covered the first half game of third-place Pittsburgh, defeating the Pirates 5-0 in a game halted after eight innings by rain.

The Braves, finally getting their hitting and pitching to synchronize, have their top pitchers all primed for the big four-game series with the Giants. Lew Burdette opens tonight, Gerry Wiggington will go Saturday with Spahn and Bob Rush working the Sunday doubleheader.

USED UP GOMEZ

Manager Bill Rigney had Ruben Gomez scheduled to hurl tonight. Gomez, however, was used in relief Thursday night and was charged with the loss. Johnny Antonelli, the ace of the staff, lost Wednesday night. Red Worthington, a member of the big four, was Thursday's starter. That leaves Jim Davenport, Mike McCormick and spot starter Stu Miller for tonight and Saturday. Antonelli or Gomez most likely will hurl the Sunday twin bill.

Ernie Banks hit his 29th home run for Chicago, but it took a Pittsburgh error and a wild pitch to follow Bobby Thomson's eighth - inning single, to bring home the tie-breaking run. The four-bagger gave Banks the National League lead, one third tied him with Boston's Jackie Jensen for the major league leadership.

Jim Hearn, who won his first start since July 20, 1957, held the Cardinals to five hits until the eighth when he needed help from Dick Farrell to hang up his second triumph of the year. Harry Anderson walloped his 15th homer of the year in the first inning, off Larry Jackson, to give the Phils a lead they never relinquished.

Yvon Durelle Upped to Third Lane, Holt, Boxers of Month

MILWAUKEE (CP) — The National Boxing Association Thursday advanced Canada's Yvon Durelle to third from fourth in its light - heavyweight listings and named his last opponent as one of two August fighters of the month.

Rating committee chairman Fred Saddy said Folley advanced —with Eddie Machen dropping to No. 2—"not because of his victory over Pete Rademacher, but because Machen has been inactive."

Ring Magazine advanced Chuvalo to ninth from 10th in its rating.

No other Canadians were listed.

Rider Fans Vision Grey Cup, Gary Schrieder Sure of Spot

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — The grandstand quarterbacks around the Ottawa Rough Riders football camp already are dreaming out loud about the club's chances to make the Grey Cup game trip to Vancouver four months from now.

A better line on the Riders will be known in the next 18 days as they play exhibitions here against three western clubs. They meet Saskatchewan Roughriders tonight, Vancouver Lions Aug. 7 and Edmonton Eskimos Aug. 11, before the Big Four season opener here against Toronto Argonauts Aug. 19.

If there are quite a few changes among the ball carriers in the Ottawa backfield, there appear to be few changes in the line, considered one of the best in the East last year.

NO STRONG THREATS

So far, observers feel no new threat in camp has shown any strength to the line John Reid last year by guards Lenny Hayes and Hardiman Cureton, and tackles Ralph Vaughan, Mike Graham and Tom Jones.

One offensive end spot is securely nailed down by team captain Bobby Simpson, one of the country's best native players, while Buddy Payne of North Carolina and Ron Yobs of Mimico are fighting for the other.

Last year's regular homebrew lineup is back, and the strong youngsters, tackles Moe Racine from Montreal and guard Len Skinner of Windsor, have better then an even chance to start.

STILL RIVALS

The quarterback spot remains as last year, a close fight between Hall-of-Fame Hal Patterson and Tom Dimitroff from Miami. Dimitroff replaced Lou Kusserow halfway in the season last year after Hal was laid up with a knee injury.

Backfield import candidates include Bobby Gold, Ottawa's first outside runner last year, and halfback Drew Thelen from Michigan. Halfback Harry Nesbitt of Arkansas University. 3

Canadian rangers with a nice chance of making the backfield include Gary Schrieder, Don Pinney, Leyland Mull and Frank Fraser.

Leafs Take Two From Richmond; Royals Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bill Giallombardo's return to Shibe Park as Montreal Royals from the parent Los Angeles Dodgers this week might just be the tonic the Royals need to begin a safe distance ahead of the pennant-chasing Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Leafs trail the Royals in the International League standings today by just one game and a half—following some mighty stout pitching of their own. But Giallombardo displayed some reserve-unit power at the plate Tuesday night as he banged a single into the Montreal park as he shut out Columbus 3-0 on three hits.

Toronto swept a doubleheader from Richmond 4-2 and 5-2 as the Vees managed to get only four runs in 18 innings off three Leaf pitchers.

PITCHERS' NIGHT

Two other fine pitching performances Thursday night saw Syracuse's relief pitching of Havana Sugar Kings for the limited 5-4 victory over Rochester's 5-4 victory, while John Kucheki's pitched Buffalo to a 3-2 win over Miami.

Montreal has seen its once seemly lead over Toronto slip as the Leafs pitchers began to burn up the league. Giallombardo, who spent a mainstay in the Royals' early surge, seems to have given the answer.

He upped his record to 8-4, walking only three and striking out nine, fanning five in a row over the seventh and eighth innings.

NO. 13 FOR CRIMIAN

Toronto, which had a 1-1, 10-inning standoff Wednesday night with Richmond, won the replay as Jack Crimian allowed only six hits for his 13th victory in 18 decisions.

Ernie Blake (6-5) won the second with relief help in the seventh when Richmond used four hits for a total of runs. Jack James (4-8) lost the first, while Bill Stafford (3-14) was charged with the second game loss.

Greason (4-8) struck out six after the Havana home runs helped the Cubans to a 4-3 lead off Harrier Gary Blaylock. Ray Katt hit a three-run homer for Rochester in the first, and three consecutive hits off reliefer — loser Saul Sanchez (5-3) added the winning runs in the fifth.

Starnicki also won batting honors for the Bisons, with a record-tying double helping his cause. He struck out 13, but needed relief help from Ken Johnson in the ninth.

Foxboro Meets Cannifton in Playoff Game

Cannifton and Foxboro will battle in a sudden-death game at the Fair Grounds Saturday night to decide third and fourth positions in the player-off standings. The game gets underway at 6:30.

Read finished on top of the Bestball League Baseball League standing with Latta second. Frankford and Cannifton were tied for third with Shannonville being eliminated.

In the league playoffs Read will meet the winner of the Foxboro-Cannifton game with Latta taking on the losers.

The league race this season was the closest in years and any more than four points separating the 2, 3, and 4th clubs. Read was always in front with a fair margin.

Paddlers Meet In Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Paddlers from Quebec, Ontario and Nova Scotia meet here Saturday on the 1958 Canadian canoe championships with the Ottawa Yoke of Mimico, Carlerville, Que., Boating Club and Leschine, Que., Racing Canoe Club ready to battle it out for top honors again.

The two clubs finished in a tie last year. The clubs are co-favorites against this year.

Fourteen Quebec and Ontario clubs and three from Halifax will compete in 18 events in the one-day competition at nearby Mooney's Bay, Saturday. Sudbury is the western entry this year.

The association decided in a one-day affair this year instead of the two-day competition because four 10,000 metre races have been omitted this year.

A new scoring system has also been introduced, allowing points for the first five finishers in each race. The new 5-4-3-2-1 point system replaces the old 5-4-3 system which allowed points for only the first three finishers.

Qualifying heats in the juvenile single blade single; the junior single blade tandem; the junior single blade single; the juvenile single blade pair and the juvenile single blade tandem, will be run off today.

ONTARIO LOSES

THE HAGUE (Reuters) — The Dutch first division soccer team beat Ontario tonight in a friendly match at Den Bosch 3-1. Half time was 1-1. Gatty scored both goals for Ontario.

Bob Bedard Only Canadian In Tennis Tourney Singles

By PETER BUCKLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Religion may affect the outcome of the Canadian tennis championships.

In one of the most unusual twists in the tournament's history, Aryeh-said Mike Crane of Berkeley, Calif., a Seventh Day Adventist, says he will not play his final match Saturday if he wins his semi-final event today.

Crane was matched in a semi-final against defending champion Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que. So that he will not be required to play on a Saturday, Seventh Day Adventists' religious code must decide whether to default before he meets Bedard or default during the event if he figures he will win.

He had not made up his mind by Thursday night.

CAN'T CHANGE FINAL

Tournament officials said they couldn't change the men's final to tonight or Sunday because it would be unfair to other players and spectators.

Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., and Japan's Kosei Kamo meet in the other men's semi-final.

The 36-year-old Bedard, ranked top Canadian in the tournament, didn't think Crane had any problem about a Saturday game.

"If intend to be there," he said. The odds were in Bedard's favor. Bedard dropped a match to Lorne Main of Vancouver and Toronto four years ago, Bedard has not lost to a Canadian in local or national competition.

Canada found itself with a dominant position in women's singles play today, after three women from this country advanced to semi-finals.

Susan Butt of Victoria was matched today against Eleanor Dodge of Montreal in one contest and Mrs. Louise Brown of Toronto, defending champion, was to meet 15-year-old Barbara Browning of Los Angeles in the other.

Argos Show Rally Qualities In 22-15 Win Over Bombers

TORONTO (CP) — One of the main questions coach Hamp Pool wanted answered this year was whether his Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four football league would still fight when they fell behind.

Argos squelched any doubts he may have had when they came from behind Thursday night to beat the 1957 western champion Winnipeg Blue Bombers 22-15 in an exhibition game.

They came back from an 8-7 count to lead 16-7 in the third quarter and then rebounded from a 19-15 score to finish on top and overpower a Winnipeg rally in the final minutes.

LOST SPIRIT

Last year Argos had a habit of giving up once they got behind.

"We were blasted along the line and run ragged in the first half but the fight came back," Pool said of Thursday night's game. "They showed me they won't give up."

Dave Thelen, former Chicago Cardinals halfback, was a tremendous running threat for the Argos, scoring first and third touchdowns. Holdover backfielders Carly Tharp and R. Roberts counted two in the third quarter.

SHORT FIELD GOAL

Vic Kristopaitis, another holdover import, converted the first touchdown. Holdover backfielder Field goal in the first quarter to account for Toronto's other points.

The Bombers scored two converted touchdowns and a single point. Hard-hitting Ken James and import halfback Charlie Shepard crashed over for the touchdowns in the first and third quarters.

Sponsors, PGA Crisis Over

CHICAGO (AP) — The crisis that prevailed between the International Golf Sponsors Association and the Professional Golfers Association over tournament sponsorship apparently had passed away.

"Both sides have given a lot for the interest of tournament golf in this thing," said Ed Carter, IGSA executive director.

"We don't contemplate any more problems," said A. M. (Skip) McMahon of Los Angeles, president of the IGSA which represents sponsors of golf tournaments worth more than $500,000.

The outgrowth of three days of negotiating has resulted in the IGSA standing firmly as a group behind its own contractual policy terms.

Carter will conduct his contract talks with individual sponsors. But the contracts ultimately must be approved by the IGSA.

McMahon said policy board decisions will be reported down the line by members of the IGSA.

Haiti President Gets More Power

PORT-au-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) President Francois Duvalier has emerged from Haiti's latest political crisis with power to rule the volatile Negro republic as a dictator for the next six months and with his own political position somewhat strengthened.

The National Assembly empowered him Thursday to govern by decree after he had taken a personal part in crushing an attempt by three former Haitian army officers and four American adventurers to start a revolt. All seven were killed Tuesday after raiding the barracks next to the presidential palace.

12 Main Roads Being Repaired Report Shows

TORONTO (CP)—Twelve main highways in Ontario are undergoing repairs and renovations, the provincial department of highways says in its weekly report.

None of the construction jobs is likely to cause serious delay, the report says, but weekend traffic may be slowed at some of the sites.

Under construction are: Highway 6 east of Cookstville, under repair; Highway 6 from Mount Forest north for eight miles, under construction, roadside detours; Highway 6 from Dunham to Dorcott, under construction, roadside detours; Highway 10 north of Orangville south for 10 miles, under construction, some gravel sections;

Highway 11 north of Newmarket to Cornara, under construction, some gravel sections; Highway 11 from Queen Elizabeth Way to Highway 2, under construction, some roadside detours; Highway 27 from Peterborough south for nine miles under construction, one-way traffic in some sections; Highway 46 from Kirkfield to Bardi, gravel sat, under construction;

Highway 48 from Ringwood to Ballantrae under construction, some gravel sections; Highway 69 from Parry Sound to Nobel, under construction; Highway 73 from Highway 33 to Alwington, under construction; Highway 80 to Point au Baril, gravel sat, under construction; Highway 90 two miles east of Angus, bridge construction, roadside detour; Highway 106 from Welcome to Dale, closed to traffic due to construction.

Way Is Cleared For Strikes by Brewery Union

TORONTO (CP) — Three conciliation boards Thursday declared themselves not competent to recommend settlement of labor problems threatening Ontario's brewery industry.

In separate reports the three boards, each headed by Eric G. Taylor of Toronto, cleared the way for possible strike action by next Thursday by employees at Carling Breweries Limited, Waterloo, the Canadian Breweries Transport Company Limited, Waterloo, and Brewers' Warehousing Company Limited in other major Ontario centres.

Other board members were E. Macaulay Dillon, company secretary, and D. M. Storey, union nominee, and Mr. Dillon and Michael Walters for the other two.

LACK CONFIDENCE

In unanimous reports, the board members said that because of the brewery workers' union's lack of confidence in the chairman and in the boards as constituted there was a practical barrier to effective conciliation.

In each case the board declared itself "not competent to make any recommendation other than that the parties resume negotiations in good faith with a view to effecting a settlement."

A spokesman for Brewers' Warehousing said negotiations with the Brewery and Soft Drink Workers International Union continued until late Thursday and would be resumed this morning. Negotiations at Carling's in Waterloo were broken off Wednesday.

Negotiations for Carling's, Toronto and Hamilton plants are being conducted along with those of O'Keefe Brewing Company Limited and Dow Kingsbury Brewery Limited as part of Canadian Breweries Limited.

Negotiations between Canadian Breweries Limited and the union now are going into the conciliation board stage and need only the appointment of a board chairman.

Molson's Brewery (Ontario) Limited is already negotiating on its own and negotiations at Labatt's are expected to start next week.

Margaret's Kiss Was for Her Lady-in-Waiting

TORONTO (CP) — Princess Margaret left everyone guessing Wednesday night when she came from her party to kiss a tallish and gloveless woman before boarding the royal train for Malton.

The kiss—a rare occurrence with royalty—set off a buzzing and murmuring among spectators who saw the show of affection at the airport.

However, the mystery was solved later when a close-up picture of the incident showed that the recipient of the kiss was the princess's lady-in-waiting, Hon. Iris Peake, who had left the royal party in Calgary.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Saturday, August 2

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — Morning hours are ideal for putting abode in such clean and inviting order that you must fill all your energy into the task. Then it will be impossible to go off to pleasant activity you had anticipated, for there is vital but dull work to be done.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — Get out early with pals or associates to those errands, putting over deals, or gathering data that are very necessary. Early P. M. you will feel tempted to spend foolishly. Refrain from doing so.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — By being very sensible and efficient in your work today, your efforts come to the attention of important executive who will assist you greatly. In early P. M. an associate endeavors to interfere in something you desire to do, if you permit.

Moon children (June 22 to July 21) — Early A. M. brings fine sense of well — being. Either you receive good tidings or an interesting person. After lunch, it is imperative you put your nose to the grindstone, but do so cheerfully.

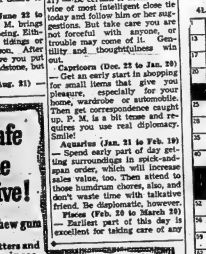
Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Affairs of the heart or other enjoyable pleasures can be indulged in early today, but refrain from extravagance or jealousy. Only in this way can you avoid later worry and possibility of losing prestige.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) — Getting together with friends, associates, or even competition can be very beneficial in early A.M. But first see that you get that dull task out of the way, which a close tie expected of you.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) — Getting to work bright and early and working in most efficient manner puts you the favor and aid of big executive. P.M. drive carefully. Later, attend to matters that improve health.

Scorpio (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) — A fine day for being with compatible companions and starting off on a little jaunt to a place that can be reached by luncheon time. Relax and have fun without spending too much money. Be joyful.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Be certain to listen to advice of most intelligent close to today and follow him or her suggestions. But take care you are not forced into anything. Trouble may come of it. Gentility and thoughtfulness win out.



Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Get an early start in shopping for small items that give you pleasure, especially for your home, wardrobe or automobile. Then get correspondence caught up. P. M. is a bit tense and requires you use real diplomacy. Smile!

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Spend early part of day getting surroundings in spick-and-span order, which will increase sales value, too. Then attend to those humdrum chores, also, and don't waste time with talkative friend. Be diplomatic, however.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Earliest part of this day is excellent for taking care of any personal affairs that please you. Then someone who has authority over your affairs gives you rather a bad time. Retain poise. Don't lose face or prestige.

If your child is born today ... The handsome child born today is the type who will be spoiled by just about everyone he or she comes in contact with. So it is your duty to early teach that only by earning one's own way in life is character and real success attained, and security in old age assured. A splendid horoscope for the humanitarian and philosopher who has his feet firmly planted on the ground, financially also.

FIND TUNA NEAR ALASKA

KODIAK, Alaska (AP)—A tuna, which prefers tropical waters, has been caught in the nets of a Gulf of Alaska salmon seiner. It was positively identified as a tuna today by biologists. Oceanographers have speculated that an unexplained upswing in the warm waters of the Japanese current that began early in 1957 is bringing the fish north.

Sunday School Lesson

The Hazards of Freedom

By ROY L. SMITH

Liberty and freedom are two of the greatest words in the English language, and certainly two of the most prized blessings of the Canadian way of life. But this week's Sunday School lesson makes it quite plain that some extremely serious hazards are attached to them.

BLACKLISTED PROPHET

One of the very earliest of the Old Testament prophets had an experience that had the effect of setting the pattern for almost all the others. He was blacklisted for preaching his convictions, and driven out of the nation's capital by the forces of organized religion. At least one successor (Jeremiah) was jailed, his only sin being the same spirit of candor.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for August 3: Guarding Our Freedoms", Amos 7:10-17; John 8:31-38; Acts 4:15-20; 5:27-32; Galatians 3:23-28; 4:1-25; Colossians 4:1,7-9; Philemon,

The story is a simple one. The political situation throughout the world provided an exceptional opportunity for the nobility of Israel to grow rich. The little land lay midway between Assyria and Egypt, and, during the lull in the warfare these two great empires waged on one another, a vast tide of commerce flowed over the Minor land, on all of which they were at liberty to levy customs treaties with both empires they made money, and at the expense of the poor. Not the least among the beneficiaries of the system was the priest in charge of the great shrine at Bethel. When he found his income threatened, he succeeded in driving Amos out of the town.

The Church is advised on all hands today to "keep out of politics," but it is due to the fact that Amos condemned the political and economic sinners of his day, that he is in the Old Testament.

FREEDOM OF PULPIT

Most of us are well aware of the great good that has come to the Canadian people because they have the advantage of a free press. Brainwashing the newspapers is the first objective of every dictator. There can be no free people who do not have free access to all the news.

But of equal importance is the freedom of the pulpit. Any government that undertakes to shut the mouths of the priests, rabbis, and preachers is betraying the basic rights of the people.

RESPONSIBILITIES OF FREE MEN

This doctrine of free speech, of course, lays a sober obligation upon the speaker to speak the truth. It is one of the perils of a democracy, which enjoys freedom of speech, that it may become a victim of the corrupt who take advantage of their opportunity to declare distortions of the truth.

He who makes a charge of injustice should be able to support his charges with facts. He who publishes charges of corruption should be able to produce the evidence in the court.

Just at the moment the Canadian people suffer greatly at the hands of the propagandists who thrive under the cover of freedom and liberty.

Ottawa To Give Busy Princess Three Days' Fun

Niagara and Hamilton Pay Homage on Friday

OTTAWA (CP) — Princess Margaret arrives by train at noon today from Hamilton for three days of fun and relaxation —with but few formal functions —in the national capital area.

After official functions today and Sunday and a Saturday night dance at Government House, the touring princess will take off Sunday by helicopter for the Gatineau hills, north of Ottawa.

Margaret's stay in Ottawa follows three days of touring Southern Ontario, with visits to Toronto, Stratford, Niagara Falls, and Hamilton.

Her schedule today includes luncheon at the official residence of Prime Minister Diefenbaker, the official opening of Ottawa's $3,500,000 city hall, a big government reception for more than 900 persons and dinner with some 90 young Canadians.

TO ATTEND CHURCH

The princess will attend Christ Church Cathedral Sunday, sign the golden book at the city hall of neighboring Hull, Que., then fly to Harrington Lake, 15 miles north of here.

There, in a secluded summer home owned by the Federal District Commission, she will stay until her departure next Tuesday noon for Montreal.

21-GUN SALUTE

The band, drum corps and 100-man guard of honor of the 1st Battalion, Canadian Guards, was to be drawn up on Confederation Square just outside the station for the arrival ceremony that included a 21-gun salute fired from nearby Nepean Pt.

While in Ottawa, Margaret will stay at Government House, just across Sussex Drive from Mr. Diefenbaker's official residence where she lunches today. There were to be 20 at the table, including Mr. Massey.

At the new eight-storey city hall on Sussex Drive, three blocks from the prime minister's residence, Margaret was to reply to a welcoming speech by Mayor Grenier Nelms.

She was to open officially the new building erected on Green Island, where the Rideau River flows into the Ottawa.

Late today, Margaret attends a government reception in the Chateau Laurier Hotel with Mr. and Mrs. Diefenbaker as host and hostess. More than 900 guests, including members of Parliament, diplomats, high government officials and ranking military officers were invited.

HAMILTON (CP) — Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon left Ontario last night with the roar of Niagara Falls and the gay skirl of bagpipes ringing in her ears.

In the royal train's baggage car were three more gifts to go with the many she has accumulated since her Canadian tour started July 12 in Victoria.

From Niagara Falls, where she viewed the cataract Friday morning and looked over a new power generating station, she carried away a photo of the falls and a wicker basket containing three bottles of wine from Canadian vineyards, gifts of the Greater Niagara Chamber of Commerce.

AND SOME TOFFEE

There was also a flowered package of home - made toffee, presented to an RCMP officer for delivery to the astonished little girl about eight years old during luncheon at the Sheraton Brock Hotel.

"I've brought this for the princess," she told him.

In the afternoon, during a visit of little more than two hours in Hamilton, she was given a silver cigaret box engraved with the Queen's Dolours, the doubled motto of the Highland light infantry of Canada in honor of Princess Margaret, colors as colonel-in-chief.

At Niagara Falls, Police Chief Cecil Pay estimated the honeymoon crowds at 50,000 and the streets were swollen by 100,000 more who came to see the princess and her husband after they dined.

Civic Stadium in Hamilton was packed with 30,000 more persons to see Princess Margaret and the ceremonial presentation of colors to the 2nd militia unit. Many were from Hespeler, Preston and Kitchener, which was Galt's pride in the Highlanders.

RELAXED, SMILING

The princess, drenched with Niagara's spray and shielded by a short-rage blast of photographers' flashbulbs in the morning, was relaxed and smiling when her train pulled into Hamilton's CNR station at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

She chatted with Mayor Lloyd Jackson and State Secretary Ellen Fairclough in the flower-filled station and became one of the city's residence. Margaret was to reply to a welcoming speech by Mayor Grenier Nelms.

She was to open officially the new building erected on Green Island, where the Rideau River flows into the Ottawa.

Late today, Margaret attends a government reception in the Chateau Laurier Hotel with Mr. and Mrs. Diefenbaker as host and hostess. More than 900 guests, including members of Parliament, diplomats, high government officials and ranking military officers were invited.

WOULD BE OUTCRY IF BEASTS WERE KILLED LIKE MEN

Capital Punishment Debated in House

OTTAWA (CP)—A Commons debate has reflected a sharp split in opinion over whether convicted murderers should be executed.

Frank McGee, former department store buyer and jury foreman in two murder trials, said in the Commons Friday the country would be incensed if animals were slaughtered the way men are hanged.

A. DeB. McPhillips, a lawyer, said "the hangman is an influence for good."

P. B. Rynard, a medical doctor, said Parliament shouldn't debate whether to abolish capital punishment without first finding out the opinions of the public—"plan John Doe who is quite likely some day to find himself the victim of a jury saying somebody for murder."

CCF-SPONSORED BILL

The three small Progressive Conservative MPs, spoke on a bill sponsored by Harold Winch (CCF — Vancouver East), which would abolish capital punishment.

Mr. Winch, launching debate the Commons reached no decision on an issue which has divided MPs bitterly for some time. A Senate-Commons committee studying the question a few years ago heard sharply-conflicting views from many organizations and finally sent a recommendation for retention of the maximum penalty but abolition of the hangman's noose as the method.

The bill generally quiet sitting, members also completed study of the justice department's spending program for the year and began their review of veterans affairs department's program with a general debate that continues today.

2ND SESSION EARLY

With Princess Margaret due to arrive in the capital at noon today and a state dinner - lawn government reception, the House of Commons met early—at 10 minutes before the normal 8 p.m. adjournment time.

Mr. McGee, member for York-Scarborough, cited his own murder trial experience in urging support of Mr. Winch's proposal to end the death penalty.

He said he believes some judges and jury members can "sleep at night" if convicted they would affect their judgment in murder trials. In one of his cases a jury foreman, a juror in writing a verdict had drawn a picture of a gallows, a victim's face and a scaffold. Another jury member had said earlier in conversation that an immigrant—should be hanged as an example to other immigrants.

Mr. McGee said he doesn't believe "we have to come to a sufficiently absolute conclusion to justify taking a person's life."

Mr. Rynard, a Victoria lawyer who has served in murder trials as defence counsel and as Crown prosecutor, said the chances are "very remote indeed" that an innocent person will be hanged.

BOTH DEGRADING

Capital punishment is degrading, he said. But so was murder, and only the cold-blooded murderer deserves death.

Mr. Rynard of Simcoe East, (PC—Vancouver Centre) said the ultimate answer to whether capital punishment is an effective deterrent to murder is the hanging of 10 top-ranking Germans after the Second World War been a deterrent to international crime?

"I have my own opinion of course, but Mr. Nasser, Mr. Khrushchev and Mr. Macmillan, if he were available, would be more competent witnesses than I."

DRESS, COIFFURE, SURPRISES LADIES

Princess Margaret's new bubble coiffure and full-length gown caused a ripple of excitement in feminine ranks as she attended the Stratford Festival. The gown was of rose silk-taffeta, set off by a diamond brooch and earrings and a mutation mink stole. Many of the ladies attending the performance wore short cocktail dresses, believing that the Princess would be similarly dressed.

Expect Quick and Favorable Reply by USSR on UN Parley

WASHINGTON (AP)—Officials looked today for a quick — and probably favorable — reply from Moscow to the U.S.-British proposal for a UN summit conference to begin about Aug. 15.

Because the Russian leader has been confronted with two conflicting summit proposals from the West, he is in a position to pick and choose.

Premier de Gaulle has called for a five-power meeting to begin in Geneva on Aug. 18 outside the framework of the United Nations.

U.S. officials charged with security arrangements reported that plans for protecting Khrushchev against possible anti-Communist demonstrators in New York, should he go there, were substantially completed. They estimated that 4,000 to 5,000 police and government security agents would be used.

In his new reply to Khrushchev, Eisenhower again rejected the Soviet charge that U.S. and British troop landings in Lebanon and Jordan threatened world peace.

Doubt Hammarskjold Is Able To Get All Ready by Aug. 12

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold started arrangements today for a UN Security Council meeting on the Middle East in the Press Premier Nikita Khrushchev picks up his option to attend.

Hammarskjold could work but the diplomatic housekeeping details by the deadline of Aug. 12 suggested by Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain, a Soviet lawyer who has served in murder trials as defence counsel and as Crown prosecutor, said the chances are "very remote indeed" that an innocent person will be hanged.

BOTH DEGRADING

Capital punishment is degrading, he said. But so was murder, and only the cold-blooded murderer deserves death.

NEW PRESIDENT CONFERS WITH REBEL LEADER

U.S. Unloads Tanks And Troops at Beirut

BEIRUT (CP)—President-elect Fuad Shehab met today with rebel leader Saeb Salam behind a heavy security cordon in a Beirut residential area.

Out in the harbor, United States transport ships unloading 70 big Patton tanks while troop reinforcements poured ashore. U.S. army sources said more troops are on their way and 3,000 men now all are to be due to land here next Wednesday.

There were unconfirmed reports here that Kamal Jumblatt, tribal leader of the South Lebanon Druze rebels who has helped Salem lead the revolt, has ordered his men to surrender at his headquarters to place their arms "in storage."

Salem, commander of rebels in the Beirut area and a spokesman for the insurgent forces in Lebanon, came from behind the barricades in the Basta Moslem quarter for the first time since the rebellion began May 10.

Witnesses said a crowd cheered Salam as he entered the home of relatives for the meeting and observed a few minutes later.

Salam demanded that President Fuad Chehab resign before Parliament elects a successor to President Camille Chamoun, then informed almost as soon as the explosions began at 11 Friday night, looked on hundreds of rescue workers who sped to the scene from all parts of the city.

This was the official account of the disaster:

Military officials originally felt the fire could be checked and would not spread to the Cambosia dump nearby. Larger 150 and 135 millimetre shells are stored there, in the records of a small bill.

The Cambui dump finally went up in a tremendous roar, ravaging a wide area and almost obliterating the village. It was impossible to escape from the immediate area after the first explosion.

A fire truck heading into the danger area exploded but it was not known how many firemen were on it. Dr. Jose Ribeiro reported the injured did not start coming in for several hours. Most were victims of panic that followed the explosions.

More than 1,000 miles from the blasts, residents said: "the fire lit up the sky like daylight and the first explosion after explosion and with each explosion the windows rattled and the houses would shake."

Band Plays 'Queen' too Soon

HAMILTON (CP) — A military band played God Save the Queen too soon during the Hamilton ceremony at which Princess Margaret presented new colors to the Highland light infantry of Canada.

A band of the Perth Regiment struck up the anthem before the order was given for a royal salute. Major W. D. Gore-Grimard, the commanding officer, and his four 60-man rifle companies stood at attention rifles at the shoulder.

Apart from this error, the military ceremony was carried out with precision.

Munitions Dump Blasts In Brazil Claim 50 Lives

First Fear 1,000 Dead; Explosions Last 4 Hours

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — A huge army munitions dump blew up in a four-hour series of explosions today. Civilian authorities said as many as 50 persons might have been killed.

An army communique said it had no exact news of the number of victims several hours after the last blast. Troops kept firemen and rescue workers out of the fire-swept area for fear more ammunition might explode.

Authorities estimated before dawn that up to 1,000 persons might have been killed. This was based on the belief that the blasts and fire had swept a nearby housing area. But when the sun came up behind pillars of smoke, authorities said there was a good chance most residents had been evacuated.

HUNDREDS AROUSED

The army was "credited with saving hundreds of lives" by rushing soldiers racing through the housing development minutes before the first explosion shook warnings to rouse families.

President Juscelino Kubitschek, informed almost as soon as the explosions began at 11 Friday night, ordered hundreds of rescue workers who sped to the scene from all parts of the city.

This was the official account of the disaster:

Hungarian Pole-Vaults To Freedom

GRAZ, Austria (Reuters)—A 45-year-old Hungarian athlete has travelled over the barbed wire entanglements and mine fields along the Austro-Hungarian border Friday and asked for political asylum.

Ference Nagy told police he spent months planning his escape. He lost in hours of practice, jumping objects similar to the entanglements.

Friday, he took a long pole, raced up to the barbed wire, and vaulted clear of the eight-foot barrier.

Today's Chuckle

The boss was fit to be tied this morning. Just beneath the "thinker" signs he had posted around the office, somebody had carefully written "or thwink."

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis — Ontario's Civic Holiday weekend got off to a good start today with clear skies reported from all parts of the province. Southern Ontario and the resort areas will remain mostly sunny today and Sunday with afternoon temperatures reaching the mid-80s.

MP Demands Army Release Soldier As Twin Pines Away Without Him

LONDON (AP)—A member of Parliament demanded Friday that the British army release a soldier whose twin brother is playing away without him.

"To separate these two men," Thomas Reid told the Commons, "is to commit slow murder."

The twins live in the mountainous Welsh district which Jones represents in Parliament for the Labor party.

They are identical in just about every way, except that two months ago one was conscripted while the other was turned down as medically unfit.

Ever since, said Jones, "the one at home has been dispirited and off his food."

Jones refused to give their names but said the two twins always had been inseparable. When one fell ill, down went the other. When one got fat, the other starved too.

If Government spokesman Richard Woods said that if the army wasn't allowed to split up twins, it would become difficult to make a case for calling a husband away from his wife.

He assured Jones he had been told the doctors that separation should not cause the twin any real harm.

Hockey Star Bert Olmstead Gets 6 Months for Assault

VANCOUVER (CP) — Bert Olmstead, National Hockey League player with Toronto Maple Leafs, was sentenced Friday to six months in jail for assault. He was released on $1,000 bail pending an appeal.

Olmstead, 31, was sentenced in police court by Magistrate W. H. Bartlgan. He was found guilty earlier this week of assault causing bodily harm to Wes Vancouver mining executive Ralph Rooney, 32.

Defence counsel Allen W. Mercer said Olmstead, purchased by Leafs from Montreal Canadiens recently, will return to his farm at Scopes, Sask., to harvest his crops.

the assault "brutal." He said he did not accept Olmstead's story that he was struck, first.

The incident took place June 28 at a trapshooting club banquet. Rooney testified he was beaten because recognition by Olmstead in the washroom of the War Amputations of Canada Hall, where the banquet was held.

Olmstead had testified during the trial: "You are taught in professional hockey to keep your temper at all times and not start fights, but that if anybody swings at you, you retaliate."

The magistrate said: "Here is a trained athlete who, without cause, without explanation, warning or even apparent intent, brutally assaults this little and defenceless complainant, a complete stranger.

India Reports Revolt Rumored In Eastern Tibet

NEW DELHI (Reuters) —The Indian ministry of external affairs said today there had been unconfirmed reports circulating in Lhasa, capital of Tibet, of renewed uprisings among the people of eastern Tibet against Communist rule.

The newspaper Times of India here said there was unrest in eastern Tibet with the indefinite postponement by the Dalai Lama, spiritual and Prime Minister Nehru of Lhasa,' which was to have been held in April.

TIBETANS SAID FLEEING

The Nepalese daily newspaper Kalpana reported last week that Tibetans from the border areas were fleeing to Nepal and India.

The paper said that reports of trouble in Tibet, mainly in the troubled eastern province of Khamba, were the result of the exodus. It added that the people had been driven from their homes and collated with large-scale punitive measures.

The report was later denied by Nepalese Home Minister D. R. Regmi in London but it added knowledge of incursions into Nepalese territory by Tibetan refugees. Regmi said more than 50,000 Chinese and 15,000 Tibetans have been killed in east Tibet. This report said the revolt in Tibet began when the Chinese province of Sinkang and west to the borders of India. Thousands of Tibetans have reported being killed every day in a "merciless struggle" between Chinese Communist troops and Tibetan guerrillas.

DORSEY (CP)—A new fire-fighting device was shown Friday to officials of industry and the Ontario government at a demonstration of the annual fire fighters' course at the ranger school here.

It is a radio direction finder which, when dropped from an aircraft, is designed to lead ground forest-fire-fighting crews to the scene of a blaze.

The direction finder was developed by lands and forests technicians.

Here's how it works:

The device, weighing less than three pounds, is battery-operated. The pilot switches it on when he spots a bush fire and drops it from the spotting plane on a small parachute.

It transmits a beep-beep signal until the batteries are exhausted or until a ground crew gets to the scene. The ground crew searches a small receiving transmitter which picks up the signal. The sound gets louder as the crew nears the fire.

One of the difficulties encountered in fighting forest fires has been getting directly to a small fire which may be visible from a lower or a plane but does not give enough smoke to make it easily sighted from the ground.

The direction finder was a joint enterprise of R. H. Keenan, communications technician at Stout Lookout, Don Cooper of Sault Ste. Marie, radio technician, and Ralph Hooper, forest ranger at Dorsey.

Flies 45 Hours To Set Single Engine Record

PENDLETON Ore. (AP) — Veteran pilot Marion Call declaring says he wouldn't want to relive the hours of his record nonstop flight in a single-engined plane.

Call was the toughest thing I've ever done," the 43-year-old pilot said after ending the 4,076-mile flight from Wichita Falls here Friday. The jaunt took 45 hours and 2 minutes.

"I wouldn't want to go back and re-live those hours, but I'm glad I've had the chance to do them as the best 45 hours of my life."

The flight began in Manila and took 40 hours 6 minutes as a bleeding ulcer developed. It broke the non-stop record for one-engined planes of 5,997 miles set in 1949 by the late Capt. Bill Odom.

"AWFULLY LONELY"

"I got awfully lonely at times," Call said. "It's a lonesome thing to fly that far in a little, tiny machine with nothing to keep you company.

"I didn't have a portable radio. I didn't have a navigator. I left it in Manila because it weighed 30 pounds."

Boiling will receive more than $2,000 from the Beech Aircraft Corporation for his flight. He plans to give $1,000 to the Seventh-Day Adventist church—which he attends but does not belong to.

Will Cost Strike Vote Next Week

TORONTO (CP) — Employees of the Steel Company of Canada at Hamilton are to vote next Tuesday and Wednesday to decide whether they will strike over wage demands.

The vote among the 7,500 workers was announced Friday by the United Steel Workers of America (CLC). It was called after the majority report of a conciliation board recommended a against a wage increase.

The majority report, signed by conciliation board chairman Judge H. J. Donley and company nominee C. B. McRae, said: "It would be detrimental to Stelco employees and the economy to increase employment costs in a year of recession and unemployment."

The report noted Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Finance Minister Fleming in speeches have urged both unions and companies to "hold the line."

MINORITY REPORT DIFFERS

In a minority report, union nominee Andrew Aitken of Hamilton recommended a 25-cent package increase for a one-year contract and 25 cents for a two-year contract.

WON'T ACCEPT

The steelworkers' negotiating committee in Pittsburgh issued a statement saying it would not accept the majority report. The union said in part: "It appears the Canadian Manufacturers Association is out to break a union for the working man is sinful and harmful; to make unlimited profits and cheap labor is commendable."

The union says at the plant was $2.36 an hour under the two-year contract which expired March 31. The union members originally called for a 65-cent-an-hour package increase, but trimmed their demands to 35 cents at the conciliation hearings July 2, 3 and 4.

Earlier this week the service station was visited by parties who some chewing gum and cash were reported stolen.

Residents in the city last night, police picked up a drunk who was lying on the CNR tracks behind Bettes St. It was the same man who, a few weeks ago, was clipped by a slow - moving CPR freight as he sat on the bridge near Victoria Park.

OPP reported a very quiet night in both county and on district highways.

Start Steel Price Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Antitrust Subcommittee voted Friday to start hearings promptly on the increase in steel prices.

It also decided to ask President Eisenhower to call on leaders of industry and labor, particularly in the steel industry, to hold the price-wage line against further inflation.

Chairman Estes Kefauver (Tenn-Tenn.) told reporters after the subcommittee's closed meeting that he hopes to start the hearings next week.

Kefauver said the subcommittee chief counsel Joseph Ginsburg will be whether the "simultaneous action" of the steel companies in raising prices, as he phrased it, is a violation of the anti-trust laws and whether new laws are needed.

City of Ottawa Gives Princess Chinchilla Cape

Mayor George Nelms told the princess the expression of welcome is not inappropriate since Ottawa "is a city created, established, existed and prospered by the royal house of which you are a most worthy member."

The fur cape, of Canadian chinchilla, is in smoky snow-swept silvery greys and designed for "great occasion" gowns worn by the princess. It hugs the shoulders and arms to just-above-elbow length and the decolletage is wide and deep to allow full display of a beautiful jewelry.

Canada's Gift To Princess Is Mink Coat

The breath-taking full length coat was presented to Princess Margaret today by Prime Minister Diefenbaker on behalf of Canada at the prime minister's residence.

The lustrous brown fur is styled with a shawl collar, slightly drop sleeves, three-quarter sleeves and a straight slimmed skirt, all scaled to accentuate princess Margaret's petite figure.

It took 93 medium sized, perfectly matched wild mink skins to make the coat. It is worth perhaps $15,000.

Salk Vaccine Licking Polio In Ontario

TORONTO (CP) — Poliomyelitis is being licked by Toronto-produced Salk vaccine, Dr. Alan Brown, director of laboratories for the current issue of the Canadian Medical Association Journal.

Two years after the first shots for every case of the disease among vaccinated school children there were seven cases in the non-vaccinated group.

Only one Ontario child who received the full three shots developed polio.

Out of 1,800,000 children under 18 vaccinated in Ontario in 1955, 1956 and 1957, 1,700 vaccinated children (who received two shots only) got the disease.

STRESSES SAFETY

The report stresses Salk is safe and not harmful in polio that did occur.

The vaccine is produced in Canada at the Connaught Medical Research Laboratories of the University of Toronto.

Already 95 per cent of children under 18 in Canada have had three shots.

Dr. W. G. Brown, who heads the study, says all vigorous, active adults should get the vaccine, no matter what their age. Only a few thousands adults in Ontario have so far been vaccinated.

Last Year Belleville Fair Was Largest Class B Show

Belleville Fair, being held this year, August 11, 12, 13 and 14, was last year reported in the Department of Agriculture statistics as the largest class B fair in Ontario. There are only seven in class A, fairs in the province. This A, B and C classification is based on prize money paid on specified agricultural expenditure over a three-year period.

Work on fair begins in January. At the annual meeting of members of the Belleville Agricultural Society who have been members for the previous year and who pay the new year's membership fee of $2.00, are allowed to vote and select seven-teen directors. The directors then choose their own executive and appoint associate directors to complete the "Fair Board".

From January until fair time meetings are held on the average of 2 a month until the summer meetings begin every week. These meetings are attended by an average of twenty-five directors and the meetings often involve further demands of time and effort. None of the directors is paid, with the exception of the secretary and treasurer. The books are audited annually by a chartered accountant.

Groups who apply for space or concession right at the fair sometimes fail to realize governing factors. The Ontario Government assists with grants and has enacted legislation to keep all rights in and near the grounds under the Board control at fair time. The board sells these concessions to make up prize money. Midway and concession rights are at present under the direction of Conklin Shows, which has put down more than $10,000 in paving on the grounds to secure them.

Help at the fair is unusual and hard to get. Wages are ridiculously low in view of the hours put in, but without this assistance the fair could not be run. many the Fair would never pay its way. However, in this more evident than in the group helping for long hours on the gates. The merchants of Belleville also contribute greatly, and at considerable cost to themselves, to make the Fair a success. The many out-of-town companies that secure space do so because over the years our merchants have built a worthwhile showplace.

Belleville Fair started before 1949 as a community project. It has become the largest class B fair in the province. Community support can push it to a Class A, a nice prospect for the Quinte Area.

'Mike' Boyd Pilots Royal Train Engine Climaxing 46 Years Service

For engineer Millard J. "Mike" Boyd, R. R. 4, Belleville, Friday night provided transcontinental double-barrelled highlight of his many years with the Canadian National Railways. He, along with fireman Elmer Findlay, 99 Crescent Ave., Belleville, was at the train carrying the Princess Margaret and Prince Philip to Belleville on her way to Ottawa. But that wasn't all. As Mr. Boyd stepped from the gleaming three-unit diesel locomotive he bade farewell to the road after 46 years as fireman and engineman.

There appeared to be more people at the CNR station at 11:40 last night to greet Mr. Boyd than there were to catch a glimpse of Her Royal Highness.

On time, the Royal train crept into the Belleville yards. It left 10 minutes late — at midnight instead of 11:50 — after servicing and taking on Engineer Jack Goodfellow and Fireman George Hollingsworth. Goodfellow on the Toronto-Ottawa trip was Wesley Neil of Lindsay.

Scarlet-coated RCMP officers from Belleville stood guard on the station platform, while O.P.P., city and CNR constables patrolled the perimeter of the railroad property. A snow fence had been rolled out to cordon off pedestrian and vehicular traffic from the public and not able to get within 50 feet of the train.

As engineer Boyd climbed out of the cockpit of the locomotive a chorus of cheers arose from the crowd that had gathered to congratulate him. Fireman Findlay, an unidentified sleeper car, knew nothing of the events transpiring around him as he kept the train.

During her brief stop-over in this city the queen did not appear. People guessed that she was sound asleep in the royal sleeping car at the time. Members of the royal entourage could be seen in the other cars.

Back in September, 1912, a young man named Boyd started to work with the railroad in the Toronto shops. On November 14, 1912, he was promoted to fireman and became a fireman. He was classed as an engineer in December, 1917.

The only other highlight in his railroad career that he can recall occurred in 1919. That year Mr. Boyd was the engineer pulling the royal train. That time he carried the Prince of Wales. "On the night's trip from Toronto, Mr. Boyd said: "We had a lovely, trip down. It went off without hitch. I don't know which car the princess was in and she didn't bother me leaving on that run."

For the past seven years Mr. Boyd has been driving diesels and at no time in his lengthy career was he involved in a wreck.

Boost Aluminum Price in U.S.

MONTREAL (CP) — Aluminum Limited announced Friday the price of aluminum in the United States market is to be increased .7 cents a pound, effective today. Prices in Canadian markets are not affected.

Nathaniel V. Davis, president of Aluminum Limited, said the increase on the U.S. market appears to be warranted "in the light of the improvement in the price relationship between aluminum and competitive materials."

He was referring to increases in steel prices of $4.25 to $4.50 a ton announced within the last few days by U.S. producers.

These were followed by an announcement by the Aluminum Company of America, world's largest producer, of .7 a pound in the basic aluminum pig, effective Friday.

Night Fires Keep Department On the Run

TRENTON — All the fire engines of the Trenton Fire Department were called out to two fires between 10 and 11 p.m. last night. Two were sent to Carrying Place and the third went to the Quaker Oats Company on Dufferin Street about 30 minutes later.

The first call came in at 10:25 p.m. from Carrying Place where a shed behind the Westfall store was reported on fire. The size of the building on fire was not reported and the firemen took along the hose truck in case they had to lay any lengths. The Dodge pumper truck also went.

When the trucks arrived in Carrying Place they found a shed burning briskly and used most of the water in their tanks on the pumper to stop the flames and to keep them from spreading to the barn which was along side the shack and directly behind Westfall's store.

It was reported that although the building was only small the flames shot about 20 feet in the air and was quite spectacular. The small building had been owned by the Community Hall and had recently been walled over to the side of the road and was half on the store's property and half on land owned by Constable Sid Vickers of the Trenton Police Department.

It was believed the fire had been started by children playing with matches since had also been using the shack for a "club house."

There was no estimated damage as the building was worth little and as the property owners stated, "Was glad to get rid of it."

A general alarm was rung and most of the voluntary force answered the call and most men turned out. Following the fire and after the firemen and men had returned to Trenton Vernon Westfall, owner of the Carrying Place store, entertained lunch for the firemen at the Theatre Bar.

The trucks were on the way back to Trenton when they met the town's third truck at the Quaker Oats plant where it had been called when the night shift there had trouble with one of its boilers at 10:55 p.m.

It is believed the oven became overheated and the pipe from it and out the roof burnt the paint off causing considerable concern to the staff. It was reported that a very little flame was noted and about three-quarters of the water in the pumper tank was used to cool off the machinery. The firemen also checked the roof of the building to make sure there was no danger where the overheated pipes came out.

It was the third fire for the Trenton Fire Department in the past 24 hours. The first one was Thursday night when the pumper truck was called out to a sawdust pile near the Copperage Hills for the second time this week when fire broke out.

Police Probe Three Mishaps On Streets

TRENTON — Local police officers investigated three mishaps on town streets yesterday with two of them causing damages of over $100 each and one estimated as only slight.

The first occurred at 10:35 a.m. on the corner of Dundas Street West and Film Street as a car driven by David Donaldson of Detroit, Michigan, had stopped to make a left-hand turn onto Film Street when a car being driven by William Diebel of Hanover, Ontario, pulled out to pass him and struck the left hand side of the car.

Damage to the American car was estimated at $100 while damage to Diebel's car was reported at $150. Constable Bruce Westfall investigated the mishap.

The second accident was reported at 3.15 p.m. at the intersection of Dundas Street West and Fourth Avenue, with the sun blamed for one driver not being able to see the vehicle ahead of him clearly.

Blair McMillan of Downsview, Ontario, told police the bright sun had prevented him from seeing the lights of the car ahead of him which went abruptly for a left turn. In starting to pass the vehicle, driven by Everett Mills of Hillside, he saw the car turn and applied his brakes, which McMillan said, he skidd into left side of the other car. Damage to the McMillian car was estimated at $100 and to the Mills car at $60. The accident was investigated by Constable R. E. Miller of the Trenton Police Force.

The third mishap, which was investigated by Constable Jack Graham, was a collision of two vehicles on the corner of Elgin and Front Streets, and damage was estimated at $50. None of the vehicles concerned, with no damage reported to the second.

Yacht Club Is Reorganized

TRENTON — Reorganization of the Trenton Yacht Club got under way Wednesday night at a meeting held in the Community Hall with Commodore Bert Chatterson of the meeting had been published in the local papers only ten days previously and interested persons representative were in attendance.

Mr. Chatterson explained that a great deal of work has been done in an effort to prepare a constitution but that a great deal more was required and it was necessary that the operation be under the sponsorship of a proper yacht club organization rather than assume the responsibility of three or four interested members.

The executive that had been in office when the Trenton Yacht Club ceased activities in 1956 was returned to office with R. L. Whitley as Commodore. Mr. Archie McNeil was named chairman of the works committee.

The drafting of a board of directors was discussed and several names proposed. Commodore Whitley will approach these people to ascertain their willingness to serve.

Regular monthly meetings for the coming summer will be held, the next meeting being scheduled for the third Wednesday of August. Notices will be sent to former members in an effort to revive interest in the club.

Parking By-Law Is Located

TRENTON — The by-law governing the parking of trailers in the Hanna Park has recently been located by Miss Marion Baker, a member of the Board and has been released for publication.

It is listed as By-law No. 1 of the Board of Park Management for the town of Trenton passed pursuant to R.S.O. 1950, Chap. 314, s. 10, ss. (1), (4) and (5), Re: Trailers on Hanna Park Property.

Airmen Injured In Car Crash

TRENTON — Two airmen were injured last night when the car in which they were driving ran into the C.N.R. station platform damaging the front end of the car below the hood-line and sending one of the passengers forward against the windshield and breaking it.

No estimate of the damage was available this morning but it is thought it would run into the hundreds of dollars.

The two injured airmen apparently caught a ride or hired a taxi to take them to the RCAF station where they walked into the hospital there for treatment. It is understood they are still patients in the air force institution.

According to tracks it is apparent the car was proceeding west on Quinte Street and failed to make the turn towards Dundas St., behind Embleton's service station, and continued on to smash into the cement platform beside the CNR station in downtown Trenton. One of the bumperettes off the front of the car was noted lying on the platform and a trail of Prestone from the radiator of the car led from the platform around the corner and east on Dundas were the car was parked in front of Kidd and Herrington's service station. It is not known if the car was driven or pushed around the corner.

Don't Tinker With Carburetor

By EUGENE MILMOE

Many times, carburetor operation isn't what it could be because the car owner decided to tinker with it himself. This is usually bound to result in other difficulties.

The carburetor must automatically mix, vaporize and deliver to the engine the exact proportions of air and gas needed for varying speeds, loads and temperatures. Dirt, grit, gum, wear and improper adjustments by the amateur mechanic are the carburetor's foremost hazards.

Sometimes a treatment with an on-the-engine solvent will restore efficiency — but when a carburetor has seen considerable service, removal, disassembly and replacement of worn parts is necessary. Continued fussing with mixture and idle adjustments may only hasten this repair need.

F. W. asks: "I have heard there are certain additives which help when mixed with automatic transmission fluid. What are they?"

(A) Most cars are equipped with pressure caps which raise the coolant's boiling point. Taking off the cap while the engine is hot can cause the coolant to boil instantly, splashing and scalding you badly.

F. W. writes: "My front wheels seem to gallop when the car is driving at moderate speeds. One person tells me the wheels need balancing — another charged for each such vehicle; the said fee to be collected by such person or persons as the Board of Park Management Committee may from appoint.

(3) That the Chief of Police of the Town of Trenton shall hereby be given full authority to forcibly evict such trailers or vehicles as above specified from the said premises upon being notified of an infraction of this by-law.

Ban Boat Use To Drive Ducks Toward Hunters

OTTAWA (CP)—A country-wide ban on the use of any form of boat to drive birds within range of waiting hunters was announced Friday by the Canadian Wildlife Service.

Apart from minor changes in regulations affecting hunting, in the individual provinces, the boat ban was the principal change from last year's 1958 migratory bird regulations. But a Prairie drought has resulted in a 20-per-cent reduction in bag and possession limits on duck in Saskatchewan.

Highlights of the changes in Ontario: The duck and goose season in Southern Ontario opens at noon, instead of dawn, and the woodcock season now is province-wide.

Southern Ontario's duck season opens at noon Saturday, Oct. 4, at noon standard time. Elsewhere a zone in starts Oct. 15 in Northern Ontario and Sept. 27, half an hour before sunrise, in the central district. Closing date throughout Ontario is Dec. 15, except Essex County, where it is Dec. 31 for geese. Bag limits are the same.

Midgets Lose To Cannifton

A last-inning error sent a Cannifton runner across the plate and cost the Belleville Midgets a 5-4 decision in an exhibition game with the South Hastings League club.

The Midgets had scored two runs each in the fourth and sixth and Cannifton scored one in the first when Forsythe homered to tie the count with interest); $600 in credit union at his company (too trivial to mention); $1,900 in a manufacturing stock (paying no dividends); $400 in a chemical stock (sold for a paid $725 for it); $2,300 in a savings and loan association (no good reason).

Still, the man explains, good stocks are paying 4 to 5 per cent. It's hard to beat that. And it's a hedge against inflation.

Explosions resulting in one death, rioting and acts of violence against non-strikers and carrying Gaspe Copper ore marked the seven-month strike last year by the United Steel workers of America CLC against the company.

The union called the walkout, claiming Gaspe Copper refused to negotiate a democratically USWA contract.

It applied to the Quebec Labor Relations Board for certification but the appeal was stalled when the company brought in a prohibition against the board, preventing it from taking any action on the union petition. Gaspe Copper claimed the union was illegally organized.

In Toronto, research director W. F. Kidd of the United Steelworkers of America said organizing activities last year by the Quebec labor board included the application for certification as bargaining agent for the mine workers.

MURDOCHVILLE, Que. (CP)— The Murdochville Workers Association, an unaffiliated union, has been certified as bargaining agent for workers at the Gaspe Copper Mines Ltd. plant in this Gaspe peninsula centre, it was announced Friday.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Why Not Copy Financial Pattern For Safety During Golden Years?

By THOMAS COLLINS

Here is a financial pattern a businessman has just cut out for his retirement.

"I began making this plan about six months ago while serving as cleanup man for a funeral," says this businessman, who is now 64. "It was an old friend, and I had been projected into the role of advising the widow what to do about her affairs.

"Try this once — in a situation where the husband has made no provisions for dying. It'll make a convert out of you if nothing else ever has.

He says he got things straightened out fairly well, with the help of the widow's relatives and will six weeks of his time.

"But I came out of the experience scared. Because, for one thing, I discovered that a widow usually is richer than her husband ever was.

"The widow, for instance, had his $7,500 life insurance policy, payable in cash. He never had $7,500 in cash. And then all, supposing the money in his checking account. Here are the investments and why he cashed them in — $4,400 in U. S. Savings Bonds (not enough income, no protection against inflation); $1,750 in bank savings (same as second item); $600 in credit union at his company (too trivial to mention); $1,900 in a manufacturing stock (paying no dividends); $400 in a chemical stock (sold for a paid $725 for it); $2,300 in a savings and loan association (no good reason).

The man figured that what he needed for retirement was to know what his widow would need — was not a hodgepodge of investments but a paid dividend twice a year, once a year, on maturity, or whenever. He needed to buy income by the month if possible.

"The normal man is foolish," he says. "He try to invest in the stock market. You'd have to study it eight hours a day eight days a week to know what company to choose, when to buy, when to sell. Only the professionals can do that. But the professionals (stock market brokers) are limited in the advice the customer wants. The customer usually wants to ride up. He what Joe said, or play a bunch. . . ."

Still, the man explains, good stocks are paying 4 to 5 per cent. It's hard to beat that. And it's a hedge against inflation.

So he put his $11,250 into stocks and bonds. The company pays $4 a month.

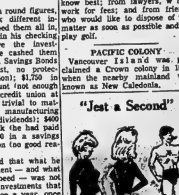
This was around $46 a month. He wanted $75. So he got a $7,500 mortgage on his house at 5 per cent (I don't think that and put the $7,500 into a second mutual fund (to get his nest egg in two different nests) for an average monthly income of about $31.

He breaks even on the interest, but his plan was to get a regular income pattern set up. He agreed to pay $46 a month on the mortgage, which would pay him out in seven or eight years.

"I'm all right until I retire — I can pay it," he says. "Then, when I retire I'll get $300 pension, $100 Social Security, $84 from my wife's Social Security, for a total of $382. Plus the $75 or so from the mutual fund, that makes the $100 payment.



"I have $10,000 in life insurance. I have arranged for this to be paid in cash in case I die, and now I have been given instructions to put this in a mutual fund. That is $41 a month more, or a total of $116, from the funds.

"That and Social Security will take care of her well. And if I should die before the house mortgage is paid off, she can sell the house — which would be her preference — pay off the mortgage, and have still more to invest in a regular income. . . .

"This man's plan has three basic aims: It seeks to use all his resources to buy a regular income now instead of because he has found no investment that will pay off weekly dividends would be ideal). It seeks to set up a well-paying dividend for investing wife, and to do this at as soon as possible and go play golf.

WHOSE ISLAND IS IT?

There is now a Princess Margaret Island off the coast of British Columbia and we confess to some curiosity about it.

We believe that some B. C. Indians argued that the province had no right to give the island to Princess Margaret because the province didn't own it. The Indians said they did.

We see no reason, though, why this claim should have made the province an Indian giver, yet that is what it would appear to be by some reports.

The Vancouver Sun reports that: "The harbor and Princess Margaret Island will be developed as marine park areas for the use of the boating public."

Other reports, however, say that the Princess plans to establish a ranch there.

Incidentally, there is also a large question mark surrounding the cost of the island. Formerly known as Portland Island, it was owned by Gavin Movatt, owner of Gulf Island Ferries Ltd. The province acquired the island a few months ago in a swap. "For the island plus a 160-acre area around Montagne Harbor on Galiano Island, the government gave Mr. Movatt a tract of timber on Sooke Mountain," says the Vancouver Sun. It quotes Conservation Minister Earle Westwood as saying that this timber was worth about $100,000. That figure, though, needs interpretation. Does the minister mean that $100,000 would have been the price which could have been obtained for the timber standing? Or is it what the timber will bring when Mr. Movatt cuts it and sells it?

If the latter is the correct interpretation, the cost of the island could have been small. But if the former was worth $100,000 standing, it just occurs to us that some taxpayers without boats will consider that a rather high figure as the initial cost of providing "marine park areas for the use of the boating public." And we are not at all sure that the critics will be silenced if the British Columbia Government, pleading, in the alternative, that the island was a bona fide gift for Princess Margaret, for her own use.

If any reader should object that we don't seem to know much about this island, we would hasten to explain that is exactly what we said in the first paragraph -- we are curious about it. We wonder whether many of the residents of B.C. are curious, too, or whether the swapping $100,000 worth of timber for islands to be given to royalty and then used as park areas for the boating public is considered a normal trapsaction under the enlightened regime of Social Credit.

MASTERFUL MANOEUVRE

The U.S. Senate public works committee, studying an application by Chicago for leave to divert more water from the Great Lakes, has learned that Canada has conceded that the U.S. does not require Canadian approval for the proposed temporary diversion.

"The treatment of sewage in the Chicago area is, of course, a matter entirely within the jurisdiction of the competent legislative bodies within the United States," said a Canadian aide-memoire to the U.S. Government on January 6.

This attitude may seem much too meek to Canadians residing along the shores of the Great Lakes, who feel with good reason that they have a vested interest in these great bodies of water.

Actually, though, this aide-memoire may have been written in a spirit about as far from meekness as it is possible to get.

It could well be that the thoughts of those who composed it were not on the paltry change in the level of the Lakes which could result from diversion of additional water by Chicago, but on the treasure house of power which Canada could tap by diverting the waters of the Columbia River in British Columbia.

For, if Canada says that it is none of its business whether the U.S. diverts water from the Great Lakes, and if the U.S. Government accepts this contention with gratitude, how can the U.S. logically protest if Canada claims that it is none of the business of the U.S. if Canada diverts the waters of a river within its boundaries?

If we were an American, we should view this aide-memoire with grudging admiration as a rather sneaky but masterful manoeuvre.

As a Canadian, we are very glad that those chaps in the external affairs department at Ottawa are on our side.

A DAY IS BUT A DAY

Oh, a day is but a day,
And a year is but a year;
Very soon they flit away
And forever disappear.
Dark days vanish and see
Clouds and sorrow never last.

And a burden, Oh, so great,
Bows our shoulders for a while,
But we fall against our fate,

But tomorrow we may smile,
For the day, slips by and night
Brings its rest and busy delight.

Time and burdens slip away;
All our sorrows disappear,
For a day is but a day
And a year is but a year.
Brief the present woes we bear;
Brief the time for grief and care.

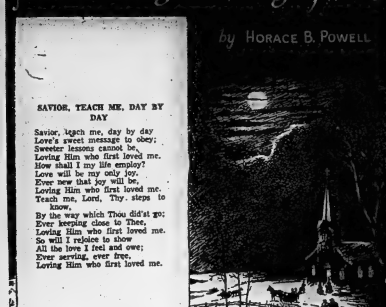
Our World Gets Hotter

Cornell Sloan-Tribune



The handing on this sulfureid might seem a tribute to serious students who are following the steadily rising trend of the Earth's mean temperature. But the world is not getting hotter because of any physical as well as the figurative sense. Or at least so the best authorities believe. The truth is it seldom wrong that exact scientists and meteorologists the world has been getting warmer over the past 60 or 70 years. Why it is getting so not certain what is causing the warm-up, but as the first thing for a scientist to admit but they think it may part of the long cycle.

During the history of the earth, the ice at the poles has advanced and retreated a number of times. At present it is receding, and the cause melt, the seas are rising at the rate of one-eighth of an inch per year. Tropical plants and animals are, little by little, moving north. Even in the Adirondacks, once occasionally sees today birds and animals that belong in this zone but which appear to be getting somewhat more common.

Do you ever feel that its so hot that you might melt or lose your self-control? Well, the cause is

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL

SAVIOR, TEACH ME, DAY BY DAY

Savior, teach me, day by day
Love's sweet message to obey;
Sweeter lessons cannot be,
Loving Him who first loved me.
How shall I my life employ?
Love will be my only joy.
Ever new that joy will be,
Loving Him who first loved me.
Teach me, Lord, Thy steps to know,
By the way which Thou did'st go;
Ever keeping close to Thee,
Loving Him who first loved me.
So will I rejoice to show
All the love I feel and owe;
Ever serving, ever free,
Loving Him who first loved me.

How poor the world would be without its hymns for children! Fortunately, for all of us, writers of religious songs down through the years have found time to turn out a rich collection of hymns for little people and many of those have become so famous and so well-loved that today they are used as often and as widely in adult worship as in Sunday School.

"Children Of The Heavenly King", "Away In A Manger", "Jesus Loves Me", "There's A Friend For Little Children", "Onward, Christian Soldiers" — these are but a few of the youngsters' favorites which are bright gems in every hymnal.

"Saviour, Teach Me Day By Day", the hymn which appears above, was penned by Jane Eliza-beth Leeson, an English woman who loved to write religious poems for boys and girls of the early nineteenth century. Its message was inspired by a Bible verse, I John 4:19; "We love Him because He first loved us". The hymn-poem shown here is shorter than the original which had four eight-line stanzas. The original hymns made its bow to the public in Miss Leeson's "Hymns And Scenes Of Childhood", published in London in 1842. This volume was followed in 1848 by another entitled "songs Of Christian Chivalry", and in 1849 "The Child's Book Of Ballads".

Days and Customs of All Faiths

Transfiguration of Christ

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Wednesday, August 6. — Today, in all Catholic and many Protestant churches, commemorates the time when Jesus took His favorite disciples; Peter, James and John, to the top of Mt. Tabor and was "transfigured" before them.

The story is told by Matthew (Chapter 17) Mark (Chapter 9) and Luke (Chapter 9). With such firm Scriptural support it is strange that the Feast of the Transfiguration was dropped out of the calendar by the Protestant reformers.

It is difficult to explain fully what this event meant. Even the three who where chosen to see it could not understand what was taking place before their eyes. Obviously it was a statement, divinely dramatized, of the Messiahship of Jesus, and of His readiness, at the cost of any sacrifice, to fulfill the promises of the Jewish Law and the Prophets. But this does not seem to say all there is to be said about it.

St. Paul, in Second Corinthians, Chapter 3, finds a parallel with the time when Moses' face shone with a heavenly radiance as he returned from Mt. Sinai bringing the Ten Commandments. But the glory of the Law, Paul says, is the fading glory, whereas the glory revealed by Jesus on Mt. Tabor continues to grow and increase as Christians reflect it in their spirit and character.

It is interesting to note that the same three disciples who saw Christ's glory in the Transfiguration were the ones who were also chosen to watch His agony in the garden a year later.

The Feast of the Transfiguration was kept in the eastern churches as early as the fourth century. It was not made official in the west until 1457.

FOURTEEN HOLY HELPERS

Friday, August 8 — There are in the church calendar 14 saints, who look after women in childbirth. The other ten are Achatius, Barbara, Cyriacus, Denis, Erasmus, Eustace, George, Giles, Pantaleon and Vitus. All except St. Giles were martyrs.

In Frances the number 8 is best brought to 15 — they add the Blessed Virgin Mary.

The establishment of such a specialized band, and the development of a cult devoted to them, is an example of the medieval tendency to honor a saint for what he could do for you rather than for what you had led, a tendency that is not entirely missing in modern times. People have always tried to "use" their faith for personal benefit rather than simply to the glory of God.

The August 8 festival of the Fourteen Holy Helpers is by no means universally observed.

There is a Roman Catholic Church in Baltimore dedicated to all 14.

A Lift for Living

Tying up Loose Ends

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

Tying up loose ends — A curious fact about life is that when we just let ourselves go and do what we like when we like it, we cease before long to like what we do. William James said that a person should do one unpleasant duty every day just to keep himself in moral trim.

In a hotel some time ago I saw signs at various points reading, "For the convenience of our guests." Such suggestions are appreciated in a hotel. But a home can hardly be run as a convenience. To be sure, we want as many household conveniences as we can secure.

But only when the members of the family share some uncongenial tasks and some mutual sacrifices do they come to enjoy that solid satisfactions and spiritual blessings of the home. We must sometimes sacrifice our personal convenience.

When a person becomes a solid, active member of any group, we say he is "tied into it." What our community organizations need are more people who are willing to be tied into them. So often our association with good organizations is so loose that we can't be counted on. We believe in them or support them when we find it convenient, but we do not tie ourselves to them.

Or we say, "I don't want to be tied down to any duties or commitments. I want to be free to choose what I wish to do when the time comes." I sympathize in part with that feeling. I do not like things to become methodical that they are drill. I do not want to become a mere creature of habit.

AUTOMATIC CONTROL

But I raise the question whether in our desire to live the free life we may not be forgetting that one way to achieve freedom is to bring some actions under a useful automatic control that we do not have to spend time discussing them.

What a waste of life and energy if we men debated every morning with ourselves whether we would shave or what train we would catch to business. Such things we reduce to fixed habit, and thus free our minds for bigger choices. Likewise, there are some moral and social duties which we should take for granted without stopping to debate them.

Let us ask ourselves whether we do not need to tighten up the loose ends of our living by bringing more of our impulses under the control of some good, perhaps old-fashioned, fixed habits.

Also, how about our loose thinking as well as our untied impulses? We want freedom of thought, but some minds are free as a stray dog is free — it follows any passer-by who whistles to it. Such impulsive thinking is dangerous.

Of course, there are people who hate to be disturbed by new ideas, persons who close their minds against change. But while there are stubborn and prejudiced persons who refuse to open their minds to new points of view, there are also people who are better at opening their minds than at closing them. So apparent are the evils of the closed mind that we often overlook the perils of the too open mind.

Some persons are like houses, with their doors and windows open in the wintertime. They hold no warming convictions. Their thinking and living lack definiteness and decisiveness.

Not long ago a little group was discussing the difficulties of thinking our way through these times of disturbing change. One said rather humorously that she had decided on a new morning prayer.

It was this: "O Lord, give me my daily opinion and forgive me for the one I had yesterday."

FAVORITE PRAYER

Whereupon another said he had a favorite prayer and he repeated the oft-quoted petition, "O Lord, give me the courage to change the things that should be changed and the patience to endure the things that cannot be changed, and the wisdom to know the difference."

Yes, and we need the wisdom to know also what questions should be raised and what should be left open.

Rapid-fire changes come so fast and the future is fraught with so many unforeseen contingencies that the best laid plans of mice and men oft go awry.

Recently I stood with a group of college students as they listened to our president broadcast his message of troops being suddenly sent to Lebanon. I watched the faces of those boys as they heard of events which might change the course of their lives during the next few years. Where those lads will be a year from now or five years hence is an open question.

But what kind of persons they want to be next year or a decade hence is a question each one can and should settle now. As future events become more uncertain, settled convictions and principles become more imperative.

Skirt Length Variation Is Developed

LONDON (AP)—The man who designs clothes for the Queen deplores the confusion in Paris as to whether skirts should be dropped.

"Doubtless the long skirts have charm equal to that of short skirts," said Norman Hartnell Friday, "but it is regrettable that great dress designers should launch differing skirt lengths at the same time, expecting them to be simultaneously accepted."

Hartnell came out last week with new models above the knee, as did all other London designers.

A Smart Trick

By ALICE ALDEN

Comes a cocktail day and what could be better for daytime town trotting than an easy jacket and skirt, with a scarf instead of a blouse. It's a good trick to have on hand a variety of big easy-to-tie 30-inch scarves and master the intricacies of different shapes. This month a new fashion theme is the square scarf with a wide-open jacket. Paired off for double interest is a matched scarf looped low in the pocket of the jacket. The brilliant dots against a sea of dark white provides a nice color bit to a dark outfit.

Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Lalonde are pictured cutting the wedding cake in Stirling Community hall following their marriage in the Church of St. James the Minor, Stirling. The bride was before her marriage Miss Helen Frances Kerby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Colcourt Kerby, Colonel Sherbrooke Road, Belleville, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Lalonde, of Midland, Ontario. The radiant bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a charming white nylon and tulle lace over white satin, fashioned with fitted bodice and princess, scalloped neckline and short sleeves complemented by matching elbow-length, lace gloves. The gracefully full skirt of lace over satin was in cathedral length. She wore a circular veil of tulle illusion caught to a matching lace headdress and carried a cascade bouquet of red Garnets, and sleeping Beauty.

This - - - and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

T and T is going to pass along a letter today which was written recently by a woman of Tunisia. We have mentioned the workshop held recently in New York with women leaders from North Africa and the Middle East in attendance. The host group was the Committee of Correspondence. There are several reasons we do this. (1) The Arab problem is in everyone's mind (2) The workshop was held in May or just before the current upheaval (3) The timeliness of the workshop stands out in vivid contrast in all we hear.

Mrs. Nella Ben Ammar writes: "I must confess that when I accepted the Committee of Correspondence's invitation, I had no precise ideas of what it would be, although I was perfectly well disposed in favor having met Mrs. Parsons and Mrs. Colcourt previously. But, Now, when I look back on these three weeks of engrossing discussions, I am still amazed.

"During the Workshop we developed feelings of friendship among us; we have at the same time covered with success numerous problems regarding relations between women and their role in society. From the human side the workshop has brought something quite new and unexpected to me. Perhaps I am still under the spell in women entrusted with social problems such as ours, but I cannot understand it. I cannot but appreciate the way they grasp their own problems and the way they are interested in other's problems. I was liable to think that I was more advanced in the welfare of my fellow citizens in Tunisia, especially the underprivileged, than in any other client. Instead I discovered a very broad outlook and a striking interest in the newly independent nations.

"Because I found out that a highly developed country has no fewer problems to solve than a country less developed one, I can sit the more appreciative of the great progress we have made in the tremendous problems we are struggling with in N. Africa and the Middle East.

"I shall go back to my country with the feeling that I have a longer alone in struggling with a situation that could be one of the most difficult with the moral support drawn from what I witnessed during the working sessions. It added my conviction that the discussions could not have been conceived in a country which does not believe in the Free World or is not based on sound and democratic principles.

"I return to my country encouraged to work with renewed energy for the promotion of women and their accession to all kinds of activities. I want them to be proud of the rights and privileges granted to them but mainly to be conscious of the responsibilities that go with them.

"In the United States I noticed that women share their duties with men; that they are active in many fields, whether married or unmarried; and that they are deeply interested in what goes on in their country. Their interest, I think, helps to enrich the United Nations.

"I hope that one day in my country women will, according to their own abilities and interest, play their part in the community and national life.

"I could brim over with enthusiasm concerning the opportunities this Workshop proved to be. But can I judge the United States? Who taught us a lot," she said. "We know that we may be asked for aid at any time and that we can only answer it by being prepared at all times."

"We get lots of volunteers, but they will not do," said Miss McArthur.

Anybody who is ambitious to work in a "disaster team" needs more than good intentions and ability to help.

"They must not only be experts in their own professional fields —but they must be able to work without equipment in the first instance, and must be mature enough to remain stable when surrounded by persons whose world has collapsed."

TRAINED GROUP

Miss McArthur has 200 nurses at Columbia University, New York, and in 1944 was appointed to superintendent of the public health nursing branch of the Alberta government.

She joined the Red Cross in 1946, and in 1954 went to Korea with the International Red Cross to co-ordinate relief work after the Korean War.

At 47, she has been president of the Canadian Nurses' Association, and of the Alberta Association of Registered Nurses.

Consider Turnpike Pros, Cons Before Deciding Upon Route

By SHIRLEY AND BOB SLOANE

The toll card they hand you when you enter New Jersey Turnpike has lettered across it in purple block letters "K e e p Out."

This useful, if gratuitous, advice summarizes the thoughts more summer vacationers than ever before are facing in planning their trips.

Turnpike or not turnpike is the question that confronts the motorist four- several reasons. There is little to see, few driving skills required, and the monotony tends to -tight. Cruising along at a steady pace with one's attention to watch for dulls alertness and creates a sense of crawling, called velocitization, which can result into increasing speed' gradually to master how they're going.

Many authorities feel these problems offset the basic safety in the turnpike system. Despite the fact remains that they a r e saving hours of driving time, if not decided on your routing yet, here are some more pros a n d cons to consider.

THE PROS

1) Ease of using turnpikes: 1) Not only can you make far better time, but you can plan your mileage accurately. On regular highways, with their towns, traffic lights and occasional spikes miles can be converted into approximations. At speed limit is 60, you'll cover just 60 miles an hour, with no traffic jams or construction to throw your calculations off. You'll also be able to relax more, and arrive fresher at your day's destination and have a pretty reasonable certainty of arriving it.

2) You'll cover more ground each day, if that's what you're trying to do. Not everybody is.

3) You'll be less tired because you'll have used less driving effort.

4) While tolls will cost y o u money, you'll probably make up a good part of it in better gas mileage and, on a long trip, in fewer meals and overnight rooms.

5) Your car upkeep expenses may be reduced too, because of less strain on the car than may be done by climbing, twisting roads.

6) For the driver who can stay alert, the superhighway is the safest road ever designed. Four lanes for unrestricted passing, no cross traffic, no sudden stops for unexpected traffic, no nerves from having to crawl behind trucks where you can't pass, no traffic lights or traffic jams or lots with cars in the wrong lane, no head-on collisions are possible.

THE CONS

1) The opposite side of the ledger:

2) With a few exceptions, there is nothing to see, no flavor of the country to absorb. You could be in Oklahoma or Ohio and the landscape will look pretty much the same.

3) Gas at the periodic -ervice areas will be more expensive than on the highway.

3) Food at the service area restaurants will have a monotonous sameness and be generally undistinguished. During mealtimes they are likely to be badly crowded, with the attendant problems of slow service and poor preparation. You'll find one of the typical delicacies and sons of the local atmosphere that have existed since the days of the joys of touring. And there will be no picnic areas along the way for variety.

4) If you break down, you may be many miles from a service area and have to wait for a policeman or helpful motorist to happen by or take you in. Especially at night it may be a long wait, and the cars tend not to turn over to be pretty expensive. The service area may not have the mechanical talent or parts you need, either.

5) Your speed will be an object of interest to more policemen, and stricter ones, than on regular roads.

6) If you miss an exit, y o u can't turn back and will have to go many miles out of your way.

7) Because of the dangers of hanging around, you'll have to develop some latent senses, such as realizing in time that that truck ahead is going at half your speed and if you don't pass quickly you'll be part of his cargo.

Despite the theoretical elimination of many accident causes, others have developed. Many drivers follow at closely as they can at slower speeds, leading to frequent chain collisions ahead. More drivers than otherwise fall asleep at the wheel because of the monotony and lose control. The unexpected is more likely to occur, and that's what much more dangerous.

8) The simple fact of boredom and nodding to do but count the miles to your destination make for inattention and hazards to many drivers. Clocking your mileage, being alert to unfamiliar a little better on the symphony or ball game on the radio, and playing games with the kids help relieve this but, again, may tend to lower your alertness level.

Red Cross Official Says Part of Her Job Is Looking for Trouble

By EDNA USHER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Miss Helen McArthur looks for trouble as part of her job—national director of nursing services for the Canadian Red Cross Society. She watches the international scene so that Canada can send Red Cross assistance in case of disaster.

When trouble such as a hurricane or a flood of refugees hits a country, Miss McArthur and her fellow - officers in the Red Cross prefer help through the League of Red Cross Societies in Geneva.

When Austria asked for Red Cross workers to provide for refugees Hungarians flowing into Budapest revolt in 1956, Miss McArthur assembled a team including a doctor, nurse, social worker, clothing expert and secretary, and sent them off to Europe within three days.

ALWAYS READY

"That sudden request for assistance taught us a lot," she said. "We know that we may be asked for aid at any time and that we can only answer it by being prepared at all times."

The Red Cross maintains a list of persons who are ready for quick trips to the world's trouble areas.

"We get lots of volunteers, but they will not do," said Miss McArthur.

Anybody who is ambitious to work in a "disaster team" needs more than good intentions and ability to help.

"They must not only be experts in their own professional fields —but they must be able to work without equipment in the first instance, and must be mature enough to remain stable when surrounded by persons whose world has collapsed."

TRAINED GROUP

Miss McArthur has 200 nurses at Columbia University, New York, and in 1944 was appointed to superintendent of the public health nursing branch of the Alberta government.

At 47, she has been president of the Canadian Nurses' Association, and of the Alberta Association of Registered Nurses.

TROUBLE SEEKER

As part of her job as national director of nursing services for the Canadian Red Cross Society, Helen MacArthur looks for trouble. When she finds it a case perhaps a hurricane or a flood of refugees—the Red Cross can offer its aid. Miss MacArthur, a graduate of the University of Alberta, joined the Red Cross in 1946. (CP Photo) 1958 (Red Cross).

Arthur urges training through the Red Cross or civil defence organization.

"The best training to look after a dozen sick persons in an emergency is to learn how to look after one in normal times," she said.

"The best way to learn how to provide food for hundreds in a disaster is to learn the value of good diet at home."

QUESTION:

Just one question and little more to you, in regards to canning carrots by the hot water bath method, with a processing time of 3 hours, followed by 3 minutes pressure cook, in their skins, which I usually try to do, with little success, peeling the larger ones. These are young carrots, fresh from the garden. My question is, why is there so little taste to them? I go by directions in the Home Canning Guide, but nowhere do they mention adding salt to the canned vegetables. I am, of course on my own, the usual amount I sprinkled per quart and pint. Process 3 hours. Hoping you can advise as I plan on canning more when they come of size this year . . . Miss Elizabeth B.

ANSWER:

Last fall there was a recipe for dilled tomatoes . . . I would very much like to have it. I wondered if you had a recipe for dilled beans. Last Christmas I had them at a party and they were delicious. I think they were made from the pale beans . . . Mrs. H. D.

ANSWER:

DILLED TOMATOES:

Ten lbs. small round, green tomatoes, cloves of garlic, hot red peppers (tiny), black peppercorns, fresh dill seeds, about 12 cups water, 1 cup salt, 4 cups vinegar. Wash and dry tomatoes and pack in sterilized quart jars. For each jar add 1 peeled garlic clove, 1 pepper pod, 4 peppercorns, 1 sprig fresh dill. Bring to boil water, salt and vinegar and pour at once over tomatoes to cover. Seal. If you need more vinegar brine make more—as amount may vary with size of tomatoes. To dill wax beans use small tender ones and parboil 5 minutes. Proceed as above.

CANNED CARROTS (Pressure):

Wash and scrape young tender carrots. Cover with boiling water. Bring to boil and boil, covered, 5 minutes. Pack hot in sterile position, alternating stem and root end. Add salt — ½ teaspoon for each pint, 1 teaspoon for each quart. Cover with boiling water in which vegetables were parboiled, adding boiling water to make sufficient liquid to leave headspace of ¼". sealing jars to within ¼ turn of tight. Process at 10 pounds pressure — pints for 30 minutes, quarts for 35 minutes. These directions come from the "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables", publication 789. There is no charge for it. Write for it to Consumer Section, Marketing Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, Ont.

ANSWER:

I think you know that pressure canning is recommended for almost all vegetables — certainly for carrots. Commercially canned vegetables are all processed under pressure. Here is the recommended method:

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Lucille - M. — She should take this chance.

Nora T. — I' m not ready for such a drastic step.

Lucille M. — My friend and I are career women in our mid-40's. Nora has married once before — very unhappily. She never intended to marry again.

Recently she met a very interesting man in business. They went out together and had wonderful times. Nora told me that she felt for the first time in her life that she was really in love. Then Frank broke the news — that he was so financially ruined by his first marriage, paying support to his ex-wife and children, he could never consider marriage again. But he told Nora he loved her and will give her affection a n d loyalty if she will live with him outside of the marriage bonds.

Frankly, I don't see, why Nora should hesitate to take whatever happiness she can find. I am not an immoral person, but I know what loneliness is. It can't be wrong to give and receive happiness without hurting anyone else.

Nora T. — I think if I were in Lucille's place I might give t h e same advice Nora gives, yet when actually confronted with the idea I find I am not so ready to take a drastic step of this kind. Until I met Frank I was so lonely and hungry for masculine attention I thought I would jump at the chance of crumbs of affection, but now I feel I want much more.

On the other hand, the thought of losing Frank is terrible to me. I have become accustomed to the fun of going out with him and having a man to share things with.

I know I won't be able to keep his company much longer on this basis because he is determined to have an intimate relationship outside of marriage.

I would be willing to continue working for some time after marriage and I told Frank so. But if I were married I would eventually want to give up my job. Frank says he can see how we could make a go of it.

The Council: Lucille is enough removed from this situation to be able to see it through a romantic haze. From a safely aloof position, she fancies she would leap at the opportunity for some brand of what she likes to think of as love.

But if she were as close to the situation as Nora is, she would be able to see that is being offered here is an obvious phony. Any individual man or woman knows when real love is offered there is a way of getting around obstacles. When one has genuine feeling for another, one wants it to live and grow within the context of a binding, meaningful tie.

This is certainly not l e a s meaningful and mature persons than among younger ones. Youngpersons with little experience of life may simply accept existing moral standards because they are taught that such and such is right. Older persons may question the standards, but if they question deeply enough they can't help but see the truth and justice behind the standards.

We don't think Nora will f i n d a new way out of loneliness by accepting an affair with Frank, but neither do we think she must therefore doom herself to continued loneliness. If she examines her way of life, Nora will undoubtedly find that she has cut herself off from many interesting opportunities for fine friendships with men and women.

Probably her fear of being burned again after an unhappy first marriage has damaged Nora's relationships with others. If she will try to put that fear behind her, she may find, herself entering a period of enrichened relationships that do not call for "drastic steps" that 'violate' her common sense and underlying standards.

"I can't stand gossip, but neither can I stand women who keep everything to themselves!"

DAUGHTER RECEIVES SEPARATE INVITATION TO WEDDING RECEPTION

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am a 18-year-old girl, and for the first time I've been sent a wedding invitation separate from the invitation sent to my mother and father. That is, formerly, my name was written under the "Mr. and Mrs." on the inside envelope of their invitation. Should I answer this invitation myself, or have my parents include my name in their acceptance, as they have always done? If I should write my own note, how should I word it? — Elaine

Now that you have received a separate invitation . . . a correct and courteous gesture to you! . . . you should write your own reply. Your acceptance should be carefully spaced like the following, and should read:

Miss Elaine Hall
accepts with pleasure the kind invitation of
Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton
for Saturday, the sixth of September at 8 o'clock to the reception to which you reply.)

ASHTRAYS ON STANDS BELONG IN SMOKING CAR

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Friends of ours are to be married, both for the second time. The man smokes both cigarets and cigars, and my husband thought that a good wedding present for us to give them would be a large ash try on a metal stand. I'm "agin" this, as ash trays on stands are hates of mine, make me think of a smoking car. Do you agree with my husband or with me? — Reader

I agree with you. If you particularly wish to give a smoking-accessory, you'll be able to find many very attractive ash trays, simple in design, generous (but not too generous) in size, convenient to use on a side table.

Gallant Model Wins Fight With Multiple Sclerosis

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP) — This is a story of a gallant girl named Eva Burnay, who says:

"You do your best work in distress."

Eva is tall, blonde and beautiful. Until two years ago she was a few of New York's most famous cover girls. Today she heads her own model agency and teaches other girls the techniques of glamor. In the interval, Eve fought a pitched battle with death, and won.

In 1956, at the peak of her modeling career, Eva woke up one morning paralyzed. At the hospital the doctors finally told her she had multiple sclerosis, that mysterious disease which attacks the insulation of the nerves and is believed incurable. They didn't want to tell her at first. But the doctors didn't reckon with the tough fiber of Eva's courage.

"You can't just give up," says Eva. "You have to stay alive inside, at least."

Her family doctor, who understood what made Eva tick, started a treatment which was a part physical injections and part psychological needling.

"He made me so mad that I was determined to get out of bed and stamp my foot," says Eva. "And when I tried it, found that I actually could move my foot a few inches for the first time. I was in the hospital three months, and I left it walking with a cane. After another month I threw the cane away and went back to modeling."

Today Eva looks the picture of health. Her skin is clear and glowing, her eyes shine, she laughs easily and often, and few people notice that she moves carefully when she walks. She still gets regular injections, but they are less and less frequent.

Says her doctor: "I do not claim that the disease is cured, but it is under control."

Eva is too busy making the most of life to worry about the future.

"After I went back to modeling I soon realized that I would have to work within my limitations."

Eva says. "Once I almost fell asleep during a fashion show because I had forgotten that I took more effort than formerly to walk up the steps of a runway. So I decided to make use of what I knew best and open a model agency."

Eva was born in Munich, raised in New York and, though she doesn't look a day over 25, is the mother of an 18-year-old daughter, Eva Irene, and a 16-year-old son.

"You can't give up when you have children to put through college," says Eva. "While you're alive you've got to keep busy living."

Woman Architect's Interest Is Hospitals for Mentally Ill

OTTAWA (CP) — Architect Barbara Ferguson, armed with a post-graduate fellowship in community planning, is a woman with pioneering ideas.

Brown-haired, blue-eyed Miss Ferguson says that if Canada's mental institutions are to perform their function, an entirely new approach is needed to mental hospitals and their facilities.

The 34-year-old Ottawa-born architect has just received a Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation scholarship for study in community planning at the University of Toronto.

A graduate in architecture from McGill University, Miss Ferguson's interest in mental hygiene started when she visited a large mental hospital in Middlesex, England.

LACK RECREATION

The hospital had no proper recreation facilities for patients, she said, and no form of organized recreation.

Although she was working in community planning, the picture of the mental hospital stayed in Back in Canada in 1956, she went to the Verdun, Que., Protestant Hospital and told the superintendent what she wanted to do—work with the mentally ill and see that they are provided with recreational facilities.

She got the job—a pioneering project as which she worked for more than three years until it became a "purely administrative" task.

The architect's part in hospital reform and development is more important than most people realize, she says.

"We are all affected by the buildings we live in."

And when it comes to building mental institutions, she says she now finds advocates for reversing the traditional procedure of building them in the country to keep the community away from the institutions, and the patients away from the community.

FIRST AID

Sunstroke victims should be wrapped in a damp sheet and placed in a cool shady spot before removal to hospital.

ONTARIO

ONTARIO HOSPITAL INSURANCE

effective January 1, 1959

YOU MUST BE REGISTERED TO BENEFIT

On and after January 1, 1959, the Ontario Hospital Services Commission will be the only agency offering standard ward hospital insurance in Ontario. No private insurance company or prepayment plan will offer benefits covering standard ward hospital services after December 31, 1958.

ALL RESIDENTS OF ONTARIO ARE ELIGIBLE

Enrolment is open to every resident of Ontario—regardless of age or physical condition—either through a group, or individually on a Pay-Direct basis.

Non-residents of Ontario are not eligible.

PREMIUMS

The low premiums of $2.10 a month for a single person and $4.20 a month for the family (husband, wife and children under age 19) are made possible through extensive financial contributions by the Federal and Provincial Governments.

WHICH OF THESE CLASSIFICATIONS ARE YOU IN?—

1. Are you employed where there are 15 or more including the employer?

If so, you are subject to compulsory enrolment through your place of employment. Your employer must enrol you by August 31, 1958, and begin payments in December 1958. Your employer will register you.

2. Are you employed where there are 6 to 14 including the employer?

If so, you may be enrolled as one of a group, if the employer applies for approval as a "Mandatory Group" and if all employees, including the employer, agree to participate.

Group application must be made by August 31, 1958.

3. Are you a member of a professional association, medical co-operative, craft union, credit union, retail federation, or like group?

If number 1 or 2 does not apply to you, check with your organization to determine if it is acting as a collector for its members. Group applications must be in by August 31, 1958.

If you are not eligible under 1, 2, or 3, you may enrol as an individual and pay premiums directly to the Commission. Individuals applying for Pay-Direct enrolment must make application by September 30, 1958. Application forms are now available at public hospitals and banks (or the Post Office if there is no bank in your community.) Do not delay.

PAYMENT OF PREMIUMS

GROUP PREMIUMS will be payable monthly in one remittance to the Commission beginning in December, 1958.

INDIVIDUALS remitting to the Commission on a Pay-Direct basis will pay as follows:

One month's premium at the time of application on or before September 30, 1958 — and after that payable on a quarterly premium basis beginning in January, 1959.

PREPAID "CUSHION" — The first payment of one month's premium by groups and individuals registered prior to the closing dates stated above, will cover a benefit period of three months from January 1 to March 31, 1959. This will set up a "prepaid" period to maintain benefits during times when a person may be laid off, changing jobs, or temporarily out of the province.

LATE REGISTRATION MAY PROVE COSTLY

Groups and individuals not registered by the closing dates stated above under given classifications will not only fail to qualify for the two months' free coverage but will be required to wait three months following application before benefits become available. For example, a group or resident applying in February will not have protection effective until May 1.

Cheyenne League Substitute Happy About His New Work

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Pinch-hitting in the Cheyenne league is a handsome broad-shouldered fellow named Ty Hardin who feels cheated that he missed by six months being a native Texan.

"My dad was working in New York city when I was born there," laments Ty. "But he returned to his home in Texas six months later, and I grew up and went to school there. And I'm mighty proud of it, too."

Ty is subbing for the recalcitrant Clint Walker, who walked out of the Cheyenne TV series in a money dispute. Ty is introduced in the first show of the new series as Bronco Layne, who returns to town after the civil war to find himself considered a traitor. He wins the folks over in the end, of course.

YEEP BRONCO

The idea is to keep Bronco as another male character in the series, much as Jim Garner and Jack Kelly alternate as the Maverick brothers. When and if Clint returns, he'll re-assume the role of Cheyenne, playing some chapters with Ty and some alone. If he doesn't come back, Ty will have to carry the load himself.

Warner Brothers couldn't have found a more willing actor.

"I'm happy," Ty beamed. "I'm always happiest when the way is my life. If I don't like what I'm doing, I get along to something else.

"That's the way it'll be with my acting career. If I don't like it, I'll just go right back to the engineering department at Douglas."

That's where he came from. A football player and engineering student, he came west to take a job with the research and development department of Douglas Aircraft Company.

Here's his story of how he broke into the movies: He was hunting for a prop gun to carry to a Halloween party. He figured he could find one at the Paramount studios, so he dropped in. Instead of a gun, they gave him a contract and a job in Space Children.

GREET CANADIAN TEAM

LONDON (CP)—Canada's British Empire Games team completed another sightseeing day in London Friday by attending an informal reception at Canada House, George Drew, Canadian high commissioner, and his 17-year old daughter, Sandra, greeted the red-jacketed athletes in the big second-floor reception room. Later Drew mingled with the competitors and talked about their performances at Cardiff. Some members of the track and field athletes will join other Commonwealth competitors in a two-day meeting at London's White City Stadium today and Monday.

LEAD POLES

WARSAW (AP)—The American track and field men's team, touring Europe after a Moscow meet, were hard-pressed Friday to take a 63-54 lead over a good Polish national team. The Americans swept first and second places in four out of 10 individual events for men and also won the 400-metre relay. The American girls moved into a 26-25 lead, which left them short five to seven points better than expected.

DIVIDE SINGLES

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Italy and Great Britain divided the first two singles matches Friday in the European Zone Davis Cup final tennis series. Michael Davies scored first for Britain by defeating Italy's Nicola Pietrangeli 6-4, 6-3, 6-4. Then Italy's Orlando Sirola made it 1-1 when he defeated Billy Knight 6-3, 7-5, 6-3.

Bob Bedard Seeks Revenge In Tennis Singles Finals

VANCOUVER (CP)— Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., sought revenge today as he defended his men's singles title at the Canadian tennis championships.

Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., was Bedard's opponent. Three weeks ago Reed punished Bedard with a straight set defeat in the Canada - United States Davis Cup zone matches at Toronto.

The women's final featured players from Quebec and California. Eleanor Dodge, fourth - seeded Canadian from Montreal who survived while her more highly rated competitors were eliminated, was to take on young Barbara Browning of Los Angeles for the distaff title.

Two of the defending champion teams were on hand for doubles play. Bedard and Don Fontana of Toronto reached the men's final and were to play Reed and Bob Bows of Australia today. Mrs. Louise Brown and Mrs. Hilda Dollescheil of Toronto were to defend their women's title against Miss Browning and Pamela Davis of Los Angeles.

There was little to choose from between Reed and Bedard before their match. Bows, who has a reputation as one of the world's best doubles competitors, said Friday night it "will be a good match."

"Bedard is probably in better shape than Reed, but Whitney has the stroke. They're quite evenly matched."

The 26-year-old Bedard, Canadian singles champion twice in the last three years, is a year older than Reed. Both have a variety of powerful volleys.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

Next winter when Manager Wally Brabin and playing coach Bus Gagnon trot out their broad new edition of the Kingston senior "A" hockey club, the Allan Cup aspirants won't be sporting half the alphabet across their manly bosoms.

For the day of the "CKLC's" is over. The guys with the built-in radio-call letters on their chests will be sporting another name. What, we do not know. But it will possibly be the "Merchants" or "Business Men" or something along that line.

There was a shake-up of the club's top brass the other day and two of the executive resigned for health and business reasons, leaving three to carry on the business. Wally Elmer, long associated with Kingston sport and Terry French of Radio Station CKLC, secretary-treasurer of the club, tendered their resignations. President Max Wallow and directors Harry "Zip" Radley and Steve Amey stayed with the ship. Two new directors will be appointed at a meeting set for August 7.

Prexy Walton said the directors had decided to endeavor to change the sponsorship of the club. Instead of one sponsor it was decided to try to interest 15 or 20 business men to sponsor a combined club.

A $200 sponsorship contribution will be sought and the name of the club will be decided at a later date. It was revealed that already eight prominent business men of Kingston have signified a willingness to join hands in putting the hockey operation on a firmer financial basis.

Meanwhile, it is suspected Messrs. Brabin and Gagnon are going along quietly lining up prospective players for the new edition of the Kingston club. Practically all of every other club in the league they are not going around broadcasting their activities as to what players they have in-mind with the exception of an occasional outburst.

Gagnon said in an interview recently that there are not a few of last years CKLC's who will be retained, but he is definitely strengthening the club in all department.

It is no secret that the doughty ex-Whitby pair of mentors are after the services of Harry Sinden, who has served with distinction with the Hornets. So, this department's opinion, one of the best, if not the best defenceman in the Eastern Ontario Senior "A" circuit, has been seen in Kingston recently, but for the information of all concerned he has not signed with the Kingston club.

Pal Der Maxie Jackson who beamed his delight during a television interview with Gagnon and Brabin, when he took it for granted that Sinden would join the Kingston, was foiled when he received a phone call from McFarlands manager Drury Denyes to the effect that the Mics were closing a deal which would see Sinden come to Belleville and John Joe Leqine, the Mics' Crown Prince, to Whitby, in a trade deal and an undisclosed amount of bananas.

Maxie put in a hurried phone call to Wren Blair, general manager of the Whitby Dunlops, Clinton Cometa Incorporated, to get the low-down on the matter. Blair denied any knowledge of such a deal.

The next evening or so Messrs. Sinden, Gagnon and Brabin were seen in Belleville seeking Mr. Denyes in an effort to straighten out the affair. Mr. Denyes refused to comment on the matter, as did Sinden, as everybody is left wondering what is going on. H--mmm. Sinden would look mighty good behind that McFarland blueline.

It seems to this department that there is a small colored gentleman lurking in the vicinity who has purported Joe Leepline-Harry Sinden trade deal. After all, on the face of it, Joe Leepine for Harry Sinden, with Blair on the receiving end?

Now it couldn't be that some wag after hearing Maxie Jackson's exuberance on the TV screen, after learning that Kingston was hot on the trail of Sinden, and that the player was in town, called him by phone, said it was Drury Denyes, and gave him the information of the reported Lepine-Sinden trade. Surely not.

We contacted Mr. Denyes on the matter and he suddenly acquired what seemed to be a knowing smile. He didn't say yes and he didn't say no. Then he came out with a very chunk of very important information. "Don't be surprised at anything you hear," was his parting shot. And over his shoulder, "Sinden was in town last night."

WEEKEND SPORTS FARE

There are two baseball games on tap for the diamond faithful tonight with main interest centred on the Fox-bore-Consellton South Hastings League sudden death playoff slated for the Fair Grounds at 6:30.

On another front Charlie Jeffs' Belleville midgets take on the Read club at Read in an exhibition game starting at 6.30. The Belleville youngsters lost a thriller with Cannifton Thursday night by a 6-5 score in a tilt that could have gone either way.

Lovers of the roaring hellions of the speedways should not miss the motorcycle races scheduled for the Fair Grounds on Monday afternoon starting at one o'clock. The meet which has attracted crack riders from Ontario and Quebec is being sponsored by the Pinion Pushers Motorcycle Club with the sanction of the Canadian Motorcycle Association.

Braves, Tribe Scalp Foemen In Indian Uprising

Milwaukee Dumps Giants 4-2 Cleveland Nips Bosox Twice; Yanks May Clip Own Record

By Joe Reichler,
Associated Press Sports Writer

Fast-shuffling Frank Lane virtually dealt himself a new Cleveland team this year but the most important Indian acquisition by the general manager appears to be Joe Gordon, the manager.

The Indians swept a twin bill from Boston 7-1 and 3-1 Friday night. The double triumph extended the Tribe's longest winning streak of the season to six. It also boosted the club into a third place deadlock with Chicago and Baltimore, only a half game behind the second-place Red Sox.

That's quite a tribute to Gordon who, more than a month ago, took over a dejected disorganized team that had dropped 36 of its 67 games. Since then the Indians have won 19 while losing only 18. No American League team, other than the Yankees, has done as well.

SOCKS TWO HOMERS

Outfielder Hoot Calavita socked a two-run homer in each game to produce the biggest fireworks for the Tribe. Minnie Minoso slammed a three - run homer in the first game off Ike McLish post his 10th victory. Calavito's 23rd homer in the second game came in the seventh with one on to snap a 1-1 tie. Rookie Bill Monbouquette won from Dave Sisler, who permitted only two hits.

New York Yankees blanked Chicago 9-0, Detroit defeated Baltimore 5-3 and Washington edged Kansas City 10-4.

Bob Turley pitched a five hit shutout and Bill Skowron drove in four Yankee runs with a home run. Detroit bombed six Chicago's Billy Pierce suffered his eighth defeat. He was Turley's fifth shutout and 16th victory. He has lost four. Pierce has won 10.

HAVE BIG LEAD

The Yanks have left the league playing better than .500 ball, now lead by 1½ games and threaten to better the flag-winning record of 103 set by their 1936 predecessors.

First baseman Gail Harris, and pitcher Don Mofford, a pair of National League castoffs, combined to lead the Red Circuit to victory over Baltimore. Harris drove in all three runs with a homer run and a sacrifice fly. Mofford permitted five hits for his second triumph.

Jim Lemon smashed two home runs and Roy Sievers one, his 28th, as the last-place Senators collected 17 hits against four Kansas City pitchers. The loss, charged to rookie Bob Davis, dropped the Athletics into seventh place, one percentage point behind Detroit.

Robin Roberts, with 200 victories already in the bag, may become the first 300-game winner in baseball since National League pitcher to win 300 games.

Although Early Wynn of the Chicago White Sox, with 244 victories, and Milwaukee's Warren Spahn, with 237, are far ahead of him, the still-brilliant Philadelphia right - hander appears to have the best chance to join the dozen who have reached the elite circle.

Roberts is only 31 to Wynn's 38 and Spahn's 37.

MIGHT MAKE IT

"If I can keep pitching the way I have," he said after the Phils' 9-1 triumph—his 200th victory—over the Chicago Cubs Friday night, "I might make it."

Roberts lost his bid for a shutout when Dale Long connected for a home run. It was Roberts' 11th victory of the season.

Willie Mays' 27th and 28th game winners — Charles Nichols, Jim Gallagher, Hunter, John Clark, Mickey Welch and Charles Ross Radbourne achieved their totals before the turn of the century. Cy Young also got most of his 511 triumphs before 1900. Walter Johnson (414), Christy Mathewson (373), Grover Alexander (373), Eddie Plank (325) and Bob Grove (300) won thirty or more games after 1900. Grove's was the lively ball era hurler to make the list.

The Braves increased their National League lead to two games over San Francisco, eliminated the Giants 4-2. Pittsburgh handed St. Louis its fourth straight defeat, 9-1, with a two-hitter by Walter Johnson (4)14), Christy Mathewson (373), Grover Alexander (373), Eddie Plank (325) and Bob Grove (300) won thirty or more games after 1900. Grove's was the lively ball era hurler to make the list.

Relief pitcher Don McMahon threw a called strike past Willie Kirkland with the bases loaded and third to save Lew Burdette's 10th victory. Burdette was relieved in the ninth by Joe McCormick lost it.

Five Braves singles, off four Redleg pitchers, produced five runs which enabled Los Angeles to overcome a 2-1 deficit in the ninth. Brooks Lawrence, who relieved starter Jim Brosnan in the eighth, was the loser. Johnny Klippstein was the winner.

Kiniski Dropkicked Himself Out of Victory Over Singh

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

Little Beaver, the 240-pounder pals put on another hilarious rib-tickling show with the mighty mite of the Beaver and pesky-wahy Cowboy Bradley teaming up to terrorize all over Tom Thumb and his partner Ski-Lo-Lo.

Beaver showed little concern for the foemen, slapping them down with a moccasin that they ventured within range. He showed no respect for official's dons and after a few minutes attacks on referee Gotter evoking roars of merriment.

He won the first fall after eighteen minutes of solid mayhem by dropkicking himself out of the ring.

He tooted his figurative whistle, but the ex-Edmonton Eskimos bulldozer swung his pickling leg with the monotony of a metronome.

So Sammy decided to intervene. He plunged into the huddle head down, plainly bent on a low tackle. Midway through the air he connected with a Kiniski punt that sent him twisting and turning halfway across the ring.

He finally subdued the maddened Kiniski and unbreteslled Dara Singh's leg from the ropes. No big leg is going to kick Sammy around and get away with it.

So he ran and around the wheezing wild man of the west, grabbed the Hindu's arm, and hoisted it aloft while the large crowd hooted its approval.

Kiniski apparently was still enraged over the punishing he took Singh had applied to with the second fall The Hindu was performing a job of it when Kiniski writhed and wriggled like a fresh-caught bass on the mat after it was over.

Says Hockey Is a Long Way From Being Dead 'Over One'

By Ken Metherall
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — A group of sports - loving businessmen in Scotland and an ever - worked contractor in England have given Britain's National Hockey League a new lease on life.

"We will be operating again next year as usual and for a good many years to come," said J. F. (Bunny) Ahearne, league secretary and the man largely responsible for introducing Canada's winter sport to Britain in the 1930s.

Ahearne wasn't quite so confident last May when Harringay Racers, one of two London entries in the five-team loop, folded after operating for 22 years. But he kept plugging away, button-holing every manager of an ice rink in Britain in efforts to find someone to take over the Harringay franchise.

CHAMPIONS QUIT

Then, just as he was reaching agreement with a group of Edinburgh men to sponsor a new entry, the reigning champions, Brighton Tigers, told him they were suspending operations for a year.

Brighton's problem was just the opposite to that of Harringay, who found they couldn't attract sufficient fans to their 8,500-seat arena at Wembley, London to make the game pay.

Brighton is a red-hot hockey centre but the rink is giant, built 37 years ago and untouched since. It badly in need of an overhaul. When efforts to get the job done during the summer failed, Brighton decided to suspend operations for a year while the Brighton Ice Palace was given a face-lifting.

JOB MUST WAIT

Now all is serene. The contractor handling the Brighton project has promised the Tigers he won't be able to tackle the job until next March. Brighton is hastily reassembling the club that walked away with the title last season.

In Edinburgh, the group taking over Harringay's franchise includes doctors and professional men and is headed by Jame Walker, chairman of the company operating the Murrayfield ice rink.

The Edinburgh club is expected to be called Murrayfield Royal and like the other clubs in the circuit — Brighton, Wembley Lions, Nottingham Panthers and Paisley Pirates — will be composed of Canadian players.

CANADIAN HELPS

Hervey (Ed) Stapleford of Watford, Ont., former player - coach of the now - defunct Streatham club and now connected with a seller at Ontario House in London, is helping the new Edinburgh club in its search for Canadian players.

The Edinburgh rink, built in 1939, seats more than 4,000. It includes a bar, restaurant, snack bar and a large car park, as is situated beside the famous Murrayfield rugby football grounds from which it takes its name.

The National League's 60-game schedule last year attracted close to 250,000 fans, some 100,000 more than the year before. Another 70,000 fans watched some 15 amateur clubs, the majority located along the Dorset-Hampshire coast in southern England.

"With a total attendance of 1,000,000, hockey is a long way from being dead in Britain," Ahearne says.

Live-Bait Fishing for Bass

The black bass, both small-mouth and largemouth is North America's most popular game fish. More people fish for bass than for all the other species of fresh-water species combined. While a great many anglers confine themselves to artificial lures probably the majority go in for live-bait fishing exclusively.

Bait fishing is the simplest form of bass fishing. It can be done with just about any kind of tackle. However, there are some tricks of the trade in bait fishing which can add greatly, not only to the fun you can have but also to the size of the catch.

First off, it is important to place your bait on your hook in such a way that it will stay alive. A dead bait is not nearly as productive, as a live one. As a live one. Minnows and shiners can be hooked lightly under the dorsal fin, stone catfish through the lips, crayfish through the tail, helgramites under the collar or on the horn. Even the lowly angle worm can be kept alive for a long time if a hook is inserted below the collar, leaving the head and collar unharmed.

It is important, while bait fishing, to adapt the method to the kind of fish as possible. Anchoring a boat or standing in one spot, while the bait is cast out from the bottom, is not, as a rule, the most productive way to fish for bass. In a river, it is a good plan to drift through the pools. In a pond or a lake, cast around and then let the wind move your boat slowly across to the deserted look.

If you are wading, move slowly along the shore line, remaining far enough to make sure that it is moving and not lodged on bottom. If there is a current, then the flow will keep your bait on the move; if the water is still, cast the bait well out and then retrieve the line slowly through a golden arc.

Of course, in a river the movement of the water keeps it well mixed so that, under temperatures very bad for bass, oxygen is still present. In a lake, however, the summer sun sets up well-defined temperature layers. While large-mouth bass are happy in water that is quite warm, the small-mouth bass prefer their water somewhat on the cool side.

Sixty-seven degrees seems to be the critical temperature for small-mouth. Usually, they postpone spawning operations until the water warms to that degree or even a bit more. Moreover, they like to live in water that is in the high sixties if they can find it. Thus, it is often necessary to fish in fairly deep water to find the bass but, fortunately, particularly during the spells of very warm weather.

Some years ago, a friend and I fished Georgian Bay, Ontario, during a very hot July. We soon learned that short-line casting was a waste of time. However, with a pailfull of minnows we could catch bass to our heart's content if we fished our minnows from twenty-five to twenty-five feet below the surface.

Generally, and this is particularly true of river fishing, we use neither sinker nor float when live-bait fishing. Instead, we allow the bait to drift and sink about naturally. A sinker or a float tends to restrict movement and the bait loses much of its natural behavior.

In a lake, however, sometimes a small sinker is necessary in order to get the bait down to effective depth. Even then, we make it a point to place the sinker three or four feet up the leader, thereby giving the bait some chance to move about.

When wind-drifting in a shallow lake, often a float can be of help. Many times, a float rig can be so arranged that its length keeps the bait about the natural R.C.A.F. station depth. In this way, the drift can be made without the nuisance of rowing back and forth to wind from the bottom entanglement.

Your equipment tables can be quite helpful while bait fishing if you use them correctly. Here are some hints.

Bass in a lake have the tendency to select resting stations or places where they can lie when not actively on the feed — in fairly deep water on a hot day or in the congenial temperatures. Thus, between solunar periods that is the place to look for them.

With the arrival of a solunar period, the bass become active and they move about in search of food. The great majority of these periods, in a river, when the water is in the shallows. All right, so these times it is best to fish in shallower water, around the weed beds, shoals and rocky bars. Geological Survey Maps will tell you the depth of the fish in deep water during a solunar period.

Last but not least, there is "pocket fishing" to consider. In almost every body of water there are pockets — deep places in the riffles of a river or dark, "fishy" looking spots in the marshy shallows of a lake. These places, if they are available, sometimes produce surprisingly large fish.

By and large, bait fishing is like any other form of salesmanship. Show your merchandise to as many customers as you can if you want to build up sales. By the same token, show your bait to as many fish as you can if you want to add to the weight of your string. Remember, it's just as simple as that.

Giants Player Used Twice In One Game

CHICAGO (AP)—Will Harridge, president of the American League, said Friday he has asked club owners to consider amending playing rules to permit purchase of the same infielder player twice in one game.

In the memo to club owners, Harridge suggested they give the rule revision "careful considera-tion."

The suggested playing rule 3.03 would be changed to read:

"A player removed from the game for other than a rules infraction could re-enter the game, once, at any time later.

"A pitcher removed for a pinch hitter or for other than a rules infraction could re - enter the game once full inning later.

A player sent into a game as a pinch hitter could remain in the game or be used as a pinch hitter or a fielder the second time, providing one inning intervened between his two appearances.

Warren C. Giles, president of the National League, said in Cincinnati he just received the suggestion and had not had a chance to discuss it.

Al Balding Fires a 69 at Chicago Golf

CHICAGO (CP)—Toronto's Al Balding Friday fired a 69 in the first round of the $50,000 Chicago Open golf tournament, one stroke off the pace set by Don Fairfield of Casey, Ill., and Don Janasey of Eastland, Tex.

Balding found range on the front nine of the Glenneagles course as he shot a 32, highlighted by sinking a driver shot three feet from the cup on the 3-yard No. 8 and getting an eagle 3. But he ran into trouble on the back nine and 40 wedge for a 37 giving him a 69

Yama Bahama Rallies to Win Over Micelli

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Yama Bahama of the British West Indies withstood two first - round knockdowns and came back to score a unanimous 10-round decision over Joe Micelli of New York Friday night. Both fighters weighed 153.

The 29-year-old New Yorker caught Bahama with a flashing left uppercut that dropped him in the opening moments of the first round. Bahama then went into a bear-hug routine.

Micelli was the first, Micelli caught the plodding Briton with the upercutting left hook, sending him. Bahama grabbed his opponent's waist with both hands and referee Joe Palmer wallowed on the ropes.

Bahama weathered the battering and moved his offensive to Micelli's body in the middle rounds.

In the eighth Bahama brought Micelli down for the count. He sent Micelli to the canvas with an uppercut and a right. Micelli began to tire in the middle rounds and Bahama came on strong.

Referee Palmer awarded the fight to Bahama on a 7-2-1 basis. Judge Harold McGrath voted for Micelli and Dick Fazio favored Bahama 7-3.

Ottawa Squeezes Point Win Over Saskys in Exhibition

OTTAWA (CP)—Saskatchewan Roughriders may be short on bench strength, but they are long on fighting spirit.

They proved it Friday night by coming from behind twice against the Big Four Ottawa Rough Riders in an exhibition football game by the margin of a convert, 20-19, before 12,000 at Lansdowne Park.

"Our big problem is depth, both with Americans and Canadians — especially with Canadians," said new Coach George Terlep after the game.

Two touchdown passes enabled Ottawa to wipe up narrow leads taken by the visiting Westerners in the second and fourth quarters as the scoring lead changed four times after the eastern Riders took a 7-0 first quarter lead.

Ottawa led 16-8 at half time. The third quarter was scoreless. Ottawa's first touchdown was recorded the score on the last scoring play of the game had Jack Hill's pass intended for Ottawa end Bobby Judd and Ed Petrarca. Garry Schrieber kicked two converts and Jack Yoho kicked a 35-yard field goal.

On the ground, Cookie Gilchrist, last year, with Hamilton, Bobby Marlow and McKleever ran the ball for 233 yards to 279 by Ottawa's Judd, Gerry Nesbitt, Dave Theilen and Nap Gullian.

CENTENNIAL DECORATIONS

On Saturday the village of Stirling presented a unique appearance as shopkeepers and residents alike were dressed in period gents on the street. Messrs Robert Patterson and Stanley Patterson were decked out in clothes of bygone days as they served their customers. There were many others on the street and in the stores. Wedding attire predominated for the ladies and members of the I.O.D.E. wore tweedish butons.

Mrs. Garth Jaslin modelled a lovely dress with lilac colored sash that had been worn by her aunt, Mrs. W. C. Pitman , some 75 years ago. Another dress considered a very dressy gown, Mrs. Stacy MacKinnon wore her own dress of imported English reversible silk which was the latest in fashion in 1910 when uneven hemlines predominated. Mrs. Jaslin had been given also a Butterick pattern which had appear on the cover of the January, 1911 issue of a fashion magazine.

A group of folk, including Mr. and Mrs. Doug Robson, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Shortt, and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Pitman motored through town in the old fire engine. They also visited Havelock and other points.

MODELS WEDDING GOWNS

Mrs. George Noble was a picture of loveliness in her old fashioned wedding gown. Several folk had displayed dresses of a date days in the Victorian era and the parade include a baby carriage of ancient vintage.

The store winows in the village are picturesque these days. Several are decorated with flags and bunting and have a gala appearance.

A large array of old pictures, well worth viewing, are displayed in the windows of Jack McCaughen, Robert Patterson store, the Agway store office, and Mouck's Hardware. At the latter there are pictures and articles belonging to the former owner, J. C. McGee, which include silver and china over 100 years old. A small model barn, made by the late Robert Eggleston, a cane, a rocker chair, and other articles, bring back memories of the past century.

PIONEER ARTICLES ON DISPLAY

Duffins Furniture Store have two large displays of iron bottles, butter tray, ladle and pound prints, a canoe of early vintage, an old-time vacuum cleaner, and a large assortment of articles used by the early pioneers. Those interested in antiques and old relics will find a large assortment of interesting articles to view. More items are added daily.

4th SIDNEY

Stone Church WMS Holds July Meet

4TH SIDNEY — The Stone Church Woman's Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. O. Chisholm on Wednesday afternoon. The president, Mrs. R. McMullen, opened the meeting with a few words of welcome and asked Mrs. H. Gray and Mrs. G. Lane to conduct the worship service. Mrs. J. Deller presided at the piano. The theme for the service was "The Bible and Prayer."

Several members read portions of Scripture and Mrs. G. Lane gave the Meditation, "Today we are so busy we are crowding out the good part as there is so much of our lives taken up with what we think is necessary. We should study the Bible, book by book, and learn that God speaks to the soul and He will supply all our needs. As the sun is shining all the time we learn that the Holy Spirit is refusing to let go and God is always ready to forgive if we ask him."

Mrs. R. McMullen, with the help of a large chart, gave an illustrated talk on Japan and the chapters in the Study Book dealing with the early Christians.

Rev. H. W. Outerbridge was the first Christian worker in 1870 to 1873. Before the bombing of Hiroshima the Protestant churches were uniting.

Just as Jesus found it necessary to go apart from the 12 disciples and spend time in secret prayer, so we should spend more time in prayer.

A business meeting followed with the secretary and treasurer's reports being accepted. It was decided to send part of the society's allocation to the Presbyterial treasurer.

The Women's Association meeting followed with Mrs. O. Chisholm presiding.

Mrs. K. Twiddy was appointed to get an estimate on carpeting for the centre aisle of the church and report at the next meeting in August, at the home of Mrs. H. Gray.

An invitation to visit Johnstown Women's Association at an open meeting September 4th was accepted.

The hostess served refreshments.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — No matter what occurs today or the coming days more remunerative and easy by quickly getting in with the style or environment to make this an early actuality. Avoid discordant factors, and be alert on the road.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — If the good influences headed your way today are to be fully enjoyed, it is imperative you blend well yesterday's knowledge with today's modern approach and science. And be sure you safeguard any real estate, other holdings you have.

Majority of Accidents Caused by Human Errors

By DON HARVEY

Everytime an airplane crashes there are always people who ask "Why did the plane crash?"

When an answer is forthcoming — which is seldom — there is usually at least one person who asks "How do they know that is what happened?"

Both questions are legitimate and it seems that both should be given fair answers. Human beings are naturally curious. Their natural curiosity makes them wonder why an accident occurred and how investigators determine the cause of it.

In attempting to answer the first question I would like to remind you that the human element is responsible for most accidents. The Air Industries and Transport Association of Canada said in its 1957 report that 65.9 per cent of the 239 accidents in 1956 were probably attributable to personnel. Only 16.5 per cent of the mishaps were blamed on structural failure of the aircraft.

These figures tell a story, which quite simply is this: Although engineers are able to design and build aircraft that are almost 100 per cent perfect in every way, human beings have not been born who have absolute control of themselves at every action. Until such time as people become perfect accidents involving manned aircraft will continue to happen.

We might at a step further and point out that according to Department of Transport figures for the past seven years the human element was responsible for at least half of the accidents during that period.

STILL HESITATE

Yet many people still hesitate to travel by aircraft. That is understandable because aviation in Canada will only be 50 years old next year. However, too many people still maintain that operating, or travelling in, an aircraft is something in which only the most nervous among their ranks should indulge.

Dominion Bureau of Statistics figures for 1956 show that in that year 2,833,962 people flew between points in Canada on scheduled and non-scheduled flights, an increase of well over one million from the number of Canadians who used the airlines in 1951. The number of licenced private pilots in Canada by September 1957 had risen to 7,588 from 4,980 in December 1951. These figures should be proof enough of the growing popularity of aviation in this country.

After considering the question of how many accidents have the causes of accidents, we have decided not to attempt to answer it simply because we do not know. It is known, however, that crash investigation teams are comprised of experts who know practically every in and out about the type of plane that has crashed. Having a scanty knowledge of how a couple of investigation teams worked in the past, we will take their word should they again announce their findings. A butcher, baker or candle stick maker is not in any position to presume the cause of a plane crash. But jumping to conclusions is a familiar human pitfall. We do know, however, that Department of Transport and RCAF crash investigators do not jump to conclusions.

DIVERSIFIED FIELD

Some people believe that RCAF Station Trenton, is the busiest airfield in Canada. Well, it is not. Last year Vancouver International Airport recorded the most planes in and out.

RCAF Station, Trenton, though might be the most diversified military airport. The RCAF and Department of Transport air traffic controllers in the control tower there really earn their salt. While a four-engine North Star might be landing from the west, a Sabre jet trainer might be practising forced landings on the other runway, while a T-33 jet is "on the break" over another runway. Meanwhile, at the apron, assortment of other aircraft — from C-119 Fairchild Packets (flying boxcars) to Chipmunk trainers find it expedient to land at Trenton. They, too, add to the confliction of aircraft using the runway facilities.

Any day now and the next number of aircraft at Station Trenton, will increase as planes from near and far congregate there to rehearse for the C.N.E. air show. The United States Air Force, as in past years, will send up a few varieties of fighter aircraft. It is expected that the RCAF's latest addition to Maritime Air Command, the colossal Argus, will make Trenton its home base for a few days, preparatory to the Toronto air display. Of course, there will be an influx of CF-100's and F-86's, too, and possibly a few Neptunes.

MURALS FOR DC-8's

Trans-Canada Airlines says that the interior of each of its new DC-8 Jetliners, which will be in service in early 1960, will have an abstract mural reproducing Canada's ten provinces. Designed by a Canadian now working with the Douglas Aircraft Co. in California, the murals will decorate the first class passenger lounges in vivid reds, blues, tans and golds.

Garden Notes

Mulches Gardener's Handiest Tool

By FLORA M. SLATTER

Mulches have been called the gardener's handiest tool. They are used to keep plant roots warm, cool or moist. Then, too, they will keep small fruits and low growing vegetables and flowers free from mud splashes and provide mud free walks between garden rows.

For general use sphagnum moss, chopped hay or straw or hardwood leaves do very well. Where available sawdust, shavings or salt hay are found to be excellent materials. Sawdust will not make the soil sour, but it will take up some of the nitrogen from the soil. If the soil is poor counteract this by spreading a fertilizer such as sulphate of ammonia at the rate of two pounds per hundred feet of surface. It will seep down slowly. Do not apply this to the soil before spreading the sawdust. Salt hay is light, loose and does not pack.

Acid loving plants such as azaleas and rhododendrons require peat moss or pine needle mulch to maintain an acid condition.

Ground corncobs make a good mulch, it is cheap, free of weeds and breaks down into good organic matter for the soil. Grass clippings soon dry out and become too thin to be useful unless applied in a six to eight inch layer. Corn cobs, peat, or sphagnum moss does a good job in a four to six-inch layer.

Slugs all of these mulches decompose gradually they enrich the soil. Dig in any remaining mulch left from last year and apply fertilizer before adding new mulch.

Soft wood leaves mat down and smother plants, preventing air circulation. This sours the soil. Unless you can chop up the leaves with a power mower equipped for this, pile the leaves in the back garden until the following spring. They will be broken up and can be dug into the soil to provide valuable organic matter.

Paper and plastic mulches have their advantages but to what was expected of them. You may find them useful in growing cucumbers and melons. Glass wool is expensive but long lasting. It is still favored in many of the great rose gardens.

Flat stones act as a mulch in the perennial border. They prevent errosion and add texture interest at the side of garden steps. Use them to provide stepping stones in the flower garden. One gardener has found them useful as a nursery for basil to sprout seeds. He plants the seeds and covers them with a flat stone. This maintains the moisture. He checks for germination and when the seeds have sprouted he removes the seed lings. A light shade is provided for the young plants until the lings have become hardened.

Dulles Welcomed With Jeers and Go Home Banner

Dulles' program for the first full day of his 36-hour Brazilian visit included talks with Foreign Secretary Francisco Negrao de Lima and then a meeting with President Juscelino Kubitschek.

Dulles said on arrival Monday that he would talk about the world situation and inter-American relations with special attention to economic problems.

The Brazilians were most interested in what Dulles would have to say about coffee, their chief export and U.S. aid in developing Brazilian oil resources.

SPENDS ON COLD WAR

Dulles indicated in an airport statement that his mind was on the cold war in the Middle East. And on arrival at the U.S. Embassy, he told newsmen his staff liked "the days today are particularly critical; there is an effort to create pressure perhaps more intense than during the last three or four years — or a false move or reminiscent of the Berlin airlift and of Korea in that respect."

The Soviet Union has been receiving recently "a number of economic and commercial ties with Brazil and has stepped up its propaganda campaign in neighboring countries. Brazil broke diplomatic relations with Russia in 1947 after a number of Soviet verbal attacks, and the government has reported a number of communist subversive plots in recent years.

Dulles' route took him by the headquarters of the leftist Nacional Estudante Union at 30 miles an hour. Students leaned out of the windows jeering and catcalling, a Latin-American form of booing. The banner was draped in black and signs said "Dulles go home," "Petroleo the state owned oil monopoly," "The yanqy is untouchable" and "The United States has no friends, just interests." The latter a quotation attributed to Dulles.

Trent Waterway Traffic Held up For 12 Hours

ORILLIA (CP)—Traffic was held up for 12 hours on a section of the Trent waterway over the weekend when a bearing burned out in the motor of the marine railway at Big Chute.

A waterway official said the organization employed only one mechanic but he was on holidays and no one else was available to make repairs.

Kenneth Bath, manager of the Orillia Chamber of Commerce which arranged for two Orillia mechanics to replace the bearing, said he has protested the incident to Transport Minister Hees and to district members of Parliament.

However, in Northern Ontario, temperatures will be five to 10 degrees lower. Cloud and scattered showers have already moved into that area. This weather will move deep into southern Ontario late today and tonight, but on Wednesday, clearing skies are expected over nearly all the province in a dry air mass in from the west.

OTTAWA (CP)—Debate continues today on a sizzling issue that threatens to become a serial story in Canadian politics: whether confidential official economic forecasts should be published or withheld.

The question with its echoes of the March 31 election campaign, when it was a key question in the Commons again Monday night as Opposition Leader Pearson, resuming debate, charged Finance Minister Diefenbaker with "political interference."

Finance Minister Fleming,—replying for the government, denied the charge and said criticism as a "bogus exhibition." He described it as "puny, forlorn and ill-begotten" a want-of-confidence motion moved by Mr. Pearson charging that government policies had weakened the value of confidential advice from civil servants, "with resultant damage to the proper formulation of economic and fiscal policies."

NOT PRECISE

Mr. Fleming did not refer in person to the official economic forecast under discussion, tabled in the Commons document or other." If he commented on it, he said, the Liberals would be the first to be annoyed that the document be published.

He also defended the report that "the Canadian economic outlook" for 1958, it is a document prepared by officials of the department experts for use by the government.

Monday night's debate, "on a supply motion, arose after Finance Minister Harris had said Friday of an Ottawa story concerning excerpts from the forecast.

The story, under discrepancies between the excerpts and some economists forecasts in Mr. Fleming's budget speech.

Living Cost Had Biggest Drop in 30 Months in June

OTTAWA (CP) — Living costs made their biggest drop in 30 months during June, with the consumer price index declining by two-fifths of a point to 124.7 on July 1 from 125.1 on June 1, bureau of statistics reported today.

The drop, caused mainly by lower food prices, followed a steady rise in the index in the earlier parts of the year to a record 125.2 on April 1. It dipped by one-tenth of a point to 125.1 on May 1 and remained unchanged at June 1.

The July drop was the biggest since the similar two-fifths of a point decline on Feb. 1, 1956. The index, based on 1949 prices equalling 100, shows changes in the cost of food, of rent, clothing and similar items that form part of the living spent by the average family.

Prince Rupert Riot Sparked By RCMP Arrest of Indians

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP) — Two of 30 persons charged in connection with a Sunday morning riot here were scheduled to be sentenced today.

Two Indian women, Maggie Good and Irene Grandison, pleaded guilty to creating a disturbance. They were the only women among the 30 who appeared in court on Monday.

The other 27 are charged with being members of an unlawful assembly. They include 22 Indians, 16 white men and one Negro. All pleaded not guilty or entered no plea.

Ten of those who entered no plea were remanded to Aug. 8. The others were remanded to Aug. 12.

The riot was sparked shortly after midnight Saturday when the RCMP arrested an Indian couple for fighting. A group of bystanders protested the arrest, and followed the officers to the police station in creasing in number as it went. When Mayor Peter Lester was aroused from bed to read the Riot Act it was to a mob of more than 1,000. His declaration was greeted by a shower of rocks and bottles.

The 30-man RCMP squad used tear gas to disperse the crowd, which had braved a clouding by fire hoses in their drive on the police station. It scattered

CANADA MAY ASK SHARE OF A-ARMS SAYS MINISTER

Pearkes in U.S. For Defence Talks

WASHINGTON (CP)—The joint Canadian-United States cabinet committee on defence is expected to discuss the possibility of Canada sharing American nuclear weapons, says Defence Minister George Pearkes.

Pearkes made this reply Monday on his arrival here on the first U.S. official visit newspapermen asked him to comment on reports that Canada would like the U.S. to provide atomic weapons for RCAF planes helping in the defence of North America.

COULD GET AGREEMENT

Smith said Canada could obtain an agreement, subject to approval by the U.S. Congress, under which it could make her own nuclear warheads. "But we're not asking for that agreement," he told Opposition Leader Pearson.

Smith also said there was "no question of storing nuclear warheads in Canada." Pearson said he hoped Canada could obtain authority from Washington for the RCAF to use atomic warheads.

The joint cabinet committee mentioned by Pearkes was set up last May by Prime Minister Diefenbaker and President Eisenhower during talks in Ottawa. The committee hasn't picked a date or site for its first meeting.

"As minister of defence," Pearkes said, "I would like to see our forces equipped with the most up-to - date and modern weapons."

BLOCKED BY PRESENT LAWS

Pearkes noted that existing laws prevent the U.S. from sharing atomic weapons and secrets with any country other than Britain.

"It's not for me to suggest changes in American law. That matter must be discussed at the highest level."

On this point, Pearson said in Ottawa that during the Second World War Canada was treated as an equal but now only the United States was. Smith said he was "not unhappy with the arrangement."

Lunar Attempt Date Will Be Fixed This Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Roy W. Johnson, chief of the United States moon rocket program, indicated today that the next attempt to put up a lunar satellite could come as early as next week.

Johnson told a reporter that the defence department hopes to decide the next week on the date for the first lunar attempt, and that the date will be decided upon about five days in advance of the actual launching effort.

Johnson said that the attempt is to get pictures of the hidden side of the moon—not to hit the moon itself.

Princess Margaret Resumes Tour After Rest in Gatineau Hills

OTTAWA (CP) — Princess Margaret was to leave Ottawa today for Montreal to resume her royal tour after two days of rest in the idyllic Gatineau Hills retreat.

An RCAF helicopter was to pick her up at Harrington Lake Lodge, 15 miles north of Ottawa, and fly her to the cricket field at Government House.

Shortly before later, after saying goodbye to her host, Governor-General Vanier, she was to board the royal train at 12:30 p.m. and resume the heavy cross-Canada tour.

A spokesman for the royal party said today the princess retired about midnight Monday after a quiet dinner at the lodge with her husband and officials attached to the tour.

Her spirits were high after spending the day boating and swimming in the clear, spring-fed lake, set among rolling, tree-blanketed hills of Gatineau national park.

The spokesman, A. D. Ross of the external affairs department, said there were no visitors to the lodge during the two days.

There has been speculation that 26-year-old Montreal lawyer John Rhind might be invited to visit the princess. He had a long chat and several dances with her at a party given in her honor two weeks ago and was her favorite partner at a dance given by Governor-General Vanier and his wife at Government House here Saturday night.

Pursuing its policy of "getting to know the people," the princess has visited as widely as possible during the tour, which she should avoid such words in its name as "police" and "force."

News Surprised At Russ Delay Of Meet Reply

UN Delegates Continue Arrangement Discussions

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Western diplomats here were surprised today at Russia's delay in replying to the West's proposals for a mid-August summit meeting.

The ambassadors of the United States, Britain and France waited expectantly all day Monday for call to the Soviet foreign ministry. But the call never came.

Western diplomats had expected a quick summit reply following Premier Khrushchev's secret weekend meeting with the Chinese Communist head of state, Mao Tse-Tung. The delay in answering the Soviet Western notes is in sharp contrast with Soviet policy late last month, when replies to the West followed each other in rapid succession.

Western observers suggest that the Soviet Union and China are looking for a formula which will satisfy Egypt and Arab Asian hopes for a more generalized settlement of the Middle East problem.

They also feel Washington and London may expect a stiffening of Soviet attitude towards the summit, in view of the apparent 11th hour postponement.

NATIONALIST CHINA REGUE

The Associated Press reports there is every likelihood that Khrushchev will object to Nationalist China attending any high-level Middle East summit conference on the Middle East.

Many Western diplomats here are convinced Nationalist Chinese representation on the Security Council—was a major subject discussed by Khrushchev and Mao in their secret talks at Peiping.

Some sources raised the possibility that the Kremlin's new line on a summit conference may be voiced first by Arnold Robinov, Russia's delegate to the United Nations.

Even if no UN discussions on the composition, time and place of a summit meeting, Khrushchev and Mao presumably spent much of their talks on the Communist policy for the big-power meeting.

In Warsaw, the Polish Communist party newspaper Trybuna Ludu said that a summit conference materializes Russia will demand the seating of the Soviet bloc and Communist China.

The newspaper predicts that the talks between Khrushchev and Mao may up the scale in the "cold war" if the five-power meeting originally proposed by the Soviet Union is not arranged.

It would stand a better chance of success than a conference within the United Nations Security Council.

Arrange Ball At New Hotel For Princess

MONTREAL (CP) — A civic reception, dinner and Bach concert highlight Montreal's three-day opening hours of Princess Margaret's visit to this French Canadian metropolis, and officials are hopeful the royal visitor will feel up to attending a ball in her honor at the city's new Queen Elizabeth Hotel.

For the princess the ball follows a day of air and train travel, as well as public appearances that was felt she might be too tired to attend. The ball is not on her official list.

Margaret's day starts this morning when a helicopter was to pick her up at a Gatineau wilderness retreat for a flight to Ottawa. There she was to board the royal train for Montreal.

She was due to arrive here for a 21¾-hour visit. For the last two days she has been resting at Harrington Lake Lodge, summer home of Canadian prime ministers.

Mayor Sarto Fournier repeated again and again Monday morning the streets where the princess will be driven will be full of flags and cheering Montrealers.

Police Director J. Albert Langlois announced that 1,000 police will be assigned to control crowds and traffic.

Margaret will be met at Windsor Station by Mayor Fournier. She then enters a car for a drive about drive to a reception at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel.

Also on her schedule is a dinner tendered by the mayor at the Montreal Municipal Golf and Back concert at La Comedie Canadienne tonight.

The ball is to be held in the hotel following the dinner party for her or not the princess attends.

Pearson Critical Of Big Powers On Police Force

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Pearson Monday criticized Britain, France and Russia in the United Nations from forming a regular police force. He said they should do "do things, and then say that when the United Nations will take over their job thereafter."

External Affairs Minister Smith said a joint UN-Canada-United States committee that the UN should "work strenuously but cautiously" in the direction of setting up a permanent police force.

Without naming any "big powers," Mr. Pearson said that for too long they had been trying to set up such a force. "Yet, for some reason, all they can do is stop the formation of those means when you take steps to provide them with some practical effect."

Mr. Smith had said that the UN was moving in the direction of setting up a force.

"Ninety minutes or short steps, and I should stop giving the wrong impression of what we are trying to achieve. Especially, I should avoid such words in its name as 'police' and 'force.'"

He'd Get by Without a Glance But Alack, Alas He Had No Pants

BERLIN (AP) — August the Powerful languished today in the clutches of the East German police — all because he threw his pants out the laundry window on a speeding train.

Until the pants affair, August had been looked upon as a solid- and respected citizen of Communist Berlin. He was unceremoniously called him August the Powerful.

August's undoing began when he decided to get a new suit.

Like a lot of the East Germans, he ducked into Allied-occupied West Berlin to buy his clothing. Germans law forbids shopping in West Berlin, but many East Germans take the chance because the clothes are cheaper and better.

August boarded a train for home with a great plan for getting the government pearl the Communist customs inspectors. He would get rid of his old suit, throw the new one casually the customs men away.

The plan went through pleased the border control point. August popped into the lavatory, whipped off his old suit and pitched them out into the night.

Then he rearranged his parcel. Then August the Powerful turned ghastly pale. He began to tremble. There were no pants in the parcel. The saleslady had forgotten to put them in.

August sadly sat in the lavatory. He lit underwear, with two coats and no pants, awaiting the inevitable.

The proudest man in town over the weekend was Millard J. "Mike" Boyd, retired CNR engineer who concluded 46 years of service on Friday night.

At a party given in his honor by friends of the CNR at the Club Canara, a telegram of congratulations from Princess Margaret was read to the guests.

Over 100 people some of them from Montreal, Windsor, Newmarket and Toronto paid tribute to the retired engineer at the party. He was presented with a handsome wrist watch while the toast was proposed by divisional master mechanic Robert Dixon.

July Made No Unusual Weather Record

Ask any district farmer and he will say that the month of July was "hot and dry" but statistics show that it was neither the hottest nor the driest July on record.

Statistics kept at the city pump house on the Trent Road show the temperature soared to a high of 96 degrees during the month and that the rainfall was but 1.62 inch.

But the hottest July on record was back in 1936 when the mercury rose four days for 97 on the glass at 104 degrees. The driest July on record was back in 1939 when only .49 inch rain fell. On the other extreme, 1945 was the wettest July with 6.07 inches of rain.

Comparative temperatures for July saw a high of 88 and a low of 50, with a mean reading of 69.5 degrees for the month. A year ago the high reading was 87 and a low of 45 with a mean reading of 66 degrees. Rainfall last year was 3.57 inches. The five year average for July shows a high temperature of 89 with a low temperature of 49 and a mean reading of 70.4 degrees. Average July rainfall over the 15 years was 2.30 inches.

Ceremonies Feature Opening By County Warden L. Price

STIRLING — Lloyd Price, Warden of Hastings County, told citizens and friends of Stirling they must be wary of the advancement of the village over the past 100 years" as he officially declared the centennial celebration open yesterday afternoon.

"Speaking on behalf of Hastings County," he said, "I wish to thank you for the privilege of opening your birthday celebrations.

"Stirling is one of the leading villages in the county in education, sports and agriculture. You must be proud of your advancement from a sawmill site to the village it is now with a population of about 1300 Stirling is also an important tourist centre with the Trent River and Oak Lake as well as the easy access to the area by provincial highways."

The warden also mentioned the book which has been published on the history of Stirling and suggested it be read during the year. He also urged all to co-operate to make the success of the celebrations which have been given a good start with pleasant, sunny weather.

Reeve Jim Holt introduced the warden, saying he was "overjoyed" at the large crowd which had turned out to help Stirling celebrate its 100th birthday. He said they had planned to bring a log cabin into the school grounds but due to the large number of them only the prize winning one had been brought in.

The were in order of merit: the Dutch Float, displaying new Canadians; I.O.D.E. Stirling float and the Stirling Lions club given an inside look on a pioneer kitchen.

Don Rogers, chairman of the Centennial Committee, opened the ceremonies by saying it was a pleasure to see so many turn out and to express the "joyful and cheerful parade" held just previously. He said the celebrations got off to a very fine Sunday and everyone was hoping the fine weather would hold out until the very last parade on Wednesday night. He said he also hoped that the $1,000 which was still be created by the celebrations will benefit Stirling and many other places for miles around.

He announced the judges' decision on the prize-winning floats, and thanked the many residents, both new and old, for taking part and the many hours of work they had done.

Following the opening ceremonies Mr. Price was presented a plaque to Miss Carol Grace Chant of Hampton for an act of bravery last year in which a child's life was saved.

Mr. Price told of how, on May 11, 1957, Miss Chant had been visiting around Oak Lake and while out walking had noticed something in the water. When she saw it was a child lying face down she had taken off her shoes and rushed into the water and carried the tot to the docks where she called for help and applied artificial respiration.

That afternoon the child was back on her feet playing as lustily as ever. Dr. Carleton presented the award on behalf of the Royal Canadian Humane Society.

Miss Chant spoke briefly following the presentation.

Carol Grace Chant, 21, of Hampton, Ont., receives Humane Society scroll from Dr. E. A. Carleton for saving Faith Little, 2½, from drowning in a Stirling district lake on May 11, 1957. Presentation was made in connection with the centennial program.

CCF Members Still Angered Over Statement

OTTAWA (CP)—CCF Conundrums, angered over a Progressive Conservative member's statement that the CCF science schedules machine-gunning the rich, tried unsuccessfully again Saturday to obtain a withdrawal.

Murdo Martin (CCF—Timmins) called the statement by A. Deb. McPhillips of Victoria, B.C., "very untrue" and a reflection on the character of CCF members.

Mr. McPhillips had said that not many years ago the CCF advocated that all the rich should be shot and everybody with a buck should be machine-gunned.

Speaker Roland Michener noted that Harold Winch (CCF—Vancouver East) had protested Friday, when the statement was made and that the matter had been dealt with then.

CHURCHES MARK

made of the family doctor, the teachers who are part of the great educational system, and above all the Christian church.

"The church deserves special consideration and its value can not be overestimated. The church provides the greatest challenge and the ministers, both past and present, are daily engaged in the job in carrying the Lord's work. The ministers should remind the congregations of their responsibilities as each individual must build a better world. We must always be mindful of our heritage and never betray the trust that has been placed in us.

Dr. Smith paid tribute to this to the work of the pioneers and all that they contributed to this great country of Canada. Their faith was like the "Rock of Ages" and was most significant.

"We also have need to emulate our pioneers as today there are frontiers of Canada that are in need of development. The field of conservation is most important and our younger generation should be taught the importance of conserving our resources which are already established in our country. Is "International Relations," with grave and anxious problems. Every church worshipper has a duty in this regard, as no problem must be approached with an open mind and the best sort of a compromise made, and then, possible, a peaceful reconciliation.

"Our forefathers left us a membership in the British Commonwealth and we can all be proud of our heritage. The living in this great land and building a better Stirling community for the future. The next generation will be remembered, especially the historical aspect of the Stirling centennial future, greater emphasis should be placed on international peace."

The speaker closed with a challenge to "Love God, Love Faith," and all that it implies.

At the close of the church service, Mrs. Ralph Bateman, vice president of St. Paul's W.A. and almost the entire membership, entertained the large group to a cafeteria luncheon in the Sunday school hall. The food was delicious and groups gathered here and there at the tables on the church lawn, and spent a most enjoyable hour renewing together. This was the contribution to the centennial.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

St. John's Anglican Church, Stirling, was filled to capacity on Sunday morning for their centennial service when a large number of visitors from various parts of Canada were present. An abundance of flowers added to the attractiveness of the church. The rector, Rev. Reverend Russell Cole, conducted the service and Miss Bun Ellis, sang, by furnished organ music.

The Reverend C. H. Snell, rector of St. Edmund's the Martyr, Anglican Church in Toronto, and former rector of St. John's, Stirling, was warmly welcomed on this home-coming visit. He gave a special message on the theme, "From Small Beginnings to Great Achievements," and pictured the small church in Stirling village over one hundred years ago, tracing the progress of both the church and the village in this century.

He paid special tribute to all who had contributed to the church in the various building projects which had greatly improved the work of St. John's in Stirling.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was packed with worshippers on Sunday morning for the special centennial service. Beautiful flowers adorned the altar and presented a theme of "Beauty." The pastor, Rev. W. H. V. Walker, conducted the service. The organist, Mrs. Harry Morrow, was in charge and the full choir rendered the anthem, "Holy, Holy, Holy." Mrs. Walter Warren and Mr. Ernest Reynolds sang a duet, "Love Divine, All Love Excelling," by Stainer. The organ postlude, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," by Bach; to all.

Army Concert Open House Are Features

By MRS. PERCY MacMULLEN

STIRLING—On Sunday 'evening there were cars filled with people of all ages gathered at the Recreational Park at the King George High School for an evening of music. The Tweed Salvation Army band assisted by a special worship service, musical selos, duets and quartets and a program of music which included well-known hymns.

Mr. Arnold Sinclair introduced the group of talented young people. The program included an evening of closing owing to a shower of rain.

On Saturday, both afternoon and evening, David Duffin held "open house" at his furniture store. The east half was fenced off and inside the enclosure was a large assortment of articles of ancient vintage: furniture, dishes, cooking utensils and various articles used in the barns and fields.

Mr. Stuart McArton lent his heirloom melodeon, which is over a century old and Mrs. Russell Shipley provided the music with Mr. McArton dressed in pioneer costume as the violinist. They entertained with music of yesteryear during the afternoon and evening.

The guests were given special permission to enter the house and viewed the heirlooms displayed and enjoyed the music.

Various articles were in the limelight: K. P. Mayhew Pelton in costume, with his old pioneer clocks, while McCaughan's shop displayed various kinds of old clothing. Everyone felt that after the centennial the town of Stirling should have a museum.

The registration office was kept busy throughout the day as visitors registered and purchased their buttons. The I.O.D.E. were dressed in old time costumes and the Red Cross booth was decorated with old time pictures, encased wax flowers and a century ago.

Dozens of folk parched the streets in costumes and this included Bruce Bell, who had just discovered America in 1492, dressed in Spanish attire. Incurious sathi. Butimer Belshaw was decked out in Irish costume and had just arrived from Ireland. Both men greeted the folk on the docks and welcomed the visitors from afar.

"Handel's Largo" and "Excerpts Miss Frieda Hutchinson executive director of National Missions of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, formerly a resident of Stirling, gave a special and inspirational address on the theme, "The Church in the World Today." She graphically pictured the revolutionary changes which are taking place in the world today and the situations, and told of the revival of ancient non-Christian religions and new importance in science, and stressed that there are great dangers in the "New Theology" which is flowing from the rural areas to the urban centres. She says there is an ever-constant struggle between powers of light with powers of darkness and especially there is always the continuing battle for souls.

Let it be in this situation that the church is called upon to make Christ known. She declared the church now has been presented with an opportunity and a need for which the heard in a decisive way. The church today must be ready to declare the message of Jesus Christ and His love. The church must be prepared in its life and mission to deal with the problems raised by the social revolution. God must be revealed to these people and the great message of hope must be given as it is relevant to the needs of millions of people and also our great missionary program must be in a financial position in order to declare the message of Christ to the needy peoples of theworld who as yet have not heard the message of Christianity.

In these days of unrest and anxiety the church must stand fearless before the world. She must be loyal, true and willing to "Go and Tell" the good news

PRINCE RUPERT

Mr. Fulton made a brief report of the affair in the Commons after the arrival of Frank Howard (CCF—Skeena), who also asked for information about the reported role of the U.S. Coast Guard in controlling the mob.

The minister said he had no information on whether any coast guard patrol vessels beyond their normal activities in supervising the ship's crew.

Mr. Fulton said that with the fishing fleet in harbor, there were 3,000 to 4,000 visitors in Prince Rupert on Saturday night. The RCMP, operating under provincial contract, had made 10 arrests that night. The riot followed the last game between the teams, with the crowd throwing bottles and stones against the police station, the city hall and nearby stores.

Traffic Heavy But Accidents At Minimum

TRENTON — No injuries to persons in motor vehicle accidents were reported over the holiday weekend despite the heavy traffic and the nine minor accidents which occurred.

The most serious in property damage happened on the intersection of Carrying Place Road and Dufferin Street when a car went out of control at 6.10 p.m. Saturday and snapped off a telephone pole.

Robert H. Boyd of R.R. No. 2 Carrying Place told police he was proceeding towards Trenton when he was forced to swing to the side as an oncoming vehicle. He said his car skidded on the loose gravel on the road and his front wheel caught in a trench on the shoulder of the highway. His car went out of control and smashed into the pole. Damage to the front end of the car was estimated at about $200 and cost of replacing the pole was set at $100.

The four other mishaps on Saturday were only minor and was the one mishap on Sunday and three on Monday.

Provincial Police in Brighton report traffic was very heavy on the highway during the three-day holiday but only one accident was reported. This was at 10.30 a.m. and there were no injuries reported.

Boy Playing On Raft in River Drowns

TRENTON — Fourteen-year-old Dennis Davy, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Davy, 50 Scott St., Trenton, died from drowning last night despite the efforts of friend firemen to bring him around.

The accident happened around 6.15 p.m. at No. 1 lock about 100 yards south of the dam when the youth apparently fell off a rubber raft on which he and friends were playing.

Jimmy Crosby of Trenton, a painter working on the Murray Loop, was reported to have dove into the water to bring the boy to safety. Trenton firemen were called and worked over the boy for well over an hour before Fireman Mr. Mitts applied the resuscitator for about and hour and used two tanks of oxygen. The brother, volunteer firemen Bob Mitts, gave artificial respiration and Dr. W. L. Griffiths also treated the youth at the scene. All attempts to bring the boy around failed and he was liken to the Trenton Memorial Hospital where he was pronounced dead from drowning.

Coroner Dr. C. Elliott of Brighton was called and an inquest will not be held with the drowning termed an accident.

Cpl. L. Lyle and Constable Harry Cook of the Provincial detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police were at the scene to conduct the investigation.

Cpl. Lyle this morning gave high praise to the Trenton firemen for their promptness in answering the call to the scene and the extreme effort they put forth to revive the youngster.

Besides his parents the boy is survived by three brothers and a sister.

Firemen Answer Six Calls Over Long Holiday

TRENTON — Local fire trucks were kept busy over the holiday weekend by answering six calls to fires with none of them serious and promptly extinguished by the firemen on duty.

The first call came in Saturday at 12.30 p.m. to the newsdust pile near the Cooperage Mills and back of the Beaver Lumber Company. It was the third call during the week to attend to the smouldering sawdust pile there.

The second call on Saturday came from a resident on Princess Street at 3.15 p.m. where a grass fire was causing considerable concern. It was also quickly put out.

On Sunday at 12.45 p.m. the firemen were called to Glenn Miller where the planking of the bridge across the Trent river was reported on fire. It was discovered that a fisherman had chop a hole in the floor of the bridge to get at the water. The flame lit under the bridge and into the cross beams and was believed to have been started by a cigaret butt. The hole resulted in the bridge being closed to traffic on Sunday but it was quickly repaired on Monday by crews of the Department of Highways.

The second call on Sunday at 9.10 p.m. was also caused by a lighted cigaret butt. Someone had apparently thrown one up on the awning of the Elpeon Department Store at 20 Dundas Street West, causing it to catch fire. Quite a large hole was burnt in the awning but damage at the scene had it out when the firemen arrived.

At 12.34 a.m. Monday morning a general alarm was rung when a call came in from the home of S. Yarrow, 12 McCann Street, where electrical wiring had apparently been responsible for the blaze.

No serious damage was caused before firemen had it under control.

At 12.05 the same day the firemen were again mobilized behind the Salvation Army Citadel.

A POOB SHOW, THIS!

Heaven, which is supposed to protect the woikin' gal, ought to consider putting on a night shift for the protection of playboys.

Jack Arthur is a gentleman well known in show business and whose name has been associated with some excellent productions at the Canadian National-Exhibition.

Up to now, therefore, we have always held Mr. Arthur in the highest esteem.

Even now, we have nothing personal against Mr. Arthur, our playboy days being long since over and, in any event, having been spent in humbler circles than those to which Mr. Arthur's latest achievement may cause trouble.

Still, with a regard for playboys akin to that which the late Mr. Kipling held for Fuzzy-Wuzzies, we must say that it wasn't hardly fair for Mr. Arthur to employ a mother and a daughter in his latest chorus line at the CNE.

Nothing new about that you say? All chorus girls are somebody's daughters, and quite a few chorus girls are mothers? True, true, but these protests just show how horrible is Mr. Arthur's miscue. You are missing the point.

One of the chorus girls in his latest show is not only married and a mother but her daughter is dancing in the show with her.

Our heart bleeds for the first stage-door Johnny who, having dated the daughter, invites her to bring along a friend for his pal—and finds he has acquired a fulltime chaperone.

TRINIDAD'S ASPHALT LAKE

The Great Pitch Lake at La Brea in the island of Trinidad - - sometimes called the Eighth Wonder of the World - - was described in a recent edition of the BBC program "The Eyewitness," by Christopher Serpell, BBC correspondent in the United States. "You approach it through the most charming of tropical scenery," he said, "rolling parklike country studded with groves of mahogany and roccoco cathedrals of coconnut palm, and suddenly, through all this greenery, you glimpse what looks like a vast and derelict parking lot, with puddles of water here and there, and patches of grass in places, but most of it an endless acreage of dreary black with a heat shimmer dancing over it. This is the place where the asphalt oozes continuously out of the earth with the consistency of treacle toffee - - the most solid of all liquids, or the most liquid of all solids.

"We walked on the surface of the lake, one of the hottest places in the world, I was told, because of the heat-absorbing quality of the dull black asphalt, and certainly, I felt as if the blood had rushed into by face. Underfoot it hardly yielded to a man's shoe, but high heels sank into it with uncomfortable speed if the lady wearer stood still. But it was still firmer than a tarred road in a Washington summer, and Sir Walter Raleigh was not mistaken when he discovered it and used some of it to caulk his ships' seams, noted with approval that it did not melt in the sun like the Norway fir-tree pitch, which was being used by the shipbuilders of his day.

"Mining operations left the surface uneven, Serpell said, and it was curious that the pools of clear water that collected after a short sudden shower of rain were inhabited by small fish. He saw a huge iron machine travelling on a timber raft to scoop the asphalt out in a big furrow and load it into a continuous chain of buckets for transport to the refinery on the hillside above the lake. Mining has greatly reduced the level of the lake, but the slope up to the refinery is coated with asphalt, which drains back into the lake at an infinitely slow rate, with the result that the refinery is always being pushed downhill. "All its buildings and the big vats where the asphalt is boiled to purify it," said Serpell, "have to rest on jacks so that their lean can be corrected from time to time." The purified asphalt is poured into neat wooden barrels, made on the premises by a band of coopers as venerable and expert as coopers always seem to be. The full barrels are pushed on the platform of an overhead railway that carries them away down to the seashore and out along a jetty projecting far into the blazing blue sea. There the ships come to carry it to the road-menders."

A WOMAN'S WAYS

He's human for a woman
To enjoy a little cry;
Though a man will grin and bear 'em
And pass little troubles by,
When he seeks a pillow
And her face she buries in it,
She's the bigger loser in running,
And she's bolder in a minute.

He's human for a woman
Who is known just what she will say;
Though he respect the goss
Of a man knows best.
He's human for a woman,
They're her most and kind and air.

What he wants and goes and gets it,
A woman spends time looking
And never once regrets it.

Man must grin and bear his troubles;
Lovely woman always cries;
And the man who'd seek to stop her
Does a thing that's most unwise.
Let her weep, and kiss in green'in...

Mid-East Key to Power

By Nicholas B. Sarraun in The Chicago Daily News

"He who controls the Middle East controls the world."

This has been the axiom of conquerors at least since Alexander the Great opened his armies into the region nearly 2,300 years ago.

Julius Caesar, Napoleon and Adolf Hitler were to copy him in subsequent centuries.

Mongols' hopes of domination fell to dust after they failed to take the Middle East.

But two peoples who succeeded — Mohammed's Arabs and the Ottoman Turks — dominated much of the world for a thousand years.

Now the Soviet Union stands threateningly on the threshold of the home of western civilization — which the Mid-East is.

And as in the case of the czars before, the Red Russians have been met there by the giant powers of the west.

Over the centuries the Middle East was treasured as the crossroads of the world — the key route to conquest of three continents. This value it still has, and it also has oil.

About 100 million people live in the region, divided by unnatural borders but loosely united by a common religion, Islam, and a common tongue, Arabic.

Despite this unity, them are illiterates festering in disease unknown to the west and poverty unknown to the world's wealthy.

They live for the cry of their leaders — "Allah!" (let's go) and to carry them back to the old glories of Islam.

This was the 7th and 8th centuries, when the Arabs — fired by the Prophet Mohammed — sent conquering armies as far as the gates of Paris.

Under powerful Islamic people, the Turks, swarmed out of central Asia and overran the Mid-East, plunging the Arabs into a 700-year sleep.

As the price of being on the losing side, their empire was split between Britain and France by the Allies after the war, under the old Roman precept of "divide and rule."

Syria and Lebanon came under mandate of the French by act of the League of Nations. Palestine, Jordan and what is now Iraq were mandated to the British.

Under supervision of the league, the mandatory powers were to prepare the Arab lands for self-government.

During World War II the British — Lawrence of Arabia — had nourished the dormant dream of Arab nationalism. In the peace they rewarded the sheriff of Mecca for leading a revolt against the Turks by setting up the independent Arabian Hejaz.

This soon was swallowed up by King Ibn Saud in a tribal war that ended with the establishment of Saudi Arabia.

Turkey was reborn as a smaller but powerful nation under the dynamic leadership of Mustafa Kemal.

Others came out from under the British mandate as an independent Arab kingdom, then Egypt, a British protectorate, became independent in 1936, but Britain kept its armies on the Suez canal.

World War II again began to enter Palestine under the Balfour Declaration of 1917, under which the British half-promised them a national home.

Jews poured in, and then fought the Jews, and the Holy Land has been the battle for the whole period between the two world wars. Common hatred of the Jews was another uniting factor in the Middle East.

It took World War II and the clash of a great armies over the Middle East to finally shake the Arabs out of their sleep and bring them independence.

General strikes, a shooting revolt and U.S. and British pressure forced the French out of Syria and Lebanon in 1945.

Civil war in Iraq came when British washed its hands of the Arab-Jewish problem and split it off as Palestine.

Israel was born — with the United Nations acting as midwife — and won its right to live by beating back declared attempts to drive Arabs in a David-and-Goliath war.

His moderation toward the British led Col. Gamal Nasser and a new government under firebrand Colonel Nasser.

This man ever since has been inflaming the Arab world with the dream of a united empire of Moslems stretching from the Indian ocean to the Atlantic.

First the Egyptians forced out the British army. Then, given Soviet arms and Soviet friendship, Nasser really began to flex his muscles.

Just two years ago he seized the Suez canal and set the whole world on the brink of war.

The British and French 'chaffed and plannned until October when Israel's soldiers crossed into Egypt to beat back the Nasser terrorists who had been cheering at its borders.

Britain and France then attacked Egypt in the Suez, with the primary objective of bringing Nasser to heel. But under pressure of the United States, the United Nations ordered a ceasefire and withdrawal of the armies.

Nasser though humiliated by the Israeli army in the Sinai peninsula, was saved.

And his prestige zoomed among Arabs everywhere.

Inspired by Nasser, Jordan earlier in 1958 had booted out Sir John Glubb, British commander of the famed Arab Legion and last symbol of western control in that land.

Meanwhile, Syria has also been playing footsie with the Soviets, and early last year that country combined forces with Egypt to form the United Arab Republic under Nasser.

Jordan lying between the two was threatened — and relieved — up by Nasser — and his Red friends. It shared this fear with Iraq, which was allied to the west by the Bahgdad pact.

Both lands (the oil-rich Saudi Arabia) had been astonished by Nasser's heavy-handed subversion of their kingdoms in the cause of Egyptian-led Arab nationalism.

Weeks after the U.A.R. was formed, Jordan and Iraq proclaimed their own union, the Arab federation.

Then, this spring, pro-Nasser rebels in Lebanon, and Red-tinged republic with close ties to the west, launched a revolution. But the shocker came in Iraq — — —

G.C. Stevens' Rink, Ottawa Winner of Corbin Gold Cup; Kingston Rink Takes Calvert

Despite a reduced entry in the Corbin Gold Cup tournament annually staged at the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club, the 36-rink entry held on Monday was a distinct success. For the first time since its inception there was not a full entry but this can be attributed to the times and is no reflection on the tournament. Again the entry list showed rinks from Ottawa and Montreal on the east to Waterloo on the west as well as the rinks that comprise this district.

The Corbin Gold Cup has travelled to many centres during its years of competition and this year it will journey to Ottawa. A rink of G. C. Bourne, J. A. Stevens, J. A. Diet with G. C. Stevens as skip was the top rink of the tourney when the firing had ceased and with Mr. Howard Hanton, doing the honors was presented with the beautiful trophy and the translator radios that accompanied.

The second major trophy in the tournament, the Calvert Cup, was won by Dick Edney of Kingston and his rink of Doug. Cowper, William Duncan Jr. and William Duncan Sr. Larry Murphy, representative of the firm in the district, made the presentation, which was four sets of silverware, two rugs, buckets, glasses and a bottle of their product.

The third trophy, the Hotelkeepers Cup was won by a Belleville rink of Cliff Golding, Jones, Gordon Edwards and Austin Wallin as skip. The members of the rink received 26-oz. steam irons with all the equipment needed for operation. The Dominion electric blankets sponsored by the Stewart-Warner Corporation was won by Morley Call and his rink from Kingston. Fifth prize of four hunting jackets sponsored by the Sports Centre was presented by Bruce Miller to Jack Carter and his rink from Newmarket. The table lamps sponsored by the Stephens-Adamson Company was won by Art Armstrong and his rink from Kingston, while the four electric fan heaters donated by the Bata Shoe Company was won by W. K. Ashman and his rink from Toronto.

WATERLOO RINK HIGH

The first four to engage high winner was W.L. Hillier and his rink from Waterloo and they won the four Grenfell jackets sponsored by the Deacon Shirt Company. The four motor rugs with electric cords sponsored by Elliott Motors was won by Bill Fuller and his rink from Belleville and was presented by Walter Elliott, proprietor of the firm. The four lawn mower sets sponsored by the Mead Johnson Company was won by Gordon Watkin and his rink from Belleville, while the fourth two-game winner was Harold Booth and his rink from Cobourg and they were presented with the four hunter lanterns, sponsored by the Big A Company.

The first one-game high winner was W. D. Grant and his rink from Ottawa and they won the carafes sponsored by the Bowling Club. A. Mander and his rink from Kingston won the four garden chairs sponsored by the McFarlane Gardner Manufacturing Company. Ernie Sluggett and his rink of Campbellford won the four cases of assorted herring sponsored by the Caraquet Packers Limited. E. E. McFadden and his rink from Cobourg was the no-game winner and received four Black Diamond Cheese, sponsored by the Black Diamond Cheese Limited.

The Calvert trophy, secondary feature of the bowling tournament, was presented by Larry Murphy, representative of the firm in this district, to the Kingston rink skipped by Dick Edney, who has been a frequent winner at this tournament. Members of the rink with Mr. Edney are Doug Cowper, William Duncan, Jr. and William Duncan, Sr.

Around the Kitty

The grounds were beautifully decorated, the greens were true and lightning fast and the 46 rinks entered from all parts of Ontario had a wonderful day of bowling at the Corby Gold Cup Tournament. The arena chairman, L. E. McLean, with his efficient groundskeeper Charles Matthews, had the greens in the pink of condition. They were cut to a fast edge, rolled and trimmed to a finest edge. Mr. Matthews' smith and Perry Graham; also has done a wonderful job on these greens that were not good when the season opened.

As usual the women's section under the direction of Mrs. Mary Colling, president, did a wonderful job in fulfilling the wants of the inner man. Delightful sandwiches, coffee, and dessert were served during the day, while the full course dinners served were just out of this world.

His Worship Mayor Gerald B. Ray, general chairman of the tourney, welcomed the bowlers on behalf of the city and also the tournament. He hoped for all a pleasant day of bowling and good fellowship. Percy Graham, president of the club, also added his word of welcome.

The McFarland Hockey Fund for Prague was helped by the bowlers. In former years the "spider" receipts have gone to the provincial body for the help of veterans, but Mayor Hyde thought the bowlers would like to help the Macs in defence of the world's title. A considerable sum was realized and the "spider" of Ottawa won the $5 General Electric clock.

There were nine rinks entered from the Belleville club, the three in the first draw and six in the second. Rinks of Goldie and Pitzgibbon, Dawson Boyd, Orlo Fadden, Percy Graham; and Wright, Bruce Millar and Gordon Wright, Bruce Millar and Gordon Wright, Bruce Millar and Mac McDonald, Orono and J. W. "Davey" Davison and Ernie Vanner, Jim Hanna and Walter Elliott.

The prizes were most artistically arranged in the clubhouse and were viewed by a large number of the bowlers and the gallery. As usual many of the women and girl friends accompanied the bowlers to the tourney and the lawns were a blaze of color with the beautiful dresses of the women against the green background. A large number watched the play during the day.

On Sunday evening a social hour was held for the visiting bowlers at the Queen's Hotel. Larry Murphy, representative of the Calvert Distilleries, who sponsor the second trophy of the tournament, was the genial host and made all welcome. Mayor Ray, president, Percy Graham and other committee members were on hand to join in the welcome. To each his own, company thanks a lot. A good time was had by all.

Making Inquiries

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton said Monday in the Commons that officials of his department are making inquiries into United States reports of arbitrary price-fixing of antibiotic drugs by six major U.S. drug companies.

Mr. Fulton made the reply to Harold Winch (CCF—Vancouver East), who said the United States federal trade commission had charged six drug companies with fixing the prices of the drugs at arbitrary, non - competitive and rigid levels.

Mr. Winch asked whether anything is being done to prevent "similar illegal practices" in Canada.

SIZZLING ISSUE

Mr. Pearson repeatedly challenged Mr. Diefenbaker, Mr. Fleming and other ministers Monday night to challenge the authenticity of the excerpts. They did not deny the story.

Galleries were crowded for the debate, charged with overtones of the last election campaign and memories of the debate Jan. 20 when Mr. Diefenbaker unexpectedly produced the 1957 economic report, prepared under a Liberal government, and accused the Liberals of deliberately concealing the report. He said it contained economic warnings that were ignored in the 1957 election and the spring of 1957.

Mr. Pearson, Mr. Diefenbaker's target then, did not seek to hide his emotion as he recalled the "hidden report" issue and asked why the government now refused to table the 1958 forecast.

"How in the name of common decency can they keep this report hidden?" asked Mr. Pearson.

SAYS PICTURE DISTORTED

Mr. Diefenbaker in quoting "selected excerpts" from the 1958 report had presented a "completely inaccurate and distorted picture."

The Opposition leader said Mr. Diefenbaker, by his "improper conduct" last January in releasing public the 1957 report, was solely responsible for the fact that valuable economic forecasting had become a "political football and hot news."

Mr. Fleming said if he persevered demands to confirm the authenticity of the excerpts, the opposition would have the right to demand publication of the entire confidential report.

Recover Bodies Of Couple Dead 2 Years

SUDBURY (CP) — The bodies of a man, woman and child were recovered Monday from a car believed to have plunged into the French River two years ago.

Police said they are "reasonably sure" the man is Philip King, 34, Toronto, in whose name the car was registered. They knew the identity of the woman and child but were withholding names until the wreckage is identified.

Archie Hodges, 39, owner of a nearby hotel, said the car must have missed a bailey bridge which spanned the river two years ago during construction of a new bridge.

In Toronto, Mrs. Gordon Williams told police that King was her brother and roomed at her house until June 1956. She said he was a good - looking young man who came from Newfoundland and worked as a shipper for a supermarket.

A 21-year-old housewife and her 18-month-old son, who lived next door to King in Toronto, disappeared at the time he moved away, police said.

Racial Tensions Could Damage New Federation

LONDON (Reuters)—A British parliamentary delegation warned today that "a real danger of British and coloured races" in the federation could seriously damage government of the West Indies federation.

The delegation in a report said it found in Trinidad that the first federal election in March was "a racial race. This is a real operation, which came into being this year, entrenched in Barbados and in the Caribbean.

The tension between Negroes and Indians in Trinidad could be extended to British Guiana, the report said.

DEPENDS ON ECONOMY

It says the pace at which the federation moves to dominion status will largely depend on economic progress.

The delegation, from the United Kingdom branch of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association, consisted of Conservatives Pamela Vesper, Patrick Maitland and Lord Hastings and Labor members Arthur Blenkinsop and W. E. Hayhoe.

They found widespread interest in support of the Canada-West Indies free trade area which could discriminate against non-commonwealth trade.

CANADA COULD HELP

"It had been put to us that if such a project could be put forward by Canada it would give a valuable fillip to the movement towards customs union, which might do much to encourage the West Indies for her tariff losses and would generally stimulate federal interest in the area.

"Much will depend upon the pattern of trade. The Trinidad minister of trade, for example, argued that the normal pattern of Trinidad trade was based on the United States which was undercutting Canadian flour and subsidized United States circulars reports were damaging West Indian markets in Canada . . ."

SENTENCE REDUCED

VERDUN, France (Reuters)—A United States army court martial sentence of 10 years Friday imposed on wartime deserter Wayne Powers was reduced Monday to six months' hard labor. Powers spent 14 years hidden in the house of his French girl friend Miss Yvette Beleuse, in the village of Mont Dortgny, Northern France. He fathered five children.

Sun, Salt Air, Salesmanship Mean Million Dollars Daily To Atlantic City Boardwalk

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (CP)—Sun, salt air, sand and lots of salesmanship—and lots of these—mean $1,000,000 a day to this city on the famed Boardwalk.

A stroll along the broad, five-mile Atlantic City beach Boardwalk is like being lost in a carnival world where millions of people rich and poor seek vacation escape and adventure amid hoopla and hucksterism.

There is, as they say, something for everybody in Atlantic City. Mothers lead their gleefully shouting offspring to the beach. The dude from New York's Bowery languidly sips his salt vodka before taking in a burlesque show. The big man from the mid-West smacks his lips over a cold beer while before mumbling over lo, perhaps, the million-dollar pier, where amusements abound.

Well, it's just a ball—and it all means money.

LOTS OF CANADIANS

"Incidentally, we're attracting more and more Canadians," said Lou Keenan, whose big job it is to tell the world about Atlantic City.

"Last year we made a spot check and counted 16,000 Canadian cars. We figure we had at least 50,000 Canadian visitors and we expect as many this season."

The Atlantic City Section Manager, in which Canadians are always strong competitors, is one man who has been all over the world about Atlantic City.

"Canadians are only a handful of the 15,000,000 who plod along the Boardwalk each year," he said, "but they seem unable to speak in anything but millions; about $300,000,000 is the annual value of the tourist business.

Mention rain, and the officials wince.

FEAR RAIN MOST

"A rainy weekend costs us $2,000,000," said Dodson. "A rainy Fourth of July holiday would be worse tragedy. The deposits for the last Fourth of July — a long holiday weekend — came to $14,000,000."

Grandmothers trundle in "rolling chairs" which are pedicabs in which residents term the front porch of their city. Over-fed consciousness gave upon the active scene with sad eyes, hoping for a miraculous reducing in Atlantic breezes.

Deep - sea fishermen have a chance to try their skill. Girls in glamorous beach clothing relax in bars, some of which stay open all night 13 the customers wish.

Most streets are one-way, but oceans, seas, states and cities and public transportation is provided by buses, streetcars and vehicles that look like milk wagons.

CONVENTION CITY

Conventions are attracted by the Atlantic City auditorium, which seats 41,000, is 426 feet long, 288 feet wide and is said to be the biggest in the world.

Atlantic City, largest of four towns on Absecon Island, has 200 restaurants, 600 hotels and 22,000 licensed room establishments, the enormous summer influx quadrupling the normal population of 60,000—results in a game of "musical chairs" with houses and chairs.

Many residents in choice locations move away from the season for the season, renting their houses to affluent visitors.

"So they live big for 10 out of 12 months in houses they couldn't otherwise afford," said Dodson. "This is an important part of our economy. It makes it possible for many people to have better homes."

Expect Decision On Integration Within Month

ST. LOUIS (AP)—An important legal battle over suspension of racial integration at Central High school in Little Rock, Ark., was taken under advisement Monday. The outcome could affect the pace of school desegregation throughout the southern states.

The seven-judge U.S. Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals is expected to hand down its decision within a month, before the fall school term begins Sept. 2 at the Arkansas school.

Oral arguments in the case were marked by a charge the Eisenhower administration let down the Little Rock school board by not prosecuting troublemaking anti-integrationists. The charge was made by A. F. House of Little Rock, a lawyer for the school board.

Negro lawyers argued that the 2½-year delay in integration at Little Rock, if permitted to stand, will be seized upon by segregationists throughout the South as a means of delaying school integration.

The suspension order was granted June 21 by Federal District Judge Harry Lemley at the request of the school board for a cooling-off period.

It came in the appellate court on an appeal by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which called it "an invitation to violence."

Wedding

NOPPERT—BAMBER

FRANKFORD—A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday, July 19th, at 2 p.m., in Frankford Full Gospel Tabernacle, when the Rev. Gordon Pierce united in marriage Gloria Jean Bamber daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bamber, of Batawa, and Otto Bertus Noppert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bertus Noppert of Trenton.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a floor-length gown of white lace and nylon net having a tiered back with seed pearl and rhinestone trim with floor-length veil and sweetheart crown headdress of sequins. She carried a bouquet of American beauty roses.

Clever Homework

By TRACY ADRIAN

Clever hands can make this unique summer hat and basket ensemble. Ingredients: a straw basket and hat from the dime store and a few yards of woven-edge ribbon.

To trim the sun hat: Fold, baste and stitch box pleats along one edge of 1¼-inch-wide plaid ribbon. Then stitch the ribbon along the edge of the hat brim by hand.

For basket: Run matching ribbon through the openings at the top of the basket and tie at the centre of one side, leaving ends as shown. To make rosettes, sew hand running stitches along one edge of ribbon and draw up gathers to make a circle, securing thread ends. Sew in place on wrong side and tack onto basket. Finish with three buttons.

Her matron of honor, Mrs. Pauline Spratt, of Trenton, wore a floor-length gown of yellow net over nylon with matching nylon headdress and white gloves and white shoes and carried a nosegay of yellow roses.

Her first bridesmaid, Miss Rhea Strong, of Batawa, wore a floor-length gown of green net over nylon with matching headdress, white gloves, and white shoes and carried a nosegay of yellow roses. The second bridesmaid, Miss Lenora Rowe, of Batawa, wore a floor-length gown of blue net over nylon with matching blue headdress, white gloves and shoes and carried a nosegay of pink roses. Her third bridesmaid, Miss Geraldine Noppert, sister of the bridegroom, wore a floor-length gown of pink net over nylon with matching nylon headdress, white gloves and shoes and carried a nosegay of pink roses.

The little flower girl, Sharon MacDonald, of Batawa, wore a floor-length frock of pale mauve and headdress of mixed summer flowers, white gloves and white shoes, and carried a basket of mauve and yellow 'mums.

The ring-bearer, Master Brian Daniels, of Batawa, carried the white satin pillow for the bride and bridegroom.

The groomsman was Mr. Gordon Spratt, of Trenton, and the ushers were Mr. Gordon Bigby and Mr. Jim Vandanblink, both of Trenton and Mr. Arden Wannamaker, of Frankford, cousin of the bride.

The wedding music was rendered by Miss Beverley Wannamaker of Frankford, cousin of the bride, and the soloist was Mrs. Gertrude Dunnan of Batawa, who sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The reception was held at the Legion Hall in Frankford. The bride's mother received, wearing a street-length gown of brocaded pale blue satin with pink accessories and corsage of red roses. The bridegroom's mother assisted, in a street-length gown of navy blue sheer, white accessories and corsage of pink roses.

Others in the receiving line were the bride's grandparents and great grandparents.

The bride's home was decorated with pink and white streamers, pink and white bells and yellow and red carnations and the church with white Madonna lilies, pink gladioli and fern.

For the honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls and London, Ont., the bride chose a street-length dress of blue lace with white accessories and wore a corsage of red roses. They will reside at 72 Hay Street, Batawa.

Three Sisters Will Again Help In Hour's Need

EDMONTON (CP)—Mrs. Howard Vig's three sisters in England are helping her in her hour of need, just as she aided them after the Second World War with food parcels from Canada.

Mrs. Vig, her husband and five children were driving to their home at Valhalla Centre, 250 miles northeast of Edmonton, in June when their light truck overturned.

Five-year-old Sharon was killed. Mr. Vig received injuries that caused his death 10 days later. Terence, 12, broke both legs. Mrs. Vig and the three other children suffered lesser injuries.

Mrs. Vig, aided by neighbors, was out of hospital a week after the crash, but when her husband died she collapsed and returned to hospital.

POOLED RESOURCES

Meanwhile somebody had wired her sisters in England. The three—Mrs. Mary Weaver and Mrs. Joan Dabbs of Rotherham, and Mrs. Jessie Malton of Thrybergh—decided one of them should come to Canada to help. By pooling their resources, they could afford it.

The Daily Mirror, London newspaper, helped by making reservations and arranging for someone to meet Mrs. Weaver in Edmonton. "I don't know what we'd have done without them," she said.

Mrs. Weaver reached here just after Mrs. Vig had been admitted to hospital for the third time in a month, after seeing her two-year - old daughter come down with whooping cough, and three chills.

Boarding a midnight bus for the northern settlement, she told a reporter: "I can't sleep, and I can't write any time."

ANKLE PROBLEM

LONDON (CP)—Swollen ankles are becoming an occupational problem for chiropodists, the Union of Post Office Workers complains. The Post Office has been experimenting with different types of chairs but has yet to find the perfect one.

She danced until 3 a.m. at the dinner dance attended by some 90 young Canadians at Government House, the Governor General's official residence in Ottawa. (CP Wirephoto).

Petite Redhead Talks to 'Hams' All Over World

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mrs. Maxine Willis, petite redhead from Los Angeles, does her talking over amateur wireless and has talked to "hams" in most countries of the world.

Wife of a movie company's sound technician, she has just concluded a cross - Canada trip, visiting amateur wireless enthusiasts from Montreal to Vancouver.

"If you can't travel, being a ham lets you travel in your imagination," she said.

MANY VISITORS

"We've had visitors from South Africa, South America, Australia —from every country and from every walk of life. We know more about hobbits and life in other countries than about our next-door neighbors."

The wireless hams are great visitors, Mrs. Willis' say in Canada was a trek from one call letter to the next. She began in June by visiting VE3ED in Montreal, otherwise Gerald Hudon of the CBC.

Friends in such places as Alaska, Johannesburg and Buenos Aires occupy just about every waking hour on the set or in person. If they're not calling in by morse code or radio-telephone, they're dropping in for a week-end visit.

"We live for amateur radio—it's the best part of our lives," she said.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

TODAY'S COURTESY TIP: WEEK VISITING

While you are visiting, don't expect to be "entertained" every minute of your visit. Be reserved, considerate. Naturally your business will need some time to herself, and the thoughtful guest disappears, to read, to rest, to write letters.

THANK-YOU NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTIONS "IN MEMORY OF"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. My brother, who had had a heart affliction for several months, passed on last week, and in the obituary he did as we were sure he would want us to do, request that, in lieu of flowers, contributions be sent to the Heart Association, in memory of my brother. How am I informed about these, from the relatives a a d friends who send contributions, o from the Association? I would of course like to know so that I can, if I should, send thank-you notes for any memorial gifts.

2. Am I right in thinking I should write notes of appreciation to the donors, or does the Association do this? — Sister

1. The Heart Association will send you the information that a contribution has been received by the Association in memory of (giving your brother's name), from (giving the donor's name).

2. Although the Association does send a card to the donor acknowledging receipt of the contribution, you should write a note of appreciation to each donor of a memorial gift, that as you would write thank-you notes for memorial flowers.

A REPLY TO "REGRET" on INVITATION AND ENCOURAGE ANOTHER

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Just what can a girl say when a man asks her for a date for a certain evening and she already has a date? I don't mean giving him brushoff. I mean what can she properly say to make him know that, although she has an engagement for that particular evening, she'd like to have a future date with him. — Reader

The girl can "encourage" a man to ask for a future date, when she graciously says a genuine "I'm so sorry, but I have a date for this Saturday evening. But another time, I'd love to go." This graciously leaves the suggesting of another specific time up to the man, and the chances are that since he's asked her for the date, and she seems noncommiting to have a date with him, he'll want to ask her for another date.

Note 1: It's the graciousness of her manner and voice when a h a s explained she has a date for t h a t evening, that will be the lure for a future date.

Note 2: If it's appropriate (and the girl doesn't mind telling), it adds authenticity to her reason for not going, if she explains, "I'm so sorry I can't go next Saturday, but I made a date two weeks ago to go dancing. But another time, I'd love to have a date with you."

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two parents. Each week it considers a new case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Alfred H. — My wife won't admit she's an alcoholic.

Mrs. L. H. — We must try to save himself and the children.

Alfred H. — Is there any possibility for happiness for a couple when the wife is an alcoholic, but won't admit it?

My wife and I have been married 18 years and have three children. When we were married it was a kind of joke with us that she could hold more liquor than I or any other man. As the years went on the drinking increased and now she doesn't hold her liquor so well.

Our doctor suggested that s h Join AA, but after a few meetings she dropped out. She knows she isn't an alcoholic because drinking hasn't interfered with her daily life. She's a fair housekeeper and the children haven't been neglected, but I am always afraid of something happening. My mother feels I ought to leave her.

Mrs. L. H. — It just isn't true that Helen's drinking hasn't interfered with her daily life. S h e drinks too much at times and it creates a bad impression in A h a minds of Al's friends and business associates. I feel it has had a lot to do with his not advancing at a very fast rate in his career. Certainly, his constant worry affects his work.

The children, too, don't get as much attention as they should. Helen is always ready to join them off on me or the neighbors for a few hours so that she can have a few cocktails.

I say that there is hope if a woman is willing to acknowledge her faults and try to rectify them. But if she isn't, things will go from bad to worse. Alfred must try to save himself and the children.

The Council: We agree that Alfred must try to save his family, but we feel he must undertake the responsibility for deciding how this is to be done.

What is Mrs. L. H. doing in this picture? A mother's service may at times be helpful, but Mrs. L. H. seems to have gone much too far when she is ready to tell her son to break up his marriage — even if she feels she has good reason.

The fact that Alfred leaves himself open to gaining this kind of advice from his mother suggests that he does not have the personal strength and clarity he needs to cope with his admittedly difficult problem. Had he considered the possibility that he may in some way be failing his wife and contributing to her alcoholism?

We suggest this as a possibility that Alfred should look into. The fact that his wife was willing to go to a doctor and to attend a few AA meetings suggests that she is at least partially aware of her weakness and has some desire to help herself. Has Alfred spoken to the doctor and to members of AA about how he c a n help and encourage her? Is he willing to discuss the problem in its entirety with an objective, but qualified outsider — a social worker attached to an accredited agency or a psychiatrist?

Mrs. L. H. should recognize that her advice is very rash in view of the fact that she cannot possibly know all about her son's marriage. She blinds herself to the fact that the simple, but violent solution she proposes would beget even greater problems for Alfred and the children.

TUESDAY

Because they live on a farm 3½ miles from town their deep freeze is a priceless supply center. From its depths Helen fetched lamb chops, partridge, snow balls (see below), maple syrup muffins, chicken empanadas (more of them later), steaks, centaloupe sherbet and many other delicacies. All week-end we ate like a royal family.

A home freezer is the answer to the isolated farmwife. I hope many of you farm wives with freezers see this for the recipes for maple syrup muffins and snowballs should be made and cached in yours without delay. They are 100% perfect freezer foods.

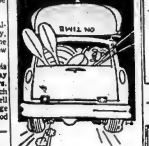
MAPLE MUFFINS
(Excellent to Freeze)

One and three-quarters cups sifted flour, 3½ teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup cream milk and melted butter, 1 egg beaten, ½ cup maple syrup. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Beat together the milk and beaten egg. Add the sifted dry ingredients to the milk-egg mixture alternately with the maple syrup. Fold in the melted butter. Butter the muffin tins and dredge them with flour and cook out excess. Fill tins ⅔ full and bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for 25 minutes.

NOTES:

Helen had a batch of Emem's Lemon Muffins in the freezer too, and wanted me to tell you that she considers them one of her best freezer products.

SNOWBALLS:



(An unbaked cooky-freeze excellently) One cup each peanut butter, icing sugar, rice krispies, 1 tablespoon butter, ½ cup chopped walnuts. Cream together the peanut butter, add sugar and butter until smooth. Add rice krispies and walnuts and stir in. Shape into balls 1" in diameter between palms. Mix up a thin icing sugar and water icing (about 1 cup icing sugar to 1½ tablespoons water) and dip balls in it. Then roll them in fine cocoanut. Place on stiff foil-covered board. Slip into a cello or poly bag, foiling over ends several times. Freeze.

NOTE:

1). If you do not have a freezer, store them in refrigerator. 2). The prime virtue of these little morsels is that they may be taken from the freezer and served at once without allowing any defrosting.

Crew of Bonaventure Spends Summer With Families Under Canvas in New Brunswick

By GEORGE McNEVIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — Married men in the crew of HMCS Bonaventure, the Canadian navy's aircraft carrier now undergoing refit here, are able to spend part of the summer in tents with their wives and families.

Thanks to a suggestion by Captain W. M. Landymore of Hull, Que., more than 80 tents from huge marquees to small tents—have sprung up at Oak Point Beach, about 70 miles from here on the Saint John River.

About 84 families have used the camp's facilities so far and another 50 were expected before the camp closes about Aug. 15, when the Bonaventure is expected in return to Halifax.

VOLUNTEER EFFORT

The camp is not an official navy installation. The men put in long hours of work on their own time to set it up. The necessary money was taken from their canteen fund, the profit from cigaret, chocolate bar, soft drink and other purchases at their canteen while at sea.

A maintenance crew under chief Petty Officer Joseph Turcotte of Victoria, who is also "mayor" of the tent city, has strung 6,000 feet of line to provide electricity and laid 1,500 feet of water pipes from a single well which supplies the whole camp.

Power is purchased from the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission. Tents, beds, chairs and tables were loaned by No. 40 Ordnance Depot at Camp Gagetown, N.B.

Most families are allowed either two bell tents or one marquee. Where bells are used, one serves as sleeping quarters and the other for cooking and living. Some have private house trailers of their own to supplement their living space allowance.

NOVEL IDEA

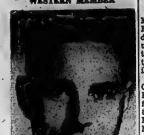
To many of the wives, the camping-out idea was completely novel.

"I'm getting used to it now," said Mrs. Gerald M. Schultz, wife of the Bonaventure's Protestant chaplain, "but after the first two days I'll was ready to go home anytime. I had to keep reminding myself I was here so I could be near father."

The chaplain said his wife, originally of Stratford, Ont., live in two bell tents and a small house trailer brought from Halifax. They need the extra housing unit. The first families arrived about the June 14. A maintenance crew arrived May 27 to begin preparing the camp site.

ALL CONVENIENCES

Many now have television sets and electric refrigerators in their tents, brought from their permanent homes. The campers may watch television at the beach's permanent pavilion or attend dances there. Those without refrigerators make almost daily ration trips to Saint John.



Bull-dozers cleared brush and two main tent areas are developed, with a third in prospect. One big project now under way is construction of an incinerator for refuse.

Capt. J. B. Mackay, an artillery officer aboard the Bonaventure as army liaison officer, is in over-all charge of the operation. He said that under agreement with the owner of the land he supplies materials for the navy men to build what they need.

"That way, we can leave some permanent improvement with the area," said the officer, who hails from Winnipeg. A wooden jetty has already been built on the beach.

RASH OF HOLDUPS

MONTREAL (CP)—Groups of bandits, operating mostly in threes, struck five times in Montreal Friday and escaped with about $30,000 in cash. The victims ranged from banks to messenger-employees. There was no immediate indication whether any of the trios was involved in more than one of the holdups.

New Surgical Suturers Speed Repairs to Blood Vessels, Nerves

By Mark Popovsky in USSR Illustrated News

This happened in Atlantic City, an American beach resort, two weeks after the first Soviet Sputnik had been launched into the orbit. A season of different congresses and conferences started in Atlantic City. The delegates to the International Congress on Cardiovascular Diseases also arrived there from all parts of the world. In between the sittings, in the streets and in restaurants, there was only one thing everybody talked about — the "small Soviet moon" and the great achievements of Russian science.

The Soviet delegation was very cordially received in Atlantic City. P. Anichkov, a Moscow surgeon, spoke at one of the sittings. It can be said without fear of exaggeration that the report made by the Soviet scientist was one of the most conspicuous at the Congress. It was what he showed rather than what he said that was important. The Soviet delegation brought to the Congress an apparatus the like of which world medicine had never seen before — one for suturing blood vessels and nerves.

Suturing blood vessels during an operation is a very responsible and complicated affair. Since physicians cannot always make a vascular suture they sometimes avoid the risk of very necessary and important operations. But the apparatus developed by Soviet engineers and physicians enables any surgeon who has mastered this technique to suture any vessel almost instantly. Hundreds and thousands of surgeons will be able to work this apparatus and, consequently, millions of patients, whatever they take treatments, will get the most perfect surgical aid.

Professor Androsov demonstrated photographs of a woman brought to the Sklifosovsky Institute with an arm hanging only by a narrow strip of skin. Other pictures made several months later showed the same woman embroidering and playing the piano. The apparatus for suturing blood vessels made it possible to save the woman's arm.

But the surgeon did not confine himself to photographs. Right there, before the eyes of 600 delegates to the Congress, he sutured several blood vessels he had brought along. "More! More! Sure are our preparations", surgeons from different countries begged.

Mario Dolfini, prominent Italian surgeon, expressed the generalized attitude towards the apparatus that day by addressing the following words to the Soviet delegation: "We regard your suturer as a Soviet sputnik in surgery".

This was the highest appraisal a scientist could give to invention in October 1957, the month of the first sputnik.

Recently I chanced to visit the home of the surgical sutures — the Research Institute of Surgical Apparatus and Instruments in Moscow. A scientific session was taking place there at that time. The engineer and physicians of the Institute had invited surgeons, workers of the medical industry, and the organizers of public health. A great deal was said at the session about surgical suturers. The showcases of a special broad exhibition display a whole "family" of apparatuses operating on the same principle as the vascular suturers. They join the tissues of the stomach, the lungs, and the intestines by tantalum clamps. Interestingly enough these apparatuses make it possible to join intestines of different diameters and to end to end and to side.

Losing faith in the possibility of safely resecting a part of the lung the famous German surgeon Sauerbruch wrote a little over 40 years ago: "The closing of the stump of a bronchus is an insoluble technical problem and the patient who was thus operated on must inevitably die four or five days later." This conviction of Sauerbruch's persisted for nearly four decades. I heard Professor Lushnikov, a Moscow surgeon, speak on this subject at the session of the Institute of Surgical Apparatus. By using one of the new Soviet mechanical apparatuses for suturing the stump of a bronchus the professor successfully performed more than 200 operations on the lungs. The scientist resolutely affirmed that a tantalum suture sealed the stump of a bronchus perfectly hermetically.

Thus, the operation that appeared impossible to Sauerbruch is performed without any particular difficulty by those who have the wonderful suturer. This is not the only example of the way the suturers enable surgeons to perform new and formerly unthinkable operations. The easy-to-use vascular suturers open a new era in operations on the heart and the vascular system. Vessels with a diameter of 1.3 to 15 mm can be almost instantly joined with their aid. The same apparatus will considerably extend the field of activity of neuro-surgeons because it easily joins nerves of any diameters.

Not so long ago Mackintosh, a British anaesthesiologist, demonstrated his skill in one of Moscow's largest clinics. He administered anaesthesia for an operation on a gastric ulcer. It will be observed that the Moscovites attended to the lessons of the talented anaesthesiologist with enormous interest. But, on the other hand, Mackintosh was literally astounded by the speed with which a Moscow surgeon who worked by his side performed a resection of the stomach. The physician took his gloves off 32 minutes after the beginning of the operation. The success and high speed of the operation were again in large measure due to the use of a suturer. Instead of the half an hour it usually takes a surgeon to suture the stomach after a resection of the ulcer the Moscow physician equipped with the new apparatus needed only 3 minutes.

According to many leading surgeons there is nothing complicated in using the suturers. For example, it requires only one movement to suture the opening of the stomach after the apparatus has been set up. The apparatus of the Soviet scientists has been confirmed by American specialists. The USA has recently placed orders in the Soviet Union for 100 neurovascular suturers.

The aim of Soviet public health is, as is well known, to bring the quality of medical aid in the country's remote areas closer to that obtaining in the large cities. The new suturers invented by Soviet physicians and engineers will make it possible to expedite this process considerably in the field of surgery.

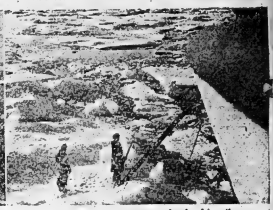
Assignment in the High Arctic



Operation "Nors '58" gets underway for Canada's powerful icebreaker d'Iberville on July 23rd when the twin-screwed, 5,678-ton vessel departs Montreal for her 7th annual summer cruise to far-northern waters, pathfinding for supply ships bound for isolated settlements and RCAF outposts and weather stations in the Arctic.

Canadian designed and built, d'Iberville's trim lines and sturdy construction are the result of years of navigational experience in northern waters. She carries two helicopters for rescue work and aerial reconnaissance.

Two of d'Iberville's crew measure depth of ice (between 7 and 12 feet thick) in Norwegian Bay. When not engaged in the Arctic, d'Iberville is employed keeping Canada's eastern seaports and the St. Lawrence free of ice-jams.

Supplies are unloaded by crane at Resolute Bay. Everyone must work at top speed and efficiency if the mission is to be successfully completed before the brief Arctic summer passes into the long Arctic night.

National Film Board of Canada Photos by Ted Grant

The polar bear, once symbolic of the vast untamed and unexplored ice-locked reaches of the North, is no longer king of the Arctic; today the man of science, aided by the Eskimo's intimate knowledge of survival in a climate where every day is a fresh challenge, is emerging as the new master of the North. To carry these men and their intricate scientific equipment to the task at hand, d'Iberville and her convoy of supply ships, will this year, as in years past, lend her superior strength, her speed and her endurance.

Stirling Opens Centennial With Services, Parade

Years Roll Back As Celebration Gets Under Way

Monster Parade Attracts Thousands to Village

STIRLING (Staff) — This Hastings County village rolled back the years over the holiday weekend in an impressive inauguration of its four-day centennial celebration.

Thousands, including expatriate sons and daughters, are expected to attend the numerous programs which started Sunday with religious services in all village churches and will end with a midnight shirt-tail parade on Wednesday.

Included in the colorful array of attractions are bands, parades; dancing contests, carnivals, fireworks, air shows, professional wrestling with a special back-to-school occasion for expupils of the public schools.

Sunday saw the centennial get under way under brilliant weather conditions with special church services, a Canadian Legion drumhead service and armed forces parade, with a garden party in the afternoon and an evening band concert.

A colorful parade of bands, clowns and floats, a jet air show and the official opening of the centennial marked the Civic Holiday observances with professional wrestling, and square dance contest and the centennial dance featured in the evening.

Today former pupils of the village schools visited the former halls of learning where they first learned the three "R's". This afternoon a farmers' parade rodeo and carnival hold forth, while tonight sees a square dance contest, a dance and a giant fireworks display.

THOUSANDS WATCH

Thousands of people, men, women and children converged on the village of Stirling on Monday and folks were in attendance from almost everywhere. All the side streets as well as the line of the centennial parade were packed with cars. People took up places on the lawns along the way and there was a sea of faces in all directions.

Mr. Don Rodgers, president of the Chamber of Commerce and all his officers and members were well rewarded for their efforts. Several members of the police force were on hand to direct traffic.

The parade took forty-five minutes to pass a given point and those who saw this display were well rewarded. The parade was in charge of Graham Mooch and Charles Davidson. The judges

IODE Chapter Garden Party Attracts Many

By MRS. PERCY MacMULLEN

STIRLING — On Sunday afternoon at the close of the Legion service, the Regent, Mrs. H. Wood, and members of the Honorable J. R. Cooke Chapter, Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire held their centennial garden party with a large attendance.

A beautiful entry with white gates and archway flanked by baskets of summer blooms with a large painted sign was placed at the west of St. Paul's Church while lawn chairs and umbrellas were placed on the high school lawn adjoining.

Tiny tables decorated with vases of flowers silver services and delicate china were used, and the guests were given a royal welcome.

Mr. Maurice Bell and a group of men from Stirling and other points provided suitable band music throughout the afternoon.

Miss Gena Spry and Mrs. Jack Weatherell were in charge of the guest book where dozens of folk signed their names with visitors from many places.

Those who poured during the afternoon were: Mrs. H. C. Harvey of Ottawa and the following Stirling ladies: Mrs. Bruce Bell; Mrs. Earl Green; Mrs. Robert Burgess; Mrs. Russell West; Mrs. H. C. Martin; Mrs. Earl Penny; Mrs. J. V. Holt; Mrs. Kenneth Ray; Mrs Lindsay Pollock; Miss H. B. Tompkins; Mrs. Packman; Mrs. William West; Mrs. H. Wood; Mrs. Ed Warren and Miss Rose Spry.

A large number of the members here were busy serving delectable cookies and replenishing the plates. All the guests had a happy time in reviewing other days.

Sunday was a time for remembering. Here Dr. A. Packman of Stirling United Church, reads a passage from the Scriptures in the Cenotaph in the village as "Scotty" Broughton, regional vice-president of the Canadian Legion, and Henry Harvey, past provincial chairman, bow their heads in respect of their fallen comrades. A wreath at the Cenotaph just prior to a Centennial drumhead service.

Churches Mark Occasion With Special Services

Hon. Sidney E. Smith Speaker at St. Paul's

By MRS. PERCY MacMULLEN

STIRLING — St. Paul's United Church was crowded with worshippers from many points on Sunday morning on the occasion of the centennial service. Long before the hour of service the church was filled to capacity. Two standards of variegated gladioli adorned the platform.

Mrs. Gwen Calvert of Belleville, provided appropriate organ music.

The junior choir rendereds "Angel Voices," and the senior choir "Trust in Him Always," by Simper. J. V. Holt, reeve of Stirling, read the Bible lesson from 1st Corinthians 13. The pastor, the Reverend A. Packham, was in charge of the prayers, and the hymns included a Scottish pilgrimage, "O God of Bethel."

GUEST SPEAKER

The Honorable Sidney E. Smith, P.C., secretary of state for external affairs and member of parliament for Hastings-Frontenac, gave the centennial message. He expressed appreciation on behalf of himself and his wife in taking part in the service and paid tribute to the beautiful village of Stirling and the surrounding area. He also voiced appreciation to the committees for their arrangements in having special church services for the opening of the community oration of a century of progress.

The speaker said these services were a quiet reminder that the good folk of Stirling had not lost sight of God and all that Christianity implies. "We must remember that it is only with God's help that lasting peace can be achieved. The Christian church has always played a most significant part in the life of Stirling, both in the yesteryears and in these days." The speaker quoted a portion of that lovely hymn, "Faith of Our Fathers."

He paid tribute to the pioneers who had a high sense of purpose and devotion. They spent their lives in building for a better place to live, both for themselves and for their children's children.

The people of the United Empire Loyalists' pilgrimage are remembered today as they were the ones who preferred to remain under the flag of Great Britain.

So they were uprooted from their homes in the United States of America, and came to Canada to start afresh in our wilderness. The speaker also paid sincere tribute to this group and to the later immigration of folk from England, Ireland and Scotland. These people soon built churches and the circuit rider conducted services. Thus Christianity was kept alive all down the century.

These pioneers settled in the province of Upper Canada and today they must rejoice that in the commemoration of the one hundred years of Stirling village, this generation is fulfilling the hopes of its forefathers.

Dr. Smith paid tribute to this village with a small population which was a credit to all. The fabric is woven from the rural areas surrounding the village, which is the centre of the farm industry. Professional folk have provided a multitude of services for this area and special mention was

Hon. Sidney Smith, Secretary of State for External Affairs, (left), joined the ranks of Legionnaires Sunday afternoon in a parade through Stirling, just prior to a Centennial drumhead service in the high school grounds. The clergyman is Dr. A. Packman, minister of the United Church. "Scotty" Broughton, regional vice-president of the Canadian Legion, leads the parade, awtale in the centre is Comrade Firth, president of the Legion in Stirling.

BUS ACCIDENT

REVELSTOKE, B.C. (CP)—A Greyhound bus carrying sleeping passengers failed to make a sharp turn on the big bend highway Monday and plunged over a 73-foot embankment. One man was killed and 16 other persons were hurt.

Killed in the crackup was Charles Hobday, 69, of Dauphin, Man. He was traveling in a rear seat with his wife. Names of the injured were not released.

"The bus apparently went off the road at a turn," said Bert Gill of Niagara Falls, Ont., one of the first motorists on the scene. "It plunged 60 feet down the embankment."

A "New Canadian" touch was lent to the centennial parade with the colorful float entered by Stirling district Dutch residents. Here is seen the Dutch windmill float boarded with colorful flowers and carrying costumed Dutch residents. "We should do this every year, it gives us a chance to get acquainted with our neighbors," commented one of the float personnel.

Legion Drum-Head Service Follows Dedication, Parade

STIRLING (Staff) — Legionnaires, hundreds strong, rallied here Sunday for a special Centennial Drumhead service at the high school grounds. High ranking Legion officials participated, as well as Legionnaires from Stirling, (the host branch) Peterborough, Brighton, Bowmanville, Belleville and Trenton.

Prior to the service a new Legion hall was dedicated followed by a wreath - laying ceremony at the cenotaph and a parade through the village.

Hon. Sidney Smith, Secretary of State for Ejdernal Affairs, who was the guest speaker during the morning service at the United Church, spoke briefly at the Drumhead service. He congratulated Legionnaires on their fine turn-out and paid tribute to their fallen comrades. Mr. Smith marched in the parade with Elmer SAnderock, Senator George White and other dignitaries.

Henry Harvey, past provincial chairman of the Canadian Legion, represented dominion command. Dominion President Dave Burgess, was not able to attend.

In his message to the Legionnaires and hundreds of villagers, Mr. Harvey asked them to remember those who did not come home after the war. Face the future with optimism, he said, and keep the Legion strong.

Scotty Broughton, regional vice - president, urged the young men present to help keep Canada strong and free by joining the militia.

Major A. S. McConnell, chaplain of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, recalled some of the history of the village, its citizens and their achievements during time of war and peace. He, too, said the future should be faced with optimism.

Senator George White of Madoc, and Dr. A. Packman of Stirling United Church each spoke of the sacrifices residents of the village and Canadians as a whole made during past wars.

HENRY HARVEY

Mr. Harvey is the immediate past provincial president of the Canadian Legion. He was one of the several dignitaries who participated in Sunday's drumhead service.

Friday's Family, representative of rural life in the 18th Century, was typical of the many period floats which appeared in the mile long parade. Here are seen Don Donohue, Bertha Fraser, Pearl Fraser, Faye Vandervoort and Grace Donohoe on their colorful float.

This is how the whole family looked in the last century when they turned out all spruced up for Sunday church service. Although the year is now 1958 the Bradshaw family of Stirling and Toronto re-lived the bygone years over the weekend at the Stirling Centennial. On the left are Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bradshaw of Stirling, while their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bradshaw of Toronto, are walking behind their seniors.

Flivver turnouts dating back forty or more years were numerous in this centennial parade. Here Mr. and Mrs. Percy McGuire of Belleville (in the driver's seat) with Mrs. Harry Alford of Belleville, and Mr. and Mrs. Angus E. Dobbie of Smiths Falls, all dressed in appropriate costumes, appear in their early Model T. Ford.

Widow Wins Legal Battle To Claim Inventor's Right On New Gramophone Needle

By STEWART MacLEOD

LONDON (CP) — A 65-year-old widow has spent 10 years fighting over the patent on a 2/6 steel needle point which, she says, will make her a millionaire.

Mrs. Maria Killick has finally won the first round of her lengthy legal battle to claim inventor's rights on a sapphire gramophone needle she developed in 1934. Now she is waiting to see how much money she will get. But she is convinced that "at last I am a millionaire."

Mrs. Killick's hopes of riches are based on a recent decision by Britain's high court of justice that one company, Pye Limited of Cambridge, had infringed on her patent in producing sapphire needles. With similar needles being produced around the world she regarded this as a test case. "Every country in the world owes me money and I am going to collect it."

But all this could take a long time. The court that upheld her patent rights established an inquiry to look into the technical aspects of the case and decide just how much the Pye Company owes Mrs. Killick. This inquiry is not expected to be completed until September and after that her lawyers will have to begin negotiations with all other companies that may have infringed on the patent. Mrs. Killick could get bogged down in countless court cases.

Mrs. Killick's invention is a wedge - shaped speck of sapphire that runs along the side of the record's microgroove instead of scraping along the bottom. She developed it in 1934 when she was operating a London electrical shop and was tired of the "appalling distortion of the music we heard on records."

She manufactured the needle for several years in her own shop, but gradually the bigger companies moved into the field and Mrs. Killick was forced to close up in 1942, when she was has been fighting for recognition of her patent.

But spokesmen for some of Britain's bigger manufacturing companies say all sapphire needles don't automatically fall under Mrs. Killick's patent. An official of Electrical and Musical Industries says that firms turns out large quantities of sapphire needles but "as far as we know none of our needles is covered by Mrs. Killick's patent."

Khrushchev Casts Fresh Doubts on Early Meeting

By KEN METHERAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Premier Khrushchev's 4,000-mile flight to Peiping has cast fresh doubts on the chances of an early summit meeting.

The joint communique after talks between the Russian leader and Mao Tse-tung of China said on the "heads of governments of the big powers" to meet immediately to discuss the tense Middle East. There is a marked absence of reference to the United Nations.

Britain and the United States appear determined to go to the summit only within the UN. The main hope of getting out of Jordan and Lebanon is that some formula will be found whereby the UN will undertake to police the two countries, allowing a face-saving withdrawal of British and American troops.

FORMOSA UNWELCOME

Ironically, it is the longstanding refusal of the United States either to recognize Communist China or allow her admission to the United Nations that may prevent an early withdrawal of the Marines now in Lebanon.

Western diplomats in London interpret the communique's wording on the summit proposals as indicating Mao prevailed on Khrushchev to reject a meeting within the UN on the grounds this would entail sitting down with Formosa's Nationalist government.

Diplomats in London recall that on the day Khrushchev announced his acceptance of the Western proposals for a meeting within the Security Council, radio stations in Communist China were criticizing the plan.

TWO SUMMITS

There is some fear in Britain that the latest development will revive American opposition to a meeting of world leaders.

In the British view, a summit meeting on the Middle East should only be the forerunner to a second meeting to discuss world problems in general.

This was made clear by Home Secretary R. A. Butler during the weekend when he told a meeting of Conservative party supporters that "not only do we want discussions with the Russians wherever they choose to meet us on the Middle East, but we want to follow that up later by a summit talk on all the other outstanding problems including the one that is going to save the world — an agreed disarmament policy among the four powers which is really effective and without which the peace of the world cannot be guaranteed."

CAR ROLLS, KILLS

FALLS CHURCH, Va. (AP)—Mrs. Glen Rounsevell ran frantically to help her three-year-old daughter who was sitting in a car that had begun to roll down a steep hill. But in doing so Mrs. Rounsevell dropped the five-month-old infant girl she was carrying. The car wheels struck the baby, who died of a fractured skull. The car dragged Mrs. Rounsevell some 30 feet before it stopped. She suffered a broken leg and severe cuts. The three-year-old received bruises.

Marilyn Bell 'More Than Content' to Be Housewife, Had Enough of Swimming

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (CP)—The young lady in the beach chair had the same wistful smile, the same little-girl look. But she's a housewife now, and soon to be a mother.

"And I'm happy," said Marilyn Bell. "Very, very happy."

With mock severity Joe admonished an absent-minded reporter: "You can quit calling me Miss Bell. I'm Mrs. Di Lascio, you know—Mrs. Joseph Di Lascio."

QUIET REFLECTIONS

Marilyn was visiting Atlantic City—scene of one of her swimming triumphs — from her home in Camden, N.J., and paused to muse about her glittering career, sometimes seriously, sometimes with quiet humor.

"I'm more than content to be a housewife," was one sudden comment of girl who conquered Lake Ontario, the English Channel and Juan de Fuca Strait—and is still only 20 years of age.

"I've had enough of swimming. If I hadn't been able to do what I wanted, perhaps I'd still want to try, but it's not that way at all.

"I watched the Atlantic City swim other day and was perfectly happy to be a spectator."

In 1954, when Marilyn was a New Toronto high school student of 16, she came first among the female competitors in the Atlantic City swimming marathon. She didn't win the race. And it was here she met her husband-to-be, when he was a lifeguard.

NO HALF-EFFECTS

Does Marilyn feel ill - effects from her epic swims?

"I would have worried if I hadn't had good medical care," she said. "The thing is to stop before it begins to hurt. Too much of anything is not good."

Did she feel more excitement in battling competitors than in pure long-distance swimming?

"Well, in a race, you go against the others. In the other kind, it's just a matter of fighting the tides and yourself. The water is a competitor."

Did she get a particular satisfaction in beating men?

"I had that feeling," said Marilyn with a mischievous smile. "They're supposed to be superior ones. We're still debating it."

But Marilyn lifted her sea-blue eyes earnestly when she was asked whether her husband ever shows male resentment of her athletic fame.

"Never," she said. "That's one of the reasons I admire him."

MARINE LIFEGUARD

Joseph Di Lascio, 23, who studied psychology in college and was a lifeguard during summers, now is a parole officer at Camden, a manufacturing town near Philadelphia.

"We live quietly—neither of us cares much for going out except for an occasional movie," said Marilyn. "We come to Atlantic City every second weekend.

"Most of the time, Joe seems satisfied just to sit in one apartment and watch television. While waiting for the baby I have lots of chances to practise my cooking. Once I couldn't do much more than boil potatoes. People said Joe whether he likes my meals, and he says yes.

"It doesn't matter whether our baby is a son or daughter. We talk about a boy."

SWIMMING RECORDS

It's difficult to believe that this gentle girl had the stamina to establish such a record:

Atlantic City mixed marathon, July 28, 1954 — Marilyn finishes seventh, first woman.

Lake Ontario, Sept. 9, 1954 — Marilyn swims from Youngstown, N.Y., to Toronto, 23 miles, in 20 hours 56 minutes; first person to swim Lake Ontario.

English Channel, July 31, 1955 —from Cap Gris Nez to Dover in 14 hours 36 minutes; youngest swimmer ever to do so; 22 miles.

Juan de Fuca Strait, Aug. 23, 1956—from Ediz Hook, Wash., to Clover Point, near Victoria, 9 hours, 36 minutes; 18.3 miles; record time for U.S. — Canada swim; first woman to swim from U.S. to Canada and fifth person to swim the strait.

Is approaching motherhood anything like embarking on strange waters?

"Only one thing worried me in swimming, and that was fog," said Marilyn. "To be able to hear, but not to see — never to know, never to see.

"There is no fog here."

Leafy Spurge Dangerous Weed

Leafy Spurge, also known as Belcher's Weed or Faitnor's Grass, has been called "the weed that has taken possession of farms and driven their owners to the poorhouse". This is not far from the truth for it is such a dangerous weed that it has been classed under the Canada Seeds Act as a "Prohibited Noxious Weed", states the Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. This classification means that not one Leafy Spurge seed may be present in any seed offered for sale in Canada.

Leafy spurge is a long-lived, deep rooted perennial which grows from seed and underground root stalks. The root system extends into the soil to a depth of two feet or more. The stems grow from one to three feet high and excrete a thick, milky white sap when broken. The flowers, which bloom from June to September, are greenish-yellow and borne in flat-topped clusters with a ring of leaf-like bracts at the base of each cluster.

The deep root system makes it very hard to kill, either by cultivation or chemicals. Small patches should be treated with chemicals because cultivation may drag roots to other parts of the field, thus spreading the infestation. A half-inch section of root is capable of producing a new plant. Patches may be treated with soil sterilants such as D. B. granular (a mixture of boron and 2, 4-D), Mesurron, or mixtures of sodium chlorate, applied according to the manufacturer's directions.

Large infestations are costly to eradicate with chemicals, but may be kept under control with a 50:50 mixture of 2, 4-D and 2, 4, 5-T (Brushkill) at a rate of one or two pounds of acid per acre. If possible, two treatments should be given in the first season, one in mid-June and another in late August. Further treatments may be necessary in the second season.

Eradication of large infestations by cultivation usually requires continuous field operations for at least two seasons. Any patches which still survive should then be treated with chemicals as recommended above.

Leafy spurge may also be controlled by grazing it with sheep whose close grazing habit will weaken the plants and prevent them from producing seed.

Poles Surprise Americans at Track Meet

WARSAW (Reuters) — United States men defeated Poland 115-67 in a two-day track and field meet that ended here Saturday, but the Polish woman came out on top 54 to 52. Big surprise was defeat of world 880-yard recordholder Tom Courtney of the United States.

Poland's Zbigniew Makomaski scored a split-second victory over Courtney in the 800 metres in one minute, 46.7 seconds.

Stirling

STIRLING — The village of Stirling is all dressed up in readiness for a record number of visitors. Streamers are flying from numerous homes along the streets and flags are in evidence everywhere.

Mr. Butthner Belshaw has set up an old-fashioned cedar pole fence in front of his lawn; a reminder of the fences of bygone days.

Mr. Fred Houchin, local postmaster, has a beautiful floral display in front of his home on Church Streets, as well as a large quota of streamers and flags.

Mr. K. P. Mayhew, local jeweller, is sporting a new spectacking double-decker hat with two brims in varigated hues.

Bill Cairns, local shoe dealer, has a display of old boots and shoes. The ladies fancy boots are high-top, laced, and made of fine leather, and were worn for a wedding. Another pair has a high-top of cloth. Even children's shoes were different from those worn today.

The local Horticultural Society is planning a flower show in the community hall, and each member is asked to display their choice blooms and plants. The flowers will be in readiness on Monday afternoon and will be well worth seeing.

Mrs. K. B. Henry, Carol and Kathy, of Buffalo, N.Y., are holidaying with Mr. Thomas Spry and daughters, Gena and Rona.

On Thursday evening about 10.30 p.m. the men washed the village streets as a special method of combatting the dust nuisance over the holiday.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Arsène Pat Maracle, the Satchel Paige of the Ox Pulsers, has served notice to all and sundry—Cobourg Merchants in particular—that his flexible flipper is as ready for the boneyard as a two-year-old colt for the zinc factory.

The dusky chief with the Irish moniker who can top the hangover hockey's improvement-with-age record, had over 900 "fans" in the Kingston "pen" goggle-eyed Civic Holiday with an amazing display of chucking.

He laid the groundwork for the Pointers' ultimate copping of the annual Allan Cup Softball Congress title with sturdy Al Carkner climbing the bushits with another fine display of hurling in the final.

The Pointers, readying themselves for the first brush with the Cobourg Merchants in the district softball league four-of-seven finals series, which gets under way at the Point tomorrow night starting seven o'clock, were invited to the Congress by the sports authorities of the "pen."

Maracle's sensational display on the mound won the first game for the Point by a 5-0 score... Another invited club from Toronto failed to put in an appearance so the finals were staged between the Pen Angels who were blanked by Maracle in the opening, and Point Anne, with Carkner coming through with the 5-4 victory to take the day's honors.

The Point's crack Indian hurler staged one of the starriest performances of his long and colorful mound career. He missed a perfect game by a butterfly's breath, and it is doubtful if the "pen faithful" have ever seen or ever will see again such an outstanding hill performance.

A measly scratch single with one out in the eighth inning robbed Maracle of his perfect game. He retired the first five men to face him, sending down eleven via the strikeout route. His control was perfect and he had the "pen" faithful eating out of his hand. Then came the heart-breaking single, but Pat merely grinned and took up the put-out string where it was broken. He set down the next five men to face him in order. Only 28 batters faced him during the nine-inning route.

Al Carkner, not to be least dismayed by Pat's performance, also came up with an outstanding effort in the play-off game. He let down the Angels with a few scattered hits, good for four runs, while his mates were pounding Angel hurler Hendricks for twelve safe runners across the plate and win the honor and glory.

Point Anne has been one of the "pen's" favorite outside clubs since the annual softball congress was inaugurated a few years ago by former warden Dick Allan, who managed the Kingston CKLC's senior "A" hockey club last winter, and Don Lee, second vice-president of the OASA.

With no offence meant to softball in general, could it be that some addicts of the game do not live right, as is it the training they get on the softball diamond following last incarnation. For it seems that year after year the "Angels" come up with a club that would easily rate intermediate "A" or possibly senior "B" on the district.

Since the inauguration of the congress, many crack clubs from the outside have played inside baseball ball, and each and all have emerged with glowing accounts of the ability, individually and collectively of the Angels' squad.

Be that as it may, the Pointers have a few important jobs on their hands. What should be one of the "fight-ment" series in district league playoffs in years, looms between the Ox Pointers and the Cobourg Merchants. "Sleepy" Jones and his cohorts from the lakeshore town, fresh from their strenuous series with the Bobcats, are not the least impressed with the Pointers' 13-2 record in league play. They figure the four-of-seven finals is another league and they are as good as the Pointers.

Pat Maracle will go to the bill tomorrow night when the Pointers and Merchants clash in the first tussle at Ox Point. The teams meet again under the lights at Cobourg Friday night starting eight o'clock while they're back again at Point Anne Saturday evening, starting time to be announced. If the Cobourg strategy holds, Campbell will get the nod tomorrow with "Sleepy" saved for the important home tussle under the lights. Game time tomorrow night, seven o'clock.

Don't Sell Pirates Short; Yanks Can Be "In" Early

Bucs Block Braves Warpath Nip Champions Win Streak; Bombers Can Break Mark

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

The "magic number" for the New York Yankees now is 36. With almost eight weeks to go, the Yanks rapidly are approaching the can't-miss mathematical clincher. They can break their own record of 1941 when they wrapped up the American League pennant by Sept. 4.

After their customary Sunday slump, the Yanks resumed their winning ways Monday night at Baltimore where Mickey Mantle hit his 29th home run during a 9-4 victory over the Orioles. It was the only game scheduled in the league.

As of today the Yanks have 50 games to play. Second-place Boston, 16 games behind, has 32 to go. If the Red Sox win them all, the Yanks could clinch by taking 36 games.

In fact, a 25-25 split by the Yanks would make it necessary for the Red Sox to take 42 of 50 just to get a tie. The other clubs are out in the league face the same situation—only worse.

The Yanks presented the Orioles with three gift runs in the first inning. Norm Siebern lost Al Pilarcik's fly ball in the lights and it fell for a two-run double. Joe Gridley then singled to score Pilarcik.

SKOWRON HOMERS

Bill Skowron's 11th homer with Elston Howard on base in the fifth opened the Yanks scoring and Mantle's blast ended the four-run spurt in the sixth broke it 5-3 in.

Although Don Larsen had a comfortable lead, he gave way in the seventh to Ryne Duren after he hit a man and walked his fourth batter. Duren's relief job in first appearance since he was beaned by Detroit July 24.

Although the Yanks' - Orioles game was the only game in the American, Washington went up to Cooperstown, N.Y. and beat the Phillies 4-1 in the annual exhibition game for the Hall of Fame Cup. Cleveland nosed out Cincinnati 5-4 in another 10-inning square their two-game exhibition set.

YANKS DROP TWO

Sunday Chicago's climbing White Sox beat the Yanks 3-1 and 4-3 in twilight twin bill. Dick Donovan and Ray Moore.

Boston Red Sox pulled back into second place, shattering Cleveland's seven-game winning streak 3-2 and 5-4 in twilight twinnings his win streak to six, moved up to within 3-3. 4-0 victories over Baltimore. Kansas City split with Washington, dropping a 15-inning nightcap 4-3 after romping 12-6 in the opener.

In Sunday's games, the Yanks trimmed Chicago 6-1 while Cleveland beat Boston 6-1, Washington beat Kansas City 8-3 and Detroit edged Baltimore 8-7.

The [illegible] would attend [illegible] their own consulting rooms but would not go to public health offices and hospitals.

Maybe the Milwaukee Braves can't start counting their 1958 world series money after all. The Giants are still hanging around and a new challenger has appeared in the Pittsburgh Pirates.

After polishing off San Francisco in a four - game weekend series, the way appeared clear for the Braves to take the short road home to another pennant in the National League. It doesn't look so easy now.

The Pirates, who had won 10 of their last 12 previous games, strode into County Stadium Monday night and proceeded to coal off the Braves 4-3.

HOMER BREAKS TIE

Roberto Clemente's ninth - inning homer with the score tied hung the defeat on Juan Pizarro.

As a result of Monday's action, the Braves' six-game winning streak was broken and their lead over the Giants was cut to four games. San Francisco whipped Chicago 4-1 in an afternoon game. The Pirates are only six games behind the Braves.

Willie Mays finally hit a home run, his first since July 2. Willie added two singles and pushed his batting average to .336, a second-place tie with Dale Mitchell. St. Louis, four points behind the Phils' Richie Ashburn.

Vinegar Bend Mizell is out of his slump with two doubles as St. Louis rolled over Cincinnati 6-0 on brilliant pitching by Larry Jackson. The Cardinal right-hander struck out 11 in the route. The Cardinals, who have won five in a row, and retired the last 17 batters they faced.

MURTAGH TOSSED OUT

Bob Skinner drove in three runs for the Pirates against Milwaukee with a 3-for-5 day as Clemente's game winner over the left centre field fence. Pirates manager Danny Murtaugh was ejected in the fourth inning during a wild argument about a ball called against winner Curt Raydon.

Mays' homer at Chicago gave him his first RBI in 17 games. Mays snapped the batting slump with Eddie Bressnud, who contributed a double and a single to drive in three runs as the Giants broke a six-game losing slump. All Chicago runs were unearned. Paul Giel, who replaced Mike McCormick in the third, was the winner over Drott.

Johnny Podres was the loser in St. Louis when he ran into Jackson on a red hot night. Musial hadn't hit in 8 days until he doubled in the third.

BRAVES SWEEP GIANTS

Sunday Milwaukee lowered the boom on San Francisco in the form of 4-3 and 5-0 victories as they wound up a four - game weekend sweep which gave them a five-game lead.

Third-place Pittsburgh, scored their third successive shutout victory over St. Louis, 4-0, in the first of two scheduled games at Pittsburgh. The Pirates ran their scoreless streak over the Cards to 32 innings, leading 2-0 in the fifth inning when a twilight game collided with the Pennsylvania 7 p.m. curfew.

Chicago and Philadelphia split, the Cubs outscoring the Phils 12-10 after the Phils had won the opener 8-2. Los Angeles and Cincinnati also broke even, Cincy winning the first, 8-5 in 10 innings, and dropping the nightcap 9-1.

On Saturday the Braves pummeled the hapless Giants 12-0 while the other league verdicts all hinged on one run—Pittsburgh over St. Louis 1-0; Chicago over Philadelphia 6-5, and Los Angeles over Cincinnati 3-2.

Cornwall Rider Tops at Motorbike Meet

Civic Holiday saw a good turnout of racing fans to watch crack dirt track riders from Ontario, Quebec and the U.S. put on a fine exhibition sponsored by the Piston Pushers Motorcycle Club.

Racers Jack Vaillancourt, assisted by Clare Heard, started the first senior heat at 2 p.m. sharp. The Ontario junior champion, Jim Campbell, of London, was entered in the senior class for the day. He expressed doubt about his ability, however, by the second senior heat he had shown that even the Ontario senior champion, Ab Everett, of Highland Creek, was no match for the daring broadsliding and flashing straight-away speed.

The junior heats were marred by accidents which did not result in serious injury however.

The Piston Pushers Motorcycle Club would like to thank the many fans for attending. Also Express gratitude to the St. John Ambulance and the Belleville Fire Department for donating their services.

Rich Ashburn Goodman Top Majors Hitters

NEW YORK (AP)—In a brisk-ling competition reminiscent of 1954, Richie Ashburn of Philadelphia has moved in front of Willie Mays and Stan Musial, two other first-round pennant leaders batting champs, and holds a four-point lead at the season's two-third mark.

Ashburn, who won the 1956 title by a .350 to .345 margin, has hit safely in his last 10 games and boosted his average 15 points to .343. Mays, the San Francisco star, has undisputed possession of second place with .336.

Musial has failed to hit safely in his last 19 tries. The seven-time batting king of St. Louis slumped 19 points to .335 in last week's action.

Al Dark of Chicago and Bob Skinner of Pittsburgh are next. Dark moved into fourth place with a .332 average. Skinner is fifth at .331.

GOODMAN LEADS AL

In the American League, Chuck Goodman moved back into first place with a .333 percentage. He climbed six points last week on eight hits in 30 times at bat.

The White Sox third baseman may have trouble making the 477 total appearances necessary. Goodman has 81 games remaining.

Harvey Kuenn of Detroit moved into second place on a 10-point pick-up to .326. The Tigers' outfielder had 14 hits in 33 at bats. Pete Runnels moved from fifth place to third on a one-point gain to .325.

Elston Howard of New York is batting .324 but has only 327 total appearances and has virtually no chance of qualifying for the title.

Senior Hockey in Balance Sudbury Only Sure Starter

KITCHENER (CP)—The future of the Ontario-Northern Ontario Hockey Association dissolved in a series of quarrels at a special meeting of team representatives here Saturday.

Only Sudbury Wolves indicated they would be definite starters this season. Three other teams were plagued by bankruptcy proceedings, rental problems and other troubles.

Aug. 1 had been set as the deadline for clubs to say whether they would compete. But Saturday's meeting extended it to Aug. 18 when another meeting will be held in Toronto.

Windsor Bulldogs and North Bay Trappers are in the middle of bankruptcy proceedings and it is not known definitely whether they will operate under new management.

Former Chatham Maroon coach Murphy Chamberlain said he represented a group hoping to take over the Windsor franchise but would give no guarantee.

WOULD HEAD GROUP

Former North Bay franchise owner Pete Pelango said he will probably head a group to take over the Trappers in two years. Under terms of the bankruptcy law players and franchise must revert to him if the club again goes into bankruptcy.

Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen said they could give no definite answer until they solve a rental dispute with Kitchener Arena. Chatham Maroons said an entry will be made only if a full six-team league is guaranteed.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Greybounds were not represented at the meeting but wired they could not make decision before Aug. 16.

The league was formed last year from senior teams formerly in the Ontario Hockey Association and the Northern Ontario Hockey Association.

Ken Venturi Wins Chicago Open Tourney

CHICAGO (AP)—Ken Venturi of San Francisco made two superb golf shots Monday to win the $50,000 Chicago Open with a 72-hole total of 279, eight under par.

One was a 60-foot putt for a birdie three on the 350-yard 69th hole that proved the winning shot as Venturi nosed out veterans Julius Boros and Jackie Burke by one stroke for the $9,000 top money.

The other was a 40-foot, pitching wedge shot to within two feet of the pin on the 71st green at the Gleneagles Country Club. Venturi holed out for a par three. He had a two-over-par 72 on the final round.

Al Balding of Toronto finished far off the pace with 287, made up of rounds of 69, 74, 70 and 74.

Windsor Wins Soccer Tilt

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP) — Stratford Fischers lost the first game of the soccer season here Saturday night, dropping a 3-1 decision to Windsor Rangers in the Ontario semi-finals of the Dominion Cup playdowns.

Leafs Split With Havana; Royals Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bobby Balcena, a little centre fielder playing for Buffalo Bisons, is the hottest hitter in the International League and that includes Toronto's Rocky Nelson who is setting the pace in batting average, home runs and runs batted in.

Balcena, a 5 - foot - seven 160-pounder, is belting the ball at a .453 clip in the 17 games he has played since his recall from Seattle in early July.

His three-run home run in the seventh inning Monday night carried the Bisons from a 3-1 deficit to a 4-3 victory over Richmond Virginians. It was Buffalo's seventh straight triumph and 14th in the last 19 games.

LEAFS SPLIT SLUGFESTS

Toronto Maple Leafs split a doubleheader with Havana Sugar Kings, winning the nightcap 11-6 after dropping the opener 11-10.

The league - leading Montreal Royals beat Miami Marlins 3-1 and Columbus Jets triumphed over Rochester Red Wings 6-2. Jets split the twin fixture.

Harry Schwegman, Montreal's utility infielder, let in the tying and winning runs in home run ball with an error and then hit a two run home run in the ninth half to atone for his mistake. Bob Gialombardo went the route to pick up his ninth victory.

POWERFUL BATTERY

Bennie Daniels and Dick Rand, Columbus' powerful battery, teamed up to defeat the Red Wings. Daniels struck out 10 and Rand 3.

Sunday timely batting by Sandy Amoros and a double play combination by Billy Harris enabled Montreal to take a doubleheader from Rochester 7-2 and 2-0.

In other Sunday games Toronto split with Havana Sugar Kings, Rochester turned back Miami 4-1 and Buffalo won their sixth straight 11-3 over Havana.

The Maple Leafs, trailing by a 6-5 count, exploded for five runs in the seventh inning and then held off a determined Jet rally in the ninth to win.

Saturday Richmond blanked Montreal, Columbus trounced Toronto 12-3, Miami defeated Rochester 5-4 and Buffalo downed Havana 7-1.

Dying-Seconds Field Goal Gives Eskys Win Over Cats

EDMONTON (CP)—Edmonton Eskimos, displaying nothing new except coach Sam Lyle, relied on their well - established running style Monday night to beat Hamilton Tiger-Cats 9-7 in an exhibition football game before 14,000 fans.

Although they held an offensive and defensive edge, the Eskimos had to go to the last minute for victory on Joe Mobra's 36-yard field goal.

Earlier, kept deep in their own territory by Cam Fraser's 50- and 60-yard punts, Eskimos marched 95 yards to set up Jackie Parker's short touchdown pass to new houston halfback Jo-Bob Smith. Mobra's convert attempt failed.

The one-point margin that had seemed to assure a Hamilton victory came unexpectedly, as Bernie Faloney's 11-yard touchdown pass to end Ken Howell in the third quarter. Billy Graham converted.

The penalty-studded game lived up to the Edmonton ticket-holders' advance billing as "the Grey Cup game that could have been."

Both Lyle and Hamilton coach Jim Trimble used their prize imports almost exclusively, and the bench strength little action.

Odds Favor Marlene Streit To Win Women's Open Crown

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SASKATOON (CP) — The odds today favor Mrs. Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto and Fonthill, to regain the Canadian women's open championship she had held in four of the last six years.

The five-foot, 120-pound "Sue," at 36 a veteran of championship golf, has proven herself in the last four years in Saskatoon. She came in with the low score in Monday's granddaddy event, finishing round despite a bowling Saskatchewan wilderness.

Mrs. Streit played warily all day and came in with a six-over-par 82 on the Saskatoon Golf and Country Club course on a day of high winds and equally high scores.

ENDS SATURDAY

She sets out as the favorite with 33 others today in match play in the championship flight, which winds up with a 36-hole final Saturday.

Defending champion Betty Stasiborski, 20-year-old from Edmonton, has been in a slump since her international team matches began here last Friday. Her best round has been 77 and her worst came Monday when she soared to 90.

Miss Stasiborski's victory last year and one by Edean Anderson of Selma, Man., in 1952 are the only interruptions Marlene has had in her hold on the Open title since 1951, and she failed to reach the finals in both those years.

Monday's games proved a windy acid test for the 180 golfers who teed off. Few were able to play inside the 80s. The 25-to 40-mile-an-hour winds that howled across the 6,136-yard course in Saskatoon Moot were over 100.

DAUGHTERS TO TOURNEY

Mrs. Hazel Jamison, who has two daughters contesting secondary flights here, came through with the help of a hot putter for a second-round 40-split despite her 85, but the Edmonton housewife is not considered a real threat.

Alberta does have two threats besides Miss Stasiborski, however, the most prominent being Mary Gay of Calgary, former Kitchener golfer who has been running up four times in the Open. She was finished second with 86 Monday while Rae Milligan of Calgary, another consistently fine golfer, had an 88.

Saturday was a big day for Ontario's women golfers here as they won three titles.

Mrs. Streit paced Ontario's four-member senior team to the interprovincial crown with a total of 667. Alberta was second with 632 and Quebec third with 606.

Gail Harvey, 16-year-old Toronto shotputh, won the individual junior championship with a total of 126, two better than Rita Lobzoz of Lunenburg, N.S.

The junior two-member team title went to Miss Harvey and Jackie Moro of Burlington. They carded a 130 total—18 less than runner-up Manitoba.

Moore Will Fight Durelle For $100,000

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP)—Archie Moore says he'll be glad to defend his world light heavyweight title against Canada's Yvon Durelle "if they come up with the money."

There was a Vancouver promoter Earl Kalani "has contacted a number of times."

"He's offered me a purse of $60,000. I like a nice round figure like $100,000," said Arch. "I think he'll make it one of these days."

Minor Baseball

The Belleville Pewwee All Stars lived up to advance notices on Saturday at the CNRA Park when they downed the Trenton All Stars by a 15 to 5 score.

Pitching honors were shared by Alan Mott and Jim Rutherford who allowed only 3 hits between them over the 7-inning route.

The receiving honors were shared by Dominic Tomasco and Leo Mullin.

The Trenton Bowie and Dedulie did the hazing and O'Connor the receiving.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Wednesday, August 6

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — A studious and businesslike attitude should put behind you much of the work that faces you tomorrow. Get the assistance of a sensible fellow worker, but otherwise carry the heaviest load yourself. Be brave, secretive.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — A day for pleasure and frolic for you. Utilize free time getting your appearance as charming as possible and impress others with your wonderful personality. This helps turn adversity to gain. Be very joyful this evening.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — It is imperative you take as much time off as is feasible to attend to those private and personal affairs so important right now. Then be sure to show your good will and generosity toward others. Lend a helping hand wherever possible.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21) — If you insist on getting assistance from regular partners and friends, you will be able to reach your goals today. Also, get much letter writing done to acquaint others with your desires and viewpoints. Progress.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Being very alert concerning whatever has to do with real estate or other possessions brings about fine ideas for improvement and for adding abundantly to them, plus other income. Impress others with ability to understand higher ups.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) — You are inspired with splendid ideas today and will meet persons who will give you support and backing you have long needed for. Be very sympathetic to their viewpoints, too, and strive to co-operate wisely.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — A full day and evening when you can put behind you all sorts of clerical work and affairs of a financial nature so that the days ahead will be free for social and romantic pleasure. Attend to philanthropies, too.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — An ideal day to work pleasantly with associates and comrades along the lines that will bring greatest success. But take care not to ruin happy associations by an unkind remark or by being too critical. Co-operate to fullest extent.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — A perfect day for working like a slave but happily getting much done, and well. But there is someone who is observing your efforts and soon will make many benefits come your way, if you keep your nose to the grindstone.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Once you have put important work behind you in early A. M., you can then get out of humdrum routine and have a glorious time. Let others see how charming and companionable you really are. Let the evening be perfectly grand.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Thinking seriously about any possible vital work you have neglected which could reflect upon your sense of well - being, impress all, especially close ties, with high-mindedness, ethics and fine practical, monetary sense.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — A good day to have a conference with those with whom you wish to have a binding understanding. Nothing in the way of shopping, visiting, buying, selling is impossible to you now. Full speed ahead.

If your child is born today ... The gifted child born today not only will have a wonderful personality, but great organizational ability and a love of work that will make him or her a leader. You must see that your youngster gets a basic and practical business education as well as being taught the highest spiritual precepts possible. A combined course in college would be best here.

ASK SAME BENEFITS

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Merchant Navy Veterans Association asked Friday that the same benefits provided ex-servicemen be given in an estimated 8,000 wartime merchant seamen. National secretary A. J. Heide of the association, presenting a brief to the Commons committee on veterans affairs, said the seamen had shared risks equal to or greater than the armed services and at no cost to the government.

Princess Enjoys Montreal Visit, Bach Concert

Did Not Attend Ball Arranged in Her Honor

CROSSES CANADA TO DANCE AGAIN WITH PRINCESS

Monbral lawyer John Turner, 29, first dance with Princess Margaret in Vancouver. Then he crossed Canada to dance with her at the Queen's garden party ball in Ottawa. And a third time, he became one of her partners in Montreal. Dancing partners are selected by royal command from among those eligible and Margaret clearly showed her preference for him by the length of time he was at her table.

MONTREAL (CP) — Princess Margaret launched her visit to French Canada with a crowded-packed day of activities ranging from civic reception to a Bach concert.

The concert Tuesday night, at Montreal's new Comedie Canadienne Theatre, climaxed the first part of her visit to Montreal.

Her welcome here was cosmopolitan. People of many races craned their necks for a brief look at the tiny, sun-tanned princess and exclaimed over her in German, Italian, Chinese and Hungarian as well as French and English.

AWAIT ARRIVAL

Thousands of Montrealers turned out in shirt sleeves and cotton dresses for a glimpse of the princess long before the special train from Ottawa hissed to a stop at Windsor Station Tuesday morning.

Margaret looked shy and uncertain as she stepped from the station to the Queen Elizabeth Hotel where she attended a civic reception. There the crowd of 2,000 applauded and cheered her—not boisterously — but with enthusiasm.

She responded with smiles and occasional nods but did not speak publicly.

The visit has marked the beginning of the final week of her month-long visit to Canada. Next Monday, she leaves Quebec City, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. She returns to the United Kingdom.

25,000 CHILDREN

Margaret this morning was to attend a rally of about 25,000 children at the city's Lafontaine Park. They arrived later she leaves for Windsor Station, to board the train for a drive to Dorval airport for her flight to Quebec City.

A crowd of more than 1,500 was assembled in the station when a shout from inside the terminal "Here comes the train" announced her arrival.

Side by side with the Mayor Sauve, she walked down the red carpet from the station platform to the waiting car. Princess Margaret waved to the crowd and smiled when the mayor escorted her briskly out to a waiting open car.

Special Envoy Starts Talks With Arab Republic

CAIRO (CP) — Robert Murphy, President Eisenhower's special envoy to the Middle East, today began talks with officials of the United Arab Republic.

President Nasser and Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzy were expected to join the talks later.

The Egyptians intend to concentrate on the western troop landings in Lebanon and Jordan, the current situation in Iraq and the U.S. attitude toward Nasser and his tactics in spreading militant Arab nationalism.

The Egyptians were certain to object in strong terms to U.S. charges that Nasser long has been accepting indirect subservision to undermine independent Arab governments through propaganda and subversion.

ANGRY AT DULLES

Nasser also was angry at State Secretary Dulles' claim that the U.A.R. president is not a true Arab nationalist but is using subversion, intrigue and Moscow's help to build a personal empire.

Meanwhile, the long period of strained relations between the U.A.R. and Lebanon appeared ended, with Nasser setting the new tone of friendship in a letter of congratulations to Gen. Fuad Shehab on his election to the presidency of Lebanon.

Nasser expressed the "fraternal feelings of the people of the U.A.R. toward the Lebanese and said "these feelings have been strengthened in recent events."

This friendly message was viewed here as the greatest measure of support Nasser could have given to the Lebanese president-elect. It will certainly strengthen Shehab's hand with Arab nationalist elements in his half Christian-half Moslem homeland.

Shehab was elected last Thursday as the compromise candidate of politicians favoring the regime of President Camille Chamoun and rebels opposed to the government's pro-Western policy.

MOST BOISTEROUS HOUSE DEBATE OF SESSION ENDS

Opposition Beaten On Two Motions

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The most boisterous and the strangest Commons debate of the session concluded Tuesday night when government supporters eagerly overcoming two opposition non-confidence motions against the administration.

It became so rowdy near the close that Speaker Roland Michener had to call for order several times, calling on Opposition Finance Minister Paul Joseph Lionel Chevrier (L—Montreal Laurier) called each other "cheap."

The debate was strange because the two motions under discussion—the trade department's secret report on the Canadian economic outlook for 1956—has never been made public. This, naturally, put the opposition under a handicap.

The government didn't help them any, refusing to say during the entire debate whether excerpts said to be taken from the document were genuine and published last week by the Toronto Star actually came from the report.

EXCERPTS FROM SPEECH

The excerpts portray a gloomier economic situation than forecast in the 1956-57 budget speech.

Government spokesmen declined repeated opposition invitations to deny that the excerpts were taken from the secret report.

The Tories' non-confidence motion, which said the recession had been prolonged because the government ignored the economic report, was defeated by a vote of 168 to 94.

Queen Praises Study of Family Life by Church

LONDON (Reuters)—The attention the Anglican Lambeth Conference has paid to the study of family life was praised today by the Queen.

She received at Buckingham Palace nearly 320 archbishops and bishops of the Anglican communion who left the walked down the red carpet from the station platform to the waiting cars. Princess Margaret waved to the crowd and smiled when the mayor escorted her briskly out to a waiting open car.

SHORT TOUR

The royal cavalcade took 25 minutes to make a roundabout drive to the Queen Elizabeth Hotel, opened earlier this year. The route escorted past crowds in the lobby and up two flights of stairs to the convention floor for the official welcome.

The city's gift was a gold brooch shaped like a maple leaf with an inset diamond fleur de lys. The princess did not make a public appearance but Mayor Sauve appeared genuinely pleased.

Margaret, dressed in turquoise brain, where she remained until leaving for a dinner at Montreal's Windsor Hotel with Mayor Sauve.

Following the dinner, the princess made a surprise appearance into the royal ogle at La Comedie Canadienne Theatre where she attended the concert. A spotlight singled out the princess' loge box and the crowd gave her way to it from the foyer.

When the 29-piece orchestra, conducted by Montreaker Alexander Brott, started playing, Margaret looked at her program carefully. The princess appeared to enjoy the program, but showed no emotion at the performances during the last half-hour.

Queen Opens Seaway in 1959 Royal Yacht to Sail Lakes

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Preliminary planning for the Queen's visit to Canadian visit, the prime purpose of which is to open the St. Lawrence Seaway, envisages a six - week stay that will see the royal yacht Britannia make a 4,000-mile voyage in Canadian and United States inland waters.

Official sources, stressing that the planning is still in the broad stage, said Tuesday that preliminary arrangements are well-covering two opposition non-confidence motions against the administration.

It became so rowdy near the close that Speaker Roland Michener had to call for order several times, calling on Opposition Finance Minister Paul Joseph Lionel Chevrier (L—Montreal Laurier) called each other "cheap."

'I'm All Mixed up' Says Actress After Trying to Jump From Bridge

LONDON (AP) — Pulled screaming from the parapet of Waterloo Bridge, Irish-Italian actress Gia Scala buried her pretty head in her hands Tuesday night and moaned: "I'm all mixed up."

The dark-haired star of the film Don't Go Near the Water Queen's quarters why she did it.

On Monday evening her Italian-born father and a few friends called at her flat in fashionable Chelsea. It was 1 a.m. Tuesday when a neighbor heard what they thought was an argument. Then guests left in a hurry.

Gia walked with a dark-haired man to nearby Pont street. There she left him and ran over the bridge. He followed.

Said cab driver Maureen Rose:

"We had gone 30 yards when she jumped over the parapet and I had to drive to Waterloo Bridge.

"She got out and made a move toward the parapet. I grabbed her wrist and hung on until two men came and helped me."

Then the police were called and Gia agreed to go home.

But as the cab started up, she jumped out and ran again for the bridge. There was a struggle. Her dress was torn, a policeman was bitten. Gia was hauled off to a police station but allowed to go home later.

Later Gia's sister said: "I'm all right now. I'll get over it. Have to, won't I?"

West Believes Khrushchev Summit Reversal Influenced by Mao Tse-tung

By VINCENT OUIST

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Western observers in the Soviet capital say Premier Khrushchev's reversal of his summit approach obviously was influenced by the Red Chinese head of state, Mao Tse-tung.

Khrushchev Tuesday night urged a meeting of the United National Assembly instead of a summit meeting within the Security Council—to discuss the direct aggression by the United States and Britain in Lebanon and Jordan. He said he could "prepare the ground for speeding up" a summit meeting of Eisenhower and himself and not merely the Middle East.

The Chinese attitude was seen in Khrushchev's scathing criticism of the security council as "lackey of the United States."

The Soviet premier, whose report by a two-day visit to Peiping last week, told President Eisenhower that the place of the lawful representative of China was occupied by "the clique of Chiang Kai-shek."

Khrushchev added that the Security Council and the UN itself cannot be effectively effective organ for peace without the inclusion of Communist China.

"The policy of ignoring People's China is folly. The effective power of the UN is gaining in strength and is developing irrespective of whether it is recognized or not by certain governments."

In bypassing his early agreement to a summit-level security council meeting, Khrushchev apparently has left there to the Middle East in the 81 - member United Nations Assembly—where both big and small countries to contribute to peacemaking efforts.

Khrushchev's letter to Eisenhower was the fourth public statement first called for a summit conference on the Middle East 10 days ago.

He said the Eisenhower Doctrine of providing aid to countries from indirect aggression actually was interference in the internal affairs of other countries. The movement of American troops into Lebanon was termed "direct aggression."

He said the actions of the U.S. and British for evading a summit conference.

The Soviet government is of the opinion that contacts and reciprocal statements of interested countries should be developed in every way," Khrushchev said. Personal meetings of state leaders can ease the existing tension, and create a favorable basis for confidence and mutual understanding between them, and can help in getting more speedily the ice of the "cold war."

A summit conference could liquidate the state of "cold war" and make a "hot war" impossible.

Husband Under Sedation After Wife Drowned

TORONTO (CP)—The husband of the woman who was washed overboard from his cruiser in Lake Ontario was under sedation today as friends that he will never again set foot on the boat.

William Donald MacLean, 40, of Oakville, has been under sedation and his wife since the drowning since search parties failed to find any trace of his wife Jayne.

He and a friend, Donald Dittwoodie, of suburban Etobicoke, were in the cockpit of the boat Day when they discovered that Mrs. MacLean, who had been sunbathing on the front deck was missing.

They turned the craft to search the lake and when they failed to locate the woman, they headed for Hamilton to get help.

A U.S. coast guard cutter and helicopter have been used but failed to find her.

"I want to sell the boat," MacLean said. "I will never set foot on it again."

WHEAT CRISIS IS NOT OVER DESPITE DROP

Will Need Year Of Hard Selling

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's wheat supplies will reach close to about 900,000,000 bushels, down 200,000,000 from last year's record, but that won't mean the wheat crisis is over.

Qualified federal authorities estimate it may take another year of hard selling to get Canada's wheat surplus into a manageable position. They are confident they can put that sales drive over, despite a near-record crop in the United States and good crops in Europe.

Envisaged in future sales is the hope of concluding another wheat agreement with Russia and the Communist China will step up her initial purchases in this country.

U.S. SALES EASE

Most heartening factor to Canadian grain salesmen is that exports have climbed a little time when those of the United States—Canada's main competitor—have slipped. The concern is that with U.S. prospects of harvesting a near-record 1,300,000,000 bushels this fall, the American administration may come under heavy congressional pressure to boost exports, creating greater competition against Canadian shipments.

Figures on exports for the last 12 months—about 600,000,000 bushels, the first 10 months of the last crop year, while Canada's exports were 214,300,000, those of the U.S. dropped to 319,000,000 from 448,400,000.

On this basis, it would appear Canada entered the new crop year on Aug. 1 with a carryover of about 600,000,000 bushels, compared with last year's peak carryover of 725,500,000. The U.S. carryover on the same date will be published Aug. 20.

Canada's share in the amount of wheat Canada will harvest this year. Wheat board chief W. C. Hamilton has estimated the Canadian Prairies will produce a below-average 350,000,000 bushels or so. It seems likely total production will reach about 320,000,000, less than last year.

It would be the second consecutive poor crop. Canada's five-year's production totalled 370,500,000, compared to the 10-year 500,000, compared to the 10-year 500,000 average of 486,000,000.

The drive this year will be to maintain another 500,000,000 bushels. This together with domestic needs of some 160,000,000 bushels, and sales to 450,000,000 and perhaps reduce the July 31, 1959, carryover to 450,000,000 or so, the lowest in four years.

Mexican Bulls Now on Way

LINDSAY (CP) — Officials of the Chamber of Commerce said Tuesday night they've been told bulls for the Mexican bullfights will be flown to Mexico City from Canada.

The bullfights originally were scheduled for last Saturday and Sunday but were delayed when the U.S. department of agriculture detained the bulls at quarantine facilities at Laredo, Tex., a bordertown, because they were infected with fever ticks.

Auto Workers Will Strike If Necessary

DETROIT (CP) — The United Auto Workers union announced Tuesday workers at General Motors Corp. will go on strike Aug. 18 unless they reach agreement on a new contract to support the union's bargaining demands with a strike if necessary.

On July 30 the international executive board of the UAW was asked by negotiating teams of Chrysler, Ford and Ford to authorize a strike at U.S. auto plants.

Negotiations in the U.S. are several months ahead of negotiations in Canada. No action has been taken or policy statement made by Canadian negotiators.

The board's decision will be made Aug. 8.

Showdown Talks On Middle East In General Assembly

Eisenhower Approves Khrushchev Proposal

By LLOYD McDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — The United Nations, virtually ignored by the big powers in the summit discussions of the last two weeks, prepared today to take over once again the key role in the Middle East crisis.

While the world organization was not completely out of the picture during the moves and countermoves for a top - level heads - of - state conference, its part was more procedural than actual.

But with Tuesday night's agreement between Russia and the United States for an emergency session of the General Assembly, there was a successful meeting at this time, this headquarters now will provide the actual roof for the meeting.

The Security Council will meet Thursday afternoon to put into effect the unanimous decision of Russia and the U.S. for the calling of all 81 member states into session. The assembly itself could be convened immediately after that.

NO DATE SET

Just how soon all 81 nations will meet, however, is still a matter of conjecture. For one thing, the Security Council appears far from agreement on actual wording of the agenda for the assembly agenda. The U.S. wants it to consider measures to prevent subversion and fan from outside pressures and thus enable a withdrawal of the American troops sent there July 15 during the Iraqi crisis.

The Council also has before it a Russian call for an appeal to action to discuss what the Soviet Union calls "aggression" by Britain and the U.S. for sending their troops to those countries.

How these two points of view can be reconciled to enable a seven - member - majority council decision that delegates generally feel prospect would be for some neutral country in the UN — a member of neither bloc — a compromise resolution acceptable to both sides and then a broadly worded motion to be debated by the assembly.

Canada's proposals, expressed in Ottawa in the last week by Prime Minister Diefenbaker and External Affairs Minister Smith, for neutralization of the affected countries, for a United Nations Force — are Austrian solution proposals which Canada has already.

SEAT NEW DELEGATE

Meanwhile, one complication in the council itself has been removed with the official seating of the new Iraqi delegate representing the new government which took over in the coup that overthrew King Faisal and Nuri Said and brutally resulted in the Monarch's death.

Faisal's delegate held his seat during the Security Council discussions which were suspended July 22 to allow time for the Summit talks on the summit conference demanded then by Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Since then most Western governments have recognized the new Iraqi regime and Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold informed the Faisal delegate Tuesday that the march of events had ended his right to the council. The Republican delegate will be in Iraq's chair when the council meets Thursday.

Family of Three Survive Week On Grouse, Fish and Leaves

WATSON LAKE, Y.T. (CP)—A family of three who crash-landed their small plane in mountainous southern Yukon were found here Tuesday after surviving for seven days and being decided to set down picking a fork of the Beaver River for an emergency landing. The plane crashed, scrambled out without a scratch.

Gregg had matches and coffee at the time of the crackup. They also had a 12-gauge shotgun and .22-calibre pistol. They started a fire and kept it burning day and night.

They had a meat dinner when Gregg killed a grouse by flinging an axe at it. He shot another grouse. The family also ate fish and leaves from bushes and ferns.

The weather was comfortable most of the week with no rain.

Gregg said they were heading for a vacation in Alaska when their plane developed engine trouble and ran low on fuel. The plane's compass failed and Gregg decided to set down picking a fork of the Beaver River for an emergency landing. The plane scrambled out without a scratch.

Gregg, his wife and children, aged 7, 5, had already begun searching aircraft with a mirror as they stood beside their crashed plane.

They were picked up safe and well by air force helicopter and flown to Watson Lake town 700 miles north of Edmonton. The crash scene was about 120 miles northeast of here.

An RCAF Dakota, one of several air force and private planes that covered more than 30,500 square miles searching for the family, saw the group's signal just before a cloud blocked out the sun and rendered the mirror operation useless.

World's Finest Shows to Be Seen at Fair

In addition to being Canada's largest carnival, Conklin's World's Finest have achieved another great honor in the fact that they have constantly stressed the importance of entertainment value. There are many junior sized rides to thrill the heart of every child. Among these are the merry-go-Round, but two. The big one, with its swirling motion prancing steeds, is for the more daring buckaroo, (and daddy or mommy would like a ride with him or her) just fine for the littler or less experienced, purely for pleasure. There's that most favorite of all attractions for the budding cowboy and cowgirl, the real live ponies, ponies and mules, and everyone likes a real Western saddle and bridle.

If the small fry who like to ride the ponies do not want to get out on their own, there's the fabulous Model Turnpike Ride, where they can drive their own sleek red, yellow or blue streamlined convertible, over three hundred feet of curves and straightways, complete with warning signals showing rail crossings, curves and slow down warnings.

For the smaller children, the bounding main and blue seas hold an irresistible attraction. They have not been forgotten for them there are real boats, complete with ringing bells and whistles, that they can sail to their heart's content.

And there's still more of these wondrous attractions to make the young lovers have not yet worn themselves out. There's always the lot who likes to play at being in the army, and for them Conklin's World's Finest has the Commando Tank Ride. Exact replicas of the famous army tanks used in wartime, each of these little tanks rumbles along on caterpillar treads, and every move and detail even to the machine guns mounted fore and aft.

Requiring more daring, and lots of fun, is another great laugh producing ride called the Rocket Amusement Tub of Fun. As popular as the inevitable Candy Floss and Taffy Apples, this ride is a must for children of all ages.

On the special Kiddies' Day, prices on many of the attractions are greatly reduced, so that all customers may enjoy themselves to the utmost without putting too much strain on the family budget.

Two Armed Men Hold up Drive-In Escape With $100 Theatre Take

Two armed and masked holdup men, both said to be in their early twenties, held up the Belleville Drive-In Theatre shortly before ten o'clock Tuesday night and escaped with cash amounting to approximately $100.

Police Chief Walter Probert said the two men emerged from the shadows along the theatre entrance fence and approached the cashier, Mrs. Larry Buck, ordered her to hand over the night's receipts.

Mrs. Buck handed Mrs. Buck as saying the men were masked with one of them carrying either a rifle or a shotgun.

Police were unable to obtain an accurate description of the two holdup men other than that they were "young."

The twin bill being featured at the drive-in was "Delicate Delinquent" and "Billy the Kid."

After grabbing the night's receipts the men disappeared in the darkness along the outside of the theatre fence in the direction of the Belleville Fair Grounds.

It was not known whether the men had a car but it was stated no one was seen.

When the alarm was sounded city and provincial police threw a cordon around the drive-in theatre area and set up roadblocks on main roads in the area.

Several checks were made and a number of persons were questioned by police but no arrests have been made by police.

Town Council Will Support Police Inquiry

BLIND RIVER, Ont. (CP)—Town council has supported a request already made by one of its members for an investigation into the local police situation by the Ontario attorney-general's department.

Councillor Roger Trahan said Tuesday night he had written Attorney-General Roberts on his own asking for the investigation. "I don't want to be a whipper snapper once and for all."

He said the Sault Star has kept up a "steady stream of abuse" against Blind River Police Chief Larry Dubreuil and "to date no credit other officers."

In a statement to The Star after the council meeting, Frank Cummings of Sudbury, second vice-president of the Ontario Police Association, said an association appeal for an investigation was sent to the attorney general's office more than a month ago.

ASSOCIATION ALARMED

"The association has watched with genuine alarm the disgraceful and rapid degradation of justice in the municipality of Blind River.

"The reasons we are asking for an investigation are:

"Numerous incidents of maladministration, prominent appearances of such incidents in the press throughout the province and the attendant disrespect and adverse reflection on police service as a whole and the administration of justice in general."

Councillor Trahan said that if The Star is right, he will be the first to apologize. He said he wants the investigation to include "all aspects of the situation" including the recent withdrawal of assault charges against a Sault Star reporter.

District Storm In Night Mild, Short-Lived

If anyone was out of bed at about 2:30 this morning, he may have been aware that there was a passing overhead. But the meteorological section at RCAF Station, Trenton, reported this morning that the storm was "mild and short-lived" — only .12 inch of rain having fallen.

Some thunder and lightning played in the sky, but that was only in keeping with what was happening in many areas of Ontario.

Preceding the storm winds came in at less than 10 m.p.h. from the northeast, but swung around to west-southwest after the storm and increased in speed to 15 and 17 m.p.h.

"There was a chance the storm was slightly more severe in the areas around the air station, but it didn't amount to much here," said the duty forecaster.

Heavy rain fell for about 15 minutes, while, all told, the sky dripped for about 35 minutes.

More thundery storms are scheduled for today, especially this afternoon, but the weather will be tomorrow evening as well. Thursday should be hot and sunny.

London, Toronto and Hamilton had a number of mild storms overnight. The heaviest rainfall reported one passed over Carrying Place and Prince Edward County.

Storms, like the one Tuesday night, are common all over the province. There is a mass of unstable air hovering over the Quinte district and almost anything can happen these days.

Mennen Williams Wins Michigan Primary Easily

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan's Governor G. Mennen Williams breezed to victory in the primary election in 16 years, breeded to nomination for an unprecedented fifth term in Tuesday's balloting.

The Democratic governor, widely credited with White House ambitions in 1960, quickly built up a lead over William B. Ellison, Jr., Republican broadcaster, and held it throughout the evening.

Nominated to oppose him in the fall general election was Republican Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson of East Lansing, 44, a Michigan State University professor on leave of absence.

Like United States Senator Prescott S. Prater of Cheboygan, Bagwell was unopposed in the Republican primary. Primary elections are held to give voters registered with either party the chance to pick nominees for state offices.

Prater faces a stiff challenge from Lieutenant-Governor Philip A. Hart, a Williams ally, who won the Senate nomination Tuesday by defeating Homer Martin, former Baptist minister and one-time United Auto Workers union official.

Johnson and Martin attracted little interest in a campaign for their allegation that the Williams regime had socialistic tendencies and had fallen under domination of Reuther.

Bethlehem Steel Ups Prices on Certain Products

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bethlehem Steel Corporation and Youngstown Sheet Company today increased prices on certain products to be in effect August 11 next week.

Bethlehem, the second largest producer, boosted by about 3¼ per cent the prices of hot rolled plates, structural shapes, merchant billing used in ships and railroad cars.

Crudely raised prices on high speed and tool steels from two to five per cent.

The increases leave only tinplate and stainless steel products unaffected in the big tonnage classes.

The price of steel has been raised an estimated $4.50 a ton by the three increases. The former composite price of steel products was about $155 a ton.

An automatic wage increase was granted American steel workers on July 1 which, according to steel company officials, added $4 to $11 to the cost of producing a ton of steel.

In Washington, Assistant Attorney-General Victor R. Hansen says he is giving serious consideration to whether a grand jury should be set up to investigate the latest steel price increases.

In New York, Iron Age says there's a good chance that next year's battle for a steel wage increase will end in a bitter strike.

The national trade weekly said: "When steel labor contracts are reopened next year, the steel companies will be in a position for Dave McDonald's United Steelworkers. They'll fight for a settlement that will preclude any need for higher prices. And the steelworkers say that the fight will wind up in a bitter strike."

Iron Age said the recent price increases just announced in the industry will stick, in spite of the uproar in Washington, as steel firms are well armed with evidence to justify the average price boost of about $4.50 a ton."

"One of their biggest weapons is the fact that at least 20 companies were in the red during the first half of this year — before the full impact of higher steel wages hit them on July 1," the magazine said. "The major steel firms dropped drastically from last year."

Sergeant Quits Talking After Nearly 89 Hours

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP) —Sgt. Thomas A. Johnson quit his attempt at setting a record for talking record and went home to bed this morning. His tired vocal chords had spieled for 88 hours and 37 minutes.

Johnson, a full-time disc jockey from Memphis, Tenn., had hoped to hit 100 hours of continuous talking, but at 4:30 a.m. an Air Force doctor advised him to quit or risk permanent injury to his voice. Johnson complied.

If Johnson had talked for six hours longer he would have matched the talking record of 94½ hours established earlier this week by a housewife in Tulsa, Okla.

This claim did not take into account the Canadian record of 117 hours, five minutes set by Dick McFarland in August, 1956 when he was a disc jockey at station CKSL in London, Ont. He is now with CKSL, London, Ont.

Hundreds of persons have been crowding into the Non-Commissioned Officers' Club at the United States Air Force base here to watch the marathon. It was open only to sergeants. Five still remain in the station. Johnson had talked for 69 hours this morning and others for less.

TORONTO (CP) —The stock markets was easier today as interest switched from high priced issues to speculatives amid the fastest five hour trading since July 11.

Volume at 11 a.m. was 1,536,000 shares, compared with Tuesday's 1,182,000 at the same hour.

Barnat was the outstanding speculative gaining 37 cents at $2.07 on a turnover of 310,250 shares. However, the two most active issues were Explorers Alliance, ahead four cents to 19 cents, on 314,200 shares and Purdex, up four cents at 38, on 305,900.

Hudson Bay Mining, trading ex-dividend, slipped ¾ at 50¾ and coupled with Steep Rock, off ¼ at 18¾, led base metals off. Coppers were slightly easier.

Hollinger, ahead ¼ at 24½, and penny golds by several junior issues gave golds an edge.

Chief McTaggart Of Deseronto Resigns Post

Stan McTaggart, police chief at Deseronto for the past six years, submitted his resignation to a regular meeting of the town council held on Tuesday evening and at a special meeting of the body immediately on the conclusion of business the members accepted the resignation to be effective at midnight.

The former chief was asked by the council members as to why he had submitted his resignation and he replied "because of lack of co-operation by the council."

The council had arranged for a special meeting to be held this Wednesday evening to deal with allegations made by Constable Herb Clare, that he had been assaulted by the police chief some weeks ago. At the time the allegation were made Mr. McTaggart denied the charges, but the council did request his resignation. The resignation last evening at the council meeting cancelled the special meeting to be held this evening.

Find Greek Policeman Shot After Ceasefire

NICOSIA (AP) — A Greek Cypriot policeman was found shot dead early today, within 48 hours of proclamations of a ceasefire by the island's two underground movements.

Both EOKA, the Greek Cypriot underground, and TMT, the Turkish Cypriot underground, said they would attempt to end the bloody communal strife on this British island.

Today's killing was in the village of Myrtou, 20 miles west of Nicosia.

Myrtou village was placed under a curfew, and troops carried out a search operation.

In a second fatality, the body of a 53-year-old Greek Cypriot woman who had been beaten and stabbed to death was found today in Nicosia. It had been set on fire.

New Sub Plane Will Cost More Than $5,000,000

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The Argus submarine "killing aircraft being produced by Canadair Limited, Montreal, for the RCAF will cost at least $180,000,000, it was learned Tuesday. The price could be more than $5,000,000 apiece.

The price of $180,000,000 includes engineering and development of the plane as well as tooling, production and spare parts but does not include much of the plane's electronic gear or any of its armament, which consists in the main, of homing torpedoes.

The Argus now is coming off the assembly line and is being delivered to the two RCAF Maritime reconnaissance squadrons at Greenwood, N.S.

Details on contracts awarded Canadair in the last five years were given recently by Defence Production Minister O'Hurley for Guy Rouleau, Liberal member of Parliament for Drummond-Arthabaska.

They show these costs for the Argus since 1954: Engineering and development, $21,000,000; tooling, $4,000,000; production, $113,000,000. Contract awards for spares, parts, ground handling equipment and the like make up the rest of the total cost up to June 30 this year.

If the government orders more Argus planes, Mr. O'Hurley said that it will eventually—the per unit cost would drop because there would be no repetition of engineering, development and tooling.

Details of contracts also show that Canadair received an $8,000,000 contract for pre-production planning and engineering for the Sparrow II air-to-air guided missile, intended as the main armament of the CF-105 delta-winged interceptor under development by Avro Aircraft Limited, Malton, Ont.

Minister Issues Warning to Land Lot Buyers

TORONTO (CP)—Planning and Development Minister Nicholas of Ontario Tuesday warned prospective buyers of land lots for summer resort property to be wary of their purchases.

He said the department currently is investigating a number of land development operations with a view to taking legal action, if necessary, to protect persons wishing to buy lots in Ontario resort areas.

The minister made the plans public in a statement after disclosure that his department was investigating activities of so-called "land operators" who sold "wonderful lots at unbelievably low prices" with no thought of responsibility to the purchaser.

He said land was available under investigation are in the Georgian Bay and Muskoka areas at 11th or 12th the profit might also exist in other areas.

THE SUGGESTION

The minister offered seven guides for prospective land buyers.

1. Inspect the property.
2. Be certain that the property offered is in fact the property which will ultimately be transferred.
3. Do not purchase lots by reference to a plan which has not been registered.
4. Consult with a lawyer to assure the property title is clear.
5. Check with the municipal office to determine local bylaws which may affect the property.
6. Be aware of the commitments associated with the purchase of the property.
7. Determine what services the municipality and/or the developer

Star Quotes Economic Outlook Issued by Dept.

TORONTO (CP) — The Star quotes the federal trade department's report on the Canadian economic outlook for 1958 as saying "new and more vigorous measures" are needed if the federal budget is to have much effect on the recession.

The newspaper carries an Ottawa dispatch containing what it says are the sections of the 30-page report dealing with the economic forecasts for the year.

Last week the department published what it described as excerpts from the report. A spokesmen debate sparked by the newspaper's story sounded Tuesday night with the government still refusing to make the economic report public.

DETAILED EXTRACTS

The Star quotes the report as saying:

"Although national security expenditures will be a moderate sustaining influence in the current year, the overall effect of the current federal budget on the economy is not likely to be a significant expansionary influence unless new and more vigorous measures are introduced.

"Even if the recovery should begin in the later months of this year, it is probable that for the economy as a whole both manpower and capital facilities will be used at a relatively lower level of utilization than was the case in the fourth quarter of last year.

"Consumer spending necessary to help to moderate the extent of the overall decline. But certain key factors underlying the present contraction, namely weakness in international commodity markets and declining investment in commodity producing industries, seem likely to persist throughout the current year and probably beyond, and may well dominate the economic situation for months to come.

"In these circumstances there is little basis for anticipating the renewal of any significant upward trend in overall production and employment before the latter part of the year at least.

"For the immediate future, little new stimulus is likely to come from the traditionally dynamic areas of investment and exports.

"Private and public spending will be down two per cent with resource - based industrials—mining, forest chemicals—down 40 per cent. Machinery and equipment will be down 20 per cent and they have closed down.

"This enables the firemen to take the necessary steps that our detours should a fire break out in that area.

Says Man Needs $107 Weekly for Family of Five

TORONTO (CP)—A Canadian worker needs to make at least $107.23 a week to support a family of five on even a "modest" scale, the United Packinghouse Workers of America union (CCL) told a conciliation board meeting here Tuesday.

The union advanced a theoretical family budget to bolster its demand for "substantial" wage increases for its 6,000 members employed in 12 Canada Packers Limited plants in Canada.

The budget provided two bottles of beer a week for the father of a family; half a package of cigarets a week to be shared with his wife; and only a single book a year for the family.

Only Two Minor Accidents and Two Fire Calls

TRENTON — Only two minor accidents were reported yesterday and were investigated by members of the Trenton police department.

One consisted of a total damage of $75 and the second was when a car accidentally backed into a gas pump at a local service station. There was no damage reported to the vehicle but the pump was apparently turned around by the impact and tilted to one side.

An estimate of the damage to the gas pump was not available.

Fire department records show two calls yesterday, both to the sawdust pile near the Cooperage Mills and south of the Grand Trunk Railway Crossing. The department has been called there several times during the past week but the smouldering pile, kept dry by the hot weather, keeps breaking out despite the many soakings it has been given by the fire department and rain during the thunder storm last night may have been a way to help the firemen and with more rain today the smouldering mass may be eliminated.

Fire Chief Clarence Cover this morning commended the contractors of the Lakeland Gas Company, who are digging up the streets on the east side of the river to lay feeder lines, for their thoughtfulness in informing the department on what street it is working and when they have closed down.

This enables the firemen to take the necessary steps that our detours should a fire break out in that area.

Gets 2 Months On Liquor Count

TRENTON — F. Larsky of Trenton was sentenced to two months in jail yesterday afternoon by Magistrate T. Y. Wills on a charge of supplying liquor to minors.

Larsky was also sentenced to a month on another charge under the Liquor Control Act.

Stanley Richardson of Trenton was fined $18, which included court costs, for shooting a gun off inside town limits.

Two cases of false pretences, arising out of the issuing of cheques without the proper amount in the account to cover them, was withdrawn. The charges, owners against N. A. McDonald of Trenton and R. C. Foster of Brighton, Panter had appeared in court some weeks ago but the case had been remanded until the Magistrate's suggestion that the accused seek medical legal advice.

There was also 20 cases of traffic violations read off in court.

John Pringle of Belleville acted for the crown and Inspector R. J. Brown Treasurer of the court clerk in the absence of Police Chief Jack Taylor.

Inspector Rutherford is also acting as Chief of Police while Chief Taylor is on his holidays.

TRENTON — L. T. Danby, Secretary Treasurer of the L. T. Danby and Company Ltd., Trenton announced the appointment of F. L. Kinsella of Sydney as General Plant Manager to replace E. G. Street who resigned August, 1953.

Mr. Kinsella has spent several weeks at the company's parent company studying production methods and as result is well prepared to assume his new duties.

Arrest Two Toronto Teen-Agers In Connection With School Fire

CAMPBELLFORD — Provincial police here have arrested two Toronto teen-agers following a fire on Saturday night that completely destroyed a country school in the east of this town. The school, known as Burnbrae, S.S. No. 11, Seymour, burned shortly after nine p.m. Saturday. A fire pumper from Campbellford was dispatched to the blaze but the flames were out of control and to give firemen any chance of saving the structure, which was built in 1875, considerable water had to be used.

District residents reported seeing two juveniles near the building shortly before the fire was discovered. They notified the Campbellford detachment of the OPP, fearful that it was not a case for police.

The Campbellford OPP were assisted by the town police and the local and Lindsay, Ont., Provincial police.

The police provided two cells in which to confine the youths pending a conciliation board meeting here Tuesday.

The union advanced a theoretical family budget to bolster its demand for "substantial" wage increases for its 6,000 members employed in 12 Canada Packers Limited plants in Canada.

The budget provided two bottles of beer a week for the father of a family; half a package of cigarets a week to be shared with his wife; and only a single book a year for the family.

pair stole the car, then abandoned it when they saw the police roadblocks.

On Sunday morning, Ralph Erskine, 16, and Arthur Nelson, 21, were checking buildings in the district, still searching for the two youths, when they heard a noise in Shea's school, about a mile away from the burned building.

They investigated and surprised a 15-year-old boy and a 14-year-old girl inside. The boy flames were out of the back door, but Erskine and Nelson caught them after a short chase. They were held by police and were lodged in the cells in Campbellford.

The boy has been charged with car theft and the girl with aiding and abetting and entering the schools. They were taken to Cobourg and lodged in the county gaol in custody until Thursday. The pair will also face a charge of arson, but the degree of the charge has not yet been announced.

Provincial police praised the efforts of the district residents who assisted in the search, and particularly praised Erskine and Nelson for their part in the capture. Erskine is the son of Peterborough Police Constable Donald W. Erskine.

Replacement cost of the school is estimated at about $35,000. Only $8,000 insurance was carried.

THAT BILL OF RIGHTS

Prime Minister Diefenbaker is reported to be ready to present to Parliament a bill of rights.

This is legislation long espoused by him.

He fought for it long and hard when the Liberals were in power.

Yet, paradoxically enough, it may prove that the bill which he introduces fails far short of that which he and his supporters had advocated.

Any reasoned criticism of the bill must, of course, await revelation of its details. Nevertheless, if a Canadian Press despatch from Ottawa is founded on fact, there are those who voiced against the bill are more likely to come from those who were once the Prime Minister's allies in the fight than from those who in the past opposed him.

The Canadian Press reports that the proposed bill would remove any excuse for inadvertent abrogation of fundamental rights by courts or governments."

Now there is no question but that safeguarding against heedless abrogation of an individual's rights is desirable. Surely, though, in the past where an individual has been deprived of his rights by inadvertence, he has experienced comparatively little difficulty in having the injustice remedied. If we have understood Mr. Diefenbaker aright in the past, this was but a portion and a minor portion at that, of what he sought. It is not when a person's rights are abrogated by accident, but when he is deprived of these rights by design, that he most needs protection.

The key to this apparent change in attitude is to be found in another statement in The Canadian Press story. "Special care," it reports, "has been taken over the well-known concern Quebec has for safeguarding provincial rights." And the prime minister's bill must be understood to be constructed acceptable to even the most zealous 'provincial-rights-er'."

Any bill of rights which will satisfy the most zealous provincial-rights-er is likely to prove unsatisfactory to many of those who joined with Mr. Diefenbaker in his earlier fight for a bill of rights.

It is in cutting the powers of provincial governments that such a bill would, in the past, have served its most useful function.

If it does nothing to prevent such legislation as the Quebec padlock law, and to curb such treatment as that accorded Jehovah Witnesses in Quebec, the bill of rights will leave the way open for many abrogations of the rights of the individual as the majority of Canadians, including we feel sure Prime Minister Diefenbaker, understand them.

There are sure to be some people, always looking for the basest motives, who will interpret the Prime Minister's present reluctance to curb provincial powers as the result of his acquisition of a large following of Quebec members.

If the truth, though, is more likely to be that investigation has convinced him that there are limits to the powers of the Federal regime to pass a bill of rights which would curb provincial legislation. These limits are imposed by the British North America Act.

To obtain revision of this act would be difficult. But; if a bill of rights is needed at all, and we think it is, such a bill as that which it now appears proposed should be passed up by an effort to remove those barriers which prevent the Federal government from passing that all-inclusive bill of rights which, we feel sure, Mr. Diefenbaker would like to sponsor.

NO TOOT — NO GOOD

The three-year-old threw the funnelled plastic ship on the floor when he couldn't blow it—"No toot, no good," he commented tersely. Later, in his bath, when its floating powers were demonstrated, he relented and played boat with it contentedly.

Many morals may be drawn. By out-of-work politicians: that it pays to take a second look at policies. By public relations experts: that the public makes wiser decisions when it knows the facts. By maiden aunts: that the three-year-old's world is full of surprises.

JUST FOLKS

MY PLAN

When I wanted something I couldn't buy—
A suit of clothes or a Sunday tie,
Or a new straw hat when the sun was high,
I used to feel sore about it.
I used to go around with a face drawn long
And say that everything here was wrong,
And this was the theme of my mournful song:
I ain't got along without it.

When I've been broke, which has been oft conjured,
I never could utter a cheerful word;
I quashed all day, which was mighty absurd,
And kicked up a fuss about it.

I thought what I wanted and couldn't get
Was reason enough to fume and fret,
So I fretted and fumed all day,
I managed to do without it.

Now whenever I want what I cannot buy—
A suit of clothes or a Sunday tie
Or a new straw hat when the sun is high
I don't say a word about it.
I've found that my wants needn't interfere
With my daily fun on this hemisphere.
What I can't afford doesn't spoil my cheer;
I just get along without it.

U.S. Paper Makes Reply

Portland Oregon Journal

The Vancouver Sun agrees that Premier Duplessis was ill-advised to be told that Canadians selections ought to be "just as close as we can possibly make them."

But then The Sun adds, "How close can you get without showing?"

The Sun mentions that certain ideas Canadians ought to be the best of friends but that Canada ought to make a new "declaration of independence." It ought to tell the United States that Canadians believe in "segregation," of Canadians and Americans, that is, and that Canada will not be remade separate and equal."

The Sun believes a lot of things have been happening which add up to a threat to our national sovereignty.

In addition to the often-heard complaints about the lopsidedness of trade, large-scale American investments, restrictions on Canadian oil imports and the "unfairness" of U.S. anti-dumping methods, The Sun is disturbed by the North American air defense agreement which makes Canada's RCAF fighter squadrons under U.S. command.

The Sun doesn't expect Prime Minister Diefenbaker, or any other Canadian leader, to strike by exploiting resentment of the United States. It recognizes that Canada's economy is dependent upon the U.S. market. It says the U.S. is "most salvage that we can do to preserve self-respect and freedom." It is possible we are not. I think we are. I think others, but we do not find many understand us better.

Americans who think Canada's economy is in jeopardy. And if Canadians are actually worried about keeping their self-respect, it is hopeless than ambition of intelligent support the United States.

Americans are being asked to trade a tight line. The Canadians do not want us to take them for granted. Neither do they want us to be "segregated." There isn't a lot of room in between.

To be good relations, both nations have to accept the fact that the United States is big and powerful and Canada is relatively small. But if an improvement in relations requires some change on our part, it also requires that the Canadians not be overly sensitive and that they not try to accuse us of harboring designs on their country which we do not have.

Most Americans want to be on the best of terms with Canada. Most Americans want Canada to become a tall to the U.S. kite. They respect her as a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations. They admire her courage. They enjoy the difference in customs and traditions. They do not want Canada to lose them. We need to understand the Canadians better, however, if we are to understand us better.

History Repeating Itself?

By Eleanor Philpott in The Vancouver Sun

I have never joined in the indiscriminate abuse against General Nasser of Egypt, perhaps because I remember that most of our now-clamoring newspapers also poured the same invective at other nationalist leaders who later turned out to be their heroes.

The year of my initiation into editorial work in Canada was 1922. In that year the British government of the day was on the very brink of war with Turkey which was then fearful, and hence hated, a hundred times more than Nasser's Egypt now is.

Kemal Ataturk was the great Turkoman of that period. He had already chased the Greeks into the Asia Minor Smyrna — a city which they foolishly thought they could crib after the First World War. He was on he point of chasing the little British garrison, which had been placed when Lloyd George and Churchill pulled the stunt of the century, of representation on election platforms in Canada for the Dardanelles fiasco, out of Chanak and all the British Dominions, including Canada, clamoring for an avenging promise of support in the event of war with Turkey.

Mackenzie King, the head of the Liberal party, was a cautious, and completely characteristic leader of the party for time, and asked for more information. But Arthur Meighen uttered the politically suicidal phrase which resounded on all more and more platforms in Canada in Quebec for the next decade.

That foolish phrase was "Ready, Aye Ready!"

My point is that the whole of Canada, and I am sorry to say, some so-called Liberal papers too, were then ready to plunge this country into war against Turkey, on issues that now seem downright insane.

But for the next three years we talk against and sputtered. The Lloyd George government saw the handwriting on the wall and the British began to withdraw its troops from the city of Chanak. Ataturk in the nick of time. But the world bore of the controversy was the Mosul oil fields. Britain insisted that these fabulously rich fields had been allotted to her by the Arab state for which she then held the mandate.

Half way through the subsequent prolonged crisis, Kemal made a treaty with Soviet Russia very similar to the one Nasser has now made with that same country some 30 years later.

Have Device To End Skids

Stratford Beacon-Herald

An anti-skid system for automobiles, which could be used on many civil and military aircraft, has been developed by Ontario inventors, permits maximum braking effort, and at the same time prevents wheel-lock and consistant skidding, the manufacturers say.

It is interposed between the driver's control valve and the brake drums. As the driver applies the effort applied by the driver, an electronic device senses the pressure in the brakes when an increase in angular wheel deceleration indicates the onset of skid.

A small flywheel is driven from each braked wheel. This flywheel is decelerated during wheel deceleration by a spring. If deceration of the wheel is normal, the energy given to the flywheel is not enough to collapse the spring. Ultra-rapid wheel deceleration, such as occurs when a skid is developing, causes the flywheel to collapse the spring and a small hydraulic valve mechanism relieves the brake pressure until the flywheel returns to its normal position as the wheel regains control speed.

Tests have been carried out on a high-powered car fitted with this system and with a standard system by these units. Conditions varied from dry concrete to smooth treadless tires running on a special skid track to fully-threaded tires on wet asphalt surfaces. The system has a marked advantage in stopping distance, particularly at high speeds, say the makers, since the driver can maintain maximum deceleration while still having complete control over the car.

The makers expect that the system will be available for use to the advantage on commercial vehicles, since its use would automatically adjust the braking effort of the wheel to the weight carried by the wheel, in addition to correcting for normal tire-to-ground variations.

The Harness Is for 'Bulls'

St. Thomas Times-Journal

Workhorses may be part of a fast-vanishing picture, but they're still in use in a life-sized harness model horse over a century old in the basement of the home of the leather shop of his owner, Morris Fox, Grand River Street. Morris Fox, retired, Fox's lifelong partner, Murphy, is a daily regular visitor to the basement of the leather business. But the master leather craftsman isn't dedicating his time and it could be said that he is at fancy as he sews harness for the horse which he can't deliver. Fox is switching from the fancy harness stitching of the Grand River valley to the "bull" trappings.

There's plenty of business yet in the 76-year-old leather shop because each morning when he opens the doors he finds a line waiting for him are police-men from uniform divisions and detective bureaus of the Detroit Police Department seeking Fox's handcrafted leather blackjacks, handcuff guards and other leather trappings. Policewomen come by the shoulder bag. Citizens seek out Fox for fancy leather belts and repair work and the time Murphy looks on "contentedly" as it were.

Murphy, by the way, was purchased by Fox in Milwaukee for $100 back in 1910 from a retired harness maker and his exact age is not definitely known. Fox, who has been doing his favorite work for 68 years, claims he'll never stop although he says he'll have to lay by hand and guarantees it for 25 years. He learned his trade in his birthplace of Odessa on the north shore of the Black Sea. He can recall making harness for horses belonging to Czar Nicholas II. Fleeing Russian tyranny he went to the United States in 1906. It is to be hoped that though he is in his 80th year he will be able to carry on for some years longer. Such devotion to a trade merits longevity.

RECOGNIZE YOUR OWN LUCK

We shall never understand luck about himself — and used t h e knowledge to the highest degree very well until we recognize that it isn't something that is given for the benefit of others.

away — not without money and without price.

Luck is something that y o u have to earn as you do y o u r bread.

I have never heard a person spoken of as lucky without smiling to myself. Why? I have usually found that the lucky person at the opinion that he is a worker."

Luck is the fruit of the tree that bears the fruit of luck.

Don't waste your time bemoaning your luck. That's why you have none.

Luck, after all, is pretty fairly distributed in this workaday world. The luckiest man isn't the one who makes the most money or accumulates the greatest fame. Nothing like that. The lucky man is he who has discovered m e a l ideas people!

I have a friend who seems to have the ability to make everybody who comes in contact with him to me. But, you see, I know the secret! He makes it his business to know other people. And now he is making much money — but that is because, which is mainly incidental.

That's the way luck goes with the "breaks" coming your way. Function all the time. Neither does the opportunity come as far as fruit is concerned. A man wouldn't amount to much with a sea of luck swirls all at his feet.

The best idea is to forget luck altogether. Just go right on with what you have, and do your work to the best of your ability.

Luck won't forget you. L u c k

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

One of my summer cottage neighbors notices that during the summer, up at the lake, he does not eat as much nearly so much as he does in town, during the working year."

He has since explained it to me. "In the city," he says, "I spend eight hours a day in a confined space, in an office, where my normal focus is a matter of twenty or thirty feet down to two feet. My bifocals serve me well for that sort of life. But when I get up here to the cottage, in the wide open spaces, my eyes seem to relax, my vision expands, and when I am doing something like painting a chair or carrying the stove wood, I hardly ever need my glasses."

Last week, he was walking briskly around his rocky premises, idly doing nothing in particular, when he stuck flying on the ground, a dead branch, obviously, that had fallen off a tree.

"That branch," he said to himself, "looks exactly like a Snake. It might give the women a start, if they came by. . . ."

He reached down and picked up the stick.

It was a snake.

He flung it, he says, about forty feet by sheer sudden reflex action.

He wears his glasses all the time now.

DIFFERENT COLORED EYES OF BABY MAY LATER CHANGE TO SAME SHADE

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have a baby with a brown eye and a blue one. Is there any possibility for the eyes to change before his first birthday? — Mrs. T. S."

This condition can occur normally and should not cause concern.

At birth, you see, the pigment, or coloring matter, in the iris of the eye is not completely developed. White babies have blue eyes at birth; colored babies have eyes that are either blue or dark colored.

There are actually, two layers of cells that contain the pigment, and as they develop, the color of the eyes can change. Blondes, of course, keep their blue eyes. In brunettes, the other colors become dominant and the eyes can change, ending up in various shades, from deep brown to green.

It may take a year or thereabouts for the development to become complete, occasionally the pigment change is not complete in one eye, giving rise to a slight difference in color between the two eyes; a condition called heterochromia, which is merely means that they are of slightly different color. It does not imply that eyesight or that there is anything wrong with the baby's health. Usually a matter of color and, in a sort of way, a matter of fashion, eye, to birthmarks or moles which are a matter of the coloring in the skin. Anyway I should not be too upset about some difference in color between the baby's eyes. It happens — and it usually straightens out by the time the youngster is a year or so old.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Can you tell me anything about bedwetting? A friend suggested using them for high blood pressure, and I used a few. — Mrs. A. V."

The best reason I know for not using leeches (or bloodsuckers", which is what they are) is that there are many, many cases in which they have caused infection. It's not a comfortable thought to contemplate that going back to the old "blood-letting" idea of treating disease. In recent years they have been used coin to cover handling.

Big Boom in the Congo

National Geographic Society

The big boom along the Congo in Central Africa does not come from the native drum.

It is a rapidly expanding economy, based on rich mines, has produced a bustling land with increasing air and ship facilities, new housing developments and a growing middle class, says Life magazine. Less than a century ago the Belgian Congo was a savage wilderness.

A quarter of the 12,000,000 Congolese have adopted Christian traditions and moved to towns. Men who formerly were unfamiliar with the wheel have learned to operate heavy mining and construction machinery, to medical laboratories and training stations, replacing unsearing decorative scars on their faces peer expertly into microscopes.

The white population has quadrupled in the last twenty years and now totals more than 100,000. About 80 per cent are Belgians. Anbout 1,500 Americans live there.

The country of Belgium, the Congo covers about 905,000 square miles — seventy-seven times the size of Belgium proper — and more than twice as large as Ontario.

The area was virtually unknown in 1871, when Henry M. Stanley founded Leopoldville, which became the capital city and major port on the Congo River 225 miles from the sea. The tawny river and its tributaries flow throughout the colony, providing an 8,000-mile system of navigable streams. The network ends at Leopoldville, where plunging rapids turn savage as they cut through the cent of the free world's copper.

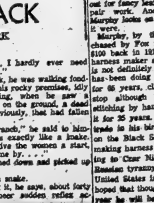
Crystal Mountains to reach the Atlantic.

The water-borne wealth of the vast basin must be unloaded at Leo, as it is called locally, and put on the railroad cars bound to the port of Matadi below the cataracts.

With a busy airport, docks, modern office buildings and spacious homes, the capital resembles an American town transplanted by error into the jungles of equatorial jungle.

In the native market, however, the tribal tradition is obvious impact. Women draped in brilliant cotton cloth haggle over cameva and fish or a choice cut of crocodile.

The Congo's boom began in World War I, when its rich but hardly needed minerals. The war's end simply brought more production.



A ten-year development plan, begun in 1949, has been concentrated on roads and rails, airports, river and seaport improvements and the Congo's power housing and education. Eight hundred miles of railroad built in less than eight years. A second ten-year plan is scheduled.

Fourth among the world's producers of copper (1955 exports were worth $323,506,160), the Congo holds other important mineral wealth. It produces 75 per cent of the world's cobalt and industrial diamonds, plus much tin, zinc and gold.

From the Belgian Congo's uranium deposits came raw material for the first atomic bombs. Despite later uranium finds elsewhere, the country still produces an estimated 60 per

Colorful Floats, Individuals Feature Farmers' Day Parade

By MRS. PERCY MacMULLEN

STIRLING — Tuesday afternoon the streets and lawns of the village were lined with Firm folk and visitors as well as the villagers to view "Farmers' Day Parade."

The first fire truck driven by Doug. Robson proclaimed a welcome from the Chamber of Commerce and led the parade.

Stirling citizens band, under the baton of Maurice Bell, provided marching music.

Sidney MacDonald, agricultural representative for Hastings County, was in charge of the next float, which carried a large placard giving the names of all who are associated with this department in Stirling and extending a welcome greeting.

Mr. and Mrs. George Weaver, who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary a few years ago, were all dolled up in costumes of yesteryear and rode in a lovely carriage behind a team of black horses. They were the centre of attraction with a large placard depicting "When Dad and I Were Young, Maggie." Mr. and Mrs. Weaver reside in the old Weaver property near Central Cheese Factory.

Will Cooney followed with a carriage and his team of Shetland ponies. Frank Tucker of Belleville displayed an up-to-date combine. Ernest Carr drove an old-fashioned tractor with an ancient wagon and grain cradle of bygone days. Several of the youngster generation had no idea what it was used for.

Ken Ira operated a new forage harvester. Wesley Lake had a very old wagon behind an old tractor. The wagon carried grain, filled on an old - fashioned style. Frank Sinclair came next with his steam engine and threshing machine.

Denton Shortt presented a new model of hay press. George Sutherland and Fairvale Farm drove his show horse and new carriage. Ken Ray entered a new corn cutter. Glenn Morrow of River Valley Farm displayed an old wagon in the parade, and a large sign depicting "Happy Birthday" to Stirling. On the wagon was an old spinning wheel which was a gift to his grandmother, Mrs. Mary Morrow, in 1875. There was also a large assortment of old farm equipment.

The Frankford Pipe Band followed next in the parade, and provided Highland music. The Boy Scout float was entered by Morrow Brothers, Kenneth and Harry, of River Valley. The ancient tractor was driven by Neil Montgomery and the oldtime romper in charge of great-grandpa was very reminiscent of the year 1858.

The parade left the agricultural grounds and followed the route through the streets of the day previous, thus it was very easy to view it all along the way.

At 3 p.m. Don Rodgers, the president of the Stirling Chamber of Commerce, welcomed the large group at the Recreation Centre. He voiced his thanks to the farmers and dealers for their contributions.

Graham Mouck, chairman of the parade committee, also expressed his thanks and presented the silver trophies. First prize for the best float in the parade went to Frank Stapley. He is one of Stirling's eldest citizens and is 94 years of age. The steam engine which pulled the old threshing outfit was built in 1907.

Second prize went to Ken and Harry Morrow. The old-time reaper was used on the farm by their grandfather, the late Robert Good. Third prize went to Glen Morrow for his display of antique equipment which contained a wooden plough, which had been hewn from a basswood log by Hiram Rosebrush at Trent River in the Belleville community. It is now the property of his son, Ernest Rosebush.

Many Former Pupils Attend Centennial 'Back to School'

By MRS. PERCY MacMULLEN

STIRLING — Tuesday morning well over 150 persons, who had been students at King George high school during the years attended the "Back to School" lecture.

The groups were welcomed at the door by James Johnston, chairman of the high school area board, and Mr. Ackerman and Mr. and Mrs. Buttimer Belshaw. Several students of 1858 were also on hand to look about name cards and later each person registered their maiden name, married name and years of attendance. All this will be made into a permanent record.

The groups were called to order in the gymnasium by principal John L. Wood and brief messages of welcome were given by the principal and by Messrs. Johnston and Belshaw, the latter serving over 30 years on the board.

The first agricultural class was taught at King George high school under the leadership of the late A. D. MacIntosh, agricultural representative for Hastings County somewhere during the 20's.

SCHOLARSHIPS

Mr. W. K. Bailey, Toronto, paid tribute to a past principal, Mr. George E. Kennedy, and outlined the idea of a "Stirling High School Scholarship" which would assist students attending Teachers' College and Queen's.

Others speaking on this theme were: Hon. Harry Nixon, Arthur Morrow, and George MacIntosh.

It was decided by the group to carry out this plan and a committee of principal Good, W. K. Bailey and Percy McGuire were appointed to draft the plans, while local staff members took the names and donations of the out - of - school. It is hoped that all former students will have a share in providing this scholarship.

Robert Patterson led in singing "The Old Grey Mare," and "School Days," with Charles Allen at piano.

Beginning in 1891 and ending in 1953 the various groups stood as the years of their attendance was called. The two eldest students were: Della Caldwell and Mrs. Mrs. Herb Dodd, nee Madge Williams of Mount Pleasant, Ont.

Miss Barbara Woodcock brought greetings from the 1953 students and in between those years there were several who brought greetings and paid tribute to the teachers.

Several of the former teachers, including Mrs. Ernest Thain (nee Betty Burch), Messrs. W. K. Bailey and John Munroe, Mrs. Gordon Bailey, Miss E. Hay, Mrs. Gordon Bailey (nee Miss Kay Moody) and Mr. Hay, also brought greetings from the 1958 staff.

Mr. J. C. Gillies, principal of Stirling public school, invited the group to "open house" that evening.

Several students in attendance dressed in costume to add attire complete with hair ribbons and moustaches.

Tribute was paid to the late E. G. Williams and David Sayer, public school principal.

PUBLIC SCHOOL VISITATION

At 3.30 p.m. Tuesday, principal J. C. Gillies and staff teachers welcomed a group of visitors to the new public school which was officially opened in 1951. Many marvelled at the lovely rooms, clothes closets, bookshelves which were absent in the old school.

Many Present At Centennial 'At Homes'

STIRLING — The president and several members of Stirling Horticultural Society were "at house" at 24 Centre Street on Tuesday during the three afternoons at the spacious home of Mrs. Wallace Elliott. She graciously welcomed the visitors and ushered them into the garden where they were seated at decorated quartet tables. Mrs. Elliott and members were under the direction of the president, Mrs. Jack Hansen, served appetizing refreshments to all.

The rooms, verandah and lawn were gaily decorated in a pretty display of summer blooms.

LABOR SHUTDOWN

The British General Strike of 1926, in sympathy with coal miners' claims, lasted from May 4 to May 13.

Wins Prize At Centennial Calf Rodeo

STIRLING — In little less than four minutes Paul McKoown of R.R. 2 Campbellford caught his calf and led it across the finish line to take first place in the calf rodeo yesterday afternoon at the Centennial celebrations here.

Ron Heath of Stirling came second and Joe Hagerman of Harold was the third boy to cross the finish line.

The other two "young farmers" to take part were Paul Rollins of Stirling and David Reid of Belleville. The trophies in the three winners were presented following the race by Sidney MacDonald, Agricultural Representative for Hastings County.

Four calves were turned loose in the fenced off area of the high school grounds and the boys had to catch one, noose the rope around it and take it back to the finish line.

The two top winners had little trouble capturing their calves, but the other two calves, year-old Holsteins, gave the remaining youngsters a good "run for their money."

Pearkes Denies Statement Says Smith in House

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Pearkes has denied stating that Canada plans to ask the United States to supply nuclear defence weapons, External Affairs Minister Smith said Tuesday in the Commons.

He was replying to Opposition Leader Pearson who read part of a Washington dispatch Monday, in Canadian Press report quoted Mr. Pearkes, now in Washington for talks with U.S. Defence Secretary Neil McElroy, as saying that Canada plans to seek U.S. nuclear weapons for RCAF jet interceptors.

(Canadian correspondents in Washington asked Mr. Pearkes about a New York Times report that Canada would raise the question of sharing U.S. nuclear air defence weapons.

(He replied that he expected the question would be discussed at the first meeting of the joint Canada - U.S. cabinet defence committee at a date not yet set.

(He then explained that U.S. law prevents the sharing of atomic weapons and secretsexcept with Britain—and any decision would have to be on cabinet level. Mr. Pearkes did not precisely say, as the Canadian Press reported, that Canada plans to ask the U.S. for atomic weapons for RCAF aircraft.)

Mr. Smith said he talked Tuesday by telephone with Mr. Pearkes and that the defence minister had said "emphatically and without qualification" that he at no time had said Canada plans to ask the U.S. for nuclear weapons.

The Oldest and Most Popular Ride in the World

Long before mechanical amusement rides were conceived, it was the dream of every child to ride ponies or mules. Despite the terrific changes that progress has wrought, it seems that the children of today have not changed their views too greatly, for pictured above is the Western Pony Roundup, an unchangeable portion of America's biggest Kiddieland at World's Finest Shows, which will be a feature attraction at the Belleville Fair August 11 to 14.

Many, many new, ingenious and fascinating rides have been added throughout this vast kiddie wonderland, but none has delighted the hearts of the kiddies as much as the mechanical tractor may, in time, replace the horse, it is a certainty that the pony will live forever in the hearts of all children.

Unrest in Northern Syria Not Helping Nasser's Cause

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Gamal Abdel Nasser has headaches, too.

The Arab East's noisy turmoil gives the impression that the United Arab Republic president is riding the crest of an all-engulfing wave. Nasser may already wish it didn't look so. But there are shoals ahead.

In Iraq pulling northern cities of what now is Nasser's Syrian province there was dancing in the streets at the news of the July 14 coup in Iraq.

Did that please Nasser? Not altogether. In his July 23 Cairo speech Nasser went out of his way to be sharply critical of northern Syria.

Here was the rub:

The Iraqi coup was a revolution by nationalists—persons even to the terms of pan-Arabism. But was it wholly a Nasser revolution? The man who led it, Brig.-Gen. Abdul Karim Kassem, by his own account plotted even against Nasser. And the Iraqi regime for its part would capitalize on the support it could demand from Nasser. Yet the U.A.R. president must have had some serious misgivings about the future.

That dancing in the streets in Syria did mean the celebrants were pro-Nasser. It could even have meant the reverse. Many Syrians after passionately pursuing total union with Egypt suddenly found themselves restive under Nasser's rule.

PRO-IRAQ

The northern Syrians showed only that they were pro-Iraq. A cherished dream seemed within their grasp: Union with Iraq.

This could mean trouble for Nasser.

Iraq has great oil and mineral wealth. Nasser's all-important economic development program is not going very happily in Egypt. Politically Syria is far more sophisticated than Egypt. Iraq has little for Nasser.

Syria and Iraq together in the U.A.R. surely would overbalance the Egyptians and eventually dominate them.

What does this mean to the West? Not much. It simply throws some assurance that, barring grotesque Western blunders, oil will continue flowing from the Persian Gulf and through Iraq Petroleum Company pipelines.

The U.A.R. president has condemned foreign exploitation of Arab resources. But oil is no good to Arabs until it gets to markets where they can extract it or market it. Egypt cannot help them do it. Neither is Egypt's Soviet Communist bloc help in this respect.

NEED OIL REVENUE

The reasons are manifest. The Iraqis will continue to want the Western foreign exchange, with all it means, from their oil production. They are aware, too, that Western Europe can do without Iraqi oil if necessary, so long as Kuwait's vast production potential is available.

But one of Nasser's major goals has been to get his hands on some of the oil revenues from the "have" countries for the benefit of "have not" Egypt. How does he hasten this without bringing into the U.A.R. and endangering Egypt's pre-eminence in the union?

While Nasser remains the outstanding symbol of Arab nationalism, Iraq's new regime will pay tribute to him. But Iraq's natural interests are less with Egypt than with the fertile crescent, made up of Syria, Lebanon, Jordan, Iraq and Palestine.

Union with Syria would be a vastly satisfying development for many Iraqis and Syrians alike.

Nasser can ill afford new expansion now. But neither can he afford to halt his violent propaganda, even now pouring into Syria, Jordan, Probably only the arrival of British troops saved the life of King Hussein, and their departure surely would mean a new bloodbath.

A Soviet aim is to keep the Middle East in turmoil and off balance.

If Nasser tries to profit from Soviet aims, he may build up forces which eventually will destroy him. If he does not attempt to profit from Soviet purposes, he risks losing the momentum he has created and the support of the more impatient nationalists of Jordan and the Saudis peninsula.

300 Economists Visit Ottawa After Ont. Tour

TORONTO (CP) — Nearly 300 home economists headed for Ottawa by train Tuesday night after touring Southern Ontario for four days.

The economists, from 30 different countries, are making an eight-day tour of Ontario and Quebec after attending the ninth world congress on home economics at College Park, Md. They are visiting domestic science institutions in the two provinces.

"We have been received as friends in our few days in Canada, and this country has won our hearts," said Mme. Sylvie Fritsch, general secretary, International Federation of Home Economics, at a dinner given by the Ontario government Tuesday night.

Agriculture Minister Goodfellow told delegates: "We have agricultural land there to support 50,000,000 persons. Come back to Canada, bring your families and come to stay."

The group arrives here from Guelph.

South Hastings Baseball League

Foxboro took the first game of their South Hastings Baseball League semi-finals last night, defeating Latta 6-4 on the latter's diamond. The teams meet in the second game in Foxboro tomorrow night.

The winners took a run lead in the first inning, added three in the fourth only to have Latta score single runs in the fifth to tie the score. The winners plated a pair in the eighth to win the clincher.

Gerry Mason went the route for Foxboro and was relieved after with Dan Reid burling six-hit ball for the finale.

Reynolds sparked the Foxboro offensive with three singles, with Robson and Groenveldt each hitting doubles and Ralph Plane a single.

Wayne Gowe led the Latta attack with a double and two singles with Glass and Frank Ray getting singles.

U.S. Consumer Most Sure Inflation Is Already Here

Editor's note: Is the stock market right about many inflation being a sure thing for the United States? How much more? Is the following article an AP business news analyst discusses the impact on the consumer.

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Ask the American housewife and she'll tell you more inflation is already here.

She isn't talking about what she doesn't buy—the higher priced cut of steel or pound of copper. She's talking about what the family pays out—the higher prices for meat, the increased cost of her husband's getting to work, the bigger bills for keeping the children healthy, the latest rent increase.

Ask the businessman and he'll tell you more inflation is a real thing yet but a threat. He concedes the threat from the increase in the money supply which seems sure as the government borrows more from the commercial banks. But he also notes that while there's likely to be no more money around, there aren't too few goods for it to chase—and plenty to make more goods is already in place waiting for demand to call it into productivity.

Inflation is no economic theory for the consumer. It hits him where he lives. For him it simply means that the cost of living goes up.

Food prices in the U.S. average eight per cent higher than last year. The U.S. agriculture department says 85 per cent of the increase is due to farmers' getting higher prices and 40 per cent to marketing concerns' getting more. Meat prices seem high in the stores. Well, live hogs are bringing 11 per cent more now than last summer; beef on the hoof 23 per cent more.

In other fields, the recession didn't bring the general drop in prices that many expected, so any inflation would start from a high level.

This - - - and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

Recently T and T was talking Salk vaccine and your WHO is working on the threat.

INFLUENZA:

This disease can spread across the world within a matter of a few months. WHO has designated 60 influenza centres in 40 countries. When an outbreak occurs in an area, one of the centres reports the extent and severity, and identifies the type of virus concerned. Because of this network, several countries were able to prepare vaccine well before the 1957 epidemic of "Asian flu" reached them.

LEPROSY:

This is no longer a disease apart, setting men apart from men. Statistics show an ever increasing number of leprosy victims, but this is because these people no longer try to hide their affliction and are coming forward to seek treatment. Important progress can now be made against the disease largely because of growing confidence in the anti-leprosy drugs. Much remains to be done and again WHO is in forefront. The war on "killing diseases that are dying" is one state of aggressive warfare carried on by WHO, and of which even a Khrushchev cannot condemn or criticise the UN.

T and T thanks the UNESCO Courier for this report from which we have copied the above information. The mention of Khrushchev was our own and cannot be made the responsibility of the Courier. When we wandered through the shops Tuesday for shopping news, we observed few changes and since we desired to pass along the progress report on WHO we offer it today. The report is comprehensive and for once it was a pleasure to read staggering figures which symbolize staggering accomplishments for world health by WHO within a decade.

It seems that throughout the South "Land Ads are there is a great demand for Australian buffalo meat. WEDDINGS

MURRAY — REDDICK

Lovely gladioli and ferns formed a pretty setting on Saturday, August 2nd, at 2.00 p.m. in Trinity St. Andrew's United Church, Brighton, Ontario for the marriage of Marilyn Ann Reddick of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Reddick, to Roy Donald Murray also of Belleville, son of Mrs. Roy Murray of Belleville, and the late Mr. Murray. The Reverend A. Green, pastor of the church, officiated.

Mrs. Lorne Baker of Brighton provided the wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mr. Ronald Elmy, of Belleville, in his rendition of "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because".

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Charles Reddick, the bride was charming in her white Chantilly lace bridal gown featuring a fitted bodice and bouffant skirt of white net over taffeta. The sweetheart neckline and sheath-like sleeves. Her rhinestone-trimmed veil of illusion in finger-tip length, was held by a Chantilly lace headpiece adorned with iridescent sequins. She carried a cascade of red roses and white stephanotis.

Miss Carole Reddick of Belleville, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, was gowned in blue taffeta sweetheart gown over taffeta in waltz-length. The matched bodice featured a scoop neckline and short sleeves, and taffeta cummerbund, with back bow. A matching headdress completed her ensemble.

Miss Eileen Hitchcock of Brighton, as bridesmaid, was gowned in mauve fashioned identically to that of the maid of honor, with matching headdress. Miss Norma Rutherford, of Belleville, was attired in yellow made on similar lines to those of the other attendants with matching headdress. All carried bouquets of carnations tinted to match the gown of the next attendant.

The little flower girls, Cheryl and Karen Smith, wore blue pink frocks, respectively, made of Chantilly lace, in style similar to those of the other attendants with matching headdresses and carrying bouquets of tinted carnations of pink and blue.

The reception was held in the church parlors where the bride's table was appointed with white damask, centred by the traditional three-tier wedding cake, beautifully decorated, and flanked by white tapers in silver holders.

Due to the illness of the bride's mother, the guests were received by the bridegroom's mother, who wore a beige linen sheath with floral printed shoes and handbag, and small pillbox style hat, matching her shoes, natural colored gloves with yellow rose corsage.

For the wedding trip to points east, the bride donned a powder blue lace over taffeta, with small matching feather hat, shoes, gloves and bag in beige shade. She carried a beige tinted clutch coat.

Guests attended from Toronto, Belleville, Whitby, Brighton, Trenton, London, Hamilton, Montreal, Campbellford, Boston and Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray, upon their return, will reside in Belleville.

PENNINGTON — KILPATRICK

A quiet, but pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of the Rev. W. R. Merrick, Belleville, on July 26, when Shirley Donalda Kilpatrick, only daughter of Mrs. Percy Kilpatrick and the late Mr. Kilpatrick, was united in marriage to Mr. Norman Arthur Pennington, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. N. Pennington, Manchester, England.

The bride was attired in a powdered blue sheath, crystalette street-length dress, with white accessories. She carried a cascade of white and pink feathered carnations.

Her bridesmaid was Miss Hazel Prindle of Foxboro, gowned in pastel pink crystalette with white accessories and carrying a cascade of blue and white feathered carnations.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. William Prindle of Belleville.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held in the school parlors, where the bride's mother received, wearing a black and white chemise of polished cotton and corsage of pink carnations.

She was assisted by Mrs. Fred Prindle, friend of the bridegroom, gowned in pink net over taffeta, wearing a corsage of white carnations.

The bride's table was tastefully decorated by a three-tier wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom and flanked by the bouquets of the bridal attendants.

For the wedding trip to Kingston, Watertown, Syracuse, N.Y., and other points, the bride donned a blue crystalette duster ensemble with white accessories and corsage of pink roses.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. N. Pennington will reside at 24 Valleyview Crescent, Belleville, Ont.

Guests were present from Ottawa, Toronto, Forrester's Falls, Kingston, Plainfield and Madoc.

BRENNAN—CRONKRIGHT

PLAINFIELD — Plainfield United Church was the setting for a pretty summer wedding on Saturday, July 19th., at 2.00 p.m. with a lovely floral decorations of pink and red roses and blue delphinium, when guest pews marked with large white bows, when the Rev. R. W. T. Middleton united in marriage Shirley Agatha Cronkright of Plainfield, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Cronkright, to William Edward, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Brennan of Plainfield.

The reception was held in the L.O.L. hall in Plainfield. The bride's table beneath pink and white streamers and white wedding bells, with its white damask cloth, centred with a two-tier wedding cake topped with Sweetheart roses and misted all over with pink tulle, was flanked by silver candlesticks with lighted pink candles and vases of pink and red roses.

The bride's mother, gowned in baby blue nylon with white accessories and corsage of pink Sweetheart roses, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who wore baby blue lace with white accessories and corsage of Sweetheart roses.

For travelling to Syracuse, N.Y., and points east, Mrs. Thomas the bride wore a sheath dress of white, sharkskin with overskirt of red organdy, red feather hat and corsage of red roses. The couple are residing at 121 West Moira Street, Belleville.

The bride's gifts to those serving and the hostesses were china cups and saucers. Mrs. C. Hilchon, Miss Sheila Park, Miss Brenda Huffman and Miss Sharon Cronkright served, and Mrs. Daisy Charles Beatty, Mrs. Ralph Wilder and Mrs. A. Meeks were hostesses.

Guests were present from St. Thomas, London, Stevenhurst, Toronto, Trenton, Belleville, Holloway and Plainfield.

A miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Mrs. David Wilder, with Mrs. Charles Beatty and Mrs. Wilder as hostesses and a community party in the Plainfield hall for the young couple when they were presented with a lovely hostess chest-ful of linen.

SEE HUSBAND SAYS SHE WAS RUDE TO THEIR HOSTS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband insists I made a serious social error last evening when we went to dine at the home of a couple whom we met several months ago on a cruise. The first course, a seafood cocktail, was on the table when we went into the dining room, and it was very delicious. But the main course was a meal I have always detested, and when the host started to serve my plate I told him that I never ate that meat, so would he please just serve me the vegetables. My husband gave me a black look, and on the way home he told me that I was frightfully rude to the hostess (who had done the cooking) and to the host, and that I should have let the host serve the meat to my plate and should have at least made a pretense of eating some. My husband is particularly fond of this couple, and now he says we undoubtedly won't be invited by them again. Was what I did really so terribly "rude"?

— Reader

Yes. Just put yourself in t h e place of your hostess and you will realize how hurt and disappointed she must have been that what she had planned to please you had, instead, displeased you. I hope that since this dinner, she isn't deciding it's too much trouble to cope with and cater to your difficult food-notions. I suggest you learn will-power, be grown-up enough to eat anything that is edible. Don't childishly indge in food whims . . . when you dine in the home of people who are trying to make you happy, accept a service of what is provided for you and offered to you, eat at least some of it . . . and never, never, say that you "don't like" some certain food, that you "never eat" that food. Make no comment about your food whims. The idea is not to "detect" a food . . . the idea to detect any discovery on your part.

TIPS IN A SMALL HOTEL

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. I am a middle-aged woman, an office-worker, and a woman co-worker of mine and I are going together on our two-weeks vacation. We have reservations in a small hotel in New England, at the seashore. Will you please give us some guidance about suitable tips?

2. Should we give our tips at the end of each week, or at the end of our stay? — Reader

1. Generally for this type of accommodation you can figure the amount you tip at about 10 per cent of your total bill. (Of course this sum would vary according to circumstance; for example, I o r extra service you are given or request.) You give approximately 50 per cent of your tip-total to your waiter (or, probably nowadays, waitress); and 25 per cent to the chambermaid. The porter or bellhop is given from 25 to 50 cents for each piece of luggage he carries, depending on the size of the hotel and the distance he has to be carried. If there is a beach-boy, you give him from 50 cents to $1 a week, depending on the service given.

2. It is quite all right for you to give your tips at the end of your two-weeks stay . . . but I advise you to give your tips for the first week at the end of the

The blouse-back really blooms this fall, appearing on dresses, suits and coats, for day, evening and sports use. In this new fall dress it is achieved with a pleated panel attached to a belt that ties in front. The shallow scoop neck of this black or brown crepe dress is banded in a yoke effect above the pleated panel and terminates in a deep V in front. A good choice for almost any figure, it is the type of dress that is sure to see plenty of use.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a woman's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Gladys G. — We should take care of Uncle.

Philip G. — He belongs in a nursing home.

Gladys G. — We are having quite a dispute in our family over the problem of an aging uncle of my husband's. Neither of us has living parents and his uncle is the only member of the older generation with whom we have been close. Now past 75, he is beginning to need care and no longer should live by himself, as he has been doing since his wife died 11 years ago.

I feel I would like to make a home for him in a larger house than the one we now have. My husband is all for a nursing home.

I feel it would be setting a poor example to our children to send this uncle off to a nursing home. When I was a child I was very close to my grandparents and I think this generation is deprived of something precious by having everything so neatly institutionalized.

Philip G. — My wife is quite sentimental, but I wonder h o well her sentiment will wear when she has to walk on and nurse an old man day after day. We don't have all the facilities to provide for his care.

I think it is setting a far better example to the children to have them visit him and to have them see that he is well cared for, than to have them withers all the unhappiness that would inevitably be caused by having an ailing old man in our midst.

Aside from this, Uncle is not the kind of person who fits in easily. He is peculiar n his habits and that's why he has been living alone. I have my own sentimentality, too. I am painfully aware of the fact that my uncle is the last of the older generation and it would disturb me constantly to see him ailing.

The Council: Gladys has taken the more difficult side of the argument because she is attempting to go against the tide of the current mode: It is difficult to argue that the latest convention is not right, but her sentiment should not be undervalued.

There are many instances, where a great deal of medical care is required, and it would probably be decidedly wrong to deprive the aging person of institutional facilities.

If this is not the case here, then Gladys may be right in arguing against the institutionalized separation of the generations that is the present trend.

Such questions should not be decided merely on the basis of what seems to be the average or norm. Individual feelings are too precious to be discarded for fashion or trend.

Philip may be wrong in assuming that his wife will tire of the responsibility. She probably will derive a great deal of inward happiness from knowing that she is putting herself out for an older person close to her husband and children.

Her point of view should not be discarded lightly.

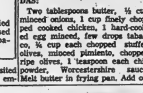
WEDNESDAY

Fried Chicken Legs; Curried Rice; Glazed Carrots; Tossed Salad (see Monday); Cocoanut Layer Cake; Hot Tea.

My friend Helen whom I visited over the past week-end made em-panadas. Do you know what they are? I did not. But when I tasted them I knew they rated space in this column. What they are is a little triangular pastry turnover filled with a spicy chicken mixture. Lovely buffet or cocktail time fork or finger food. I think the perennial hostesses in our midst will snap them up.

HELEN'S CHICKEN EMPANADAS:

Two tablespoons butter, ½ cup minced onions, 1 cup finely chopped cooked chicken, 1 hard-cooked egg minced, few drops tabasco, ½ cup each chopped stuffed olives, minced pimiento, chopped ripe olives, 1 teaspoon each chili powder, Worcestershire sauce. Melt butter in frying pan. Add onions and saute over low heat, stirring often, until soft but not brown. Add chicken and pimiento and cook until lightly browned. Set aside. Combine remaining ingredients and add to chicken mixture. Roll out best quality plain pastry very thin. Cut in 3 dozen 3" squares. Place about 1 tablespoon filling on each square. Fold fork or finger food. I think the triangle. Crimp edges. Prick w# tines of fork. Bake in 425 deg. Fahr. oven for 12 to 15 minutes or until brown. Serve hot.



NOTE:

1.) Thess freeze well before baking, but require longer baking time if baked direct from freezer. 2). To glaze just before baking, brush tops with slightly beaten egg white.

Then I have some Maple Crisp Rings that Helen made from their own maple syrup. (Can you imagine my delight when George gave me a 2-quart jar of first run maple syrup to bring home?) These she filled with a scoop of homemade canteloupe sherbet. Needless to say I haven't weighed in since my return.

MAPLE CRISP RINGS:

Four cups corn flakes broken a little, 1 cup maple syrup, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine. Heat together maple syrup and butter to 220 deg. Fahr. (or until it will "drop" from edge of spoon — very thin "short thread" syrup). Add corn flakes all at once and stir. Quickly press into 12 individual ring moulds. Cool. Loosen. Serve under scoop of ice cream with raspberries or sliced peaches or any fruit in season.

Tourists Say New Zealand Hotels Odd, Customs Never Fail to Astonish Guests

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP) — Delighted and disgruntled tourists have been heaping praise and blame on New Zealand hotels.

They are, indeed, an odd institution, with customs that never fail to astonish overseas visitors.

The first shock usually comes early in the morning. At any time between six and seven in morning, a maid is liable to burst into every room bearing a cup of tea and biscuits. Often this apparition is not preceded by even a preliminary knock on the door.

New Zealanders take their early morning cup of tea for granted. They would be indignant if they didn't get it. But the custom often arouses great indignation from tourists whose sleep is unexpectedly disturbed.

Another point of friction is meals and meal hours. All New Zealand hotels serve three substantial meals a day. They are compelled to by law and any hotel which refuses to feed travellers is liable to a heavy fine.

Usually the daily rates include meals. The cooking may not be inspired, but the food is good and plentiful. Even breakfast is usually a three-course meal, including fruit, cereal, eggs and bacon or steak, toast, jam and coffee.

But these meals are served within strictly limited periods, and if a hotel guest or casual traveller seeks food outside these hours he is liable to receive little sympathy or service.

The cause is the highly unionized condition of labor in New Zealand. Any service outside set hours must be paid for at high overtime rates.

Compulsory serving of food, but within limited hours, means that travellers must watch hotel meal times closely, for in many of the smaller towns hotels are virtually the only place to obtain a substantial meal. Other places to eat out are much scarcer than in North America and the quality is liable to be poor in smaller towns.

Most villages, however, have a milk bar nowadays. It is somewhat equivalent to the North American drug store, but the range of food available is far smaller.

A personal complaint that hotels do not provide rooms with bath attached as in North America is rapidly being overcome in all tourist hotels.

But the liquor aspect of New Zealand hotel customs continues to intrigue and amaze visitors. With minor exceptions, only licensed public hotels are permitted to sell liquor in New Zealand.

Since bars must close by law at 6 p.m., the single hour from 5 to 6 after offices close is busier than the rest of the day put together. During this period all residential functions of the hotel are liable to take second place to the need to cope with the mass of humanity crowding into the bars.

Anyone having dinner at the hotel is entitled to have liquor served at his table in the dining room up to 8 p.m. If he is actually in residence in the hotel he is entitled to have liquor served in certain bars and lounges for a further period and at any time in his room. He may buy drinks for friends who come to visit him, but if they seek to repay this hospitality they are liable to prosecution.

CONCILIATORY GESTURE

WARSAW (AP) — The Polish press agency has reported that Roman Catholic episcopate has agreed to remove all printing and mimeographing equipment from monasteries and other sacred places. If confirmed, the move would be a conciliatory gesture in the Church-state crisis set off by a raid July 31 on Jasna Gora, the Polish national shrine, by officials of the state prosecutor's office. The Communist prosecutor charged the monastery was used as a cover for illegal publishing activity. The Church says publishing in monastery offices was done openly and was within the law.

A Liberal motion which contended the government's actions concerning the 1957 and 1958 economic reports had jeopardized the system of continental defence from government advisers to cabinet ministers was beaten by a vote of 139 to 68. On both divisions Liberals and CCF voted together in the minority.

The latter motion was, in part, a reference to Prime Minister Diefenbaker's action last Jan. 30 in disclosing the 1957 economic report. The prime minister charged then that the former Liberal government had ignored warnings of a recession contained in the report when it presented its last budget in March, 1957.

SAYS OPPOSITION WANTED

The prime minister said Tuesday night he tabled the report Jan. 30 as a result of opposition demands.

Opposition Leader Pearson, Mr. Chevrier, Paul Martin (L—Essex East) and J. W. Pickersgill (L—Bonavista Twillingate) disputed this heatedly.

They said a member who cites from a document must table it under Commons rules and Mr. Diefenbaker had read some 37 excerpts from the 1957 report.

Mr. Diefenbaker repeated his June 18 promise to table the 1958 report on request early next year when it would no longer be current.

The government, he said, was concealing no document from Parliament and was following constitutional practice.

Mr. Martin suggested political action of the excerpts violated the Official Secrets Act and said it was the government's duty to go beyond a "half-hearted investigation."

Today the governments will ask the Commons for money to pay its August bills. The House then will deal with various government legislation.

Louis Jordan, Tympany Five Features Stage Show at Fair

It was a torrid summer in the small town of Brinkley, Arkansas . . . the kind that sears with and frays everything in sight. A small errand boy making his way along the parched streets, paused in front of the music store window to gaze longingly at a shiny saxophone gleaming in the sun. By the end of the summer, Louis Jordan had his saxophone.

Today, bandleader Jordan, who brings his orchestra to the Belleville Fair next week, can have any saxophone of his choosing. Yes, fate has been kind to Louis Jordan, but not without the help of the famed maestro himself. The old formula of hard work, study, and patience and the well known intestinal fortitude has landed Jordan at the top.

Jorsn boarded his shooting star during summer vacations at Arkansas Baptist College. He earned $15 a week doubling as clarinetist and entertainer, and then began travelling around the country. After graduation Louis headed for New York, happy hunting grounds for young hopefuls of the entertainment world.

Dame Fame turned a deaf ear to the young saxophonist for several lean years. One day as he sat in a restaurant splurging his last dollar on a meal, she sent a nod in his direction in the form of an offer to join the Jake Chick Webb's orchestra. With Webb's famous band, he achieved his first measure of success as one of the country's top ranking clarinet and saxophone players. When Webb died in 1938, Jordan formed his own band.

For three long years, Jordan and his newly formed group, late, to become famous as the Tympany Five, suffered the usual growing pains of a new band, playing the small-but-popular hot spots in New York. Then the Jordan combo was hooked into Chicago's loop Capitol Lounge as an alternate feature to a popular harmony quartet. The quartet left after a successful four-week engagement. The Jordan outfit stayed on to become a sensation with their rendition of a new one, "I'm Gonna Move to the Outskirts of Town," by a young Negro composer. The four-week engagement lengthened into 32, and national acclaim was at last theirs.

The story from here on is one of huge success. The singing, swinging, clowning Jordan, with his remarkable ability to collect his sunny personality over the footlights to the public, skyrocketed to fame with his Tympany Five . . . breaking box office records wherever he appeared.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Big Joe Lepine, the good-natured Clown Prince of the McFarlands, drew a life-sentence over the weekend.

The big oaf of the blueline whose morale-building humor and consistent good nature lifted the Macs out of the doldrums on more than one occasion now has a permanent playing coach.

JOE LEPINE

Joe got off the bench de-chelordom forever on Saturday when Manager Dan Cupid thumbed him, and signed him with the benedicts for the rest of his natural life.

With a number of his playing pals of the McFarlands beaming their approval, Big Joe took unto himself a beautiful Ottawa bride.

The big defenceman's new manager is a hockey fan from away back. She has followed Joe's lowlane fortunes for not a few years and since he became a member of the McFarlands, one of Joe's most rabid fans in Memorial Arena and in foreign ice-palaces has been the charming young miss from the Parliament Hill village.

The new Mrs. Lepine is one of the most popular members of the McFarlands' distaff set. She is well known to the wives of the Macs and during the Macs' drive for the Allan Cup last winter spent a lot of time in Belleville. On his return from the long jaunts in the playoffs and playdowns the first one to greet Joe here was the new missus.

Joe started his hockey career last season as playing coach of the Cornwall Chevies, with whom he played the season previous after a lengthy puck career with other eastern clubs. But he didn't have much luck with Ray Miron's crazy squad and following the team's early dismal showing Joe was relieved of his duties—and his job.

Lepine hadn't been showing up too well behind the Cornwall blueline and not a few eyebrows were raised when Manager Drury Denyes of the Macs picked up Joe's waiver and signed him for the Allan Cup playoffs.

Joe's dismissal from the Chevies did not effect his irrepressible humor. The guy's good nature in the face of hockey adversity was amazing. It failed to wipe that infectious smile from his face and the unfailing wit from his tongue.

We met him for the first time in the dressing room. "Are you Joe Lepine, the new defenceman?" Joe was asked. He shifted his 220-pound bulk from one skate to the other. "No," he grinned, "I came along with the orchestra.

Lepine showed an amazing reversal of form from the first time he donned a McFarland uniform. He seemed to fit into the Macs' scheme of things, and possibly the renewal of the onus of play-coaching had something to do with it.

The teamwork of the McFarlands appeared to be made to order for Lepine's style. He knew only too well the style of play of Moe Benoit, Floyd Crawford, Lionel Boirley and company behind the Macs' blueline and he adapted himself accordingly.

Joe proved himself to be a team player well above the ordinary. When Ike Hildebrand decided to bench him in favor of other players Joe never batted an eyelash. Experience with topflight eastern clubs had taught him coaches in general and Hildebrand in particular placed teamwork above any individual aspect regardless of the player concerned, and his record.

What perhaps Manager Denyes did not know when he signed Lepine was that he gained a valuable asset for the club over and above the player's lecjane ability.

For Joe's unfailing good humor, a sparkling wit that was concentrated often in caustic repartee and a more-than-average ability for mimicry, more than once erased the sting of defeat from the McFarlands.

On train or bus, on short hikes or overnight trips, Joe's good humor was unfailing. In victory or defeat he maintained a running line of patter hoisting the club's morale after a low and adding to it after victory.

He was not severe to playing jokes on his teammates. Nor did he bat an eyelash when the situation was reversed. He laughed uproariously on one trip when he found his only pair of shorts dangling outside his hotel room window fluttering like a national flag. He immediately wired home for another pair and charged the cable to the perpetrators.

Joe invited a large number of the Macs to his wedding, and a lot of them were in attendance. "C'mon down and see the fun," Joe said in his invitation. "If there are enough of you guys here I will postpone the honeymoon until Monday."

The host of Joe's fans in the city and district join this department in wishing the popular defenceman and his beautiful Ottawa bride a lifetime of marital bliss, happiness and contentment.

Burdette Cools Off Pirates; Turley Plucks Birds

Braves Regain 5-Game Lead As Cubs Nudge Giants 10-9; Bullet Bob Racks Up No. 17

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

When Bob Turley starts something he finishes it. The New York Yankee ace, top winner in the majors with his 17-4 record, has completed 16 of 22 starts.

If Baltimore never sees Turley again it will be much too soon. The Orioles have scored only one run against their former teammate in 36 innings. They wince every time they think of the deal that sent Bullet Bob and No-Hit Don Larsen to New York.

Turley's latest effort was a seven-hitter against the Orioles Tuesday night for a 4-1 victory equals his personal major league high. He had a 17-13 record in 1955 the first year with the Yanks.

HITS 37TH HOMER

Mickey Mantle slammed his 30th home run off loser Connie Johnson with two men on in the third. The blow tied him with Boston's Jackie Jensen for the American League home run lead.

The feeble Orioles suffered their ninth straight defeat, tying the Detroit Tigers for the longest losing streak of the year. The Tigers dropped a six-game winning string snapped by Cleveland 6-1 when Cal McLish pitched the Indians into first place. McLish now has an 11-6 record.

Billy Hoeft, only a 21-year-old rookie from Medford, Mass., beat Washington 7-1 for his first major league victory for Detroit. Ted Williams playfully eluded a fan in the outfield until the police caught up with the intruder in the seventh. Jimmy Piersall's three-run homer was his blow off loser Camilo Pascual.

JUMP ON GRIM

Kansas City romped on loser Bob Grim for five runs in the third inning and hung on for a 7-6 victory over Kansas City with some neat relief work by Turk Lown.

Cleveland got all the runs off George Susce in the first three innings. Former Cub Al Smith's homer. Charlie Maxwell led off the Detroit fifth with a homer and Al Kaline ran off McLish.

Morehouseplate, brought up from the Minneapolis farm about four weeks ago, finally got some solid hitting and fielding defense from the Red Sox.

Lown got down a Kansas City uprising in the fifth and blanked the A's the rest of the way to earn tre victory.

All it took was a little dose of Lew Burdette magic to cool off the Pittsburgh Pirates as National League pennant contenders.

Home runs by Eddie Mathews and Del Crandall set up the 6-1 victory over the Pirates Tuesday night that restored the Braves' five-game lead over San Francisco. The third place Pirates dropped seven games behind the leaders.

The Giants came from way back, trailing by six runs at the end of six innings in Chicago, only to lose to the Cubs 10-9 in the 10th. Ernie Banks' single chased home an unearned run at the expense of Johnny Antonelli in the 10th.

NINTH-INNING RALLY

Cincinnati rallied for three runs in the ninth to edge first top Philadelphia 6-5 as Frank Robinson knocked in the tying and winning runs with a two-run double off Dick Farrell.

St. Louis broke out of its batting slump with 21 hits in a 13-9 romp over Los Angeles. Wally Moon was the Cards' big hitter with a homer and three singles, driving in three runs.

Burdette shut out Pittsburgh's Murtaugh Club with a two-hit, six hit 11th victory. All Milwaukee scores were charged against Ron Kline who gave up five Brave hits for his 10th defeat.

HITS 315T HOMER

Eddie Mathews' hit, including his 31st homer, high in both leagues. Rookie Morris Thacker also homered for the Cubs and Leon Wagner and Orlando Cepeda for the Giants. Willie Mays had three hits for a .341 average.

When Jack Sanford left the game in the ninth in Cincinnati, the Phils had two on with none out. Farrell retired the two men but George Crowe slammed a single off his glove. Mickey Mantle and Robinson hit a 1-3 pitch into centre field. Joe Nuxhall was the winner in relief. Richie Ashburn had two hits to retain the batting lead at .343.

Billy Muffett went all the way in St. Louis, holding the Dodgers to seven hits. Danny Schoendienst was chased with his fourth defeat. The St. hits marked a new season high for the Cards. Stan Musial's two hits left him at .340 in third place.

Millers Meet Bobo, Singh Friday Night

The mammoth Miller Brothers, Bill and Ed, have become somewhat accustomed to having things their own way in team wrestling competition. This is merely because they are big, each in the 300-pound bracket, rugged, don't give a hang for anybody and, besides, are topnotch wrestlers, whether you like them or not. (Does somebody like them?).

At any rate, with all this going for them, the brawny brothers will have all they can handle and then some in the team wrestling feature at the Memorial Arena on Friday night. For they'll be in the ring against a standout team, that of Bo-Bo Brazil, sensational Negro star, and Dara Singh, the singular Sikh. In addition to being all-round grappling aces, these last-named have specialties that have sent many a mat terror scurrying. There's Brazil's ko-ko punch; there's Singh's cobra hold. Figure that out, ye Millers.

Millers in droves are on the card. A third brother, Dan, will referee. Fireball Finlander, the remi-final test. Another Pat, Mahoney Pilot, will do battle with Maurice LaPointe.

Juniors Stretch Favorites In Canadian Women's Open

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SASKATOON (CP)—Gail Harvey, a sharp-shooting 15-year-old from Edmonton, turned the local upset of the Canadian women's open golf championship Tuesday, but nine other junior players survived the first round of match play and seven more gave a good account of themselves.

The results indicated future competition among Canada's finest female golfers will be of high calibre, and remaided the favorites that in today's second round that they will not be the only ones to post low scores.

Miss Harvey won the national junior title at the Saskatoon Golf and Country Club last Saturday and was one of four players among more than 140 competing to equal par 76. She now is the youngest survivor in the championship flight of the Open.

She scored a 3 on the 11 victory Tuesday over veteran Mrs. Graeme Pyke of Montreal, a member of the Quebec interprovincial golf team nearly every year since 1950.

Joining her among the 16 in the second round are juniors Suzanne Peddle, 17, of Vancouver, and Jackie Moro, 19, of Burlington, Ont. Miss Peddle defeated Vancouver veteran Mrs. M. Hutchcotts 3 and 1 while Miss Moro eliminated Mrs. Lorne Lynn Chaplin of Montreal 4 and 3.

PUT UP FIGHT

The juveniles, including defending champion Betty Stanhope of Edmonton, last year's runner-up Mary Gay of Calgary, Mrs. Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto and Mrs. Rae Milligan of Calgary, survived Tuesday's round, too, but at least two of the latter interposition from juniors.

Rita Lohnes, 19, of Lunenburg, N.S., came from behind to scare Miss Stanhope before losing 2 and 1 on a one-inch putt at the 17th hole. Gayle Hitchens, 14, of Vancouver, lost Miss Gay at the 19th before losing 3 and 1.

Mrs. Streit, who took medalist honors in the interprovincial team play last week and again in Monday's qualifying round, ended her match at the 14th hole, defeating junior Margaret Kiggins of Winnipeg 4 and 4.

Miss Milligan whipped the only United States entrant, Mrs. W. Thorpe of Seattle and formerly of Saskatoon, 7 and 6.

Breaks Own World Mark in 1500 Metres

BUDAPEST (AP) — Hungary's Istvan Rozsavolgyi ran the metric mile, the 1,500 metres, in 3:40.3 to better his own world record in a United States-Hungary-Czechoslovakia track meet Tuesday.

His time goes up for consideration and ratification by the International Amateur Athletic Federation at Stockholm later this month. At that time four other 1,500-metre clockings better that all 10 runners of each team will play singles matches against opponents of corresponding ages in the afternoon.

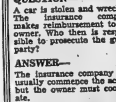
Favor Ontario To Win Over Quebec Golfers

TORONTO (CP)—Canadian and Ontario junior golf champion Bob Panasiuk and Toronto's Phil Brownlee, 1957 provincial junior champ, are the big reasons why Ontario is favored to win the Ontario - Quebec interprovincial junior team match today.

Panasiuk, 16-year-old Windsor whiz, established himself as the best junior golfer in Canada but was beaten in the first round of the Canadian amateur by young Brownlee.



Two man teams from both provinces play a series of singles and double matches at the Toronto Golf Club. The teams, in age brackets from 14 to 18 inclusive, his alternate shots in a morning two-ball foursome round and then all 10 members of each team will play singles matches against opponents of corresponding ages in the afternoon.

Lions' Roar Echoes in East Whip Alouettes For 2nd Win

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — George Herring, a highly versatile quarterback from Edmonton, Western, sparkled British Columbia Lions to a 34-22 win Tuesday night over Montreal Alouettes.

Herring, who kicks, runs and passes, fired four touchdown passes to Ron Cameron and Sonny Homer early in the fourth quarter and the Lions virtually wrapped up the game then and there.

It was the west coast team's second win over eastern clubs in pre-season football exhibitions in less than a week. Last Friday in Vancouver they defeated the Grey Cup champion Hamilton Tiger-Cats 16-7. The Als a week ago knocked off Winnipeg Blue Bombers 49-7.

Playing before a twilight crowd of 21,343 in McGill Stadium, the Lions showed a well - balanced, well - conditioned team, with good line and a capable backfield.

BETTER OPPORTUNITIES

The Lions proved the better opportunists and four of their five touchdowns came directly from passes. Sam Etcheverry of the Als helped his team's offence with passes but their three touchdowns were scored directly on ground plays.

Cameron accounted for two of the Lions' touchdowns. In addition to Homer, the others went to Dick Kaser and Don Vicic. Joel Wells scored two of Montreal's touchdowns and Dick Huard the other.

Bill Newby converted all three of Herring's and Stu Ala added a single point — their only score of the last quarter—when Ray Lackner was rouged on Etcheverry's kick. Ted Hunt failed on one convert. Score: LIONS 34 VAN 22

The Als were short several regulars because of injuries. Missing were Al Patterson, Don Hugo and Bill Hudson and Canadians Johnny Blatcher, Jim Miller, and Johnny Fedosoff.

Sugar Kings Nip Leafs 4-2; Royals Beaten

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some teams can't get the job done with the one big hit. Others need a lot of little ones. But the end result is the same.

Rochester Red Wings used Lennie Green's home run, his only hit of the night, in the 12th inning to defeat Columbus Jets 7-6 Tuesday night. Havana Sugar Kings needed a triple by Tony Gonzales in the 11th inning to edge Toronto Maple Leafs 4-3 while Miami Marlins used 10 pitches to defeat Montreal Royals 7-4.

Ed Dick pitched a two-hit shutout as Richmond Virginians ended Buffalo Bisons seven-game winning streak by beating them 3-0.

GOOD RELIEF HURLING

Green's homer led off the bottom half of the 12th to give Bill Greason his sixth victory in 14 decisions. He pitched six innings of two-hit relief ball, his fourth appearance in five days.

At Toronto, the loss kept Leafs in second place. Jerry Lumpe failed to pick up ground on the league leading Royals.

Reliefer Gene Hughes pitched five innings of three-hit, shutout ball to post his first victory of the season after four losses. Bob Tiefenauer suffered the defeat—his fifth in 16 decisions—after relieving starter Pat Scantlebury at the beginning of the 10th inning.

THREE HOMERS BY VAIN

Montreal tried its hand with the big bat, banging three home runs off winner John Vain and reliefer Jack Baczko but homers in the first inning including Ed Bouchee and Clyde Parris and a two-run homer by pinch-hitter Bob Leonard accounted for all the Royals' runs.

Miami used five singles, a sacrifice and a walk for four runs in the fourth inning and got three more in the fifth on an off loser Jackie Collum on three singles, a pair of walks and a wild pitch.

Dick struck out nine men and walked five as his Richmond mates used three singles in the fifth for one run and got an unearned run in the ninth. John Stadaicki lost.

Ball Players Swing Fists Aboard Plane

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Two veteran baseball players for Phoenix Giants got into a fist-swinging brawl Monday aboard an airliner.

The fight, involved outfielder Dusty Rhodes and pitcher Joe Margoneri of the Pacific Coast League team.

Crew members aboard the Western Airlines plane said the fight was so violent that chairs and tables in the plane were broken. Stewardess Betty Hunt said both men had been drinking.

But members of the Giants said Tuesday a bit of boyish rivalry led to the fight.

Rocky Ryan, manager of the Giants, said both players were fined but would not disclose the amount. Rhodes and Margoneri once again are the best of friends, Ryan added.

The plane was flying the team home from Portland when the fight broke out. The plane commander, Capt. Joseph Sealey, ordered both players off at San Francisco International airport and asked airport police to escort them to another plane.

Neither Rhodes nor Margoneri was available for comment.

13-Year-Old Has No-Hitter Hits Home Run

He also hit a 310-foot home run in the fifth inning to break a 1-1 tie with Merrivale Little League All-Stars and won the game 2-1.

Sir Hooper, former official Border and International League ager who scored the game, said it was "the best game of baseball I've ever seen."

Young Gertsman got all 18 outs of the regulation six-inning game on strikes. He gave up eight walks and one of them scored Merrivale's only run when the Glebe catcher overthrew third base.

Brockville and Ottawa City view play tonight for the district championship. The winner nets Toronto District champions here Aug. 13, and that winner meets Quebec champions Aug. 19 here for the Eastern Canada championship.

The winner goes to Williamsport, Pa., for the Little League world championships in late August.

THIRD UPSET

HAMBURG, Germany (AP)—Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy was ousted from the German international tennis championship Tuesday by Vladimir Petrovic, an exiled Yugoslav. In the third upset of the tournament, Petrovic eliminated the young Italian 6-2, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2. The Italian thus followed Budge Patty, the American from Paris, and Pierre Darmon of France on the sidelines.

'Ole Satch' Suspended by Miami Marlins

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Veteran pitcher Satchel Paige was suspended indefinitely Tuesday by Miami Marlins of the International League.

Marlins general manager Joey Ryan announced the suspension for "utter disregard of rules."

Paige, who asked for his release from the Marlins, was reported en route here from Montreal. The Negro baseball veteran, believed to be upwards of 50 years old, has won nine and lost seven for Miami this season.

Paige was placed on the inactive list Monday. He had accused the club of not paying him the salary due him and expenses.

Paige checked out of his Montreal hotel room Tuesday after telling reporters he was headed for Miami for a "get-together and a showdown" with Ryan.

He said he was being punished for quitting the Marlins for one hour Saturday in Rochester.

Cyd Charisse Does Not Think Musicals Dead in Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Is the musical dead in Hollywood?

Cyd Charisse doesn't think so, although she admits she is on the defensive. The number of musicals has sagged to almost nothing, whereas they once constituted the most one-fourth of the Hollywood product.

"Mainly, it's because musicals are expensive," she conceded.

The long strike of film musicians also contributed to the decline. And there is the repeated claim that musicals do not sell overseas, where about half the profits must come in order for the studios to survive.

"I hear that all the time," Cyd said angrily, "and I don't think it's true. The whole thing started because 20th Century-Fox had bad luck with a couple of its musicals in Europe. They were Carousel and The King and I.

"But those weren't move musicals in the strict sense. They were filmed stage plays. There was little dancing and most of the songs were sung in closeups. Some of the songs were cut in Europe because they didn't understand them over there.

"But none of my numbers from Meet Me in Las Vegas or Silk Stockings have been cut in Europe, and those pictures have done well over there."

She admitted that move musicals have suffered from the competition of television.

"TV has made dancing less important," she said. "But dancing in movies still has the advantage.

AT THE PARK — Jerry Lewis stars as "The Bad Sack" opening Thursday at the Park. Also on the same program is Technicolor musical "Excuse My Dust", starring Red Skelton, Sally Forrest, Macdonald Carey, William Demarest and Monica Lewis.

It's impossible to make dancing really effective on TV. The screen is too small, and the cameras can't move fast enough to get the right angles."

HAS HOPE

She does hope on the horizon. A top producer was moaning to her weeks ago that he'd never make another musical despite her arguments. Recently he confessed to her that he has several planned.

Fortunately for Cyd, she does not need to rely on her talented gams for film work. She dances not a step in Twilight for the Gods with Rock Hudson.

I hope she's right when she says we'll be getting more musicals.

Playhouse 90 to Continue Live for Another Season

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Herbert Brodkin is a tall, lean, sandy-haired man of 45 who belongs to an almost extinct species—a producer of live television drama.

With Fred Coe and John Houseman he composes a new triumvirate which will guide the destinies of Playhouse 90 (CBS-TV) through another season.

A year ago all three were rooted New Yorkers who resisted the idea of working in Hollywood. But facing up to the economic facts of life and the westward course of television, however, all will work there.

With a long career as a producer of live TV in New York, Brodkin quit Studio One last season rather than follow it to Hollywood where it will shortly be interred as another live drama series that died. But he is enthusiastic about the prospects of the 13 to 20 live dramas he will produce for Playhouse 90 on the west coast.

PRODUCER NEEDS TIME

"Any weekly drama series is good," he says, "if it's very good every third or fourth week. The biggest problem a producer faces is having enough time to prepare scripts. Theres plenty of material, but you have to have time to prepare it."

Of the 20 productions on which Brodkin currently is engaged, at least six are being originally written for television.

"It's always a temptation to adapt a novel because a good story already exists," said Brodkin. "That's the easy way. But I believe television should create its own."

Although Brodkin reads every script submitted to him, he rarely finds suitable material among the hundreds that pour in.

Thursday, August 7

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — Be sure not to take any chances whatsoever where money matters, property, or security concerned today, but look to increasing your abundance. Improve other persons with your good humor and sense of fair play.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — Have is a day when you would like to turn a pal whose generosity is untiring into a too economically minded persons like yourself. Reach a happy medium instead by adding generosity to own nature. P. M. look into any health problems you may have.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Somewhat confused as to whether to attend to private matters or go out to do errands. If you get your time scheduled properly, you can combine both out driving or walking on the highway.

Children (June 22 to July 21) — It would be the height of wisdom to listen to fine ideas given you by a pal of great character who lives what he or she preaches. Be certain to consider the social and aesthetic, as well as the financial angles.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — An unusual day when someone in authority is being rather petty, small or completely out of character. It is not necessary that you follow suit, or demonstrate as you desire to do, but allow for weakness even in the Ritzer.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) — Take care not to allow that overly dynamic person to push you into something you would later regret. Spend time analyzing more modern trends, instead. A good pal takes you to fine social gathering in P. M. and you make a new friend.

Libra (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) — A clever person in advisory capacity today gives you a splendid idea. Invest in it though it means economizing in something else. Tonight, be with influential person for social pleasure.

Scorpio (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) — A dynamic associate is in the right during an argument with a person in a higher position, but that does not require that you, too, add fuel to the fire. Let kindness and courtesy play the major role, and all is fine.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — While you are faced with a mountain of work, yet one of character wishes to take some of your time to give you good advice. Listen carefully so that you may have a clearer insight into everything. P.M. be loving.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Determine to be happy today by giving attention to such things as appearance, fun, devotion to others. But some associate whom you admire has a fine idea cooking. Find out what it is during recreation fo P.M.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Pay bled to the practical and far - reaching ideas expressed by a partner rather than the small, impractical ones of a person with little outside experience. P. M. is fine for a social gathering, fun at own abode.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Steer clear of extravagant ideas or methods in connection with your regular labors. A good day to buy what you need at a considerable saving. Tonight is excellent for recreation at games, etc. Be joyful and glad.

If your child is born today ... The intelligent child born today will have great willpower, but it is your duty to early teach order and system in order to bring out the best in this promising chart, since the mentality is such that it covers the great points with the fine points very satisfactorily. Success in modern psychology is a must here, also, and as many of the arts and sciences as possible to digest.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a way to healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

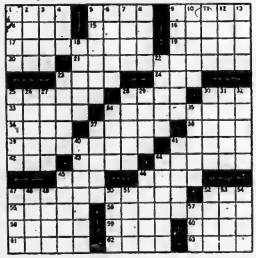
In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among those sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoidal conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anaesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.



The new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form as Preparation H. All are individually sealed convenient. Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Little Agreement on Specific Objectives of Summit Meet

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Date and place for a meeting of heads of the major powers may be agreed upon ultimately. But there seems little agreement anywhere on the specific objectives of such a meeting.

Western powers probably are most interested in arriving at safeguards against any form of indirect aggression—if there can be any agreement on exactly what constitutes indirect aggression.

United States and United Kingdom intervention in Lebanon and Jordan followed claims by the two countries concerned that they needed assistance to meet the threats to their constituted governments by rebellious groups aided and encouraged from outside.

OPINIONS DIFFER

There has been no agreement as to the extent or even the existence of such outside influence in respect of Lebanon where a United Nations observer group has been checking the Syrian border.

If it were true that the Middle East trouble is the result of infiltration and propaganda by outside powers it is probable that would be called indirect aggression so far as the West is concerned.

Soviet thinking would hardly go along with this idea when the top level conference might end at that obstacle.

On the other hand Soviet Premier Khrushchev has not hesitated to describe the United Kingdom landings in Jordan and the U.S. marines in Lebanon as aggression.

It could be expected that at the meeting the Soviet leader would at once demand the departure of the British and Americans from the Middle East and accept nothing less as a preliminary to negotiations.

Canadian interest in the proposed meeting is general. The government will doubtless be held because there is always a hope that some good could be achieved.

But pundits are cautious. Some have pointed out as to just what they would propose or hope to obtain from the talks.

There is not complete agreement in the West as to policy in respect of Middle East affairs. On the other side the only opinion on matters Mr. Khrushchev's and possibly that of his friends who run the Chinese Communist republic.

FOR GENERAL GOOD

The Western objective is to bring about peace and security in the Middle East, and elsewhere, so that countries may develop their resources and their societies and continue to do business in an orderly and profitable manner.

That is the objective the Canadian government would like to see achieved at the meeting Prime Minister Smith stressed last week that economic aid to these countries should be provided to bring about their prosperous development, and particularly to lift their standards of living.

Canada's position as Lester Pearson agreed but suggested that in the old-rich countries there should be some assurance that the wealth be spent for the good of the masses and not for the opulence of the few potentates.

Five-for-One Stock Split of Co. Approved

OTTAWA (CP) — Two CCF members stalked out in protest, and some Progressive Conservative members voiced misgivings, but a Commons committee nonetheless approved Tuesday a projected five-for-one stock split that Trans Mountain Oil Pipe Line Company has had in and out of Parliament for more than a year.

When the Commons met later, the committee's report approving the measure was challenged by Stanley Knowles (CCF — Winnipeg-Michener decided to make a ruling later on Mr. Regier's claim bill actually was killed in committee.

Heated argument developed Tuesday over whether the bill had in fact been killed in committee proceedings of July 29. Chairman Gordon K. Fraser (PC — Peterborough) said no vote was taken then had been to have further discussion on the bill.

Procedural tangle developed, with Frank Howard, CCF member for Skeena, saying at one point that he would appeal the procedure on the floor of the Commons. But that threat was not precedent demanded, that the matter be settled within the committee.

QUIT SITTING

"I cannot sit and consider something that already decided against," Mr. Howard said, getting up and striding from the room. With him went Mr. Regier.

The company, which operates the pipe line between Edmonton and Vancouver, now has authorized share capital of 3,000,000 shares, of which only 1,500,000 have been issued. Now selling at around $56, the shares would be expected to sell at' between $11 or $12 after a five-for-one split, underwriters have estimated.

Last spring CCF members successfully moved amendments to the bill to split the company's stock, holding that the split would benefit only the companies' promoters and stockholders.

John Diefenbaker (PC — Burnaby-Richmond) said the company had never given adequate reason for needing a split.

William Payne (PC—Coast Capilano) said the committee was being asked "to sign a blank cheque."

PACK MERGED SCHEDULE

WINNIPEG (CP)—Ralph Parker, president of Winnipeg Rifle Bombers, said Tuesday the five western professional football teams will be solidly behind a full interlocking schedule when the western conference started Friday's Canadian Football League meeting in Toronto. "I don't think the West will buy a partial interlocking schedule," he said.

Nasser Has Passed Peak Of Popularity Says Writer

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP FOREIGN NEWS ANALYST

Scholarly young Arab intellectuals speak in clear, clipped British accents of the coming rout of the Western foreigner.

Well-heeled young sheiks in immaculate white robes and kaffiyahs mutter sullen protests against the feudalism which is the source of their wealth.

Palestine refugees cling to their tin-roofed shacks and dream of revenge.

And all look speculatively toward Cairo. For the present, at any rate, Gamal Abdel Nasser is their hero.

This is not because he is Gamal Abdel Nasser. It is because they are in search of a hero. Nasserism need not be the only way out for them.

In fact, Nasser already has passed one peak of popularity in the Arab East. The United Arab Republic's president still has enormous potential for good or mischief. But developments this year have cooled the ardor of some of his followers.

It is for the West now to recognize that Nasser is only a symbol to most nationalists. His appeal is to a small but powerful intellectual class which blames the West for its woes.

The peasants of Egypt, the lonely Bedouin nomads of the Arab deserts, the heavily - burdened laborers of Iraq know little of politics. If they respond to Nasser, it is because Arab intellectuals have persuaded them to do so with the poetically cadenced violence of emotional propaganda.

Nasser was a spur to revolution in Iraq. But this did not necessarily mean Iraqis in the future would follow him blindly.

Nasser is the good to revenge among the half million Palestine refugees. But should he attempt to make any accommodation with Israel or be suspected of turning his back on the Palestine question, the refugees will look for a new leader.

The sleek young sheiks admire Nasser for the moment. Their admiration comes from fury at the spectacle of their own countries still mired in centuries-old feudal backwardness in the midst of oil riches.

I talked with representatives of all these groups—in Iraq, in Saudi Arabia, in fabulously wealthy Kuwait, in Egypt. Everywhere it was Nasser the symbol rather than Nasser the man—he solidarity beacon in what to the young intellectual was a sea of darkness.

In baffling Saudi Arabia, Western - educated and rich young Bedouins are affected by Egyptian propaganda and have persuaded themselves some of their oil riches might better be used for Arabism than for perpetuating the royal house and its innumerable princes.

The Iraqis would follow the Nasser symbol, I. But to some, even Nasser is roving to have feet of clay. So told me they were not so sure as they were two years ago at all. Nasser stands for is rig The swiftness with which Egyp swallowed Syria shook the faith in their hero. This was the sort of Arab unity the had envisioned.

Even in Egyp young men are stirring. The lif middle class concentrated in e cities is unhappy. Egypt's economy is in woeful condition.

The impressio one gets, after extensive fa finding tog- in an area where cts are scarce, is that Nasser ed not be the only answer. Never illogical they may, appe to Westerners, the yearnings of hese young men have important bearing on the West's future in he Middle East. Thus far the est has offered nothing to tak the place of Nasser.

Patrolman Charles Lawler found the hungry, young hitchhiker walking the streets Wednesday in Glens Falls, N.Y., about 90 miles from Bristol. Police turned him over to his father Morton, who drove him home.

Lawler said the youngster explained his running away this way:

"I couldn't face the future with four younger sisters. I just couldn't take it any more."

Lake Ontario 18 Inches Below Normal at 245.29

DETROIT (CP) — The United States Corps of Engineers reported Wednesday the Great Lakes—already at their lowest level in years—will drop further this month.

Lake Erie in July was 572.06 feet above mean tide at New York, 1935 datum, was 11 inches below normal and 18 inches below the mean level for July, 1957. The corps said it will drop another two inches this month.

Lake St. Clair at 574.77 in July was 10 inches below normal and 12 inches below July last year. It will drop three inches this month.

Lake Ontario at 245.29 was 18 inches below normal and 14 inches down from 1957 and was to drop four inches: Lakes Michigan and Huron at 579.05 were down 10 inches from last year and two feet from normal and were to drop an inch and a half this month.

Lake Superior at 601.95 in July was four inches below last July and seven inches below normal. It will show little change in August the corps said.

He was replying in the Commons to Walter Dinsdale (PC—Brandon-Souris) on reports that the Queen will come to Canada next year.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis:— The warm muggy air that covers Southern Ontario resulted in more rain for it in the extreme southwestern areas while overnight temperatures stayed in the mid 60s. Little change is indicated through Friday with scattered thunderstorms in the late afternoon and evening. In Northern Ontario partly cloudy skies with a few scattered showers or thunderstorms today will give way to fair but cooler weather on Friday.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Violent thunderstorms swept southwestern Ontario Wednesday. Winds of 40 miles an hour flattened crops and snapped trees for some areas. Cloudbursts flooded fields and streets. Four persons were injured in one storm. At least two barns were razed by lightning fires.

Weather forecasters said the storms occurred when a mass of cold air moved southeast from the Lakehead, clashing with warm and humid air between Toronto and Windsor.

Lambton and Kent counties appeared to be hardest hit.

At the Lake Huron resort of Bright's Grove, winds of near-hurricane force slammed a 10-by-40-foot tent, ripping the roof into the windshield of a car and sent a family of four to hospital. Cots were suffered by Gordon Parker, 26, of Corunna, his wife Theresa, 20, and daughters Susan, 4, and Mary Anne, 14 months.

Keen crop observers throughout Harwich, Raleigh, Dover and Chatham townships suffered severe damage as gale-force winds levelled corn fields and downpours swamped bean fields.

Lightning hit a barn owned by Cecil Armstrong, four miles south of Port Stanley, and another owned by Leslie Shaddock four miles south of Parkhill. Both were destroyed.

Lightning killed four pure-bred Holstein milk cows at Charles Honey's farm in Percy Township, 20 miles southeast of Peterborough. Mr. Honey is secretary of the Northumberland County Holstein Club.

At Chatham, 2.58 inches of rain fell within three hours, setting a local record. Power was interrupted in some parts of the city Tuesday as falling limbs snapped wires.

London had .68 inches of rain and nearby Centralia .54 inches.

In Windsor, cars stalled and many basements were flooded during the heaviest rain of the summer. More than half an inch was recorded.

Hamilton had a severe electrical storm that dumped half an inch of rain in 90 minutes and caused minor flooding in addition to Dundas and Ancaster townships.

Forecasters at Toronto said .09 inches of rain fell but little damage was reported.

AUTHORITY PUT IN TICKLISH SPOT ON SEAWAY TOLLS

Welland Canal Users Bitterly Opposed

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—A powerful offensive waged against proposed Welland Canal tolls has placed the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority in a ticklish spot as it considers recommended levies on ships and cargoes to finance the $471,000,000 inland waterway.

The authority's committee has suggested levies which would yield about $3,000,000 a year from users of the now toll-free Welland Canal and about $11,000,000 from the seaway's Montreal-Lake Ontario link to pay off the $340,000,000 Canadian costs over the next 50 years.

But at a one-day hearing Wednesday, Niagara peninsula industries and communities backed by other groups and opposed only by the Atlantic provinces, staged a bitter fight against Welland tolls, claiming the latter's right-of-way to impose them and warning of serious economic repercussions affecting the whole country if the tolls go through.

The three man committee headed by president B. J. Roberts, also heard complaints that rate proposals gave an advantage to grain over other products. Grain, subject to bulk or in bags, would go at the bulk rate, while those in the package or general cargo rate.

LOW DOMESTIC RATE

Domestic package cargo also would get the low rate to maintain competition with rail and coastal carriers. The Maritimes transportation commission, which represents Welland Canal tolls, suggested the domestic rate should be widened not only to provide low rates for Canadian coastal points but also on Canadian shipments to the United States.

Lamarca snatched 22-day-old Peter from his carriage outside the the Weinbergers' Westbury, N.Y., home June 18, 1956, in a bid to get the baby to die in a lonely briar and underbrush patch the second day of the kidnapping.

Texas Teen-Ager Rode 4,000 Miles To Chat With Princess Margaret

By CHRISTINE STEWART
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Cherry Stayton, 14, who travelled 4,000 miles just to see Princess Margaret, is carrying home memories of a royal smile and a personal royal chat.

The pretty little teen-ager from Austin, Texas, said she thought at first nothing could outdo her impressions when she stepped from a motorcycle to the lieutenant-governor's residence for a brief stopover.

She then made a 25-minute tour of the city, attended a garden party, visited the citadel, and had a ride in the royal train to Ottawa.

The princess was due to make it possible for Cherry to stand a little closer to Princess Margaret and perhaps talk to her?" the letter asked.

Wednesday the princess arrived at Lafontaine Park, acknowledged the cheers of 25,000 Montreal moppets, then moved 40th Mayor Fournier along a row of children, shaking hands.

When they came to Cherry, Mayor Fournier asked:

"Ma'am, I would like you to meet Cherry Stayton, who travelled a long way to see you."

"So you're the girl from Texas whose big petition was about!" said the princess.

"Yes," said Cherry. "But I didn't know anything about it until I got to Montreal."

The princess wished her a happy journey.

"She was just like I thought she'd be," said Cherry. "Beautiful."

Two Tankers Collide in Fog At Least 6 Die, Perhaps 15

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Two tankers collided in thick fog today at the entrance to Newport harbor and burst into flame. Six crewmen were known to be dead and one report had the toll as high as 15.

Hours later navy firemen clad in asbestos suits poured water into one of the vessels which contained 22,000 barrels of gasoline.

News director Robert Lape of radio station WICE in Providence said his reporter at the scene said nine other bodies were found aboard one of the tankers, the Gulfoil.

The dead included Capt. Monteville Eden, skipper of the Gulfoil.

The Gulfoil had a crew of 38 and the S. S. Graham, a 500-foot motor tanker which carried the gasoline, had a crew of 32. Twenty-eight of the crewmen were then rescued and an intense search was went on for the remaining 16.

The Gulfoil, 10,347 tons, was outbound empty from Providence for Port Arthur, Texas, when she struck the port bow of the 250-foot motor tanker S. E. Graham, inbound from Newark, N.J., with nearly 22,000 barrels of gasoline. Both ships caught fire and were beached while tugs battled the flames, hampered by the dense fog.

Frank Powell, 42, who was at the helm of the Graham, told reporters: "There was no explosion. The ship just caught fire and burst into flames.

"I ran to get a lifeboat over as the ship came on deck, but the fog was so thick we could not see the boat when we launched it. So we all jumped into the water."

Visibility improved as the warm morning wore on and five helicopters joined the search for the missing men.

Three hours after the crash the fire was extinguished on the Gulfoil.

Killer-Hunting Mounties Die When Plane Hits Hillside

SUMMERLAND, B.C. (CP) — Police continued searching for a suspected killer today in a hunt that already has resulted in the wounding of one Mountie and the deaths of three others who perished when their search plane crashed into a hillside.

The three RCMP officers died Wednesday as they flew low over the Skaha Lake area following reports that the unidentified suspect was seen in the district. The clue later proved useless.

The wounded constable, Ralph Brown, was shot twice on Tuesday as he questioned a suspect. He is in good condition with neck and arm wounds.

Sgt. Stanley E. Pothwell, 49, of Vancouver; Const. Richard Evans, 25, of Penticton, B.C., and Const. J. R. Cormier, 27, of Vancouver, died in the crashup that took Beaver Aquilon. The "suspect" reported in the area turned out to be a local orchard owner.

The crash happened on the opposite side of the lake from the cabin in which the body of Constable Brown, 28, was found discovered by her employer earlier Monday. A recent immigrant from Germany, Miss Budde was working on an orchard at Kaleden.

Police say they know the identity of the man they are seeking. He is well known in this area and has boasted to local residents that he has killed a man in the lake.

A former employer said the man is "a really tough character" and police described him as dangerous.

No warrant has been issued for the suspect but his name and description have been widely circulated.

Police cars have been questioned by police. All have been released.

The cause of the plane crash was not known. A department of transport enquiry was to be held into the accident. An inquest is to open later this week.

Princess in Maritimes After Whirlwind Visit to Quebec

By GERRY LE FONTAINE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP) — Princess Margaret moved into the Maritimes today on the final leg of her Canadian tour after a whirlwind visit to this quaint French-Canadian city Wednesday.

The princess arrived to arrive in Fredericton at 11 a.m. EDT by train. She will be met by Premier when she is to leave Halifax for England.

Margaret's tight schedule gave her only 4½ hours in Quebec City and she was to leave from the moment she stepped from an RCAF C-5 aircraft that brought her from Ottawa.

After the plane touched down at nearby Ancienne Lorette airport, the princess was driven in a motorcade to the lieutenant-governor's residence for a brief stopover.

She then made a 25-minute tour of the city, attended a garden party, visited the citadel, and had a ride in the royal train to Ottawa.

The princess would please make it Cherry to stand a little closer to Princess Margaret and perhaps talk to her?" the letter asked.

Wednesday the princess arrived at Lafontaine Park, acknowledged the cheers of 25,000 Montreal moppets, then moved 40th Mayor Fournier along a row of children, shaking hands.

When they came to Cherry, Mayor Fournier asked:

"Ma'am, I would like you to meet Cherry Stayton, who travelled a long way to see you."

"So you're the girl from Texas whose big petition was about!" said the princess.

"Yes," said Cherry. "But I didn't know anything about it until I got to Montreal."

SAYS CONVERSION PLAN DICTATED BY LOAN-LENDERS

Fleming Calls Claim Of Member 'Rubbish'

OTTAWA (CP) — CCF members, maintaining a drum-fire attack in the Commons on the federal government's loan conversion plan, have charged that the $6,416,000,000 refinancing project was dictated by the "money-lenders" of Canada.

Erhart Regier, Burnaby - Coquitlam, continued an attack he launched earlier this week, said Wednesday night the bond conversion plan was used to "pay off" financial institutions supporting the government.

That, he said, is the only conclusion to be drawn from the fact that the project, costing wartime victory bonds, was not mentioned in Finance Minister Fleming's June 17 budget. Instead, it was proclaimed with great flourish in mid-July, some four weeks later.

Arnold Peters (CCF — Timiskaming) loudly called on Mr. Fleming to resign.

PAY-OFF DEMAND

Referring to Mr. Fleming's announcement in his budget that the government would borrow $2,400,000,000 in bonds this year, Mr. Regier said:

"When the minister went to Montreal and Toronto and tried to borrow . . . he was told what he had to do. He was told he had to pay off those institutions that helped the Conservative party in the past."

Regier and Murdo Martin (CCF—Timmins) both said the financial men of Bay Street in Toronto and St. James Street in Montreal are dictating Canadian financial policies.

They argued that the conversion loan, given a roaring welcome by investors in bonds, would benefit money - lenders rather than the country, would force up interest rates and cause inflationary pressures.

Provincial and municipal authorities would have difficulty raising funds for worthwhile projects. Money that should go into resources development, help farmers and small businesses would be diverted into bonds, the CCF members said.

Mr. Fleming was in the Commons when the charges were made. Finally, during the debate exchange, he interjected words like "rubbish" and "nonsense" as Mr. Regier criticized the loan campaign.

Flies From Aqaba In Answer To Hussein Request

First Major Contingent To Reinforce Paratroops

AMMAN, Jordan (CP) — More British troops arrived in Amman today as reinforcements requested by King Hussein for British forces already here.

Chartered planes of the Jordanian airline were flying the troops from the port of Aqaba in Amman to reinforce the 2,500 Britons bolstering Hussein's regime.

One British source said about 500 men were being flown in. Men in the first planeload said they had come by ship from Aden, the British colony at the southern end of the Red Sea.

REINFORCE PARATROOPS

They were the first Britons in contingent sent to reinforce the paratroopers flown from Cyprus to Amman July 17.

Their role, a military spokesman here said, is the same as effective operation of the newly established lines of communication between Aqaba and Amman."

The initial airlift of troops into Jordan was hailed after the week when Israel announced further flights over Israeli territory. The port of Aqaba then assumed greater importance.

The carrier Bulwark anchored there this morning after steering into the Gulf of Aqaba. It was the first British carrier ever in the gulf.

MADE HIM WAIT

Nasser kept Murphy waiting until mid-evening Wednesday before he would receive him. But Murphy said they had a "very thorough, very friendly, very satisfactory conversation ranging over a large number of subjects."

Murphy's mission is to get Murphy to the Middle East following the U.S. pleading in London to help work out a political settlement among the Lebanese. The diplomats-at-large today to Addis Ababa, the Ethiopian capital, was gone to Greenwich, Conn.

"I feel personally I now have a much better appreciation and understanding of the problems here," Murphy said. "It was a very satisfactory meeting."

SURPRISE MISSION

Nasser's military leader meanwhile was at the Kremlin for a surprise mission to King Saud.

The Middle East news agency reported that Field Marshal Abdel Hakim Amer, the military commander of the United Arab Republic, had flown to visit Saud at the monarch's summer palace.

MacMillan Bard Says Gaelic Mod 'Phoney' but Scots Resent Claim

By IAN MacNEIL
Canadian Press Correspondent

ST. ANNS, N.S. (CP) — The cherished Scottish heritage of Cape Breton came under fire Wednesday from an old-country bard who described the annual Gaelic Mod here is phoney.

The St. Anns affair is a travesty, described by Hugh Mac-Lean Somerled MacMillan of Paisley, Scotland, bard and historian of the MacMillans around the world.

"It's the biggest farce I ever attended . . . a phoney from top to bottom."

Upon the head of the minister of the Church of Scotland descended the wrath of the bard. MacMillan, a MacMillan and a MacLeod on all of Gaelic stock.

Rev. A. W. R. MacKenzie, director of the mod, an annual gathering of the clans with sports games, music and social get-together, described the bard's MacMillan's criticisms as "ridiculous."

Mr. MacMillan said Mr. MacKenzie rode to him at the mod. The bard said he insulted the mod director in Gaelic and "he didn't know what I was talking about."

Mr. MacMillan was reported to have told Mr. MacKenzie "The pulpit collar is a Masonic collar. (You have a lobster's eyes). A phoney."

Gaelic authority said it is an established saying among Gaels about their eyes to things unpleasant.

Roderick MacMillan of Baddeck, acting president of the Clan MacMillan in Nova Scotia, said the bard's statements did not reflect the views of provincial MacMillans.

"We have nothing but praise and gratitude for the mod and its director," he said.

Mod Mistress Macleod of Syracy, Gaelic adviser to the Nova Scotia education department, said the mod has done much good. It has done little research into the Gaelic language, Scottish arts and particularly Cape Breton life.

Three Cape Breton schools taught Gaelic daily, the education department had a Gaelic adviser and a department of Celtic studies is coming this September at St. Francis Xavier University in Antigonish.

Mr. MacMillan said he was shocked by the little Gaelic he heard spoken in Cape Breton which he understood to be the stronghold of Gaelic in North America.

"All I could find who could speak the language were a few older people. The only examples of Scotch culture I saw were a few dances by youngsters . . . the whole setup to me is phoney."

Actor Floored When He Tried to Spank too Hard

WESTBURY, N.Y. — (CP)— The show is Kiss Me Kate and the plot calls for songstress Jane Morgan to be spanked by Earl Wrightson.

But does he have to spank so hard?

Jane, who weighs 118, says he, and Wrightson, 300, has a swollen jaw to prove it.

Jane floored the actor with a right hook one night at the opening here of the play based on Shakespeare's Taming of the Shrew.

"The audience didn't get it, but Earl surely did," said Jane. "I tried to kiss him later to make up, but he wouldn't let me."

Toughest role ever played, while a 'doctor' examined his jaw.

P.M. Accepts Plans to Hear Mid-East Issue

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker Wednesday gave qualified acceptance to the idea of holding an extraordinary session of the United Nations General Assembly to discuss the Middle East situation.

He told the Commons the Canadian government would be prepared a top-level meeting within the UN Security Council, but that it now appears the General Assembly machinery is going to be general approval.

He stressed that the government has wanted all along to arrange some "medium of discussion in the United Nations which would help diminish Middle East tensions."

Mr. Diefenbaker was replying to Opposition Leader Pearson, who suggested it would have been preferable to have any top-level talks held in the General Assembly ducive to intimate and confidential discussions.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the Canadian attitude has been clearly set forth. The Canadian government would have liked a full meeting of the 21-member Security Council. After "exploring sentiments" in that body, it would have liked private meetings between four or five of the major powers, the UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold in the chair.

The government had pressed that view throughout the negotiations, Mr. Diefenbaker said.

Likely TV Production Prices Rise

Wherever a good signal can be obtained, nearly every home in the country now boasts at least one television set. The "saturation" of the market has meant a slow-up among the manufacturers in the production of sets. This fact — and the rise in labor and material cost — is certain to effect the cost of manufacture per unit, which no doubt will be passed along to the buying public.

As a further result of this big volume of sales in the past, there is now a large number of TV sets that are about due to traded in, and dealers may find it difficult to dispose of so many used sets. Trade-in allowances will likely be lowered considerably.

Right now Booth Radio and Television Limited can sell used television sets for summer home and cottage use and can still offer you a good allowance on your old set for a new model. If you are even considering trading your TV for a new set, will pay you to act now. Call in at Booth Radio and Television Limited, 170 Front Street, Belleville.

LODA Manager to Make Trip To Attract Industry to Area

Don Kingdon, general manager of the Lake Ontario Development Association, will go to Toronto next Monday to conduct a personal campaign to attract industry to the area included in the Association. Belleville has representation in LODA.

Mr. Kingdon will approach city and Toronto firms about relocating their plants or opening branches in the nine-county development area. The firms are part of a list of some 1100 manufacturers compiled by his office.

Mr. Kingdon explained that a growth industry is one that manufactures consumer products such as household items and will grow readily with an expanding market.

OTHER INDUSTRIES

Also on the target list are industries who can supply or be supplied with materials, items by manufacturers and industry already in the area.

A third type of firm on the list, Mr. Kingdon said, is the type that manufactures a product at a low cost and sells that product within the area. Drugs and hospital equipment manufacturers fall into this category.

The feasibility of establishing branch plants or even the transplanting of firms lies in the fact that their products are highly marketable and are sold at a price high enough to warrant transportation charges. In the case of part of the produced goods are not sold within the area.

The 100 firms were chosen with care.

CONGESTED AREA

"All these industries are in the congested part of the city. What they call the "Golden Horseshoe."I'll approach one of the officers of the firm and ask him about expansion," Mr. Kingdon said. "Many of the firms in this part of the city have no room to grow and these might be interested in our area.

The former Belleville Chamber of Commerce manager added that all the listed firms have been investigated from a financial standing and a healthy market outlook.

Further, in talking to the plant officers, I'll point out the merits of locating here," Mr. Kingdon continued. He pointed out that transportation and water facilities, the availability of industrial buildings, low rent and low taxes in the area will be a few of his selling point.

CAMPAIGN

While the general manager is in Toronto, a direct mail campaign will be conducted. Mailed recently, this campaign is aimed at every industry in Toronto and Metropolitan area. Some 1,000 American industries that export into this country.

The officers of these firms will receive confidential letters from the LODA short explanation and possible relocation in this area.

Mr. Kingdon indicates in the letters that the area covered by LODA has offices, not all in the province, takes in nine counties and runs from Bowmanville in the west to Napanee in the east and Haliburton in the north.

Chinese Report Air Clashes With Commies

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Nationalist air force reported a clash with Communist MiG-17s near Quemoy today, but said its planes returned to Formosan bases unscathed.

The report came as Formosa echoed with warnings of war.

All Nationalist China on Formosa, the Pescadores and the island outposts off the Communist mainland was in a state of emergency and special precautions against sabotage are being taken at all strategic points.

Troops manning Formosa's coastal defences have been reinforced. Nationalist ground, sea and air forces are in full combat readiness.

Moscow Radio said the Nationalist military activity "is being carried out on instructions from Washington and London and Tokyo as well." The Nationalist information service said the activity was caused by Communist military preparations on the mainland and a buildup of Red air strength in the area.

"We are on the defensive and will not start trouble," a Nationalist Chinese defence ministry spokesman said.

Plan Described As 'Blunder' By PC Member

OTTAWA (CP) — A Royal Canadian Navy plan for an electronic installation to study naval warfare tactics — abandoned as too costly — was described as a "colossal blunder" Wednesday by a Progressive Conservative member of the Commons public accounts committee.

Grent Campbell, MP for Stormont, Ont., as described the plan after the committee was told by Wilton Sellar, auditor-general of Canada, that the original estimate of the cost was $2,816,000.

However, up to March 31, 1957, about $6,000,000 was spent on the project—first wartime naval warfare school at Halifax — which was abandoned in July, 1956 after 22 experts estimated it would cost between $16,000,000 and $19,000,000 to complete.

Instead, Mr. Sellar said, the government is purchasing a similar device from the United Kingdom for $900,000.

Mr. Campbell said the committee should make a searching inquiry into the circumstances of the "colossal blunder" but was told the committee would not have time to do so this year.

Deseronto Will Not Hire Another Man for Force

The town of Deseronto which, since Spring has seen the resignation of two mayors, two members of council, the town clerk and now its police chief, will get along without hiring another man for the police force.

This was stated today by Mayor Harry Sweetman, following the resignation Tuesday night of Police Chief Stan McTaggart.

"Absolutely no, we are not going to hire another man for the police force" stated Mayor Sweetman. "The second man for the force was hired in the first place only to look after the speed trap. The speed trap has been discontinued so we don't need another man."

"We can't afford a two - man force and we don't need one," the mayor said.

Asked his reasons for resigning, former chief McTaggart said yesterday that the lack of co-operation on the part of council. A month ago council had asked Chief McTaggart to resign. This he had refused to do.

Later the second man on the force, Constable Herbert Clare claimed he had been assaulted by Chief McTaggart. This the chief denied and a special meeting was held Wednesday night to deal with the matter.

However Chief McTaggart submitted his resignation at Tuesday night's regular meeting of council. His resignation was accepted with council making it effective at midnight Tuesday.

Police Search Marsh for Woman Believed Addict

BRADFORD, Ont. (CP) — A score of provincial police officers were scouring dense underbrush in nearby Holland Marsh today for a bloody woman in white sweater and shorts, believed to be under the influence of narcotics.

Police say the woman jumped from a police cruiser, swam across the marsh drainage canal and disappeared in bush. They had picked her up after a report from Mr. nd Mrs. Frank Wist who lives on the Holland Marsh, about 30 miles north of Toronto. The Wists were awakened at 6 a.m. by cries for help and found a woman, about 30, in front of their home.

They said the woman was incoherent and the pupils of her eyes were "as large as saucers." She wandered aimlessly about the house, asked them to call police, then fled down the road to a neighbor's house. A waiting car followed her, then raced off down the road.

Mrs. Wist said the girl asked for protection from the people in the car and claimed they had put something under her tongue that burned her.

Police have detained three persons at a service station in connection with the case. Relatives of the girl are assisting in the search.

Assault Charges Bring Terms, Heavy Fines

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Six-month jail terms were given two men and fines were levied against two others Wednesday after they were convicted of assaulting provincial police constable George Dougherty, son of a near riot involving the Manor Park "Angels" on Wasmuckle Road So.th June 8.

While William John Henry's wife sobbed hysterically, Henry was sent to jail for six months along with Wayne Eden.

Robert John Elwes was fined $200 and costs of 30 days in jail while Edward Wright was fined $175 and costs or 30 days in jail. Magistrate F. G. McAlister said the fact that constable Dougherty had not been seriously injured in the assaults did not minimize the seriousness of the charges.

He said there was "no doubt at all in my mind" that the 150 youths, many of them members of the Manor Park Angels, had acted in front of a restaurant constituted an obstruction to traffic and thus justified constable Dougherty's efforts to make them move on and, failing this, to arrest Eden, apparent leader of the group.

TRENTON —A quarter-inch hole, drilled with a drill of some type, was found in the main pipeline of the Trans-Canada Gas Company about three miles east of Trenton it was revealed yesterday afternoon.

Escaping gas on Thursday had brought the company's line walkers out and they had discovered the hole without any trouble.

Company officials in Toronto stated yesterday that temporary repairs have been made and the matter is under investigation. It was later reported that the Ontario Provincial Police in Belleville are handling the case.

Although gas line officials or police authorities refuse to comment on the possibilities of the hole being drilled as a case of sabotage by an unsatisfied worker indications of the grey the work was done would so appear.

The gas line runs about four feet underground in a 63-foot wide strip of land about 1.15 miles north of the new 401 highway

A TEST FOR TOLL-ROADS

The toll road system will be introduced to Ontario under the new $100,000,000 highway construction program announced by Premier Leslie Frost last week.

The number of places where tolls will be imposed varies according to viewpoint. The Canadian Press listed eleven, ten bridges and a causeway. A press release by the Ontario Government gives the number as five. The apparent discrepancy is one of interpretation. The Ontario Government's press release says "no other works are contemplated for tolling in Ontario other than the five mentioned." The important words in that statement are "in Ontario." The other six structures are international bridges.

The five projects in Ontario, which the province is definitely committed to construct, are a skyway at Burlington Bay, three high-level bridges over the Welland Canal and the Port Frances Causeway.

Of the six international toll bridges, two are now being constructed, at Cornwall and from Prescott to Ogdensburg. The province is definitely committed to participate in new toll bridges between Queenston and Lewiston and at Sault Ste. Marie. Another international bridge at Rainy River is referred to as "contemplated" while a sixth bridge, at Fort Frances, will "probably" be built. Tolls on international bridges are no innovation.

Not only are more than half the projects which will carry tolls international in character, but those works within Ontario which will be tolled "are contiguous to very large American developments which are very largely tolled and it offers the opportunity to have these extraordinary projects paid for, at least in part, by United States traffic".

The important part about this program is that no highway will be tolled. Nor is it contemplated that any should be. "If, in the future, any other structures are contemplated for tolling, they will be referred to a select committee of the Legislature before action is taken," states the Ontario Government's press release.

The question of tolls highways is a controversial one. Many good arguments can be advanced by both sides. It seems to us, though, that the case against tolls on highways is necessarily stronger than the case against tolls on bridges of the nature of those covered by this statement.

What sounds plausible in theory does not always work out in practice. There is nothing so helpful as an actual test. That is what the Ontario Government appears to be doing with this program. Combining caution and courage in characteristic fashion, it has devised a scheme which should be welcomed by both the advocates and the opponents of toll highways, as providing an opportunity to put to a fair test the arguments advanced by both sides.

Once these toll bridges are built and in operation the province will be in a much better position to decide whether the toll system should be extended, or whether it should be limited to the eleven "extraordinary projects" listed earlier in this editorial.

If we have any criticism to offer, it is with respect to the schedule of tolls announced for the Burlington Bay skyway, and this is more a question than a quarrel with what appears to be the principle that the casual user shall pay at a higher rate than the district resident. Passenger cars will pay a toll of 15 cents cash, but books of 20 tickets will be sold for a dollar. Obviously books of tickets will be purchased only by those who use the bridge regularly.

A GNAWING WANT

The invention of nonskid eyeglass frames have been claimed for a sergeant attached to a military hospital in Washington, D.C. They are supposed to stay put even if the wearer bends, slips and plunges.

Fine! But the sergeant's job in the service is the making of false teeth. And he used some of the secrets of that work in fashioning these new frames. It could be a lot of people would have rather had the sergeant stick to his last -- and make them non-skid dentures.

These are not people who would test his work by the hop-skip-jump method. They are those whose "store-boughten" teeth, unlike others, will not let them eat corn on the cob as of yore -- or gnaw on an apple.

THE GOOD SHIP FELLOWSHIP

All aboard the good ship
Fellowship.
There is no fare to pay.
So smile, the pride is of a trip
Unto the port of Play.
We're leaving now the town of
Frown,
The state of Grouch forsaking.
We're going to laugh our troubles down
And join in merrymaking.

The captain is a good old soul;
His eyes are twinkling merry;
When roughly the waters roll
He'll steer us clear of
And every ship upon the sea
In passing, will be spoken,
"A sort of 'Howdy-do,' says he,
Of Fellowship a token.

We're sailing from the town of
Frown,
The state of Grouch we're leaving;
We're going to laugh our
troubles down
And give up useless grieving.
Come, board the good ship
Fellowship,
The lines of care are loosed;
We pass by Knockerville this trip
But stop at Play and Boost.

Paean to Old Clothes

New York Times

The dismay that steals over a man occasionally to realize he will not be tapped for one of the year's Ten Best Dressed lists could be eased by a fiercely guarded pile of old clothes. A man may not yet belong among the ten immortals, but on the other hand his opportunity is likely to be the most disgraceful bet, the worst-looking shirt, the most sadistic of utterly comfortable pants in the summer community. Here is distinction, however, to repeat the embarrassment from year to year, from spring to fall, hang onto the gamey sneakers, shorts, sweaters, long-billed caps or what-have-you and return in the mid-season trim. Save the treasures from the annual spring clean-fire. The stains of berry-juice and fish, the thorn gouges, sunbleached colors and the make a patina beyond price. He Mailed His Speech

Washington Post

Some kind of a super-medal for service to the cause of mankind that attends public speaking should be established to be awarded Spyros Skouras movie tycoon. Mr. Skouras is apparently being set up as a new speaker of he day often longs to have to do. Most of the preliminaries are too long — namely, withdraw from the program. Mr. Skouras, the impresario magnate added a fresh new twist to the untamed art by telling the long-suffering guests at a luncheon in his honor in New York that since he was late, he would mail them his speech.

This seems an efficient approach to the problem of the ever lengthening after-dinner or dinner program — even though the speaker is the guest of honor. However, many a person who buys a ticket to a public meet is punching out only the fillet mignon or broiled chicken but also the opportunity to tell friends he heard a "name" person-sonage speak. And since the speaker of the day remembers his something to say, it might be better to have him make his speech and have the introductions, tributes, announcements and other preliminaries mailed to the audience.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE RADIANT PERSONALITY

There is something depressing about the sight of a house with all the lights out. I want to get by it as soon as possible.

And I usually do. I feel about many human beings whom I meet or pass — their shades are drawn. Life is over.

But what a change in the east and everything seems to indicate that a radiant personality enters your immediate circle. No matter what the weather, no matter what the mood of the mind, the golden rays of a personality will penetrate their way into the innermost corners of your entire being.

You feel like emptying your soul at once and relishing it with this freshest of gossip. That is the material of the radiant personality.

You feel like saying: "The very next time the real sun and stars gleam out their messages I want to meet them anew, tell how much they mean to me."

We are surrounded and fearfully sensitized. A piece of extraordinary good news is able to lift us from great depths of unhappiness to heights of happiness.

A smile wins favor and interest and appreciation behind it will do the same thing.

If therefore, we are brought to feel the beautiful influence of the radiant personality that surrounds us, how important for us to seek in every way to make our own personality a radiant, moving, cheering affair in the midst of ordinary influences and to put time and space of all that we are, wherever we are.

I do not like to think that it is my duty to help make the world a better place in which to live — but my privilege

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

As a general rule, the first thing an ordinary man does, on acquiring real wealth, is to buy himself a hideaway, a piece of earth all to himself. Maybe it is only a few acres in suburban acres on which he sets up a fine house, a little remote from the commonality. Often it is a piece of country property on which, untouched by the screech of labor, and secluded amid bosky woods and ornamental shrubbery, he erects a sort of manor house. Part of the pleasures of wealth, also is the chance of a place in the wilderness, as inaccessible as possible to the vulgar throng. To be apart, alone, sequestered, must be a strong tradition in mankind, despite all the evidence that suggests man is a social animal; for, on acquiring freedom, which is power, which is money, there are mighty few of us who would not take to the woods for seclusion.

Now, here is what is alarming about these days of hydrogen bombs and the threat of them to man's survival. What if some powerful man or some group of men seized with power, were to take the logical step and decide that they would like to have, not just a few hundred acres of private preserve, but the whole world for their private pre-serve? Can a man be too rich with power that he -dreams of having the world to himself?

It is possible, and we must watch out for, then, are those who, with the power of the hydrogen bomb who are also busy discovering a way to be safe from it.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

TECHNIQUE OF HEART OPERATIONS HAS IMPROVED WITH THE YEARS

"Dear Dr. Molner: Would an operation to enlarge the arteries leading to the heart be successful? A doctor told my son he needed such an operation, because the arteries leading to his heart were too small, and when he gets excited or angry the blood pumps too fast. I would have to sign for him to have the operation and have put it off because if something went wrong I would never get over it. — Mrs. V. L."

The situation, sa you describe it, could be one of quite a variety of things — a place where an artery is too small, or a valve (in or at the end of an artery), in one of a number of parts of the heart.

Thus I cannot, of course, guess whether this means the aorta (or main artery), or the pulmonary artery which goes with the lung, or some other specific spot is involved. But then, I don't know that it matters.

What is important is that heart operations of this type have become vastly more numerous in approximately the last few years. (The first such operations came just a few years earlier and opened the way for much of the heart surgery that has followed.)

Ten years ago, even in the big hospitals ,only a handful of such cases were being operated on a few dozen a year. Today, in several hospitals in a single city you will see hundreds of such cases a year — often one or two every day. And in most of these operations were attempted on patients who were found to be certain to die soon unless surgery was attempted (i.e. once. Many succeeded — and would have succumbed anyway. But many survived and today are living normal lives that lives can be saved that way.

RISK IS INVOLVED

As the years have passed, the percentage of successful operations has gone up and up and up. No longer do we operate only on patients who are at death's door. We operate on still fairly strong , but patients cases in which the patients are getting weaker day by day, steadily down hill unless their hearts are repaired. Operating on these strongest patients, operating earlier, in fact, means that the chance of success is several times as good.

There is always some risk. There is some risk (however slight) in any operation — even having tonsils cut or a tooth pulled. There is also risk in going for any automobile ride, or crossing a street.

Surgeons don't operate unless they see a clearly sound prospect of success. In this case if you don't permit the operation, you know what will happen. It will be certain disaster within a relatively short time. So to me there is no question as to what to do. A 90 per cent chance of giving your son a long, vigorous life is far better than accepting a 100 per cent possitive knowledge that he will grow steadily worse if you do not operate. Yes, give your approval and pray that he will be one of the great majority who come through safely and are out of bed and walking a week or so after the operation. (I've seen such patients out of bed as soon as two days after the operation!)

"Dear Dr. Molner: I am enclosing 5 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a copy of 'Lost Secret of Weeding.' Is hypnosis of any value in losing weight? Also, will power is weak? — Mrs. M. A."

I'm willing to call a spade a spade. My answer is no. Nor do I think any physician should expose you to the risks because long-term hypnosis involves serious risks. Even on a short-term basis, it involves risks unless the hypnotist understands his business thoroughly.)

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is it possible for a one pound, 3-4 ounce premature boy baby to grow and live a healthy child-ren? Mrs. W. F."

Possible, yes; however the chances of survival are slight. But if the baby survives, his chances of being normal are very good.

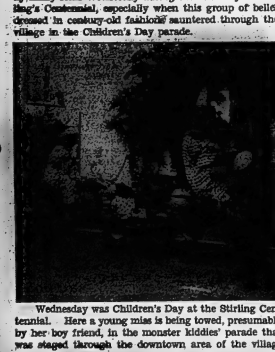
Old-Time Advertising

BBC London Letter

Dr. Johnson could hardly have foreseen the present era when he said, "Promise, large promise is now so near perfection that it is not easy to propose any improvement." All the same, the advertisements of his day had their own striking charm. A grocer's curtain discovered when he read some early editions of the Derby "Mercury" which began here in 1732. Vendors of patent medicines were by far the largest users of advertisers in the early years, he said in a BBC broadcast and many readers described amazing "miracle" cures. One drop from Dr. Bateman's bottle would cure rheumatism and two or three bottles had completely cured a "confirmed dropsy" that had been saved by drinking English coffee made entirely from English herbs, roots, barks and plants, and hundreds apparently had thrown away their crutches after only a bottle or two of Dr. Grant's Eyewater.



One entry in the small advertisement columns inviting readers to their attention was that of Isaac Pellills, by writing to the Duke of Devonshire and informing him that the mark they were willing to serve, had summoned up for Roy Christian a picture of pottery in hundreds of potential colonels reaching for their quill pens, while another announced that a "credible clergyman" could pick a cu-

The familiar strains of Dan McGrew were recalled by many folks Wednesday during the final day of Stirling's Centennial, especially when this group of belles dressed in century-old fashions sauntered through the village in the Children's Day parade.

Wednesday was Children's Day at the Stirling Centennial. Here a young miss is being towed, presumably by her boy friend, in the tandem kiddies' parade that was staged through the downtown area of the village yesterday.

One hundred years ago and real cowboys roamed the east as well as the west. Re-living history is this Stirling lad who must have lost his team of horses to rustlers.

Dog Parade Is Attraction At Centennial

STIRLING — At one o'clock on Wednesday the recreational grounds was a centre of activity. Over 30 dogs, pedigreed and nondescrels, small, medium and large with their owners were paraded around the yard. Mr. Ken Ellis, the Quaker Oats Company, provided the prizes and did the judging. The awards were: boy's best dressed dog: Dennis Hessman; girl's best dressed dog: Wendy Alexander, of Hamilton, Ontario; girl's longest tailed dog: two tied and each received a prize of dog food, these were: Rosalyn Rodgers and Susan Webber. Boy's longest tailed dog; two tied for this prize also, with Douglas Warren and Jeffrey Mouck the winners. Shortest tail on dog, girl's: Pamella Downing, of Oshawa, Ontario; boy's, Firth Bateman, of Stirling.

Thirty-five boys and girls with their dogs were in the parade for the "dog with the best condition". There were four winners in this group: 1st. Rosemary Douglas, Crookston, on her Mexican Chihuahua; and 2nd. Marilyn Anderson, of Stirling, on her Weimaraner; 3rd. Firth Bateman, Stirling, with his boxer dog; 4th. Barbara and Mary Beatty, Toronto, with their dachschund.

Mr. Ellis gave the children a bit of advice and said: "Feed your dog regularly, once each day, after it is a year old and do not let your dog get too fat."

Belleville Boy Winner in Soap Box Derby

STIRLING — At 3.30 p.m. at the library corner the Soap Box Derby was staged with 11 entries. In the first round, John Noble was over Ronnie Brooks; in the second round, Robert Vandervoort won over Bill Carr; third round, Douglas Bird won over Albert Lawes and Kennie Reenning; fourth round, Carl Luitrell won over Eddie Reynolds and in the fifth round, Wayne McCaughern won over Ken Port.

In the final eliminations among the five winners, those to qualify for the Centennial on Wednesday evening.

A comic race followed and Stan Meeks won over Doug Robson by a country mile. This provided fun and merriment for the large audience, after the thrills and spills of the boys' derby.

Children's Parade Features Final Events of Centennial

By MRS. PERCY MacMULLEN (Editor)

STIRLING—Almost 175 children took part in the Children's Day parade. Messrs. Ralph Vancevoort, Kenneth Gillies and their assistants were busy organizing the children in line. The parade went slowly from the recreational grounds across the Front Street; down to the bank corner, to the post office and then along Church Street to King, George High School grounds.

The judges were Mrs. Gordon Bailey, Stirling; Mrs. W. E. Bailey, of Toronto, Reeve James Holt and the conveners.

At the close of the parade, the prizes of flashlights and dollar bills were passed out to the winners. Each child in the parade also received a free coke, chocolate bar and Centennial hat. The balance of the afternoon was spent in free merry-go-round rides provided by the Association, and a chance to play under the ball park.

The parade was led by an Ottenville saddle horse, Rodgers, president of the Chamber of Commerce, in the driver's seat, and the Venlow Lions Club band provide slow marching music under the direction of Maurice Bell.

LITTLE TOTS

Approximately 20 little tots, accompanied by their mothers, all dressed in various costumes, made a pretty picture as they followed the band.

Brenda Campbell and her pony led the Western group with about 30 entries; cowboys, stetson hats and slogans predominated. Some 30 children followed along all in costume. There was 'wet paint'; a scene in 'Flander's Fields'; 'Happy Birthday' study; 'Farmers of Tomorrow', and many others.

Next in the parade were the flower-bedecked carriages, approximately 35 in number, and a half-dozen wagons. Every color of the rainbow was depicted and the children were dressed in both old-time and modern outfits. Some 15 other children walked along in their special costumes.

Next were the 'Trikes', about 45 all size, all colors, all sorts of slogans, flags and streamers were used for decoration and 'Happy Birthday' predominated in the slogans.

The rear was certainly a wonderful Centennial display and the judges could not help but award prizes had they been available.

Ruth Morrow and Roy Lake were last, each riding a pony and Nellie and Silkie Visser rode in a cart drawn by a pony.

Reeve Holt expressed deep appreciation to the mothers and all who had been responsible in making this display possible. He also welcomed the presence of visitors who had gathered at the grounds. The sidewalk crowd was also packed for this parade by both urban and rural folk and tourists.

PRIZE WINNERS

The prizes were awarded as follows:

Four-wheeled carriages, Connie and Gertrude Tucker, Jane West and Cheryl Stapley. Three-wheeled carriages, Brian McGee, Ritchie Wright and Shirley Allen and John McDonell. Two-wheeled carriages, Nancy Williams, David Cooke and Susan West.

Old-time costumes, Jane Fyfe, Maria Tassman and Jean Donohoe. Western, Jackie Fitchett, Beverly Christie and Brenda Campbell.

Resentful Personality Worst Enemy of Feminine Beauty

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Girls, do you know what is the worst enemy of feminine beauty?

Here's what Constance Bennett, one of filmdom's all-time glamor dolls, has to say:

"It is a resentful personality. Any woman who habitually harbors meanness and envy will find in time they will show in her face and make her unattractive."

Miss Bennett, one of the sprightliest actors of her day, ran away from school to go to Hollywood, where she starred in 47 films and a number of stage plays.

FULL CAREER

She was also perhaps the first movie star to earn a $35,000 weekly salary and one of the first lady film producers. Following the tradition of her gifted father, Richard Bennett, early matinee idol, she turned later to the stage. She also has done a few stints as a supper club chanteuse.

Currently she a starring on the road in the hit comedy, Auntie Mame, a vivacious role that fits her like a glove.

Off stage, she still tilts her famed long cigaret holder at the same rakish angle, gets an eternal kick out of living and has some strong opinions on why people get old before their time.

"Youth counts merely in being enthusiastic with life—in not being bored with life," she said.

"I think people who do nothing but think about how they're going to stay young are going to get very old worrying about how to stay young."

The heroine of Common Clay and the famed "flopper series" thinks present day movies are better than those of yesteryear, but that actresses are less glamorous.

CINEMA OPINIONS

"Films now are more realistic and show to life," she said. "They don't grind them out like sausage as they used to.

"But those old tinsel films did make actresses seem glamorous, remote and unattainable.

"There aren't any Nita, Naldis, Theda Baras and Pola Negris around say more. That style of glamor isn't exciting anymore.

"Style changes in glamor, just as in everything else.

"What is glamorous today? I think it is a combination of fresh natural beauty and sophistication rather than the exotic, lugrid Bergman and Grace Kelly come first to mind.

"But anything really obvious isn't glamorous — and that includes, in my opinion, actresses who look as sexy they seem about to burstling."

Whom did she have in mind? Oh, nobody in particular.

She puts Greta Gabo, the nongarulous Swedish star, in a class by herself.

"Despite all the silly publicity about her, she still remains a very glamorous personality."

So does Miss Bennett herself, a buoyant gal of timeless charm. One of the best-dressed women in the country, she still designs her own clothing.

Thousands of times women have asked her for beauty secrets, but she said the only one she knew that makes real sense is this:

"Be beautifully natural — and naturally beautiful."

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP) — Mr. and Mrs. Michael McGarvin of Hamilton celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at their summer home nearby. Mr. McGarvin, 81, is a retired high school principal. Dr. Reva Gerstein Leaves Music to Help Children

By EDNA USHER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Reva Gerstein of Toronto wants to change the world.

"When I was 16 I started training as a concert pianist," she said in an interview. "But I decided I could not change the world from a piano stool."

So Dr. Gerstein, now 41, studied psychology instead of music at the University of Toronto. Now she is president of the National Council of Jewish Women.

MORE AND MORE

"I don't know if I have changed the world, and if I have, whether I've improved it," she said. "But my career has provided opportunities of community work involving more and more people."

Her latest project is helping to plan a national conference on children in October, 1960, when 600 professional people from across Canada will discuss children's services and needs and may determine a minimum level of care and opportunity for every Canadian child.

War broke out soon after Dr. Gerstein graduated from university, and she took part in social research with IQ tests—at that time a vital aid in personnel selection for military services.

She has applied her knowledge to children and worked with a Jewish agency which arranged adoptions. Then she says, was the beginning of her ventures into national undertakings.

NEGLECTED FAMILY GROUP

She was appointed to the Toronto Welfare Council and became chairman of a survey comprising all the child and family agencies in the city. In 1945 she joined the staff of the Mental Health Association as national director of group planning.

Mental health week is an outcome of Dr. Gerstein's work with the association where she is still a voluntary worker.

"I feel my world — changing activities, if any, really started here," she said. "I was interested in the National Council of Jewish Women and persuaded them to study mental health as a project."

Dr. Gerstein, the youngest president the NCJW has ever had, says that since 1945 the attitude of Canadians towards mental health has changed.

GROWING UNDERSTANDING

"It used to be a dirty word, but now people are more understanding about mental illness and more is done to improve facilities for treating it," she said. "My plea was to narrow the gap between professional people in mental health and lay persons—to explain in easy terms what doctors and psychiatrists try to do and the way the public can help."

Slim and dark, the diminutive Dr. Gerstein is the mother of two sons. She is always on the move to think in national terms," she says. "We have to plan our trips to meet occasionally."

BEWARE THE PETS

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beekman

CHAMPAGNE FOR WEDDING ANNIVERSARY PRESENT

Dear Mrs. Beekman:

My husband and I have been invited to a small Wedding Anniversary dinner to be given by a couple who are very dear friends of ours. The dinner is to be given in their home. We have already ordered for them an anniversary present, to be delivered the day before the celebration. They are very fond of champagne, and we would like also to have delivered to them a bottle or two of very fine champagne, for the toasts. Do you approve? — Reader

Yes . . . a most appropriate present, and I'm sure your friends will deeply appreciate this special gesture of "good wishes."

PLANS CHANGED WHEN BRIDESMAID'S MOTHER PASSES ON

Dear Mrs. Beekman:

I am to be married the latter part of September. I have already invited my attendants, a maid of honor (my only sister), and four bridesmaids, all dear friends of mine. Last week, the mother of one of the bridesmaids, my very dearest and truest friend, passed on, and we have talked together and of course I understand that she would not wish to be bridesmaid now. I have known her mother all my life, and loved her. Would you suggest that I invite another friend as a substitute bridesmaid, or have only three? If only three, how should the processional be formed? And the recessional, since there will be four ushers? — F.

Since this friend is so very dear to you, and since her mother was also your treasured friend, I suggest you have only the three bridesmaids, thereby not having to point up the fact that you invited a substitute. It would, I think, be prefer to your friend.

Then I suggest this Procession: first, the two pairs of ushers; next, the three bridesmaids, walking separately; next, the maid of honor, alone; last, you and your father, or whoever is to escort you up the aisle. And the Recessional: first, you and your bridegroom; next, the maid of honor, either alone or with the best man; next, the three bridesmaids, walking separately, as in the Processional; and last, the two pairs of ushers, as in the Processional.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Edwin T. — I'm no "brain" like my brother.

Mr. L. T. — But he has the ability to go to college.

Edwin T. — My problem is being the younger brother of a "brain." I am 18. My brother Ronald is 18. He has already finished two years of college. I'll just be starting when I'm his age — if I go at all.

My parents want me to go into some profession, but I want to start working as soon as possible. The idea of six more years of study makes me sick. I'm also looking forward to getting around the world a bit by service in the Navy.

My parents get the wrong idea of what it's all about from Ron. The boy genius claims that in the world of tomorrow everyone will need a college education.

Don't get me wrong. I respect Ron, but I think being born clever gives him a one-sided point of view. He doesn't understand the people — exactly me.

Mr. L. T. — We have tried our best to prevent Ed from having a sense of inferiority because of his brother's abilities. One of Ed's teachers told us when he was in second grade that he is an able, intelligent boy, but could never measure up to Ron mentally.

We have always shown Ed that we are satisfied with him as he is. We showed we didn't expect him to reproduce Ron's record at school. Yet he has always had some sense of shame about his record.

We know that Ed could get through college as an average student without difficulty. Young fellows with mental ability less than he has go into the professions these days. There is no reason why Ed shouldn't do it too. He has the foolish idea that if he can't measure up to Ron there is no sense in his being a college man.

The Council: In the old large families where numbers of different abilities and qualities of workmanship were handsomely distributed among the offspring, it was probably easier for the children to accept this variety as the spice of life.

In a small family, however, two boys as close in age as Ron and Ed are likely to have a fairly strong effect upon one another — especially when one has outstanding abilities. Since the brothers have thus far been confined to a life in which school and grades are the core, Ed has simply had to accept the fact that he is a less potent individual than is his brother.

We don't blame Ed for trying to struggle out of this situation. He seems to be trying to find a personality of his own, a life in which he will be different from his brother — and effective in his own way.

Mr. L. T.: It shouldn't oppose their boy in any of his reasonable plans for the future. They should merely try to stimulate in him a keen mind open to the fact that he is still very young to make drastic decisions. The very well decide that he wants that college education after his Navy service, or after some work experience. He should plan his high school program accordingly.

Ed needs encouragement to become his own man.

Became Sunday Supper Bunch's Brunch

by Mary Moore

The carload of Doris' friends returned from the Stratford Festival after Saturday midnight, and the arrangement was they would congregate again at Doris' and Peady's house at noon on Sunday for lunch.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

THURSDAY

(Guests)

Scotch Broth; Grilled Lamb Chops; Minted Currant Jelly (this season's); Green Peas; Breaded Eggplant; Celery Hearts and Carrot Sticks; Lettice Gooseberry Pie with White Cream Cheese; Coffee.

SUNDAY

Baked Glazed Back Bacon; Devilled Eggs on Lettice; Tomato Jellied Ring filled with Waldorf Salad (apple, celery and walnuts); Cantaloupe filled with Vanilla Ice Sherbet; Sweet Buns; Coffee.

Somewhere along the line this was mysteriously changed to be an early supper.

But how can you switch breakfast food to supper food with the stress and lighter than an oyster at midnight?

You don't know my sisters Peady and Bunch (Doris to you) if you think it can't be done.

Back bacon which was going to be sliced and broiled or fried for breakfast became baked back bacon with a glaze. Eggs to be fried became devilled eggs served on lettuce. Tomatoes to be sliced became jellied tomato salad mould. Cantaloupes which were to be cut into wedges and served with lime juice for a fruit first course, were cut in halves instead for dessert, and filled with lime sherbet bought at the corner drugstore which he opened up for a few hours. Sweet buns for breakfast became dessert buns to eat with the fruit and sherbet. Coffee was coffee.

BAKED GLAZED BACK BACON

Score the fat on a 2 or 3 pound piece of peameal back bacon—meal washed off. Spread with glaze made of ½ cup orange juice, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 teaspoon dry mustard mixed together. Stud with cloves if desired. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. about 1½ to 1¾ hours, basting carefully twice.

DEVILLED EGGS

Cover 6 eggs with cold water, heat to simmering, cook covered 25 minutes. Drain and chill in cold water. Cut in halves lengthwise. Mash yolks and to them add 3 tablespoons mayonnaise, ¼ teaspoon dry mustard, ¼ teaspoon each onion salt, celery salt and chili powder. Mix until smooth. Spoon yolk mixture back into white halves, piling them lightly. Garnish with paprika or sprig of parsley.

TOMATO SALAD MOULD

Two tablespoons gelatin, ½ cup cold water, 3 cups tomato juice or strained raw or canned tomatoes, 1 teaspoon each salt and sugar, 1 bay leaf, 1 slice onion, 1 celery top. Soak gelatin in cold water. Add remaining ingredients to tomato juice and simmer 15 minutes. Strain. Stir in soaked gelatin until dissolved. Pour into 1 medium mould or 6 individual moulds and chill until set. Serve on cupped lettuce leaves with relish garnish.

Capt. Has Same Girl Meet Him In Every Port

SARNIA (CP) — Capt. Henry Vitters has a girl in every port. But she's the same one.

Mary Catherine Weinbrauh, a graceful Toledo, Ohio, blonde, has been a familiar figure in her black limousine at ports from Chicago to Saint John, N.B., during the last three years as she motored to meet her fiance's ship.

The two were married in a civil ceremony in Chicago last week and the following day the newlyweds spent a few hours together here aboard the captain's ship, the Oranje Line's Prins Frederik Hendrik.

Before sailing time, the bride was off again in her car. She will rejoin her husband again in Detroit, Cleveland and Chicago, sailing with him from there to Montreal.

On the last trip of the season, Capt. and Mrs. Vitters will sail from Montreal to their home in Rotterdam where they will have a religious wedding ceremony in a Christian Reformed church.

Captain Vitters met his wife at a Toledo yacht club years ago.

Four Women to Take Life Seats As Peers in House of Lords

By ROSANNA GROARKE

LONDON (Reuters) — Women will invade one of the last male strongholds in November when the four women life peers named by the government take their seats in the House of Lords.

The coming of women was bitterly opposed by some of the 800 hereditary peers who automatically have seats in the upper House of Parliament.

"Heaven forbid this house should become the stamping ground for lady Janes," one peer declared during a debate.

The four life baronesses might just like the description "bossy Janes," but they all have a record of getting things done.

DEFENCE ORGANIZER

The dowager Marchioness of Reading, 64, chairman and founder of the Women's Voluntary Service for Civil Defence, organized 1,350,000 housewives into as effective volunteer labor force during the Second World War.

Baroness Ravensdale, 63, was one of the suffragettes who won the vote for women. She has travelled all over the world, worked in south china and even preached in London churches.

Dame Katharine Elliott, 56, widowed in January, fought the by-election for her husband's vacant parliamentary seat only two months later. She lost to the Labor candidate.

Mrs. Barbara Wootton, 60, an economist and only socialist of the four, had a brilliant record at Girton College, Cambridge, and at 28 was head of a workers' college.

Lady Reading was married at 27 to the Marquess of Reading, then viceroy of India. She was widowed four years later in 1935.

PUBLIC SERVANT

After her husband's death, Stella Reading plunged into public service. She proved to be a skilful government hand women volunteers could and would do vital work in wartime. The Women's Voluntary Service ran canteens and a transport service, knitted for the troops and lent a hand wherever help was needed.

Tireless talker, she has said that a woman's tongue is "the finest propaganda machine in the world."

She once praised the lovely legs of American women but added: "We do a lot of walking and American women do not. Personally, I prefer to walk."

Baroness Ravensdale, one of the 26 peeresses who hold a title in their own right, is the daughter of the late Marquess Curzon. One of Britain's wealthiest women, she long has fought to have hereditary peeresses admitted to the House of Lords.

"There are 2,000,000 surplus women in the country, of whom I am one," she once said. "If I could get into the House, I could at least be useful.

FEMALE EMANCIPATOR

In her youth a beautiful, dark-eyed brunette, she campaigned for votes for women and made unchaperoned trips to remote parts of the world as one of the new race of "emancipated" females.

Her sister Cynthia married Sir Oswald Mosley, British Fascist leader. Mosley's son, Nicholas, is heir to Lady Ravensdale's title.

Baroness Ravensdale once scathingly summed up the lords among whom she is to take her seat as "a drowsy lot of flies in a very hot room."

Dame Katharine Elliot is a forthright but charming Scotswoman whose hobbies are golf and horseback riding. Active in the Liberal party until he marriage, she changed her political allegiance and last year sat as chairman of the Conservative party conference.

Her father, wealthy G'asgow Charles Tennant, had 19 daughters who were said to be either beautiful or brilliant, or both.

CABINET RELATIONS

Walter Elliot was minister of agriculture when Katharine married him in 1925. Three other Tennant girls also married cabinet ministers.

Dame Katharine's voice is strong enough to talk down any heckler. She claims she developed "tennent legs" from climbing stairs in the Glasgow slums during he late husband's election campaigns.

She takes a great interest in the 5,000-acre sheep farm she ran with her husband, dislikes cooking but knits "enormously, mostly socks."

Mrs. Wootton, the only socialist, is a brilliant economist and a juvenile court magistrate. In 1926, she married G. P. Wright, a London taxi-driver enrolled in one of her evening classes in economics. Wright now is a Labor party official.

Mrs. Wootton uses the name of her first husband—killed in the First World War—in her profession.

She served on several governmeot committees, including one on the national debt, and wrote a book on the moral foundations of wage policy which has become a classic.

DEVIL'S INVENTION

CAIRO (Reuters) — Sheikh El Sobky, a religious leader, condemned the sack dress as the invention of Satan. "It emphasizes parts of the body, thus heightening sex appeal and causing matrimonial crises," he said. "The man who designed the sack is the devil under the skin of a fashion designer."

Fall Ensemble

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

Looped woollens dyed in luscious colors star in the fall fashion revue. Heather colored looped mohair is used for the jacket of a handsome dress. The matching purple dress of smooth wool is distinctly trapeze in line. The dress fabric is used for the band and lower of the jacket collar. The frock has a centre - seamed skirt and the waistline is marked by a seam just below the normal waist.

One Cannot Live on Poetry Says Outstanding Poetess

By SYLVIA HACK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Jay MacPherson, the Toronto girl who won the Governor - General's Award for Poetry in 1957, says "it is slightly irresponsible to be a poet and nothing else." What's more, one couldn't live on it.

"Besides, it does one's sense of reality a great deal of good to do a responsible job," she says.

Miss MacPherson keeps in touch with reality by lecturing in the English department at Victoria College in Toronto. At the moment, she is holidaying in London.

Her first book of poems, The Boatman, is in its third Canadian reprint. Next fall it will be published in Britain.

CANADA LIVELY PLACE

The 37 - year - old poet says her poems don't take long to write, but working them out takes much longer. Born in London, she went to Canada when she was 9 and she feels she "has a foot in both countries."

"Although the temptations of Europe with its cultural traditions are strong, I don't feel the need to work there as many pilgrims might.

"I enjoy living in Canada. It's a lively place to be, and people who do things there are doing them well.

"There's a general dense of fresh air in Canada as it retains something of the atmosphere of a pioneer country."

GOOD POETRY MARKET

She says culture is "fairly flourishing" in Canada. "The market for poetry is remarkably good. When you consider the population, it is perhaps higher than in many other places."

She has no particular source of inspiration. "My writing grows out of what I'm reading. Words go round in my head for a while, then I seem to get a tune—and a sense of what fits and what doesn't. It sometimes goes on for a long time and eventually I write it down."

Miss MacPherson was originally called Jean, but switched to Jay at the age of 13 when she stayed with a family who had a daughter called Jean.

She first published a poem when she was 15. Since then she has been a regular contributor to Canadian magazines, including contemporary verse, the Fiddlehead, Mayfair and the Tamarack Review. She has also given broadcasts and writes reviews and articles.

Romance of Toronto Girl With Governor-General of Ghana Began in Paris Club

By SYLVIA MACK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Two years ago Stephanie Wise was a blues songstress in a Paris jazz club when she met the man of her choice.

A month ago she became Lady Listowel, wife of the governor-general of Ghana, at a ceremony at Government House in Accra.

The romance of the brown-eyed blonde from Toronto began at the Mars Club in Paris one night when Lord Listowel heard her sing, then introduced himself.

"We became firm friends from then on," Ghana's 36-year-old first lady recalled in an interview at the flat in London's Knightsbridge area, where the couple are spending part of their two-month honeymoon.

POPS SINGER

Lady Listowel first came to British four years ago and sang with jazz bands at London's Royal Festival and Royal Albert halls before going to France.

"I was penniless when I arrived," she said. "But so were most of my friends, and it's fun to be penniless there." Later she went with the Blue Stars team at the Paris club, and also did some television and radio work.

When they first met, William Francis Hare, seventh Earl of Listowel, was a Labor party member of the London County Council, with opportunities for visits to Paris where the friendship blossomed. But eight months before their wedding the Earl became the first governor-general of the newly-independent Commonwealth state of Ghana, the former Gold Coast.

When Lord Listowel left to take up his new duties the couple didn't see each other until their wedding day. But they spoke twice weekly by radio-telephone.

"We always talked for such a long time," Lord Listowel said. "I don't know what the radio operator must have thought."

RAPID TRIP

The singer flew from New York to Accra for the ceremony after spending a few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wise, in Toronto. "I arrived on the Monday, got married on the Tuesday and we started our honeymoon on the Wednesday," she said. "It all happened so rapidly, it was absolutely wonderful."

The couple, who address each other as "Stevie" and "Bill," took off for their honeymoon in the presence of a guard of honor after a 19-gun salute.

The bride was given away by the Canadian high commissioner to Ghana, Evan Gill, and Mrs. Gill was a matron of honor. The prime minister of Ghana, Kwame Nkrumah, and Chief Justice Sir Arku Korsah signed the marriage register as witnesses.

When the couple return to Accra at the end of August, they hope to move into the governor's new residence—white outside with a red roof, and a swimming pool in the grounds.

BOYS MUSICAL

They share strong music interests and plan to join a Bach choral group.

Lord Listowel, a special 31-year-old with vivid blue eyes, strictled singing under an Italian tutor. "I might have become a professional if I hadn't developed an interest in politics," he said. "My teacher said I could have earned my living at it."

Lady Listowel also plans to study philosophy, "as I can catch up with Bill." He has a doctorate of philosophy.

Lord Listowel, once a Labor party whip and postmaster-general in 1945, later became secretary of state for India and afterwards for Burma.

His first marriage to Judith Mactaggo was dissolved in 1948. Lady Listowel's marriage to Canadian musician Hugh Currie ended in divorce two years ago.

Does the Ghana governor-general like jazz? "I know very little about it but my wife has taught me a lot, and I do enjoy listening to it."

His wife says she will no longer sing with bands or in clubs, but she would like to make records.

Liberals in Quebec Plan To Give Union Nationale Hard Pre-election Battle

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP) — The political pot is boiling in Quebec.

Although the next provincial election normally would be at least two years away, Quebec Liberals have launched a "province-wide campaign to stir up public opinion against Premier Duplessis' Union Nationale party.

Liberal politicians are taking up the hustings hotly denouncing the Union Nationale, in power since 1944 and last re-elected in 1956.

Crowds gather to hear them, and noisily demonstrate.

LIVELY EFFORT

Liberal workers are gearing themselves to election-time fever; party conventions are being held to nominate candidates; reorganization at the grass roots is in progress; a special effort is being made to get women's Liberal associations started everywhere; an election-day machine is to operate on a poll-by-poll basis is being set up.

For psychological effect, Liberals are being told to "extend a friendly hand" to all Union Nationale party supporters.

The aim of the Liberals: To get the powerful Union Nationale on the defensive and, Liberals hope, to panic the provincial government into calling an election before 1960.

Government supporters in the provincial capital shrug away the Liberal campaign. They say there is no chance at all that Premier Duplessis will be forced into an early election. They say the Liberals' early campaigning will fizzle out.

The Liberals say the Union Nationale government is meeting more and more opposition in the province and that its position is weakening.

MIXED REACTION

Public reaction to the Liberals' out-of-season campaign has ranged from cool curiosity to enthusiasm. Generally, Liberals themselves have been surprised by the interest aroused in many areas.

This has inspired organizers to consider manoeuvres that even the wildest party ideas men would have thought crackpot a year ago.

For instance, local Liberal associations are collecting campaign funds at the doors of halls where meetings are held. They are drafting and circulating petitions to toss into Mr. Duplessis' lap. They plan to harass the government with posters and automobile stickers.

Nothing quite like it has happened in recent times in Quebec. The government so far has chosen to ignore the campaign but it is undoubtedly watching the guerrilla-like operation closely.

NEW LEADER

Two things started it:

1. Election of Jean Lesage, federal cabinet minister in the former St. Laurent administration, to the leadership of the Quebec Liberal party May 31.

2. A series of articles which began to appear June 13 in the Montreal newspaper Le Devoir about the sale of the publicly-owned gas-distribution system in Montreal to the Quebec Natural Gas Corporation.

Mr. Lesage's election to party leadership was a shot in the arm for the battle - worn provincial Liberals.

The Le Devoir articles said a $20,000,000 market coup attended the sale of Quebec Hydro's Montreal gas-distributing system to the privately-owned company.

The newspaper said seven Quebec cabinet ministers and a former minister, now Quebec's lieutenant-governor, owned or had shares in the corporation.

The corporation said its transaction was regular in every way. Quebec ministers who commented said their shares were purchased in a normal business way and there was nothing illegal about it.

SEIZED ISSUE

Mr. Lesage seized the issue and started battling with the provincial government.

In July several ministers, Premier Duplessis and Lieutenant-Governor Gagnon, under provisions of the Quebec Press Act, served notices on Le Devoir calling on the newspaper to retract some of the statements published in connection with the gas deal. The newspaper said it would retract nothing and was ready to defend itself before the courts.

So far no suits have been taken against the newspaper.

Mr. Lesage's first move was to ask Mr. Duplessis to appoint a royal commission to examine publicly every aspect of the transaction.

The premier ignored the demand and said the truth would come out during suits he and his ministers planned against the newspaper.

DEMANDS ELECTION

Mr. Lesage a few days later demanded that the government resign and call a provincial election.

He denounced Liberals were escalating a series of protest meetings across the province and he would "enlighten the public" on the natural gas transaction.

At the first meeting, Mr. Lesage called for a public "march of liberation."

A week later, he said a full-scale Liberal offensive would continue until the Union Nationale "surrenders unconditionally."

Mr. Lesage's fast moves in this situation have done more to put him in the provincial limelight than his years as minister of northern affairs at Ottawa. At 46, the tall fair-haired lawyer is a political veteran, having served in the House of Commons nearly 13 years. But in provincial politics he is a new personality. Residents in hundreds of localities have never seen him.

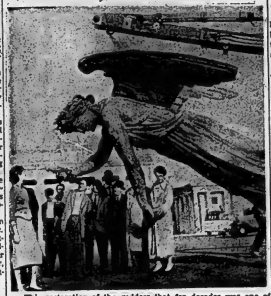
In two months, however, Mr. Lesage has caught the eye of a lot of people. His efforts at mixing with crowds at rallies and his effective platform manner have made him new friends and helped to overcome a reputation of being "a bit of a snob."

COMIC TWIST

There's an odd twist to the campaign. Liberals are using both serious talk and still-'em-with-ridicule methods.

Chief proponent of the "laugh them out of office" school is the Liberals' new chief organizer Alcide Courcy, who has suddenly emerged as a top platform performer.

Mr. Courcy, who represents Ahuntsic - West in the provincial legislature, fell on the idea unexpectedly after his improvised for an audience a grotesque imitation of Mr. Duplessis delivering a speech on farming.



This bit of acting tickled the audience and he repeated the performance the next day. He has added other imitations to his repertoire.

Ridicule has been a campaign tool for a long time in Quebec. Premier Duplessis used it effectively on the late Adelard Godbout, Quebec Liberal premier during the Second World War, whom he had nicknamed Ottawa's Charlie McCarthy.

HUMAN TORCH

BELIZE, British Honduras (Reuters) — Jose Revero, 62, chairman of the People's United party, died Tuesday night after a man walked into his tavern, threw gasoline over him and then lit it. The man has been charged with murder and arson.

BERLIN REDS STEAL WEST'S GODDESS

This restoration of the goddess that for decades was one of Berlin's landmarks on top of Brandenburg gate, was almost complete in West Berlin when—pfft! She disappeared. But a goddess of these ample proportions is not easily hidden and she soon was discovered on the East side of the city. Communist youths had captured her, as a prank, and promise to return her in time for the unveiling ceremony on Sept. 15. The original goddess was destroyed during the war.

Carmel

CARMEL — The holiday season has been warm, but people have been on picnics and away to cottages also enjoying the centennial festivities.

Mr. and Mrs. William Dawson, of Hamilton, were visiting at Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Rutter's, also at Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Dawson's for a few days.

Miss Sheila Goodfellow, of Carruthers, Sask., spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. C. Rutter also attended the Goodfellow picnic on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Reynolds and boys spent the weekend in Rochester, with friends returned on Monday.

Mrs. George Hopkin's mother and friends were visitors at Mr. Hopkin's home on Sunday.

Miss Kay Homan has been spending a week on a trip from home on special activities with other friends at Sault Ste. Marie.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Patterson enjoyed the church service at Stirling on Sunday.

Mr. Billie Chatten and Wayne called on Mrs. S. Dafoe on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hollinger spent the weekend at Mr. Chatten's home here, at Carmel.

Miss Marlyn Wilmore and friend spent over Sunday with relatives at Coe Hill.

Mr. Murray Wilmore returned on Saturday from a holiday with friends at Coe Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Dawson's for a few days.

Mr. Riddall was taken and $17.75 was received.

The Rev. J. Riddall of Frankford United Church was guest speaker. He and his wife have just recently arrived from Ireland. Mrs. Riddall also spoke briefly on the need of missionary work in faraway countries, especially among the deaf, dumb and blind. Mrs. Riddall favored with a solo, "Rock of Ages," while Mr. Riddall demonstrated the lip reading and hand signs of the hymn, which are done for the deaf and dumb to understand what the hymn is.

Mr. Riddall took as his text Mark 7 and 31, stressing the point of the great need in Canada and faraway countries of the neglect of the deaf and dumb, as there are so few churches where they can be taught the ways of salvation and how it is so hard to get a way opened up to start this work. While the deaf and dumb attend the different churches, there is nothing done to assist them to understand what is being said and done, or their minds enlightened in the ways of serving Christ. No interest is taken in them.

Mrs. Riddall then sang "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross," with Mr. Riddall giving the lip reading and hand signs. Mr. Mel Osbourne led in prayer for the opening up of this work among the unfortunate of the land. Many were awakened to the fact that there is so much carelessness regarding those less fortunate.

The president then closed the meeting.

AUTHORITY PUT

Spokesmen for the Iron Ore Company of Canada suggested at times a ton of grain is valued about seven times that of a ton of iron ore, bulk ore should get a lower tax-rate.

Low bulk rates were demanded by newsprint, sugar, cement, lumber, fertilizers and other shippers.

Saskatchewan wants the seaway operating quicker than 9 months. The seaway authority received a telegram from Municipal Affairs Minister L. F. McIntyre saying his government takes the seaway should be operated toll-free as a matter of public policy.

SHIPPERS RATES

The committee's proposed tolls: General - Lake Ontario — four cents a ton on the vessel's gross registered tonnage plus 40 cents a ton on bulk cargo and 30 cents a ton on general cargo; Welland Canal — two cents a registered ton plus two cents a ton on bulk cargo and five cents on general cargo. With the public hearing over, the seaway authority now will get together with the U.S. St. Lawrence Development Corporation — which held a simultaneous hearing — and hammer out joint tolls which may be acceptable to the two governments.

The stiff Welland anti-toll fight raised the question of whether tolls on that phase of the seaway would have to be abandoned. Tolls charges increased on the General-Lake Ontario leg.

Hamilton Mayor Lloyd Jackson said the city viewed proposed Welland tolls with the "greatest concern." Dominion Foundries and Steel Limited said the tolls would harm the steel industry, adding to production costs.

Representatives of the Steel Company of Canada said Stelco would get no direct benefits from the $29,000,000 cost of deepening the Welland Canal and yet would have to face an extra "tax."

A joint brief from Ontario boards of trade and chambers of commerce covering an area from Cobourg to Niagara Falls questioned whether the seaway authority actually has power to levy tolls on the Welland Canal.

It seemed clear to them that existing legislation covered Canada-U.S. agreement on tolls for the Montreal-Lake Ontario section of the seaway but not the Welland Canal.

The Niagara peninsula area appeared not so much concerned with the contemplated low rate of Welland tolls but on the principle that once tolls were set, Welland users would be in for higher rates later. Witnesses emphasized that the canal requires further expansion to take all the contemplated seaway traffic.

Everything or anything required for the field, garden or lawn, and all under one roof, is the boast of Bishop Seeds Ltd., who this week officially opened their new garden centre on Station Street.

Thus, for the first time in many years the entire operation of Bishop Seeds, both retail sales and their volume, seed-cleaning operation, will be concentrated in the same building. With the opening of the new Station street building the Front Street location of Bishop's has been discontinued.

A move for increased efficiency and lower overhead, as well as a desire to provide more complete service for Belleville and district house owners and farmers, has motivated Bishop's new Station Street establishment.

First, the stucco and permastone canopied sales room with off-street parking space for 30 or more cars offers added convenience for customers and at the same time has enhanced the appearance of the business street. To make the new set-up possible their former seed-cleaning establishment on Station Street was enlarged with a new addition added, while a residential structure was razed to provide paved parking space.

"Garden centres are the coming thing," noted E. Bruce Bishop, partner in the father and sons business enterprise started nearly 70 years ago by his grandfather.

"With the emphasis on outdoor living there is an increased demand for requirements that go with outdoor living."

To meet this trend Bishop's will feature everything required for the garden and lawn. This includes lawn mowers, lawn tillage equipment, as well as a supply of nursery stock and outdoor furniture. Also to be set up is a lawn mower repair service.

"The nature of the seed business is such that customers come to us with the purpose of buying and not for window shopping. As result, our new store has been planned for efficiency and service," Bruce said.

Bishop Seeds is a well known name in the Quinte district. The business was established back in 1890 by Charles F. Bishop after arrival from England where he was trained in youth as a seed grower.

As the years passed members of his family entered the business and the firm is now operated as a family concern. Firm partners are now Charles F. Bishop, son of the founder, and his two sons, William M. Bishop and E. Bruce Bishop.

Contrary to the belief of many district farmers, Bishop's are no longer in the feed business. This phase of the business was discontinued about 18 years ago, shortly prior to the firm's purchase of the Belleville Seed Company from the late Beryl Fanning. Since then the seed cleaning phase of the business has been conducted from the Station Street site.

In charge of the seed cleaning plant, claimed to be the most modern in East Central Ontario, is William Bishop. Bill assures that with the many modern seed cleaning mills in their plant there are few weeds that cannot be separated.

Long term pasture and hay mixtures as well as improved forage variety seeds are today a big item on the Bishop Seeds retail and wholesale list. But certified grain and clover seeds also share a big percentage of their total volume, with each year seeing big shipments going to Northern United States, to Great Britain and to the continent.

For instance Climax Timothy seed grown in the Bay of Quinte district is in wide demand, as is red clover grown in the Belleville area.

Clover and timothy seeds as well as grain are purchased in bulk from district farmers and after being passed through processes come out as certified seed.

"There are very few weeds that cannot be eliminated from seed by present day equipment," noted William Bishop. "Possibly the most difficult seed to get rid of is ordinary sweet clover."

The mail order seed business is also a big item for Bishop's and their annual seed catalogue goes out to thousands of farmers throughout the district and Ontario.

Besides the three partners, Bishop Seeds provides plenty employment for another six full - time workers. During the busy spring months casual labor is taken on to keep up with the volume of retail and mail order sales.

The new retail premises is set up in two sections, one for their wide variety of lawn and garden seeds and other requirements, and the other for display of mechanized equipment, tillage tools and furniture requirements for outdoor living.

Everything and anything for the lawn, garden and field, is Bishop's motto, while ease of shopping and oodles of parking space will make Bishop's an even better place to do business.

GLIDER PILOT KILLED

BISHOP, Calif. (AP) —Two gliders collided at the 35th national soaring meet Tuesday, killing one pilot. Dr. John Sawyer of El Cerrito, Calif., plunged to his death from 200 feet. His glider and that of Harmer Selvidge of North Hollywood collided. Selvidge landed his craft safely.

Three Given Terms

STRATFORD (CP) — Three youths were given jail terms when they appeared before Magistrate A. F. Good Wednesday for sentence on a total of 26 charges of car theft, breaking, entering and theft and possessing house breaking tools.

Rudy Heller, 19, of Stratford, was sentenced to four months definite and six months indefinite; Leslie Cooper, 20, of St. Catharines, to three months definite and six months indefinite; and George Saywell, 20, of Stratford, to four months.

BURGLARS BUSY

MONTREAL (CP) — Holdup men and burglars stole more than $60,000 in cash and goods in weekend attacks on taverns, restaurants and stores. Three would-be bandits were scared off by proprietors. Biggest haul was more than $26,000 worth of furs — all black and grey persian lamb — from the Kurt Hanauer Company warehouse.

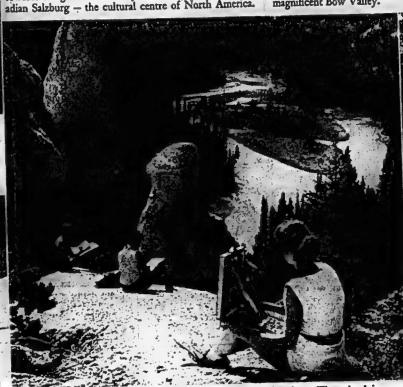
Banff School of Fine Arts

Canada's Campus in the Clouds

The Banff School of Fine Arts is quite literally a campus with its "head in the clouds" although everyone from Director to students has throughout its 26-year history walked towards the fulfilment of a bold dream with eyes fixed on the heavens, feet firmly planted on the ground. The school has grown and changed with the times but the principle on which it was founded — to enrich the mind in a setting to inspire the spirit — has only deepened with the years.



Donald Cameron, Director of the School since 1936 has worked with tireless energy, enthusiasm and devotion towards the goal that one day Banff may become a Canadian Salzburg — the cultural centre of North America.

Dean of the Music Department, Clayton Hare, rehearses a group of students on the sun-deck of the Administration Building which commands a spectacular view of the magnificent Bow Valley.

The school offers a wide variety of courses from Theatre and Play Writing to Oral French and Photography. Many courses may be taken for University credits. About 600 students attend the summer classes, some of them from such far away places as Australia, Norway and Ethiopia.

Art students have no difficulty finding a subject to inspire them. The school is surrounded by some of the most breath-taking scenery in the Rockies. Today 115 scholarships are available in a wide range of subjects.

Students stroll from their luxurious chalet accommodation for an afternoon musicale. To date, 15,000 students have attended Banff's popular summer sessions for an exciting "holiday at school".

Glen Miller

GLEN MILLER — Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Collier and Barry and Violet returned this week from a tour through the States.

Captain Charles Timm was a visitor last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Worral.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dench and Elaine and Dianne of Stratford were visitors this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Metzger.

Many Glen Miller residents were present at the Legion picnic at Cedardale, last Sunday.

Fishermen of the Trent report that pike and pickerel are biting poorly now, but good catches of channel cat are being obtained.

Traffic was resumed over the ing after the fire of Sunday which Glen Miller bridge Monday morn- destroyed several planks of the worn structure.

Weed dragging operations on the Trent Canal in this area have been discontinued and the canal is clear for marine traffic. Youthful swimmers are taking advantage of this fact, and the swimming in the Trent this year, is the best it has been for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Gainforth attended the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dainard last week in Peterborough. Mr. Dainard has been the principal of Glen Miller school for two years. He will be teaching in Peterborough next year.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Leech and family of R.R. 5, Trenton were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Palmateer.

The boulevard between the strips of highway on 401 is being watered continually now to try to save the sod which was laid there. Sodding operations have been temporarily discontinued.

CHAIN BOY

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP) — A mother and elderly stepfather who padlocked a 24-pound ball and chain around the neck of her 12-year-old son were freed on probation Tuesday after testifying the boy was uncontrollable. William Guilherie, 72 and his wife, Myrtle, 45, testified that her son, William Gerald Jones, had been expelled from school for holding a knife against a girl's back. Judge Ray Baugh made the boy a ward of the court and sent him to a mental hospital.

Palestine Arabs Have Hope As Long as They Clutch United Nations Ration Cards

BEIRUT (AP) — A card worth $1.50 a month stands between the Palestine Arab refugee and despair these days.

Once the barometer of Middle Eastern politics, the refugee feels left out of things in these days of feuds between pro - Nasser and anti-Nasser factions in the Arab world. The United Nations talks more about Lebanon and Iraq than about Palestine.

But so long as the refugee hangs on to his UN ration card, he has hope.

CARD MEANS FOOD

Economically, the card means he can eat. The United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine (UNRWA) distributes rations to more than 920,000 refugees in Gaza, Jordan, Syria, and Lebanon. These are the people, or children of people who fled their homes in Palestine 10 years ago and have lived off UN rations ever since.

The monthly ration gives the refugee something like six pounds of flour, a pound and a half of beans, an equal amount of sugar and rice and a little more than a pound of fat or oil. On local markets, the value of these rations runs to little more than $1.50.

To the refugee, the ration card also represents a political claim. Issued by the UN, it implicitly recognizes that he has been dispossessed and that he has a claim to something back in Palestine.

To an outsider, it is almost impossible to believe that these refugees still are convinced they will go back to homes inside what now is Israel that has celebrated its 10th anniversary, but the Arab refugees have not begun to accept Israel as permanent. They insist the Arabs one day will conquer Israel and restore the refugees.

RESIST MOVING

This attitude—unchanged in 10 years—partly explains the refugees' resistance to resettlement and their determination to cling to that ration card. There are more refugees on rations now than five years ago. UNRWA is on a treadmill in its effort to solve the refugee problem.

When an Arab dies in a refugee camp, his family may keep him secretly and continue to draw his rations. When a son goes to Kuwait or Iraq and finds a job, the family stays behind in a refugee camp in Jordan or Gaza and holds onto the son's ration card. The son later returns to live in the family doesn't go to Kuwait to stay.

The refugees don't want to exchange that ration card for a job. It would look too much as if they were giving up their "ticket back to Palestine."

This straw of hope may be taken from the refugees when UNRWA's mandate expires in 1960. UN member states are tired of contributing to a program that gets nowhere. In 1953, UNRWA was feeding 906,620 refugees. Five years later, UNRWA is feeding 836,777. The increase is due largely to the birthrate. The number who become self-supporting, who emigrate, or who are reported dead is negligible.

The decline of member enthusiasm for UNRWA is reflected in contributions to the program of self-support projects. The budget for this program was $15,000,000. UN members contributed only $7,-000,000 this year.

LOOMING STARVE

The refugees also are in danger of losing their political position in the Arab world. Arab leaders are forgetting to list Palestine first among their grievances. They are fighting over other things.

In the Lebanese crisis, events seem to have flown right past the refugees. Ordinarily, refugee camps are the places where riots first break out in Lebanon. The camps have been calm during the current crisis.

The refugees even show some signs of nervousness regarding their long-time idol, Gamal Abdel Nasser. When Nasser spoke in Damascus, he dealt with all aspects of Arab nationalism, with one major exception.

"Did you hear that speech?" a worried Palestinian asked. "He didn't say much about Palestine, did he?"

In spite of these omens, the refugees still place blind hope in what the ration card represents.

Forestry Experts Request Federal, Provincial Funds To Build Forest Access Roads

By FRASER MacDOUGALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

DORSET, Ont. (CP) — British Columbia's critical forest fire outbreak led Canadian forestry experts to request a special federal and provincial government vote to vote funds to construct forest access roads wherever they are needed in Canada.

The National Forest Fire Research Conference unanimously approved a recommendation from A. V. Atkinson of Vancouver that the governments be asked to consider the expenditure on forest access roads as investing part of today's forest income to protect forest capital for future use.

Mr. Backman, who earlier reported lightning-caused fires had ravaged more than 1,000,000 acres in B.C. with a timber loss of $20,000,000, said roads were vital across the country to provide fast access to lightning strikes, usually in remote areas difficult to reach. Roads would make it possible to limit spread of fires and reduce losses sharply.

About 140 delegates from throughout Canada and from the U.S. are registered for the three-day conference. Today they were scheduled to hear reports from directors of aerial fire-fighting by trained crews of the Canadian forest department.

The conference is held in the Ontario forest school near this village, 100 miles north of Toronto.

At its opening session, a panel discussion on lightning and forest fire control, the conference heard from a U.S. forestry expert that there "is how many" he added, how to modify or control some types of lighting storms.

It discussed use of shock troops, fire-retardant chemicals and helicopters in fire fighting.

Reporting on lightning-caused fires in the U.S., lerned Operation Skyfire, Arthur Brown of the U.S. forest service at Washington, D.C., said best chance of lightning control appears to be with the dry type of storm, most dangerous for forests.

The theory is that it may be possible to seed small cumulus clouds with silver nitrate and prevent them from joining up to form a major lightning storm.

MOST SUSCEPTIBLE

L. B. MacArthur, federal forestry branch meteorologist from Ottawa, said that studies of three Ontario and British Columbia areas most susceptible to lightning fires and where most outbreaks are considered in relation to number of days in June, July and August on which there are thunderstorms.

Ottawa had an average of 10 thunderstorm days in the three months and an average of 20 lightning fires in a 10,000,000-acre unit of forest land. B.C. had 40 thunderstorm days and 24 fires a unit.

In the afternoon, delegates watched crack fire crews of the Ontario forest protection service under simulated fire conditions. The crews demonstrated use of tools and had a pump and hose in operation four minutes after it was dropped from a helicopter. J. D. Harkness of Montreal, in a discussion Wednesday night, advocated that federal government set up crack fire-fighting units to move to fires to smother them before they can spread to large ones.

Mackey said the Ontario approved the shock-troop principle and used it wherever possible.

Plans Drawn For Toronto's New University

TORONTO (CP) — Plans have been drawn up for a second university in Toronto and the Ontario legislature will be asked to set up a board to run it, Premier Frost announced today.

Air Marshal W. A. Curtis, head of a nine-man planning committee, said Wednesday night construction of York University College will start in the fall of 1959. Types of courses and location of the new university have yet to be decided.

Alan Clarke, committee secretary, said it will serve primarily the higher educational needs of York county—stretching 40 miles north to Lake Simcoe—but undoubtedly students other than those from the Commonwealth would be enrolled.

An adult education centre is to be opened this fall in the North Toronto YMCA to serve as a guide for the types of courses and size of York University.

Meanwhile, industrial and commercial reaction to the centre will determine in part just what kind of university "we are going to have," Mr. Clarke said.

TWELVE COURSES

The centre would offer 12 courses: Leadership in society, English literature, philosophy, history, Canadian economics, contemporary drama, philosophy, modern poetry, basic issues in world politics, ways of mankind, Canada and the modern buildings, Canadian folk songs and Shakespeare and his contemporaries.

About 250 students would be accepted for the centre.

Mr. Curtis said initial development of the university probably will be on the Glendon Hall Carleton University, now 15 years old.

"Carleton started by holding evening classes in schools, and later declared themselves in churches and even private homes. We may very well have to start on the same lines."

Actually, it can be said that in one sense a summit conference is in session now and has been for nearly a year, with Khrushchev holding the initiative a large part of the time.

Many thousands of words in letters and cables testify to the exchange of views among the heads of government, with Khrushchev blandly bagging President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Macmillan, Premier de Gaulle and other leaders.

Macmillan Will Try to Bring Peace to Cyprus

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan flies to Ankara today in a bid to bring peace to Cyprus. After talks with Turkish leaders, he will go on to Turkey.

Macmillan will confer in Athens with Greek Premier Constantine Karamanlis and in Ankara with Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes. The Cyprus governor, Sir Hugh Foot, is expected to sit in.

The duration of Macmillan's stay in Athens and the date of his arrival in Ankara were not immediately announced.

Greek demands that Cyprus be allowed to join Greece and Turkish counterdemands for partition of the British island colony between the Greek and Turkish communities have embittered relations among the three NATO allies.

PLAN REJECTED

Britain last June proposed a seven-point plan leading to peace in Cyprus during which Greece and Turkey would share in governing the island. Although Greece rejected the plan, Macmillan probably will bring it to Athens for Karamanlis. Turkey was hostile to the plan but said it could serve as a basis for negotiations.

Macmillan also is expected to go to Greece and Turkey in order to bring the Cyprus issue before the UN General Assembly again this autumn.

Macmillan's offer to meet with Karamanlis in Athens was also synchronized with appeals from the Greek press for Karamanlis to for an end to the violence in which more than 100 Cypriots have been killed in the past 18 months. Both the Greek and Turkish governments recently called a cease-fire early this week, although four persons have been killed since then.

Mao Tse-Tung Is Big Wheel In Talks With Khrushchev

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The role of Red China in shaping Russian foreign policy has become a prime topic of speculation in capitals around the world.

Nikita Khrushchev's pilgrimage to Peiping—and his subsequent silence regarding a summit meeting—certainly implies that Mao Tse-tung wields powerful influence on Khrushchev's position.

This isn't the first time that Khrushchev has abruptly changed direction, and observers have wondered—and also sided him.

To most people, it is much easier to believe that Mao is the real key to the conduct than that Khrushchev is a political scatterbrain.

State Secretary Under Fire For Role in Summit Parley

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP) — State Secretary John Foster Dulles is under fire for what many regard as his inept and unimaginative role in the negotiations for a summit conference, now a suspense peding a meeting of the United Nations' General Assembly.

The bulk of the criticism comes from the press but there have been rumblings from the Democratic wing of Congress and, say some reports, a division within the administration itself.

AMERICAN AIMS

Dulles has been onslaught on the durable 70- year -old state secretary arises from a press conference statement in which he sought to define American aims at any summit meeting.

Dulles rejected any suggestion that a general Middle East settlement be attempted and made it clear that the United States had only two primary objectives.

1. To defend itself against any charge of aggression.

2. To get Premier Khrushchev to agree there must be no direct aggression in the Middle East.

Columnist Walter Lippmann, writing in the New York Herald-Tribune, said:

"If someone had tried to devise a formula most likely to set

Animal Lovers Claim Victory In Stag Hunt

EXFORD, England (AP) — An all-night-orderlie attempt by animal lovers to sabotage the stag hunt with a maze of bales ended Wednesday night with both sides claiming a total victory.

Only 12 of the stags won. No one of a bind, got caught! Ingstoce of the hounds, the hunt's quarry.

"We regard this as a complete success for our campaign," said the British League Against Cruel Sports.

"Nonsense," said Col. Louis Murphy, master of foxhounds of Devon and Somerset Staghounds Club. "We won a total victory. Our policy of police did interfered with us."

FALSE SCENT

Early Wednesday morning league volunteers sprayed miles of paths with a false scent of aniseed, which smells like a deer. They hoped to confuse the club's hounds.

Five thousand people and about 1,000 cars turned out for the hunt, a pack off. Col. Murphy, a 59-year-old retired army officer, left the kennels about 4 a.m. Exmoor forest. Thirty-five hounds ranged over the moorland.

"I regard these people as a joke," said Murphy. "Stag hunting has been going on here for hundreds of years and will always go on."

In London, the league declared: "The fact that the hunt called off early shows only too well how thoroughly the stags know their job.

"This is only a beginning and we shall treat many other stag hunts in the same way during the coming season."

They condemn the sport on grounds the stags are often "terribly" mauled by dogs before the huntsmen arrive.

Fined for Assault

HAMILTON (CP) — James Miller, 31, was convicted Wednesday of assaulting Constable Kenneth Brown, Bruce Scott, 18, and was fined $25 or 10 days in jail.

Evidence was given that Miller angered by stories that Scott had "manhandled" his nine-year-old son, allegedly, struck the play-ground supervisor. He suffered split lip and swollen throat.

The boy, who was involved in the fight, was charged with striking with a player from the opposing team, had been ordered out of the park by police and given the go.

A few days later Miller came to the police to Scott and the discussion ended in the assault.

Report on Some Policies, Administration in Depts. May Cause Lively Debate

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons estimates committee has supplied ammunition for a defence debate scheduled for Friday in the Commons.

The 80 - member committee Wednesday issued a report which heavily criticizes some policies and administration in the defence and defence production departments and in five Crown companies.

It recommended more integration in some branches of the armed forces, elimination of duplication in defence department administration, more careful defence buying to avoid over-stocking and more careful assessment of unit costs in the navy's new construction program.

It advised the hiring of an independent business consultant to examine the operations of one or more Crown companies to determine certain weaknesses in accounting and procedural methods". In Crown Assets Disposal Corporation, Defence Construction (1951) Limited, Canadarm Limited, Polymer Corporation and Canadian Commercial Corporation.

TOO MUCH AUTHORITY

The committee added that cabinet in Crown Assets Disposal Corporation "seem to be entrusted with too much day-to-day authority being vested in the president."

On completion of a review of one or more corporations by an independent consultant, Parliament, the government should decide "whether a further examination by a permanent committee is required."

The committee said Canada should never again embark on a weapons program as costly as the supersonic CF-105 fighter without a cost-sharing agreement with NATO members and the United States. The CF-105 development program will have cost $400,000,000 by the end of this fiscal year next March 31.

Veteran observers on Parliament Hill said the report probably is the most critical to come out of a Commons committee since the Second World War.

The committee has a heavy majority of Progressive Conservative members. Its chairman is Conservative Art Smith (PC—Calgary South), understood to be largely responsible for the unanimous report.

NO CUTS RECOMMENDED

The committee did not recommend any cuts in the 1958-59 defence budget of $1,686,600,000. It said its recommendations, if carried out, would result in material, economies and more efficiency.

The committee noted that the CF-105 program will cost $175,-000,000 this fiscal year.

The CF-105 is intended to succeed the supersonic CF-100 jet interceptor in 1961. The government will decide later this year whether to order the plane into full production.

The committee report backed the unified armed forces officers who have said privately that Canada cannot afford to support its own fighter aircraft industry and should manufacture under licence aircraft developed by other countries or buy out of their present.

In recommending more integration of the armed forces' administrative branches, the committee said it "is not satisfied that it has been established that a special provost corps, padre services and medical corps are necessary."

Maintenance of separate recruiting establishments for the RCAF and Royal Canadian Navy meant duplication of manpower and added considerably to the competition among the services.

There should be intensified civil defence training and a "substantial increase" in civil defence equipment, including transport and communications.

American Arab East Policy Seems a Mass of Confusion

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

American thinking on the Middle East has been befuddled by labels and lines.

The result is that on the verge of a United Nations assembly meeting United States policy in the Arab east seems a mass of confusion.

The hour is late, but American policy can profit by taking a candid look at its own weaknesses and at the Soviet threat. To do this, the sense of frustration behind many efforts to meet the threat of consequences for Western Europe.

The cry of nationalism and Nasserism are not as such the main U.S. concern. The U.S. is to prevent these forces from leading to a Soviet-Communist takeover. Nasser has been a thorn in the side of Communism and anti-Communism. Anything not his doing down the Arab-Israeli policy in the Middle East became anti-Western.

Americans applied terms like "fetish" or "conservative" to the area in the mistaken belief that both were meaning there.

For years the U.S., captivated by the notion that conservative rulers were protection against violent revolution, urged Arab countries into military pacts. The attempts failed. The U.S. then tried to get together the Baghdad Pact, ironically backed its name from a city where it was opposed by probably 90 per cent of the literate population. The pact was supposed to be a bulwark against Communism, but Nasser denounced saw it as an excuse to perpetuate Western military power in the area.

BACKED UNPOPULAR MEN

Invariably the U.S. and Britain found that the unpopular leader men, causes and regimes.

The Nuri regime of Iraq was pro-Western. To many Arabs Nuri was a creature of British policy.

American policy refused to face up to the strength of Nasser's drive. It was opposed by an overwhelming majority of Iraq's literate population.

In Jordan, King Hussein ruled a country created by the British and artificially from Arab territory—a strange little country with no real reason for existence. Hussein was "anti-Communist." Therefore he was entitled to almost American support.

Only British-American support in Hussein—about $130,000,000.

The U.S. has invested heavily

Barrie Hopes to Reconstruct Fort Used During 1812 War

BARRIE, Ont. (CP)—Barrie is hoping to reconstruct a fort that stood nine miles northwest of here during the War of 1812, before settlement began in the Lake Simcoe area.

Discovery of military buttons and other relics at the site has led to substantiation of records that Old Willow Fort stood at the end of Nine Mile portage, at the overland route between Lake Simcoe and the Nottawasaga River flowing into Georgian Bay. Barrie lies on Kempenfelt Bay where the portage began.

The chamber of commerce hopes to establish an educational and tourist attraction by reconstructing the fort.

EXCAVATIONS PLANNED

In 1954 it asked the University of Western Ontario to make a systematic search for the route of the portage to the Willow Fort landing. A later letter to Wilfrid Jury of the university's department of Indian archeology began a preliminary investigation, and in 1956 he plans to start excavation on the fort.

Prof. Jury found hoops from pork barrels, handmade nails, tinflints, army buttons and bronze gun rods bullets from the early 19th century. He also roug ly traced the fort's design during his research.

Nine Mile portage was the supply route for the beleaguered outpost of Michillimackinac at the head of Lake Michigan and for military and naval establishment at Penetanguishene on Georgian Bay during the War of 1812.

When the route was first discussed no one could be found at York, now Toronto, 46 miles south, to take bets on the fort.

Finally the navy commissioner at Kingston furnished 30 workmen to build the fort. They marched 250 miles across Ontario with 250 pounds of provisions to Kempenfelt Bay, then followed an old Indian trail to the fort's site.

When it was built supply parties went out for Michillimackinac across Lake Huron in boats made at Willow Fort. The first trip was made in the middle of winter.

Within a few years the chamber of commerce hopes to have the fort rebuilt. It plans to bring visitors along the winding portage to the fort site in stage coaches or similar vehicles.

2 Youths File Suit Against Police Officers

TORONTO (CP)—William Pritchard and John Jamieson, two Toronto youths were arrested and charged with armed robbery and later acquitted, have filed a writ for unspecified damages against three police officers and a service station operator.

The writ alleges false arrest by Constables Henry Midgley, William Quennell and Horace Molnar and charges that Peter Kostyk, a service station operator who was robbed of $150.

The youths and a companion, William Federby, were arrested and charged, but were later acquitted after three other youths confessed to the robbery and a police commission hearing inquiry was held into the circumstances of their questioning.

The two youths allege the policemen beat them and forced them to sign confessions implicating themselves and Federby.

No statement of claim or defence were filed with the writ.

Brewery Workers Move to Close Beer Outlets

TORONTO (CP) — The United Brewery Workers of America (CLC) moved today to shut down retail beer outlets in Toronto and Hamilton with a strike against the Brewers' Warehousing Company.

It was announced Wednesday night a total of 450 workers would leave their jobs to back up demands for improved wages. The remainder of 1,200 company employees in shops and offices centres would be called out but no provisions were made to continue retail operations in the shops.

An 11th hour meeting between union and management representatives was adjourned late Wednesday at the union's request. The conciliation commissioner appointed to settle the dispute will be called.

The union had voted last week to strike after the conciliation boards each headed by Eric Tayman, declared themselves incompetent to deal with the dispute. The union had objected to Mr. Taylor's position as chairman.

The union seeks an eight-hour day, a five-day week, Saturday week and wage increases ranging between $9 and $14 a week. Brewers pay varies between $1.85 and $3 an hour.

For two years, this milk wagon will be home of Audrey Goodchild, 20, pictured with her husband, Ken, 22. Their son, Bo, the horse, to pull the wagon, and Jade, the police dog, to keep her company. Her destination is Vancouver.

25,000 Cheering Children Greet Margaret in Park

MONTREAL (CP) — A fairy-land setting was the happy scene of Princess Margaret's visit Wednesday to 25,000 cheering, flag-waving Montreal children who gathered in east-end Lafontaine Park long before the princess arrived to take her place on a gaily-decorated dais or throne.

As the princess left the royal train, crowds lined three and four deep in spacious Windsor station and the streets outside.

Margaret wore an apple blossom pink and white printed taffeta dress with bouffant fullness at the waistline and full flowing back from the shoulder to the hem. Her hat was a tiny pink toque, the crown swathed with white muguet violets.

All along the route to the park crowds stretched along the sidewalks clapped and cheered.

It was children's day for the princess at the park. The thousands given special positions were from Montreal's 118 playgrounds.

FAIRYLAND CAME TO LIFE

The fairyland background became real when Margaret seated herself upon the dais or throne.

It was the Marguerite Throne in French "daisy" is a "marguerite"—with a foam rubber seat covered in yellow velvet and with giant white petals in the back to form the daisy. Flowers lined each side of the throne area, with short shrubs and trees at the rear.

Into reach the throne, Margaret was escorted across a concrete bridge over a moat.

She was officially welcomed to the park on behalf of the children by 14-year-old Elise Fournier, daughter of the mayor, and 13-year-old George Green, playgrounds mayor Masson Park.

GIANT WOODEN BOOK

On the stage surrounding the throne, Margaret signed a giant book made of wood. It bore this inscription:

"Once upon a time 300,000 children of Montreal really started believing in fairy tales when a charming princess visited them on August 6, 1958, and signed their golden book."

A huge Cinderella's pumpkin, as one corner of the stage, helped to carry out the fairyland motif.

The thousands of youngsters broke into songs—all kinds of songs—and gave great cheers throughout Margaret's 90-minute visit with them.

For the book-signing, Mayor Sarto Fournier gave Margaret a huge plumed pen, about 24 inches long, and the princess signed her name in large letters.

The cavalcade's return to the station was a petition of applauding crowds along the streets.

As she reached the train gate she turned, smiled and made her familiar gesture. The crowd cheered and waved back.

The train pulled out for Dorval from where she was to leave for Quebec City.

CARVES AT WORK...

Joe Yarmalow, a 60-year-old National Harbors Board employee, is shown at work on an elaborate ivory trophy. Known as Ivory Joe, he is the craftsman who each year carves the trophy to be presented to the skipper of the first commercial ship arriving at Churchill, Man. (CP Photo).

First Skipper at Churchill Gets Elaborate Ivory Trophy

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP) — An elaborate ivory trophy was presented this year, as usual, to the captain of the first cargo ship of the season reaching this port through the ice - clogged Hudson Strait.

The trophy is the work of Joe Yarmalow, known familiarly as Ivory Joe, 60-year-old employee of the national harbors board who designs a new trophy each year.

This year's trophy was won by Capt. Joseph Meade of the English steamship Richard de Larrinaga, which brought a cargo of ore, steel, pipe, glass and lumber.

Then took on grain for the return journey.

POLAR BEAR BASE

It is one of the most elaborate of the series, having taken some 70 hours of painstaking work with hand tools. Based on a polar bear, it stands about two feet high.

Keller trophies included figures of Eskimos, wolves, polar bears, walrus and Arctic eagles.

Five in a row were won by the S.S. Wariworth of the English shipping line, R. S. Dalgleish Ltd., first to reach Churchill in the seasons of 1951-55.

Mr. Yarmalow said he started carving ivory figures such as He came to Canada after the First World War, and arrived in Churchill in 1928. He slept in the open for six days while bunkhouses were being built.

During the 1930s he worked aboard the transport department supply ship Ocean Eagle, in Hudson Bay and Hudson Strait.

This year's hadsome ship trophy is a simple piece of work compared to some he has in glass cases in his home. They represent the work of many years.

Ivory Joe does all his work with such tools as files and a small hand drill. Final polishing is done with fine sandpaper and jewelers' rouge.

Want Lebanese Cabinet to Quit Before Sept. 23

BEIRUT (Reuters) — Pressure built up Wed. for the resignation of the Lebanese cabinet before the end of its term Sept. 23.

Adel Ossairan, speaker of the chamber of deputies, had a meeting scheduled with President Camille Chamoun today to pass on the views of several members of the chamber who are pressing for the immediate resignation of the cabinet.

Political sources said Prime Minister Sami Solh had offered the resignation of the cabinet but Chamoun had told him he saw "no urgent necessity" for accepting it.

Osseiran, who was instrumental in bringing about the election of Gen. Fuad Shehab last week as the next Lebanese president, favored a "caretaker" government which would take its lead from Shehab and assure a smooth "transition of powers" between now and the general's assumption of office Sept. 24.

This solution also was favored by opposition and middle-of-the-road deputies and by some government supporters.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Walker, who were recently married at the Standard parsonage, Crookston, Ontario, were guests of honor at a party in the I.O.O.F. hall Thomasburg on Friday evening.

They were presented with a floor lamp and a smoker for which both the bride and bridegroom graciously thanked the givers.

There will be no service in Thomasburg United Church until September 7 as the pastor and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. George Dyson, will be on holidays during the month of August.

Mr. Howard Thompson spent Wednesday last with Mr. and Mrs. Lorne H. Thompson of Trenton, assisting them in moving to their newly-built bungalow in Roseland Acres, subdivision on Carrying Place Road. Mr. Thompson is enjoying three weeks' holidays from Trenton RCAF Station where he has been employed for over 18 years.

MAO, KHRUSHCHEV DISCUSS SUMMIT

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev bids goodbye at the airport in Peiping to Mao Tse-tung of Communist China. They ended four days of meetings with a joint demand for a summit conference on the Middle East "at once." Khrushchev returned to Moscow after the meeting, believed to be an attempt to "appease" the Chinese Reds for leaving them out of summit conference plans.

Stamps Whip Argonauts
Riders Dump London Lords

By WILF GRIBBON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Nobby Wirkowski, an eastern football castoff, Wednesday night returned to the scene of his greatest days on a Canadian gridiron and again showed he has one of the finest passing arms in the game.

The little veteran from the University of Miami in Oxford, Ohio, led Calgary Stampeders to a 21-13 victory over Toronto Argonauts by firing three sensational touchdown passes to hard-running Chuck Holloway, a new halfback import from UCLA.

Wirkowski and Holloway provided the one-two punch for the Stampeders, who racked up their second straight exhibition win without defeat with a fine all-round performance. The Stamps, who beat British Columbia Lions by a single point previously, led all the way in handing Argos their first beating in two pre-season games.

It was a particularly sweet triumph for the 26-year-old Wirkowski. It came against the team he led to a Grey Cup victory in the same Varsity Stadium here in 1952. He was the Argo quarterback that year but was released subsequently because he wasn't much of a runner.

SCORE SAFETY TOUCH

A safety touch in which centre Jim Furey smeared halfback Joe Trivisonno of Argos and a convert by Doug Brown completed the Calgary scoring.

Dave Mann and quarterback Dick Shatto scored touchdowns for the Argos with Vic Kristopaitis converting one.

The Toronto pass defence was pitifully weak and the canny Wirkowski didn't take long to find the big holes in it. He fired a 22-yard toss to Holloway for the Stamps' first touchdown to top off a 63-yard march less than 10 minutes after the game started.

Stampeders were hanging on to a 14-13 lead late in the final quarter when the Wirkowski-Holloway combination struck again for Calgary's third touchdown, converted by Brown.

A third-down Argonaut gamble that backfired paved the way for the touchdown that wiped out the remaining hopes of the Toronto club. They failed to make the necessary two yards and Stampeders took over at the Argo 36-yard line. Wirkowski passed to Holloway for the clinching touchdown.

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Saskatchewan Roughriders of the WIFU opened the football season here Wednesday night by handing London Lords of the ORFU a 29-1 setback in an exhibition game before a crowd of more than 3,500 fans, who braved summer shower-ers which lasted until the third quarter.

The Riders head coach George Terlep sent 41 players into the game, including 14 imports, giving them all a chance to see action. For the most part he relied on his home team, with number two quarterback Gino Cappelletti to carry the load.

London's head coach Al Bruno dressed 37 men, 11 of them imports.

Statistics showed the Roughriders picking up 12 first downs with seven rushing and five passing. The Lords only managed seven first downs.

Halfback Cookie Gilchrist, the former Hamilton power runner, led the Riders' attack with two of the three Regina touchdowns. Veteran Jackie Parker added the other. Flying wing Jack Hill of Utah booted three converts while guard Don Walsh picked up two points on a safety touch.

The Lord's single point came in the second quarter when Jerry Legg, a Medway high school product, kicked into the Riders' end zone where Jim Ellis, a back from Tucson, was trapped by ends Ross Buckle and Del Thachuk.

Regina rolled up 136 yards on the ground, 80 of them by Gilchrist. London made 97 yards passing, Regina 86.

AT THE PARK — Jerry Lewis as the army's worst soldier, David Wayne as his unwilling buddy and Phyllis Kirk as his stumped psychiatrist, in scene from Hal Wallis' "The Sad Sack", Paramount VistaVision comedy riot at the air conditioned Park Theatre. On the same program the musical comedy "Excuse My Dust", in Technicolor starring Red Skelton, Sally Forrest, Macdonald Carey, William Demarest and Monica Lewis.

Eight Top Female Golfers In Women's Quarter-Finals

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SASKATOON (CP)—The veterans advanced while the young and enthusiastic faded under pressure at the Canadian women's open golf championships Wednesday.

Eight of the country's top female golfers—including all the favorites — advanced into the quarter-finals today at the par-70 Saskatoon Golf and Country Club course.

Three juniors who came safely through the opening round of the 36-player championship flight, fell before more experienced veterans in the second round, but not without interesting fights.

In the process, six westerners won berths in the quarter finals and opened the possibility of an all-Alberta semi-final.

Mrs. Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto and Pandora Ont., a 34-year-old veteran who has won the open title four times, came from behind after losing the first three holes, squared her match on the ninth with a 30-yard nine-iron approach shot that dropped straight into the cup for an eagle two, then trampled 19-year-old junior Suzanne Moulds of Vancouver 3 and 4.

Today she meets defending champion Betty Stanhope, 29-year-old from Edmonton, who coasted to a 4 and 3 triumph over Mrs. Helen Closs of Vancouver.

Veteran Mary Gay of Calgary at 36 a runner-up four times in the open, blistered the course to whip Lou Kraus of Toronto 6 and 7 as she birdied three holes and parred the other eight played.

Bee Milligan, another Calgarian who at 24 has been competing in national championships for more than seven years, managed to keep her putter fairly steady to win 1 and 1 over 17-year-old Judy Darling of Montreal.

Miss Milligan will meet Donna Patton, a 20-year-old from Winnipeg, who knocked out 19-year-old junior Jackie Moro of Burlington, Ont., 2 and 1.

The fourth Alberta to survive —leaving all of the Alberta interprovincial team members in the quarter-finals — was Mrs. Hazel Jamieson of Edmonton who defeated Mrs. W. H. Barclay of Saskatoon 3 and 1.

She now will meet Mrs. Robert Lyle of Montreal, a scratch handicapper who knocked out the 1956 junior champion, 15-year-old Gail Harvey of Toronto, 3 and 2.

BETTERS MARK

BUDAPEST (AP) — Olympic champion Glenn Davis of the United States bettered his own world record Wednesday in winning the 400-metre hurdles race in 49.2 seconds. The listed mark is 49.5. It was the second straight time for the big powerful runner in the U.S. - Hungary-Czechoslovakia 800 - day track

South Hastings Baseball League

Camnifton Clippers squared their South Hastings Baseball League three-of-five semi-finals last night, defeating Read 5-1 at Camnifton. Read won the first game 6-4.

The teams clash in the third game of the series at Camnifton on Friday night starting at six-thirty.

Read scored their lone run in the first innings and were blanked from there on. Camnifton tied the count in the second and added single runs in the third and fourth frames.

Masters went the route for the winners piling up eight hits while Read managed but four and walking three. Harvey Stoliker hurled for the Clippers being assisted for seven clouts while whiffing 6e and strolling one.

Gerry Brennan and Callery each had two singles for Read with Ben Brennan, McMahon and Milligan getting singles.

Baker got Camnifton's only extra-base hit a double with Callery also claimed by Sheffield, Petrie, Cole, Moore, Harvey, Oliver and Stoliker.

Read bobbled five times with four errors chalked up to the Clippers.

In the other semi-finals bracket, Northport clashes with Latta tonight at Foxboro.

Boy Can Study the Violin And Play Too Says Heifetz

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — On the issue of whether a boy should study indoors and study the violin or be out playing with the other kids, Jascha Heifetz offers this suggestion:

"Why can't he study the violin and play outside as well? The trouble today is that there is too much play. Everything is too easy. It is the same as in the new automobiles with their power steering and power everything. There is little left for the driver to do.

"There is plenty of time in life to play and also to work. In the old country we managed it. We worked all day at the violin and the seventh day we had to make an accounting of what we had accomplished the other six.'

These comments help to explain why the violin virtuoso is undertaking to teach his ideas of discipline and technique to a class of students for the first time in his life. From October to December he will close off his weekly sessions with eight young violinists and 10 auditors in the extension division of the University of California.

"There will be no curricula, no grades or anything like that," Heifetz explained. "I will simply try to tell the students the tricks and methods I have learned over the years.

"They will all be advanced students and even the auditors must be players. I wouldn't have the patience to teach beginners. I have done some coaching with individual players in the past and have found the experience gratifying. This is the first time that I have undertaken a class. I guess it is because of my old teacher. Once he pointed at me and said, 'you were meant to teach.' I suppose I am obliging him now."

Another factor in Heifetz' assuming the role of professor: He feels there is a lack of good violinists and violin teachers in the United States. He was outspoken in advocating his instrument:

"The violin has many advantages that other instruments do not have. Of course, the band instruments seem more attractive to youngsters. You have the uniforms and the parades to parade in.

"But that only lasts for a short time. You can play the violin all your life. And there are more chances to succeed. Hollywood, not merely in the concert field, which is highly competitive, but in symphonies, records, in TV and radio and many other mediums."

ALL IN SPORT

"I will NOT strike her out! She's just dying to get back to the beach near where my boy friend is sitting!"

New Zealand Deer Hunting Sounds Like Hunter's Dream

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP) — Deer hunting in New Zealand sounds like a hunter's dream—some of the world's largest heads of fallow deer, no closed season, no limit.

The fact is it is just too good. Deer are officially treated as a national pest. Professional shooters are hired by the government to exterminate as many as possible.

And that policy is bringing anguished cries from visiting sportsmen from overseas, backed by tourist interests. There are still limitless deer for all comers and will be for years in spite of the extermination campaign. What horrifies visiting hunters is the thought of an unequalled tourist asset being systematically destroyed.

Deer were introduced into New Zealand. None are native to the country but they prospered accordingly in their new home. They increased as rapidly that in half a century they changed from strictly protected game to dangerous pests.

RUIN FORESTS

New Zealand is a farming country, mostly sheep hilly pastures running into forest — cleal mountains. Great herds of deer in the forests are destroying the natural cover, causing rapid runoff of rain, flooding and erosion in the farmlands. In some areas their depredations on the forests have reached crisis proportions.

To keep the game in check amateur hunters are encouraged to shoot as many deer as they like, at any time of the year.

Tourists arriving in New Zealand are presented with a "license" to shoot unlimited numbers of deer at no charge. But the document is only a tourist idea—no licence of any kind is needed.

Killing by sportsmen is quite inadequate to deal with the problem. About 120 professional culls are employed by the government to work systematically through the worst infested forests, hills, wiping out whole herds of deer without regard to age or sex.

HEAD BOUNTY

Two of these culls each shot more than 2,000 deer in under 30 weeks last season. The total kill by culls last year was about 60,000 deer. Private hunters probably shot another.

Farmers claim all extermination efforts are doing little more than keeping pace with the herds. They want the government to provide private hunters with free ammunition and to pay them for shooting by means of a bounty on all tails brought in.

Visiting sportsmen, strongly opposing the idea of extermination, maintain that New Zealand could build up a multi-million - dollar tourist industry among North American hunters.

The idea is not making much progress. New Zealand lives by its farming and the thought of adding to the erosion of farmlands outweighs other considerations.

RED DEER SPECIES

But the hunter's wil bestiary be fine for years to come. Hunting camps, staffed by experienced guides and supplied by amphibian aircraft, are being established at several points. This will make hunting much easier for visitors, who have hitherto had to make most of their own arrangements in rough and unfamiliar country.

Red deer are the most numerous species. They are fine sporting animals with keen alertness and a highly developed sense of OTTAWA (CP) — Top-seeded players are expected to continue their winning ways today as the semi-finals of the 11th annual Canadian junior tennis championships moves into its second day. Officials hope today to reach the junior women's singles final, the semi-finals of the junior men's division and to push along the boys' and girls' singles and juvenile singles.

More than 80 matches were run off in ideal sunny weather Wednesday on the 18 courts of the Rideau Lawn Tennis Club in suburban Overbrook, permanent site of the championships.

Two seeded players were defeated in the second round of the junior men's singles but otherwise the big guns had little trouble winning in straight sets.

Ken McKnight of Montreal started badly against third-seeded Dave Horwitch of Halifax, but came on strongly to take the final two sets and the match 1-6, 6-4, 6-1.

In the other upset, Ottawa's Mel Bowen, playing with a five-stitch cut on his right foot, scored a well-earned 3-6, 6-3, 6-1 victory over fifth-ranked Robert Cumbaa, of Halifax.

Top-seeded junior woman Sharon Caldwell of Toronto won three matches with the loss of seven games, trimming Eileen Scook of Montreal 6-1, 6-0 in the first round, Vicki Berns of Vancouver in the second 6-2, 6-2 and fellow Torontonian Jane Pearson 6-1, 6-1, in the third.

LOST ONLY ONE

Andre Toupin of Montreal, top-ranked male player, blanked Peter Wodzicki of Toronto, 6-0, 6-0 and disposed of Denis Crotty of Montreal 6-1, 6-0.

Second-seeded Yvon Leblanc of Marieville, Que., didn't work much harder in defeating Frank Wodzicki of Toronto 6-3, 6-1 and Dennis Shillington of Ottawa 6-0, 6-1.

Judy Traviss and Marg Bason of Toronto, Judy Borland and Maria Stubbs of Winnipeg, Pat Ryan of Ottawa and Louise John of Quebec City all reached the quarter - finals of the junior women's class.

The closed championships are to end this weekend with an interprovincial competition among four teams—Ontario, Quebec, the four Atlantic provinces and the four western provinces.

Sport Slices

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

'Twas a short summer, when you realize that only eight or nine weeks remain before the McFarlands and other hockey clubs of the province will again 'do cavorting on the ice-lanes.

Midsummer just sees the writer "A" hockey pot simmering with a strange assortment of ingredients. New clubs are being formed. Old ones are going or have gone into bankruptcy with slim hopes of future operations. Others are looking for new drab. Leagues are alive one day and dead the next.

The only senior loops with any degree of certainty of operation are the Eastern Ontario circuit, "the breeder of champions," and the United States Eastern League. The NOHA-OHA League's fate hangs in the balance. There was talk of amalgamation with the International League, but that seems to have faded since Denver was granted a franchise in a dying gesture to keep the loop in its entirety. News reports say two Yarnis men will operate a club out of Memphis.

Reports and rumors sifting in from the centres of the Eastern Ontario circuit indicate that the various maneuverings have been working quietly laying the foundations for next season's squads. Coaches have been named by five clubs. Kingston has Ron Gargaro; Cornwall, Bob Buckley; Pembroke, Buddy Buchanan and Re'leville, Ike Hildebrand. Whitby has several players signed with Sid Smith in the coaching spot. The only dark horse in the loop is the Ottawa Hull Canadiens. However, it is safe to assume that either Scotty Bowman or Sammy Pollock will be the guiding light.

Pollock has proved a source of conjecture to the managers of other clubs in the Eastern Ontario loop. The circuit held its annual summer meeting in Hull, Quebec, on Saturday, August 16, instead of next Saturday as originally scheduled.

It was assumed after the league's last meeting, and it still is, that the league would be composed of a six-team circuit. Pollock, who stalled his entry at that time, promised the OHA and the league it would have a definite answer by July 7. The OHA president's office confirmed the date. The city noted for its lack of public relations, has been holding out, no word has come out of Ottawa regarding Pollock's intentions.

The league at its last meeting made no bones about wanting Pollock and his Ottawa crew in the league to round out a full-time six-club circuit. He was allowed a junior "A" club affiliate, the only one in the league. Rumors have it the Cincinnati Reds will be a Canadiens' farm club, has disbanded. Pollock has access to these players. besides others from the huge farm system of the Habs. Yet as far as the other clubs know he has made no statement regarding his intention of entry.

Another story has it that Pollock will manage the Rochester Americans, the Canadiens-Leaf horse in the American League pasture field. That leaves three big batchable eggs in the Pollock basket, the Junior Habs, the Potentials senior "A" club, and the Americans.

While he probably will, and just in case he doesn't, Pollock should be forced to show his hand at the August 16 meeting. Last year the Canadiens had a truncated suite consisting of the Junior Habs playing a 21-game schedule, and incidentally proving one of the poorest drawing cards in the league. Giving them three points for a win and one and one-half points for a tie, was nothing short of a farce. The hockey public wasn't fooled for a minute and every man and his dog around the circuit knew the games were nothing more than exhibition affairs.

This was evidenced down Ottawa-Hull way. - The Junior Habs drew little better than peanuts in the new Hull Arena and the Ottawa Forum when they played scheduled senior "A" games. This probably will be the last complete season to realize that nothing short of a full-fledged full-time senior "A" entry would satisfy outside fandom as well as that of Bytown and its environs.

Pollock could, with the player sources he has, be one of the most formidable teams in the league. He has stated he wants an entry in the Eastern League because he liked what he saw last year. He said at the last meeting he intended entering a full time club next season, but could not commit himself because the club had committed itself to play all its games in the Hull Arena and no arrangement had been reached at that time between the club and arena officials.

There have been mutterings in the press around the circuit regarding Sammy's reticence in declaring his stand —and not living up to his word that he would notify the OHA by July 7. Managers have learned there is a possibility of tentative schedule being offered at the August 16 meet, and with Ottawa an unknown quantity they have had their hands tied figuring dates, always a bugbear at the early autumn get-together.

Possibly Pollock has good reasons for holding up his decision unless, of course, it has been submitted to the OHA and nothing has been released by that august body. A little while ago intermediates teams of the district had a meeting regarding the possibility of interlocking games and whatnot. Nothing regarding the meeting was released to the daily press. District weeklies carried spotty stories given out by members of clubs attending the meeting.

Rookie Wins Fourth in Row To Stretch Champs' Margin

Jensen Tops 4-Bagger Four

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Carlton Willey, Milwaukee's second-year working pitcher, is making a strong bid to succeed teammate Joey Jay as the National League's "player of the month."

The 27 - year - old righthander who was farmed out to Wichita at outdown time now has won six, the last four in succession. As a result of this brilliant streak, the Braves boast a six-game lead, their biggest margin of the season.

Willey threw a three-hitter at Pittsburgh Wednesday night for a 3-1 victory with the help of Hank Aaron's 25th homer with a man on base in the first inning. LOW SCORE

While Willey was dropping the third-place Pirates eight garfes off the pace, San Francisco Giants were dropping an 8-7 decision to St. Louis. The Giants blew a 5-0 lead and just missed in the ninth when Jim Brosnan choked off a rally.

Robin Roberts allowed three home runs but still managed his 8-5 victory over Cincinnati, his 201st in the major leagues. Robin's ten wins are a club high.

Los Angeles took advantage of Cincy's blunders, Charley Neal and Norn Larker for a 5-2 triumph at Chicago. Stan Williams was the winning pitcher. Johnny Briggs although he needed help from Don Elston in the ninth. Neal who hit his 19th homer, is on a hot streak with 22 runs batted in the last 26 games.

Elliott Leads 4 In Fabulous World Record Mile

Smashes Former Landy Mark In Fantastic Time of 3:54.5; Four Run Under 4 Minutes

By JOHN FARROW

DUBLIN (AP) — Herb Elliott, an amazing Australian who uses so powerfully that everything seems within his reach, smashed the world's mile record Wednesday with a time of 3:54.5.

His fantastic clocking came in a race in which the first five finishers bettered four minutes.

Elliott's time was nearly three seconds faster than the recognized record of 3:58 set by Australia's John Landy four years ago.

The lap times were :58 for the first quarter, 1:58 for the half and 2:59 for the three quarters. Elliott ran his last lap in a spectacular 53.5 seconds.

PREDICTS 3:50 TIME

"I think a 3:50 mile could come within a couple of years," the 20-year-old Elliott said today. "Of course, we shall need track conditions like the one we had last night in Dublin — conditions as near to perfect a easy runner could want."

It was at Dublin's Santry Stadium that Elliott ran his eighth sub four-minute mile. It was the first time in history five men in one race had been under four minutes.

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—Australian Herb Elliott, with a fabulous record mile time of 3:54.5 as his authority, sat back today and told the world:

"I think a 3:50 mile could come within a couple of years."

The 20 - year - old Australian quickly added: "Of course we shall need track conditions like the ones we had last night in Dublin—conditions as near to perfect as any runner could want."

It was at Dublin's Santry Stadium that Elliott ran his eighth sub four-minute mile—with the most fantastic timing ever in the history of track and field.

"Elliott's time of 3:54.5 is one that will stand as a mile record for years and years," said British sports experts. "He clipped 3½ seconds off John Landy's official world mark. Who can expect a runner to come along tomorrow and reduce Elliott's record timing even more?"

FIVE BREAK BARRIER

The first five men in Elliott's record - breaking mile smashed four minutes—the first time in history that such a thing had happened.

Three did it in 1958 in London when Laslo Tabori of Hungary was timed in 3:58. Four were under four minutes in 1957 when England's Derek Ibbotson hit 3:57.5—a controversial clocking as the race was paced.

Here are the first five placings in the historic Dublin mile:

1. Elliott, 3:54.5. 2. Merv Lincoln, Australia, 3:55.9. 3. Don Delaney, Ireland and Villanova, Philadelphia, 3:57.5. 4. Murray Halberg, New Zealand, 3:57.5. 5. Albert Thomas, Australia, 3:58.8.

The official world mark is 3:58 set by Australia's "Landy at Turku, Finl. as June 21, 1954.

Ibbotson's 3:57.2 at London's White City Stadium July 19, 1957 has not been ratified because of the pacing controversy.

MARK BROKEN

Both Elliott and Lincoln were inside Ibbotson's time. And Elliott, who finished Wednesday night's race without any show of exhaustion, seems capable of making the 3:50 mark himself.

He has all the power and energy of the greatest miler ever.

And he got them through an unusual diet and method of training. His training diet consists of oats, nuts, raisins, dried fruits and diced bananas. Through the winter his training schedule calls for runs and climbs on the rugged hills around Portera, some 50 miles south of Melbourne. He never has lost a mile race since starting his time competition in December, 1956.

Ontario's Junior Golfers Defeat Quebec's Best Shots

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's seven-year - junior golf development program produced dividends Wednesday when young Ontario shotmakers swept through the first annual interprovincial junior golf championships.

The 10-man Ontario team defeated Quebec 11-4, winning four of five foursomes and seven of 10 single best-ball rounds.

Phil Brownlee of Toronto Scarboro, 1957 Ontario junior champion and Canadian runner-up, paced the Ontario team, defeating Quebec Junior champ Ray Zabowski of Montreal Marlboro 3 and 2 over the 6,506-yard, par-71 Toronto Golf Club course.

FIRES 74 EAGLE

Brownlee carded a two-under-par 70, including an eagle on the ninth.

Two competitors competed on each team in five age groups from 14 and under to 18 years. Officials of the Ontario Golf Association credited a program begun in 1951 for the win. Proceeds from National Golf Day have gone towards development of young golfers.

The interprovincial tournament replaced the former international tourney between a team of Ontario junior golfers and a team from Washington, D.C. it was discontinued last year.

Bob Panasiuk of Windsor Roseland, Canadian and Ontario Junior champion, scored the most impressive match play victory, trouncing 16-year-old Al Johnston of Montreal Summerdale 8 and 6. Winner's margin ended on the 12th hole Panasiuk had taken only 45 strokes and made the turn in six up.

Quebec's only winner in the team matches were Andre Ziegraf of Quebec Oleans and Cord Leriche of Montreal Hampstead, in the 15-year-old class. They defeated John Kindred of Peterborough Kawartha and Tod Talbot of Sarnia 3 and 1.

Ziegraf, who speaks almost no English, was Quebec's only double winner, defeating Talbot 3 and 1 in individual match play.

Ross Pollard of Brantford and Pete McCaig of Cobourg defeated John Young of Montreal Country Club and John Mitchan of Montreal Hampstead 4 and 3 in the foursomes.

In the singles, Pollard went down 5 and 4 to Young.

MPs WIN

OTTAWA (CP)—Members of Parliament defeated Members of the Press Gallery 17-9 Wednesday night in a comedy of errors that could loosely be called an exhibition softball game. It was the second straight victory for the MPs. Wednesday's contest ended on the 12th hole Panasiuk had taken only 45 strokes and made the turn in six up.

Quebec's only winner in the team matches were Andre Ziegraf 'of Quebec'Oleans and Cord Leriche of Montreal Hampstead, in the 15-year-old class. They defeated John Kindred of Peterborough Kawartha and Tod Talbot of Sarnia 3 and 1.

Ziegraf, who speaks almost no English, was Quebec's only double winner, defeating Talbot 3 and 1 in individual match play.

Ross Pollard of Brantford and Pete McCaig of Cobourg defeated John Young of Montreal Country Club and John Mitchan of Montreal Hampstead 4 and 3 in the foursomes.

In the singles, Pollard went down 5 and 4 to Young.

Marksmen Seek To Qualify At Shoot Meet

By ROY LeBERGE

CONNAUGHT RANGES, Ont. (CP)—The qualifying stage of the Lieutenant-Governor's match was the main event today as the Ontario Rifle Association annual meet entered its third day.

Most of the 270 service rifle competitors at these ranges 11 miles west of Ottawa were expected to enter the match, fired at 300 and 600 yards.

The top 75 will be eligible to compete Friday in the final stage of the Leutenant-Governor's, premier event of the four-day meet here.

WINS SHOOTOFF

Wednesday, Christopher T. S. Belk, 20-year-old member of the British rifle team, won the Duke of Cornwall and York match in a shootoff after five riflemen had perfect 100-point scores in the match at 200 and 500 yards.

PHILIP LOSES

COWES, England (AP)—Prince Philip got off to a poor start and lost his second yacht race in 24 hours Wednesday. The prince, in the flying 15 class Cowesalp, crossed the starting line before the gun went off for a nine-mile race at the annual Cowes Regatta. It took him several minutes to manoeuvre back and make a true start. The prince and his crew, Uffa Fox, finished fourth.

Belk, a Cambridge University undergraduate, shot five consecutive bullseyes to win the shootoff at 500 yds. Runner-up was Maj. Don MacRae of the Royal Montreal Regiment.

Capt. Harry M. Power of the Royal Canadian School of Infantry, Camp Borden was third, and Sgt. Ralph E. Cathline, also of the Royal Canadian School of Infantry, fifth. Sgt. Cathline lives at Barrie.

Earlier, Sgt. Frank Jermey of Montreal won the Tall-Brassey match, scoring 105 points of a possible 105 despite a tricky, fluctuating crosswind.

Sgt. J. A. Draper of South Porcupine, Ont., was runner-up with a 103-point score.

DESERONTO

Council Irked At Remarks Of Editor

DESERONTO — During the regular town council meeting the editor of the Post Express came in for censure from the members because of an editorial he had printed concerning Councillor Marks shouting during and at a council meeting. A letter is to be sent to the editor of the paper on motion of C. Gill, prefacing against statements made.

Council also, during the regular meeting moved to pay hospital accounts which had been billed to the town and not refunded before the time limit had elapsed. An account of $300.00 for investigating a drain on Mill Street because of a complaint of a resident of that street was paid although there was nothing wrong with the drain. Council decided to have the town employees and the members of the town council placed under the protection of the Workmen's Compensation Board instead of an insurance company. The cost of policing the highway crossings for the children on their way to school will be the charge to the school board for the balance of the year. It was also decided to call for tenders to paint the tower at the fire hall.

Marsh Hill

MARSH HILL — Several from the Marsh Hill community attended the Centennial parade in Stirling on Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Finkle attended Centennial church service Sunday morning at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church when Miss Freda Matthews of Toronto was the guest speaker.

There will be no church service during the remainder of August in Marsh Hill Church as the Rev. R. Darke is on holidays. Plans have been made for the anniversary services on Sunday, September 21st.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Finkle and girls attended a family reunion Sunday evening at the home of Mr. J. C. Thain, Wellman's Corners.

Mr. and Mrs. John MacGuire and Irvin, of Crookston, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Breech.

LARGEST CONVENTION

May Construct 12-Mile Monorail From Airport

TORONTO (CP) — Construction of a 12-mile monorail line from nearby Malton airport to downtown Toronto will probably begin within 18 months, a suburban council member predicted Tuesday night.

Controller Bush told Etobicoke town council that Simpson-Sears sent a letter to Avro Aircraft Limited offering help in establishing the monorail system, which would carry passengers in bullet-shaped cars slung from a single overhead rail.

He said Simpson-Sears is prepared to donate land near the merchandising firm's Matson warehouse for a terminal and would "back monorail 100 per cent" because it would draw customers.

An official for Avro, which has sent an engineering study of a $75,000,000 project to Toronto municipal officials, said his firm only has interest in the monorail's designing and construction — not the financing."

HAY WAS POOR, BUT FARMERS MAKE UP FOR IT IN OATS

Ontario farmers started the year with poor cuttings of hay but have more than balanced this by excellent crops of oats. With the harvest under way now, many farms are reporting the richest yield of oats in ten years. Here is a tractor train of straw on the farm of Retford Gardhouse at Milton, where the yield was 90 bushels to the acre.

81 UN Delegates Officially Open Emergency Meet

Gather In Atmosphere Said Markedly Hopeful

By LLOYD McDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Delegates of all 81 United Nations member states gathered today for a late-afternoon meeting to open officially the General Assembly's emergency session on the Middle East under a unanimous mandate from the Security Council.

They gathered in an atmosphere markedly hopeful in comparison with that of earlier in the week when expectations were that the council's call for the emergency session would be met in a setting of bitterness because of the opposing positions of the United States and Russia.

Russia's sudden relaxation of her demand that the General Assembly session be called specifically to recommend withdrawal of U.S. and British forces from Lebanon and Jordan resulted in a series of compromises that the assembly meeting will prove more fruitful in dealing with the crisis than the council would have the now-dead idea of a summit conference.

"OMINOUS" SHIFT

Soviet Premier Khrushchev's sudden flexibility at the council meeting in favor of an assembly session was a quick shift that Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. delegate to the UN, described as an "ominous" development. Most of the major Western powers felt that the assembly would be subject to more danger than a propaganda forum, with Russia taking the position that it had been dragged into it under terms being the American viewpoint.

This feeling persisted as late as mid-evening Thursday, after a Russian attempt to have the session run through more than five hours of debate on whether the assembly should be called on Russia's terms of troop withdrawal of the U.S. position that it should meet under the "uniting for peace" resolution to take note of Soviet threats to the security of Jordan and Lebanon.

Nonetheless a representative, Arkady Sobolev, then broke the deadlock in conciliatory fashion. real reason for which was still a matter of speculation today, that he would vote for the American proposal if the contentions from Russia and its views in reference to uniting for peace were removed from the wording of the resolution.

Prime Ministers Britain, Greece Meet for Talks

ATHENS (Reuters)—The prime ministers of Britain and Greece met here today at the start of urgently-arranged talks on the Cyprus dispute.

Prime Minister Macmillan flew here Thursday for his meeting with Constantine Karamanlis of Greece. He also will visit Premier Adnan Menderes of Turkey before returning to London.

Macmillan said on arrival: "I trust that our talks here may bring peace and hope to the people of Cyprus and make it a symbol of the peace we long for in the world."

GREEK IS HOPEFUL

Karamanlis told reporters at Athens airport he was "hopeful" about the talks.

Informed sources in Ankara said Turkey hoped the talks there would result in at least an endurring armistice on the island.

Macmillan took the initiative and suggested the talks be telegrams to the Greek and Turkish premiers during the current bulin the Cyprus violence.

But Karamanlis, it was revealed here, stipulated in a message to Macmillan that the talks could not be held on the basis of the British "partnership" plan for Cyprus, which both Greece and Turkey have rejected.

This plan provided for a seven-year period of three-way rule by Greece, Turkey and Britain with a view to eventual shared sovereignty.

Two Customers Beheaded by Bomb Explosion

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Bombs exploded at two cafes in downtown Beirut today. One explosion beheaded two customers and three other persons were missing.

No one was hurt by the second explosion, front of a tearoom.

The bombing was the second serious terrorist outrage in Beirut since Fuad Shehab was elected president July 31 as a compromise choice. Chief Lebanon was killed last Friday by a bomb that wrecked two downtown stores.

There was no way to determine whether today's bombing marked a return to the strife that has gripped Lebanon since May 10. Enough for isolated clashes, including a sharp one Thursday, but nothing that has prevailed since Shehab's election. Insurgent forces are considering a general strike in the areas they hold.

A 24-hour battle was reported Thursday in the Bekaa Valley of northeast Lebanon between rebel tribesmen — government forces. Nine government men and three tribesmen were killed, informants said.

REDUCE MINIMUM WIDTH

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives Thursday passed a Senate-House compromise measure reducing to 13 inches the minimum width of newsprint which must be supported duty free. The reduction from 16 inches is designed to meet the needs of publishers reducing the size of their newspaper pages.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis:— Pleasant weather is forecast for Southern Ontario today and Saturday. Afternoon temperatures will range from 80 to 85 with lowering humidities. Skies will be partly cloudy in the northern region, which will be sunny and warmer Saturday.

NO BEER DROUGHT IMMINENT IN BREWERS' STRIKE

Private Outlets Still Dispensing

TORONTO (CP)—No immediate beer drought appears likely despite a strike of 650 employees of Brewers' Warehousing employees in seven Ontario centres.

Although 49 retail outlets and the one warehouse operated by Brewers Warehousing in Toronto are closed, five retail outlets operated by four breweries are still dispensing beer.

Hotels and taverns, faced with dwindling supplies as a heatwave continues, put in stocks in the last week, are preparing to pick up beer at the warehouses operated by individual breweries.

The Toronto - based breweries have also been offering deliveries, but it is considered doubtful the union would permit them to take up the duties of the striking Brewers' Warehousing, a co-operative owned by the breweries.

CAN'T DELIVER

L. A. Wainwright, advertising and sales promotion manager for Molson's Brewery (Ont.) Ltd., said Thursday night the Ontario liquor control board has granted permission for hotels, taverns and clubholders to pick up their own vehicles to pick up supplies from individual breweries. "We can't deliver it."

He said Molson's store was open 8 a.m. Thursday and will be 6 p.m. Thursday, but I don't think a lot of people will bother to drive a store on until late in the day. If there is going to be a big rush, it probably will be Friday and Saturday.

The strike, called by the United Brewery Workers of America, has closed Brewers' Warehousing in Toronto, Hamilton, St. Catharines, Niagara Falls and Fort Erie. The company operates 49 outlets in the province and the 450 strikers represent about one-third of the organization's staff.

No settlement is in sight as the company and the union remain deadlocked on non-monetary issues that have been barriers to agreement since the union's demands on wages and hours.

Bulls Coming, Matador Gone, Fights Still on

LINDSAY, Ont. (CP) — First it's the bulls and then it's the bullfighters.

An spokesman for the chamber of commerce said today one of the bulls mistakenly brought in especially for the bloodless bullfights has had to return to the stockyards.

He said Rudolfo Rodriguez, 26, Mexican matador imported from Mexico way, The chamber is seeking a substitute.

The bullfights, first of their kind ever staged in Canada, are to have been held Aug. 2 and 3 but were delayed because the bulls wouldn't perform on time. They'd been turned back at Laredo, Texas, a U.S.-Mexican border point, because they had the ticks.

The fights were then scheduled for Aug. 23 and 23. Latest word is that the bulls have finally been cleared and are heading this way by truck.

Three Children Watch Helplessly As Fathers Fall From Boat, Drown

LIKELY, B.C. (CP) — Three small children, too young to know the swimming skills of their father, watched helplessly as their fathers fell from the boat and drowned in Quesnel Lake near here.

Police reported the tragedy Thursday and said they were still dragging the lake for the two bodies, both non-swimmers.

The two families started the fishing outing last Tuesday. After the men capsized, three children, one 10 and the others seven, managed to steer the boat to shore.

Search parties found them 24 hours later, three miles from the spot the capsizing between Williams Lake and Quesnel.

The drowned men were identified by RCMP as Charles Wesley Steed and his brother Russell Gerald Steed.

Police at Williams Lake said the children were understood to be in fair condition after their ordeal Wednesday night in woods, but were being "checked in hospital."

Okanagan Residents Fearful With Killer Still at Large

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—Fear, spread among residents of the usually peaceful Okanagan Valley today as a suspected killer eluded police and armed posses in a search beginning to wear with the country's greatest manhunts.

Police still had no definite lead on the suspect four days after a RCMP constable was shot dead and wounded as the policeman sought to question him in the beating death of Mrs. Louella Annie Budde.

Searchers spent two to two widely separated areas Thursday night after reports that the man was seen. They found nothing.

The hunt recalled the famous search for the man behind Prince Rat River 27 years ago. Albert Johnson shot his way out of a Mackenzie River valley killing an RCMP constable. He was on the run for 20 days before he was finally trapped and killed in open country.

Police hunted the area around Penticton Thursday night for a man described as tall, slim and unidentified suspect at points as far as 30 miles apart.

The search has indirectly caused the death of three RCMP officers, including Constable Budde, their plane crashed while flying low over hilly country during the search.

For a time Thursday night it seemed police and hundreds of citizens in this city of 11,000 on the shores of Lake Okanagan Pal were powerless.

At 10 p.m. a man answering the wanted description suddenly walked into a small store at the Mount Chapala motor court outside the city limits and bought a pop.

Mrs. Norma Dunn, owner of the motel, phoned RCMP when the man left the store and began walking towards Penticton.

A police cruiser arrived moments later. Mrs. Dunn said it must have passed the man on the highway.

Police and armed citizens combed the area while residents in their cars and trucks blocked every way and shone their headlights on to a swamp. The search was on for the killer.

An hour later patrol cars raced into Kelowna, 30 miles north of here, to investigate a report that a man had jumped into a car and disappeared after being caught in the headlights of a police car.

The search started with the discovery of the body of Anita Budde, 37, in her cabin and was intensified with the wounding of Const. Doug Brown, 30 miles away by the life of the inhabitants of this Okanagan Valley area.

Hundreds of citizens joined police in the search. Fruit pickers were ordered off the job and orchards are on the watch for any movement among orchards and vineyards in the presence of the hunted man.

Because of the difficulty of identifying persons in the orchards, police have warned many cities which led them to innocent fruit workers. The fact that many workers live in camps during the harvest and are not known locally has added to the confusion while checking a clue which later turned out to be useless. Const. Brown was found crashed beside nearby Skaha Lake.

Chicago Gangster Will Testify Before Inquiry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chicago gangster Paul (The Waiter) Ricca was called for questioning today by the Senate committee investigating James Hoffa's alleged ties with the underworld.

Hoffa, president of the giant teamsters union, faced a fourth day of questioning before the Senate rackets investigating committee.

Committee chairman John McClellan told Hoffa Thursday reasonable men can only conclude "you associate with criminals, and that you keep them there and intend to keep them there if you can have your way."

NO TIME CLEANUP

Chief counsel Robert Kennedy said the committee would focus on Hoffa's claim that he has been too busy trying to improve the Teamsters organization to give more attention to fighting corruption in his union. Hoffa says Thursday he plans to clean up his union "in due course."

Kennedy told the committee also would study Hoffa's reported role in helping an Illinois underworld group get a football 'B' the Hotel and Restaurant Workers' Union there.

The teamsters union has purchased Hoffa's home in Detroit, Mich., for about $150,000 with the announced plan to use it as a training school for business agents. It has been unable to get permission from the city zoning authorities to use the building for this purpose.

Kennedy said he wants to know who engineered the sale, and why the union paid so much for the veteran of the Chicago Capone mob. Ricca is free on bail while appealing a prison sentence for income tax evasion.

POLICE APPOINTMENTS

TORONTO (CP) — Wilfred H. Clark, assistant commissioner of the provincial police, was named commissioner Thursday to succeed Edwin W. McNeill, who resigned Aug. 1. Asst. Commissioner Clark was formerly deputy commissioner and John Trimble, a staff inspector, was appointed assistant deputy commissioner, a new rank.

Police Break Up Bid to Rescue Robbery Suspect

TORONTO (CP) — Police claimed Thursday to have broken up a bid to rescue a robbery suspect from a hospital ward where he is under police guard.

Memo Lo Cicero, recently-formed holdup squad raided a west-end apartment and arrested Donald Henderson, 35. He was charged with conspiring to aid in the escape of a prisoner—his brother Roy.

A fourth man was arrested and charged in connection with the same robbery, Stanley Elliott, 48, was charged with armed robbery in the looting June 19 of a Canada Bank of Commerce branch of $6,625.

The other three men, charged earlier, are being held in Don Jail.

DUE FOR OPERATION

Roy Henderson, 38, was taken to hospital four days ago for an operation scheduled for today.

He was also held on a dispute over money, some of it identified as loot from a $6,625 robbery. Lo was later charged in connection with the crime. He once vowed he would never go to jail.

He was severely injured in the fall. Police said an hospital for several weeks before being transferred to Kingston Pen. Aug. 20, was charged with attempted murder following the shooting.

Police were tipped off about the planned hospital break. When they raided the apartment they also seized two loaded guns. Of the eight charged, four are out on bail.

Henderson is the president of Warner Brothers who was born in Youngstown, O., in "a weak state" and his condition is serious, doctors said.

Complications Kill

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—Mrs. Johanna Jones, 81, of Warkworth died in hospital in Campbellford Thursday from complications following a hip fracture suffered in a fall two months ago. Warkworth is 22 miles east of here.

COST OF MODERN PENAL SYSTEM WILL BE HIGH

Justice Minister Gives Explanation

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton says the federal government will have to spend an "enormous" amount of money to give Canada a modern penal system.

He told the Commons Thursday that huge capital outlays will be required for new penitentiary buildings, training of staff and implementing many accepted recommendations in the 1956 Fauteux committee report on penal reform.

Mr. Fulton said capital requirements for new buildings alone have to be stretched over a 15-year period if the government accepts recommendations that prisoners serving sentences of six months or more.

This is a main recommendation in the report of the committee of which Gerald Fauteux of the Supreme Court of Canada, was chairman.

serving two years or more are kept in federal penitentiaries and those with lesser terms in provincial institutions.

FACE MAJOR TASK

"What we are confronted with a major task where in bringing the penal system into line with the best thinking as to what a penal system should be, said Mr. Fulton. "The cost of the Fauteux report during consideration by the justice department. We sent letters to provincial attorneys-general last year, discussed it at a meeting in Ottawa between officials and got all to discuss the report's recommendations.

Mr. Fulton said the current penitentiary building programme was designed only to take care of the increased prison population. If the government reached agreement with the provinces as to some responsibility for prisoners serving six months or more, "our present plans for building penitentiaries are going to be vastly increased," though some provincial institutions will be taken over.

The minister disagreed with Hon. Paul Hellyer, PC—Toronto East that all federal penitentiary buildings are hopelessly outdated and antiquated. He has been a substantial building program over the last few years.

It was hoped that the new penitentiary at Kayenthi, Yukon in Dawson Kingston, would be ready for full occupancy next summer.

"We are attempting to develop a scientific approach to the whole system of penology in Canada," Mr. Fulton said.

He said he designed to serve the best interests of society, to keep the prisoners there as long as necessary and to ensure training that will keep prisoners from again becoming lawbreakers.

Printing Bureau Termed Costly 'Swimming Pool'

Expenditures Rise Above First Estimates

OTTAWA (CP) — The new $18,000,000 national printing bureau in neighboring Hull, Que., was described today by members of the Commons public accounts committee as "an expensive swimming pool" "a glorified garage building" and "Noah's ark."

The comments followed testimony by Mad. Gen. Hugh A. Young, deputy public works minister, that the original $6,000,000 the bureau had to be raised above the water level of a subterranean river. There now was a pool under the floor from which water had to be pumped out regularly. Young also testified:

1. That he has stopped payment of $60,000 to committee architect Ernest Cormier because the original estimate of construction cost $500,000 to $600,000, which cost $2,500,000 to be overhauled at a cost of $60,000.

2. That Miron Freres was paid some $250,000 for the original excavation although its accepted low tender for the job was $55,000.

3. That the unit cost of excavation was almost $1 a cubic yard as against 60 cents to $1.50 and $2 a cubic yard without new tenders. Cormier had told him the unit price was "unusual," that there were no records of the experimental files and that the change was arranged verbally with the government. Mr. R. P. Murphy, then deputy public works minister.

ORIGINALLY $6,000,000

4. That the original estimate for the building was $6,000,000.

5. That the building should have been completed in "ordinary circumstances" in two years—the original excavation contract was let in June, 1956—but indeed is nearly 10.

6. That a "chief fault" lay in the fact that construction was started before final plans and specifications were ready. The "excuse" for this rested with Mr. Cormier.

7. That footings for the bureau were installed before plans were completed for the building.

8. That earth borings were taken but they were not "complete." The government had guaranteed the original borings.

9. That rock on which the foundation rested was not firm enough and more excavating had to be done.

10. That the persons responsible for the architectural plans, Archbishop Fournier of Hull, then Liberal public works minister, Cormier a judge of the Exchequer Court, Mr. Murpry, Mr. Cormier, Raymond Cloutier, Queen's Printer and W. E. Powers, consulting engineer.

11. That the Concrete Construction Company of Montreal won the $2,000,000 contract for construction of the building but was paid $2,500,000 because of changes and additions to the original plans. Other bids for the contract had been $2,440,000; $2,500,000, and $6,622,000.

Margaret Spends Day in Cottage Attends Harness Racing Tonight

By GEORGE McNEVIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

FREDERICTON (CP) — Princess Margaret spends a quiet day at a secluded summer cottage on the St. John River near here today.

Her only official appearance will be at the harness racing here tonight.

The cottage named Journey's End about seven miles north of here, owned by contractor Kenneth Colpitts, was reported to be the hideaway. Officials would not comment on the visit or its report.

The princess was guest Thursday night at a banquet given by the Province of New Brunswick and attended by about 200 persons. Guests included provincial cabinet ministers, members of legislature, judiciary and armed forces personnel.

The dinner followed a day that took the princess to seven major appearances.

At the dinner, she was presented with a woollen handwoven shirt by Premier Hugh John Flemming on behalf of the province. Flemming also presented her with a brooch studded with jewels and crowned by a tiara, the princess was accompanied to the dinner by lieutenant - Governor J. Leonard O'Brien.

For more than an hour before the dinner began, crowds which had come to cheer her at the New Brunswick capital waited outside and by the time she left a hearty downpour to catch another glimpse of her.

Other events included a civic luncheon where Princess Margaret was presented with Queen Donna Shook, a ward of Fredericton's children's home and a visit to the New Brunswick agriculture building where she toured the government exhibits booth.

Her most enthusiastic welcome came when more than 2,000 boy scouts, girl guides, brownies, cubs and boys in the Boys' Brigade members. At the University of New Brunswick she made a brief speech thanking them.

She made a brief tour of the New Brunswick provincial child health centre and chatted with children and adult patients. She also visited a shop and talked with all 15 patients. Two photographers are on the scene to cover the building but reporters were barred.

At the legislature building, halfway between the arrival of a car carrying Premier Flemming and the one carrying the princess, a branch from one of the city's last trees fell into the street. Hurried bystanders as it fell but no one was injured.

Stelco Orders Cut Back in Production

HAMILTON (CP) — The Steel Company of Canada said today it has started cutting back production so that all four blast furnaces and coke oven operations will be shut down by next Tuesday morning if a strike is called by then.

The United Steel Workers of America set the Tuesday morning strike deadline after a conciliation board found last week against their request for a wage increase. A strike vote was conducted earlier this week.

Resumed talks broke down Thursday between the company and union but there still remained one possibility for averting the strike. Company and union officials have been called to meet Monday morning in Toronto with Ontario Labor minister Dales.

The company, however, has been preparing for the walkout.

Stelco ordered the Thursday to make sure Stelco's four blast furnaces and coke ovens will be shut down by Tuesday morning if the strike is called.

Stelco officials declined to say when production would come to a standstill or whether it could be resumed without interruption if a settlement is reached at conciliation chairman Dales's Park.

Mr. Daley and Louis Fine, Ontario conciliation officer, have been assisted by company and union officials that both will attend that meeting.

All of the dead were members of the crew of the Esso Suffolk, a 10,340-ton vessel which was outbound and empty.

The other tanker, the S. E. Graham, was inbound with 32,000 barrels of fuel oil. It was not holed into flames and burned for hours.

Belleville Fair Board has made an effort to ease the parking situation at the Fair, 1958, south of the grandstand, not previously used at fair time, will be open. Snow fence will mark off a double lane roadway to cross the track west of the grandstand and east of the curling club building. This will open the entire west end of the grounds for parking. Attendants will keep the roadway open at all times, except when a horse race is being run. Three Injured In Tweed Car-Truck Crash

Three Madoc district young men are in Belleville General Hospital with cuts and bruises suffered during last night's rain storm when their car is said to have veered across the road in Tweed and crashed into the side of a loaded lumber truck.

In Hospital are Wesley Knox, believed to have been the driver of the car, and his two passengers Joseph Delore and Clarence Pitts.

Driver of the lumber truck, Richard Leders, R.R. 4 Renfrew, driver for Phanenhour — Scott Lumber Company of Renfrew, was unhurt.

The accident occurred at about 10:30 on Victoria Street in Tweed. Police said the northbound car apparently lost control, crossed the centre line to crash into the side of the southbound lumber truck. The early model car was almost completely demolished, its occupants cut by flying glass. The loaded lumber truck was also damaged with its windshield tipped askew and the rear duals pushed out of alignment.

Street Oiling Program Costs About $19,000

The city's annual street oiling program is on the go, the street oiling program this year has been forced to follow along after the street cutting has taken shape. Street oiling in the west hill district has now virtually commenced, while on the east hill oiling has been done on Victoria Ave., Bridge Street, Pinnacle Street, Station Street and Cannifton Road.

Normally over $30,000 worth of street oiling is done each year in the city but this year due to pipe line installation the work has been curtailed and the McFarland contract was let for something over $19,000.

Labor Heads Give Support To United Appeal

Donald Burshaw, president of the Belleville and District Labor Council and vice — president in charge of labor in the Belleville United Appeal, reported Thursday night at a meeting of BUA directors in the YMCA, that local, national and international labor heads have given full support to any campaign money here which will help the nine agencies participating in the 1958 BUA.

Mr. Burshaw carried out extensive correspondence with labor chiefs to see if labor would support a united appeal.

J. C. B. Punchard, in charge of payroll deductions, reported that the majority of local firms are in favor of payroll deductions as a means of contributing to the appeal. He also said he would give the board of directors a detailed report for publication at an early date.

Laton Smith from the Canadian Welfare Council at Ottawa attended the meeting and gave the various chairmen advice on the conducting of a campaign for money. He pointed out that the BUA contributed $1.50 per head less that donors are not giving to the BUA, but through it to the agencies participating, and if donors do not contribute enough money the necessary work of these agencies would suffer much to the detriment of the community.

The chairmen of various committees reported that their work is progressing favorably. A. S. Lewis, campaign chairman, reported that the organization of this year's campaign is well underway.

Rin Tin Tin Cast to Appear Monday at Belleville Fair

Rin Tin Tin, Rusty and Lt. Rip Masters, of the ABC-TV show, "The Adventures of Rin Tin Tin," will come to Belleville to appear at the Belleville Fair on August 11.

The cast of the popular TV series will show youngsters and adults alike how Rin Tin and the 101st Cavalry protect Fort Apache and fight renegade Indians and desperados.

This will be the first opportunity for Belleville to get a first-hand look at the fabulous Rin Tin Tin, who has been the greatest canine star in the history of the entertainment world.

The Rin Tin Tin story started in September, 1918. Lee Duncan, then a sergeant in the American Air Forces, found a German shepherd with a three-day old litter, of German war dogs in a bombed-out kennel. Always a dog lover and owner, Duncan snatched over the entire canine family until he was transferred. Then he took the two best pups and named them Rin Tin Tin and Nanette. During World War I, French girls made and sold little yarn dolls of that name as good luck charms to the doughboys. It seems that in a bombing raid, everyone of Nanette was killed except a pair of lovers, Rin Tin Tin and Nanette. These two became Duncan's personal pets in all fighting forces so it was natural that Duncan chose their names for his puppies.

Duncan managed to get both dogs back to America, but Nanette became ill on the long crossing, and shortly afterwards died of pneumonia. As a mate for Rin Tin Tin, a breeder of German shepherds in New York gave Duncan a beautiful Nanette, II.

Rin Tin Tin thrived in Duncan's native California, and soon began winning blue ribbons in western dog shows. An amateur film of the dog caught the eye of a motion picture executive who distributed the film around the country. Warner Brothers saw it, and were convinced that Rin Tin Tin movies would be popular. "When the North Becomes" was his first movie (with a script by a young man named Darryl Zanuck) and until his death at the age of 14 in 1932, Rin Tin Tin starred in more than 20 motion pictures and became one of the greatest, most popular film stars in the annals of movie history. His fan mail bettered one million letters in a year. He made countless personal appearances and vaudeville tours.

Meanwhile, in the manner of the Hollywood of the lavish day, Duncan had built a palatial home for his family and himself, and another for Rin Tin Tin.

Rinty II was a young and untried pup, but he trained quickly, and soon followed in his father's pawprints. He had his own radio show, "Rin Tin Tin Thrillers" and made several films with Rex, the Wild Horse; four serials, and such films as "Tough Guy" at MGM, and "Hollywood Cavalcade" at Twentieth Century Fox. A short time after the latter picture was released, Rinty II died of natural causes. This was in 1941.

In the meantime, Rin Tin Tin III was being trained to take his father's place in the entertainment world. This dog, Duncan felt, was even greater than his father and grandfather. However, Rinty III was destined to play an even more important role. With the start of World War II, Duncan offered the dog to the Government to form what later became the K-9 Corps, and Rinty III was chosen as the "example". In addition to training films and hard work in the camps, Rinty III made personal appearances to encourage enlistments and cheered many a hospitalized soldier with his stage routine.

When Rinty IV (the Duncans called him "The Pup" for a number of years and now refer to him as "Big Rin") was born, Caroline Duncan picked and named the sister. She told her father, "We have another Rin Tin Tin here, Dad." He's the smartest and most beautiful of them all."

Duncan observed the puppy for several days, and finally told Eve and Caroline, "This pup is real star material. He has more than his great grandfather, his grandfather, or his father. He has more intelligence han any dog I've seen."

Now four-years old, "Big Rin" has been magnificently trained. With the advent of television, Duncan's enthusiasm for show business was revived. He started "Big Rin" in "The Adventures of Rin Tin Tin" in 1954, and the show achieved immediate popularity.

Some Haircuts, Shaves May Be Little Higher

Young fellows in the city who like to walk around sporting Elvis Presley type haircuts may have to pay more in future to get their locks shorn.

Some barbers are talking about boosting brushcuts to $1.25 from the familiar $1.00.

Hazen Stairs, district barber examiner and proprietor of New Central Barbershop, said: "Brushcuts are driving us crazy. They are quite difficult to do and consume a lot of time."

Shaves may go to 75 cents from 50 cents. Why? "Because," said Stairs, "some barbers no longer want to give shaves. It takes as long to shave a man, as it does to cut his hair. I know of one barber in the city who is charging $1.00 for shaves."

Children's brushcuts may go to 75 cents week days, while men's regular haircuts will remain at $1.00.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials and western oils were strong as the stock market moved forward in moderately active morning trading.

Speculative issues, slow to start trading today, picked up within the last half hour. Barnat continued as the most active issue, trading 216,550. It lost 9 cents at $3.57 as profit-taking cut into Thursday's 45-cent gain.

New Hosco rallied for a gain of 26 cents at $2.45. In early trading it touched $3.35 before backing down. It has traded 112,000 shares.

Volume at 11 a.m. was 1,479,000 shares, compared with Thursday's 1,196,000 at the same hour. Western oils scored their best advance in almost a month, where they pushed their index ahead 1% points. Industrials were up 1% and base metals almost one half. Golds were the only section lagging and they were off about one-quarter.

Among industrials gains were generally confined to a 1 point range. Dominion Stores was the leader, ahead at 71¾. Gains a point went to B-A Oil, International Nickel and St. Lawrence Corp. Ford A and Algoma were one of the few losers, each off ½ point.

Employees Share in Public Relations Says Ken Wares

TRENTON — "Public relations is for employees, too," K. Ken Wares, secretary-manager of the Trenton Chamber of Commerce, told the Kiwanis Club at their regular meeting in Hotel Gilbert last night.

"Every indirect Trenton is a town of diversified industry," continued Mr. Wares, "and I think you will be interested in what we PR officers are saying to top management of industry, whether you consider yourselves in the echelon of top brass, or not.

"Public relations is the management function which evaluates public attitudes, identifies your policies and procedures with the public interests, and executes a program of action to earn public understanding and acceptance.

"Turning to the industrial scene and to a question which is being asked and which is of a practical nature:

THINKING OF UNIONS

"Are supervisors thinking of unionizing? The answer is yes," says a recent survey of supervisory attitudes conducted by a professional opinion research organization.

"A known newsletter to management on developments and trends in employer-employee relations reports supervisory morale is gravely on the downturn.

"These same signals of new employee trouble ahead are making smart Canadian brass sit up and listen more closely to the advice of the PR experts.

"But why public relations for an internal problem? Because employees are a "public" — whether supervisors or lesser ranks. Indeed, many are shareholders, customers, investors, voters and community members.

"Certainly today's rising standards demand a more real good economic and social conditions give more independent thinking. The vast exchange of ideas on culture, politics, business and religion has broadened our employee's interests and appetites. He wants more from a job in terms of what he will become discontented.

"Who tha do about present job dissatisfaction is the big problem: for if a business is to operate efficiently it must have the co-operation of its employee public.

"What does the employee want? "Ken Perrigo, vice-president of Presentation of Canada Ltd., public and employee relations counsellors of Toronto lists the four top wants in this order:

1. The employee wants to participate in a common venture he thinks worthy of his efforts. He wants to feel he counts in the scheme of things.

WANTS GOOD INFORMATION

(2) He wants more information on matters which affect his employment. He wants to understand his job and will make an effort to do so if management will make an effort to explain.

(3) He wants to work with a "good boss" or supervisor who is fair, but firm, in his application of company policies.

(4) He wants adequate compensation and benefits . . . adequate meaning comparable to those received by others for similar expenditure of effort.

"Harold Ireland, manager of the Institute of Supervisory and Personnel Development, Toronto, says:

"Management is dissatisfied with the job it is doing when it feels workers are dissatisfied."

"The chief cause of job dissatisfaction is that neither worker nor top management recognize one other fact. Both people are actually working for a common objective.

"It is difficult to see how labor can educate itself to this fact; therefore, action must, of necessity, be taken by management.

"Wise management, today, realizes the tremendous importance of showing the worker this common goal. It is not a particular job.

"Various cases can be cited to illustrate the results when internal PR is ignored. Here is one:

"A 7 year ago a top Canadian executive of a large industry scheduled a Christmas gift of over $30,000 from the company to the town community. Unfortunately this was a time pressure and one in which its employees would indirectly benefit — but it ended when it was announced.

"The gift was unknown to employees but was to be given "on their behalf" — later changed to "in recognition of the good work and loyalty of its employees." Employees were to learn the news first from their town newspaper. There were no gifts of any type scheduled for employees from the company this Christmas although they had received token gifts on previous Yuletides.

PR PROTESTS

"Over PR protests for expenditure, the VP insisted on going with his plan.

"Management then decided to inform the employees at the same time as the local newspaper did. In top calibre example it chose to reduce the regular December employee magazine to virtually the size of an issue cover—a poor glorified Christmas card — and gave no announcement of the gift.

"Thus a gesture intended to create good will created monster. When employees received their "magazine" at the plant they flung hundreds to the floor and trampled them. Disappointment mixed with anger!

"PR fingers the top man to institute the "personal touch." It's his responsibility to set the tone for employee relations throughout the whole company. Also — and this is more important, he demonstrates by deeds he has employees welfare truly at heart. Make no mistake! Thrank and file worker can spot a phoney at the top as fast as any president.

"His PR talk has caused some sharp re-orientation in wise employer thinking. For one thing — the top man has to be more skilled in just "getting along with people' at the expense of delegating some of his executive work to a VP.

"He personally is out to show a new zest to the slipping supervisor and foremen. They will mirror his true feelings to their own departments.

"Wise presidents set up training departments, bring in management consultants, sponsor lectures on basic economics, boost employee communications and send supervisors away for various courses or seminars.

"Employee publications can be an increasingly effective tool, if matured produced. They are designed to help identify the things of mutual interest to employees and the company.

"Smart employee publications will make a hefty 1959 tackle on such controversial topics as automation, wage increase demands, strikes, compulsory union membership and work stoppages. They won't be apologetic. They won't be meek. They will produce a lot of hard facts about the industry's survival — and put them squarely before the employees. They will "share" company interests with employees, and know that sharing without knowledge is impossible.

"Bad top management will die very little, and be condemned by employees through its own silence.

"To any president, PR forthrightly directs two questions:

(1) Do your employees have a feeling of "belonging" — born of the company's concern for people? (This concern shown up by bits of thoughtfulness, a kind of treatment given them, in the company's basic expression of friendliness — rather than large grants to major charities and other big money activities.)

(2) Do your employees believe the company lives right and maintains a realistic and vigorous communications program with its employees and community? (Those that do have fewer strikes, less labor difficulty and more production per employee than others who simply 'live right' and hope the world and its employees will reflect its goodness without conscious research corp. findings.)

"Reality is anywhere to presidents and their cohorts to stop flogging 'loyalty' talks and walk to the door bubbling over with it. Remember, you're expounding Canada as the great land of freedom of enterprise . . . freedom of thought . . . freedom of conscience . . . immediate blind faith from your "public" in the same breath. What you're really talking about are plain old fashioned 'attitudes' — the same attitudes that motivate the multitudes to buy a certain floor wax. Attitudes are developed. Whether good ones or bad ones — could depend on your 'personal touch'.

"Don't fool yourselves, says PR today, if you deserve good attitudes you sweat for them."

Trenton Council Briefs

COUNCILLOR ILL

TRENTON — Councillor Lloyd Worrall was back in his council seat last night after missing one meeting due to infection in his burn on his shin for which he was hospitalized. However, Councillor Joe Gould was absent last night and it was reported he was in bed with the 'flu. All other councillors and the mayor were present for the meeting which had been postponed from last Monday, a civic holiday.

BOARD ROOM HOT

The board room of the municipal building, where council meetings are held, is still without the new larger air conditioning unit which purchase of has been approved by the council. The present one is not large enough to handle the room when it is being used for council meetings. No explanation was offered at the meeting why the old one had not been replaced.

TRAFFIC HAZARD

A letter from N. M. Sprague was read at the council meeting in which he complained of several large transport trucks parking near his corner and Bridge St. He said he felt this was causing a hazard for motorists. He said he had reported to the chief of police and the transport company had been contacted and since that time no trucks have not been parked there. The council felt assured by the chief of police had carried the situation and instructed the clerk to write a letter to Mr. Sprague informing him of this. During the discussion on the issue the council was informed that trucks are not allowed to park within 30 feet of intersections and that the police department is continually trying to enforce this by-law. Councillor Jillson said complaints had been heard concerning other trucks parking too close to the intersection and obstructing the view of other motorists.

LARGE TANKS APPROVED

A considerably lengthy discussion was held on the meaning of a section of the Zoning By-law before councillors reached a decision to allow the Shell Oil company put in larger oil storage tanks. The councillors agreed to it providing the company does not go beyond their existing boundaries. Their lot on Dundas Street is in a residential area.

TO PROTEST RATE HIKE

Trenton councillors agreed last night they should join other municipalities in Ontario who are protesting the proposed increase in the Bell Telephone rates. Councillor Fox stated he felt it would be in the interests of the town citizens if they did. They also decided to share their costs with the other centres to oppose the phone company's move. It was estimated it would cost 1½ per cent per capita, or a total of about $120.

WANTS RIGHT-OF-WAY

Mayor Ross Burtt in explaining a letter to the council from Len McMaster said the man's wishes to purchase the remaining portion of a 30-foot right-of-way owned by the town and next to his property on McGill St. It was decided the matter should be investigated further before any decision was reached. The mayor said the property owner has told him the other end of the same right-of-way has been sold which would make any road built there a dead-end street.

POPULATION HIGHER

Town clerk O. W. Larry informed the council last night that a recent survey by the town assessor had set the population of Trenton at a new high of 12,105. He said of this total 6,403 of the population resided on the east side of the river.

TO MEET WITH LODA

Council decided they would meet with G. M. Johnson of the Lake Ontario Development Association in room 10 August along with local LODA representatives and members of the press. It was stated in the letter from the group they wish to make a survey of all the municipalities to seek ways in which they could be more helpful to the members.

PUBLIC WORKS REPORT

Councillor Charles Jillson read the report for the Public Works Committee due to the absence of Councillor Joe Gould, chairman of the committee. Mr. Jillson read an account prepared by Mr. Gould which stated various streets have been prepared for paving and that work on the widening of Dundas Street is underway. The report also stated that due to the need for the gas pipe line have held and covered a total of 8,830 feet of pipe. Councillor Worrall informed the council of complaints from trucking firms that streets were being torn up outlet from town have been blocked off by the signing of diversion. Councillor Jillson was instructed to look into this on behalf of the council.

$200 Damage In House Fire

TRENTON — The Trenton fire department was called out to a house fire at 9 Bay View Drive on Smith in Sidney township, but the blaze was all out by the time Smiths before the fire trucks had arrived.

The call came in at 10.10 a.m. and because the home was directly behind the RCAF's No. 8 Repair Depot the local firemen called airmen as they sent their trucks out.

Fire Chief Clarence Orser, who went with the truck, reported the fire had apparently started in the children's bedroom near the bed and had managed to run up inside the wall and caught the paper around the insulation in the ceiling on fire.

He said it did not, however, burn the insulation and the housewife had managed to get it under control at this stage.

The estimated damage, which was chiefly from smoke and water, at between $150 and $200. He said the bed as well as some clothes hanging nearby had been soaked as Mrs. Smith doused the fire with water.

The house is a one-storey wooden building and the Smiths have three children.

Water Shortage Playing Havoc With Flower Beds

TRENTON — Shortage of water is playing havoc with flower beds in Trenton parks, according to parks' gardener Bart Boere. The period of watering allowed by the Trenton Public Utilities Commission is insufficient to keep grass green in the park areas, but would keep plants and shrubs alive provided sufficient assignment, hoses and sprinklers, were available to water all areas in the allotted hours.

A request made to the Public Utilities Commission manager on Wednesday for a schedule of hours for watering the town flower beds met with no success. In fact Mr. Page advised that if this hot dry weather continued the use of water for lawns and flowers would be discontinued altogether. On request for additional water was made, just that the hours for watering be changed in order that the expense of additional equipment might be avoided.

All the town parks, with the exception of Victoria Park, have the town water as their only source of supply and the board gardener is instructed to comply strictly with the same PUC regulations imposed on householders.

Each year complaints are received that Fraser Park is being watered contrary to these regulations, but it should be noted that Fraser Park has its own source of supply directly from the river through a gasoline pump located on the dock, and has no Public Utilities Commission outlet.

ILL-CONSIDERED COMMENTS

In Yorkton, Saskatchewan, last week, Douglas Fisher, CCF member of Parliament for Port Arthur gave his views on what was wrong with the daily press of Canada. Mr. Fisher felt that publishers were "Too cheap to provide adequate facilities at their own expense rather than the government's; that The Canadian Press" - co-operative news gathering association of Canadian daily newspapers - - "is staid, dull and non-partisan" and that "more and more editorial pages are pot-pourris of editorial comment lifted from other dull pages written by apparently poorly-educated, small-minded hacks." Mr. Fisher also thought that reporters failed "to give thorough, informed interpretations of government and political affairs."

We do not think the publishers and editors of Canadian daily newspapers were disturbed by Mr. Fisher's criticism for they can take it as well as hand it out. They also would be the first to admit that daily newspapers do have their faults, but despite these shortcomings the circulations of the daily press have showed gains every year regardless of the competition from other sources. Newspapers provide a service which the public demands. Their prime reason for existence is to satisfy the public's hunger for news, interpret the news as they see it and provide advertising service to increase and promote trade in the communities in which they do business, and one other important fact which Mr. Fisher does not overlook is that we have a free press ever ready to take up the cudgels against infringement of personal liberties.

The Canadian Press gathers the news from its member newspapers as well as by its own reporters and special correspondents, and distributes the news to the members in all parts of Canada by wire and mail. The CP does not interpret the news in an editorial way for that would be impossible. That is something editors and publishers want to do for themselves, for how could there be unanimity of opinion among one hundred members on any one question?

Contrary to Mr. Fisher's views, reporters do not interpret the news reports and would be reprimanded by their editors if they did. Their duty is to report the news as news without personal opinion being expressed. The special correspondents attending provincial and federal parliamentary sessions on behalf of individual newspapers and whose salaries are paid by the publishers are permitted some leeway in this regard. They have special sources of information which are treated confidentially and help the newsmen to interpret government policy and to predict with more accuracy how would otherwise be possible political moves which may be in the offing. This is done on their own responsibility and for the sake of their reputation few men are tempted to go "out on a limb" unless they are reasonably sure of their facts.

It must have been quite a surprise to many renowned editorial writers across Canada, if they read Mr. Fisher's criticisms, to learn they were classed as "poorly-educated, small-minded hacks." It is common newspaper practice to select interesting editorials and special articles from other papers, weekly as well as daily, and reprint them with credit being given to the newspaper from which the editorial was selected. This provides the reader with a wide selection of opinion not possible otherwise. To say that the writers of editorials are poorly educated is nonsense and irresponsible.

We would like to quote a New York Times editorial in part which appeared in that newspaper on August 4 . . . "Our blessing in having a free press is best understood as we ponder the fate of nations where the press is unfree. Overnight the newspapers of countries such as Egypt and the Soviet Union change their tunes at the nod of their rulers. In such countries there are no journalistic gadflies to stir original thinking. The corollary to that is that no independent fraction of society in such lands calls these nations' rulers to task for even their worst misdeeds. The stakes are too high; the firing squad is too much in mind. The result is a misinformed citizenry; and such a population is even worse than an uninformed one."

If Mr. Fisher had checked on the authenticity of his information which even the most amateur reporter does as a matter of course, perhaps he would not have been so ready to make himself ridiculous by his unwarranted statements.

Losing Sense of Wonder?

New York Times

Are we in danger of having our sense of wonder dulled by the rapidity of the march of science? We don't consider merely the news reported in these pages yesterday: The United States may land on the fourth artificial satellite, a vehicle designed to measure the cosmic ray known as radiation whose very existence was unknown a few months ago. The same day Explorer IV went into orbit television broadcasts in earth were made from a balloon almost 13 miles up. . . . The Antarctic explorers from eight nations have discovered the world has 40 million more square miles than had previously been known to exist. And seven more reservoirs are promised us for the near future. In August the Air Force plans to send a rocket to the moon or around the moon. Before the end of the year it also expects hopes to take a telescope up in a balloon fifteen miles or so above the earth in order to study the atmosphere of Mars.

It comes as a shock to realize that the space age inaugurated by Sputnik I is less than two months old. Yet so much progress has been made since then that terms that never before bore in the solar system — the moon, Mars and Venus — are now within the range of what may be accomplished by unmanned rockets within the next few years. Even the remote possibility is that manned flight to those neighbors may be intellect.

accomplished within a decade. The claims that have bound us to earth throughout our species' existence are being broken by seven eyes and a fan path to the solar system, though not yet to the stars, lies open before our feet.

As youngsters many of us had our imaginations inspired by reading the tales of science fiction and H. G. Wells, but already it is apparent that within a few years those who are now merely infants will find many of these novels very old hat. Science fiction writers, in fact, are already complaining that the march of science is rapidly outstripping the imaginative level of current science fiction writers. Science fiction here, unhampered by need to be obedient to the laws "world of reality," is a more happy position. But who can guarantee that in a few years on this score can be maintained even here?

The one thing that is clear is that the wonders of the present will soon be commonplace, the wonders yet to be accomplished. We are passing through epochal history and the consequences of that passage will be felt in the whole of humanity's life, dreams and philosophy. What those consequences will be no man can foretell, but at least we can hope that all of us living now have some inkling of the momentous character of the breakthrough into space that dwarfs that are being won by the human spirit and the human

De Gaulle's Sharp 'Yes'

Christian Science Monitor

It must be quite some time since Premier Khrushchev received flicks from any diplomatic adversary as that administered by Charles de Gaulle in his reply to a letter proposing a summit conference:

As you know, the French Government has always considered that a conference on the question might be started between the powers on the problems that separate them and that might endanger the peace. That is why it opposed the holding of a conference relative to the Middle East.

Premier de Gaulle in effect is saying that being able not only to declare this but to point to concrete acts of aid to forts to bring about better East-West relations.

Others could add power to this thrust:

I must nevertheless, Mr. Premier, tell you frankly that certain of the reasons you invoke and certain of the expressions you employ do not seem to be the most appropriate to guarantee the success of your proposal. Indeed, I feel that a "summit" conference, which is to be held at a world plunged in worries and anxieties, would be the more favorable to an atmosphere of objectivity and serenity. Now, I must point out to you that the messages in your letter could hardly make easy the understanding and the agreement between the eventual participants.

Mr. Khrushchev does not need to be told this. But, because they often bear that Moscow is calling on the West to accept Soviet views on the basis of "unfinished business."

Having said this, Mr. Premier, I confirm to you the interest I attach to my part in the direct contact you would like between the heads of governments of the major power relative to the Middle East as well as to the contact to be organized "in reason and in calm," as you yourself write.

Western leaders can surely welcome such a voice as this to the conference table. Mr. Khrushchev can better afford to receive the most righteously inspired "No" to his proposals from a statesman of de Gaulle's house than to invite many repetitions of the preceding "Nyets" which he has now received from Paris.

U.S. Railways Sell Stations

Watertown Times

The railroad station in the villages and smaller cities of the United States will be only a memory in the not too distant future. The rail transportation companies, burdened by ever increasing taxes on those buildings for which there is little use due to the precipitous decline in passenger traffic, are gradually disposing of them. Such action enables the railroads to add to their treasury from the sale price and at the same time eliminate taxes on such properties.

The Boston and Maine railroad is taking immediate steps to get rid of its stations. All of them, with the exception of North Station in Boston, have been offered on the market. Some 50, mostly in the smaller villages, have either been sold or committed, while 100 more, including those in larger cities, are up for disposal. Many of them are huge old arks, designed to handle the enormous passenger traffic of years ago. They are now too big for the shrunken business and in many instances are invaluable commercial locations.

The Boston and Maine, however, is making the sales business attached in cities where traffic. The carrier insists that the purchaser reserve some space for a waiting room, ticket office and baggage room. Some of the older buildings will be razed by the purchasers and smaller structures put in their place. Others will be modernized.

The trend towards the sale of stations is nationwide. The New York Central has placed some of its buildings on the market in areas where there is little or no any passenger business or where the traffic has dropped to such a low level as to longer are the big buildings a necessity in handle the fares.

The disposal of these depots is not surprising. Some years there will be few if any left in Northern New York state. The Public Service Commission gives the New York Central permission to discontinue all of its passenger trains on the St. Lawrence and Adirondack divisions.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

PULL AT THE OARS

I am a great believer in prayer. Through prayer, sincerely uttered, the individual can receive the best set our working organization in order. I pray for the success of the crew of the wreck at sea and the little handful of terrified folk who were huddled around a boat. The greatest suggested prayer. A wiser man suggested prayer for the youngest one and prayer for the weakest in other words the "little fellow".

God does answer prayer, in my opinion. He answers prayer through our own efforts.

If we want our most cherished wishes, we must pull at the oars.

If we depend upon crutches entirely, the chances are that we will be crippled.

Bear in mind that every pull at the oars sends you forward. And even while you are gathering strength through rest for another pull, the momentum of your last effort is having its effect.

Life's best bet is to keep pulling at the oars.

It may mean a tired back, strained muscles, and a long day of toil. But these are the things worth striving for, these things will become minimized as t i m e goes on.

I have seen the college oarsmen pull to the last ounce of strength and then topple over in his seat — but there's a winner!

Pull at the oars. Never mind the fellow behind you or in front of you. Just keep pulling!

On the downtown street, I passed two men who were just in the act of parting company.

They were tall, well-dressed cool men in the muscular forties: business executives or lawyers, I think.

As I passed, I heard one say: "By the way, we haven't met, you understand?"

"Right" s a i d the other, heartily.

And they went their separate ways.

What enterprise was afoot, starting with their "By the way, we haven't met," you could see by their calm, resolute faces that they had done more than once, before in their street. They had put something over.

What a strange business business is. What a curious profession professional.

On the other hand, maybe they had not been involved in the process of framing a couple of other old friends in a golf game that afternoon.

RHEUMATIC FEVER IS CAUSED BY A STREP INFECTION

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is there you have had the disease, you are far more likely to have it again.

Many times, and perhaps even most of the time, the amount of damage from that original attack is not enormous. It is the subsequent attacks, each damage, that result in the worst heart conditions.

Can these repeated attacks be prevented? Yes, they can. Penicillin will prevent the strep germ from getting started again, if we can keep the penicillin active in the body. Fairly recently, the research people have received types of penicillin which are long-lasting. It is possible for a shot to give protection five years or more. Then, if you give a shot each month, the protection from each shot will overlap the next, and the patient will be protected.

Naturally, like once-a-month shot is a bother for people who don't mind a shot. But for those who already has had one or several attacks of rheumatic fever, who cannot afford to have to start giving these monthly shots to prevent a recurrence of rheumatic fever? They won't correct the damage that already has occurred, but they will prevent more from smiting you.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Are vinegar douches beneficial or harmful?"

Usually useless, unless prescribed for a particular reason. Ordinarily, "is salt good for food?" If you have been in the habit of using them, for "mean celery, yes, if you mean potatoes — yes. How do you like our potatoes?

Note to M. R.: Undiscovered diseases sometimes bring cures from time to time among children. Sometimes they bring "incurables", so the logical thing is to try that first. If it fails, as sometimes it does, then surgery is the correct course.

Son of Nazi Now a Monk

New York Herald Tribune

As was said four thousand years ago, it is true still that God works in mysterious ways his wonders to perform.

In the last flaming hours of the Third Reich, when Adolf Hitler himself was putting a bullet through his head in his Führer bunker, Martin Bormann, fleeing from Berlin in the wake of the fire-breathing tanks, was seen darting down a Berlin street and into the path of the Russian tanks. He was never seen again, and it was assumed that he died in the blast. In any case, he was not mourned; on his hands were the blood of millions, including even helpless children.

But, he too, had children—10 of them and the youngest, a skinny boy of 15, with a high forehead named for Hitler — wandered into a farm in Austria where a Catholic family gave him shelter, and where he worked for his keep as a farmhand. At 17 he decided to study for the priesthood. At Innsbruck today, at 28, after years of 28 decisions being ordained in Jesuit Holy Week he has been preparing in the Order of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, dedicated to the mission work around the world.

Young Father Johannes, who has taken the name Adolf Hitler, asked to be sent to the Belgian Congo. And it is possible that the son of the man who preached the anti-Christ — who declared the very existence of human brotherhood, and who put his faith in fire and the sword — and the gas ovens — will now go forth into the jungles to bring the Master: "Go and teach all nations."

How Laureate Got His Start

Oshawa Times Gazette

It was in 1930 that Mrs. C. F. G. Masterman revealed the incident which inspired John Masefield, Britain's poet laureate (who recently died at 90), on his literary career.

The Manchester Guardian news editor's wife told how a man called on her husband, who was then literary editor of the Daily News, and how he was startled was that the young man's book had been refused 12 times, and that every time he moved they squelched loudly.

Mrs. Masterman asked if he could have a book to review. Masterman asked the young man if he had one, but after awkward pause, he said rather defiantly: "Well only a book of verse, but it's something about it? You needn't take it if you don't like it." He was allowed to choose a book, took it away, and returned in 24 hours with his review.

Masterman looked at it and said: "This is damned good. You will something about immediate payment. Go and get it published." And so a future poet laureate ascended the first rung of the ladder to fame.

Since those early days, of course, the world has had to wait a long time before John Masefield thought and said, and his thoughts and writings have always been on the side of a wiser and more peaceful civilization. It was in 1946 that he asked a London audience: "Which are you going to choose — a wise use of books or a mad use of machines? Better and brighter humanity or better and brighter bombs? I think I know which the world will choose unless we give it a determined and persistent lead."

Four-Day Centennial Closes With Night-Attire Parade; Celebration Huge Success

By MRS. PEROY McMULLEN

STIRLING — At five o'clock on Thursday morning, August 7, 1958, Reeve Jim Holt and the Centennial committee officially closed the four-day celebrations. Stupendous crowds of folk, men, women and children, have been in attendance throughout the celebration.

On Wednesday evening the town was literally packed with cars. Several members of the police force were kept busy till long after midnight. Despite a shower of rain, the streets of the village were densely packed with pedestrians who had gathered to view the night attire parade. They were equipped with raincoats and umbrellas, and came prepared to remain till morning.

Dozens of villagers and guests from other centres paraded in all sorts of night attires, bathing suits, and unique concoctions that had been dreamed up for this special event.

A large truck carried a group of celebrants and a bar wagon was densely packed with humanity while the pedestrians thronged the streets in groups. As this writer was attending her first parade of this kind, she was unable to judge by other standards. However, those who are in the know, said: "This was the largest midnight parade ever held anywhere." By actual count there were over 200 folk in costume at one o'clock Thursday morning in the main part of the village. Those with cameras took rolls of films for the records.

Music for dancing in the rain was supplied by Jack McCaughey and David Duffin, with square dancing taking place in two centres along the streets, located in front of the community hall and Hall's furniture Store.

Guests from various places renewed acquaintances with their old friends as they viewed the parade from the packed sidewalks. Fun and merriment were everywhere, and despite the huge crowd, and the fact that the cars were packed four rows deep across Front Street at one time, there were no accidents to mar the happy occasion.

WEDNESDAY EVENING

At nine o'clock Wednesday evening the Recreational Centre at the John George high school grounds was packed with people who had come for the closing festivities. It is estimated that well over 3000 people were in attendance.

Reeve Jim Holt welcomed them and expressed deep appreciation to the Stirling Chamber of Commerce; the various organizations in this area, and to all the individuals who had co-operated to make this event successful.

The names of all those who had returned home from coast to coast, from Vancouver to Nova Scotia, and from all between provinces and also from many parts of the United States, were mentioned. In addition, there were guests from England, Scotland and Holland.

FIDDLERS' CONTEST

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evening the "Fiddlers' Competition" was held under the management of Stuart McArton. On Monday evening there were three entrants, Champion of Marmora, with Mrs. Champion as accompanist; Burton Weightman of Stirling, R.R. 3, with Mrs. Phil Conley of Stirling R.R. 3, as accompanist, and Laurie Perry of Belleville, R.R. 3 with Clifford Hart as accompanist.

The contestants on Tuesday evening were Phil Beaudrie of Springbrook, with Harold Sarles as accompanist; Glenn Morrow of Silver Valley, with his daughter, Miss Helen Morrow, as accompanist; Marvin Pounder, of Stirling, with his brother, Laverne Pounder, as accompanist; Stuart McArton, Stirling, with Mrs. Phil Conley, as accompanist; and Ernest Lessard of Bancroft with Mrs. Conley as accompanist.

From this group, four contestants were chosen to compete on Wednesday evening. The four contestants were heard, with Ray Archer, of Campbellford, acting as judge.

The rules of the contest were read by Stuart McArton, convener, and the judge read his compilation of points which resulted as follows: Marvin Pounder, 95 points, with runners-up in order: Laurie Perry; Charles Campbell, and Phil Beaudrie.

Mr. Archer, in his remarks said that this was the closest and hardest competition that he had ever been called upon to judge.

Mr. McArton presented Marvin Pounder with a large engraved silver tray. At this juncture, the musicians offered several selections.

Greetings on the anniversary of 100 years were received from Premier Frost, Mayor Hellyer and a special invitation to visit Brighton in 1959 was read.

David Duffin and Bill Webber were in charge of presentation to derby winners of silver trophies, and a dollar bill each.

The boys and their cars had been displayed on the platform for over an hour. They were: Lorne Lazenby, Bill Webber, Wayne McCaughan, Robert Vandervoort and Eddie Reynolds, all three of Stirling.

At this point, Don Rodgers, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presented the eight members of the Sidney Junior Farmers square dance team and their caller with silver trophies.

Albert Hall then removed the sale of tickets, displayed the $500 bill in a frame.

Mrs. Craig Nelson, of Campbellford, winner of the 19.15 bingo game, drew the winning ticket.

K. Wright, 238 North Front Street, Belleville, was the winner. The seller of this ticket was Elwood Bateman, of Stirling, who will receive $500 for his efforts.

There was a magnificent display of fireworks, and as the night was dark the scene was even more lovely than they were on Tuesday evening. Several, including Doug Patterson, Don Robson, Earl Fox and committee members were busy setting the flares on the other side of the C.N.R. station.

At last, along came the rain and the Centennial Celebration drew to a close on the recreational grounds. For over three-quarters of an hour there was a steady stream of cars travelling bumper to bumper on their way [illegible] few hundred stayed [illegible] age for the

CENTENNIAL DANCES

Large crowds attended the Centennial dances held both Monday and Tuesday evenings in the high school gymnasium. Hugo Diziga and his orchestra furnished dance music both evenings.

A large group of village folk took turns during the three days to operate the Centennial booths. They did a rushing business and their stocks were almost depleted on Wednesday evening.

On Sunday the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, headed by Carl Hubel, was natty in summer outfits. They were equipped with the new Belgian self-loaded automatic rifles, and the Harry Pees trumpet band provided music.

The "professional wrestling" in the arena on Monday evening drew a full house and several were turned away.

Sidney Junior Farmers Top Square Dancers

STIRLING — Sidney MacDonald, agricultural representative, was in charge of the Centennial "Square Dance Competition." The judges were Bill Newman of Toronto, Secretional Centre and Phil Flagler of CJBQ.

The Prince Edward Junior Farmer square dance team included Jean Bedford, Barbara Sleeton, Dorothy Denard, Roger Redner, Pauline Weese, Roy Waterhouse, Gertrude Parliament, Dick Foster with their caller, Allan Vanclief.

The Rawdon Junior Farmers square dance team consisted of Pat Merrill, Peter Heasman, Shirley Broadworth, Floyd Jennings, Margaret Ray, Glen Heagle, Marilyn Reid, Harry Danford, with their caller, Harvey Heman.

The music was provided by Stuart McArton, violin, and Mrs. Phil Conley, piano.

For the elimination dance the caller was Gordon Mitts. The judges chose the Prince Edward group. Monday evening, as the winning team and they will compete in the second competition.

TUESDAY EVENING

On Tuesday evening the square dance competition was between Thurlow Junior Farmers and Sidney Junior Farmers. The teams were comprised of: Thurlow — Ruth Luxton, Jack Vermilya, Jean Luxton, Gary Chambers, Patsy Dafoe, David Ray, Beverly Dick, Nels Chatten with John Reynolds as caller.

The judges chose the Sidney Junior Farmers as the winners of this event.

The final competition followed between Sidney Junior Farmers and the Prince Edward Junior Farmers. The judges asked for another special elimination dance as they found the teams difficult to judge.

Mr. Sidney MacDonald, local agricultural representative, announced that the judges had chosen the Sidney Junior Farmers group as the winners, and they were presented with their silver cups on Wednesday evening.

Fourteen New Homes Approved By Town Council

PICTON — Permits to erect fourteen new homes were granted by town council at its monthly meeting presided over by Mayor H. J. McFarland. Of these, twelve single family dwellings are being built by the mayor's construction company, at an estimated cost of ten thousand dollars each. Six of them are to be located on Roger street, while the others will be on various lots throughout the town which the mayor owns.

Other houses of a similar price are being built by Earl Brett and George E. Andrews. Permits for building erected by the council totalled $150,000, and indicate the many new homes which are being built in the town to accommodate a growing population.

Council was advised by the Public Utilities that modern fluorescent lighting will be installed on Bridge street from Bridge to Chapel street, which includes the main business section. The lumen output from the new fixtures will be 18,800 units as compared with 5,600 units from the present fixtures.

Council decided to advertise for a full time inspector of fire, plumbing, building, weed and any other inspection duties the town sees fit. The need of fire inspection was stressed and the health unit is giving up plumbing inspection. It was felt that combining all inspection duties such an appointment would be possible.

Council engaged a Kingston firm, Burton's Pest Sanitation, to control the rats in the town dump. Cost will be $160. for a year.

Council was advised that it should delay plans for a pedestrian cross - walk until the province has received approval of a tentative by-law from the Ontario Traffic Conference, to be a uniform by-law in all municipalities.

U.S. Challenges Russia to Stop Radio Jamming

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) The United States has challenged the Soviet Union to stop radio jamming and press censorship so that the Russian people could hear all sides in the coming special emergency session of the General Assembly.

Speaking Thursday night after the Security Council adopted a resolution to call the session, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge said that if the Soviet Union has the slightest interest in relaxing tensions, nothing it could do would be more helpful.

He urged the Russians to "permit the fresh air of truth to flow into the hearts and minds of the Soviet people."

Arkady Sobolev, chief Soviet delegate, said the people of his country were "no less well informed that the people of other countries."

Mrs. W. McCullagh, Kingston, Zone Winner in Singles Draw

The zone finals for the Women's Provincial Lawn Bowling title were held Thursday afternoon on the greens of the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club. Mrs. T. G. Reason of Toronto was the zone convener and members of the local club assisted as scorers and umpires. At noon the women of the club prepared a delightful luncheon for the guests under the direction of Mrs. Mary Colling, president, and 60 ten ones served in the afternoon between the second and third games.

Singles, doubles and trebles rinks were present from Tottenham, Kingston, Ottawa, Picton, Toronto Coxburn, Prescott, Kingston, Ottawa Highland Park, Trenton and Belleville. The weather was ideal and the competition exceptionally keen. The winners in the zone finals for Eastern Ontario will meet the Western Ontario winners on Tuesday, August 19th, at the Toronto Boulevard Club.

Mrs. W. McCullagh of Kingston was successful in winning the singles title, winning all three games in the round robin series. The doubles rink of Mrs. D. Anderson and Mrs. M. Claridge of Tottenham won the doubles title after a stiff battle. They drew with the Trenton rink of Mrs. M. Mitts and Mrs. F. Mitts in the first game and then won the next two games.

In the trebles draw, the defending provincial champions, Mrs. G. Fitzgibbon, Mrs. Mollie Smith and Mrs. George Watkin of the Belleville Club nearly pulled off a second win and were only beaten by a fine shot by the winners in the last game. The Belleville rink won their first game from Ottawa, lost their second to Toronto Coxburn but edged out the Kingston winners in the third game, but were a shot short in the plus column of winning. In the last end with Belleville leading and laying 4 at least 2 shots, Mrs. Crossen made a perfect draw to count the shots and 3 for one. Mrs. Watkin was unable to get the shot off and the margin of victory was one shot.

For a first time in competition for provincial honours, the Trenton rink made a grand showing. The results of the draws were:

Likely TV Production Prices Rise

Wherever a good signal can be obtained, nearly every home in the country now boasts at least one television set. This "saturation" of the market has meant a slow-up among the manufacturers in the production of sets. This fact — and the rise in labor and material cost — is certain to effect the cost of manufacture per unit, which no doubt will be passed along to the buying public.

As a further result of this big volume of sales in the past, there is now a large number of used TV sets that are about due to be traded in, and dealers may find it difficult to dispose of so many used sets. Trade-in allowances will likely be lowered considerably.

Right now Booth Radio and Television limited can sell used television sets for summer home and cottage use and can still allow you a good allowance on your old set for a new model. If you are ever considering trading your TV for a new set, it will pay you to see now. Call in at Booth Radio and Television Limited, 170 Front Street, Belleville. A7,8,11,13,15.

Feathered Finery

By ALICE ALDEN

Soft, feathery fronds are fine flatterers and this season milliners are taking good advantage of the fact. Chesterfield does a neat late-summer bonnet of sheer white organdie softly rimmed with delicate white plumage. Speckled game-bird quills accent the snowy white feathers for a soft color trim.

Sharon Matthews each contributed a piano solo and Miss Betty Linn gave a tap dancing number.

Humorous readings were given by Mrs. Jack Dunham and Mrs. Murray Melkvjohn after which Ken and Annie were called to seats of honor on the platform. Miss Janet Tompkins read an address in which she spoke of the many years of friendship which had been enjoyed with both the young people and asked them to accept the gifts from their friends at Wellman's and Burnbrae. They were presented with a beautiful walnut extension table and four matching chairs, a picture and centrepiece, by Barney Hainle, Don Walker, Jack Dunham, Keith Clancy, Harold Linn and Doug Cotten.

There were also on the table a number of individual gifts.

Ken and Annie both expressed their appreciation for the lovely gifts and asked their friends to visit them in their new home at Baltimore. All sang "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

Refreshments and a social hour concluded the evening.

TEA TRAFFIC

In pre-war years 500,000,000 pounds of tea passed annually through the London tea market.

Recent Bride, Bridegroom Feted With Gifts

The Orange hall at Wellman's was crowded to capacity when the communities of Wellman's and Burnbrae united to honor Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Matthews on the occasion of their recent marriage.

Mr. Craig Watson performed the duties of chairman and opened the program by leading in community singing with Mrs. Craig Watson at the piano.

This was followed by a solo on the piano accordion by Mrs. Harold Linn; the Tompkins family contributed a musical number and Mrs. Gordon Foster and Mrs. Fred Beckett rendered a duet, accompanied by Mrs. Lorne Watson. Miss Ann Watson sang a solo accompanied by her mother; Misses Joyce and Joan Cotten and Carol Beckett gave a trio, accompanied by Mrs. Fred Beckett; a duet was sung by Brenda and Arnott Matthews with Sharon at the piano.

Several selections were also rendered by a quartet composed of Mrs. George Watson, Mrs. Jim Pollock, Mrs. Ken Tompkins and Mrs. Lorne Watson, accompanied by Mrs. Fred Beckett.

Visits Place Of Birth After 54 Years

After an absence of 54 years, Mrs. Irene Kulberg, Taber, Alberta, has returned to Belleville and vicinity to visit relatives.

Mrs. Kulberg is the guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Clarke of Herchimer Avenue, her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Urvan Percy, Trenton, R.R. 5, and Mr. and Mrs. John Chambers, of Frankford.

She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Clarke, nee Alice Finkle, of Bayside, who left to make their home in Saskatchewan at the turn of the century when the call of the west beckoned many of the younger generation.

Mr. Clarke passed away in 1913 and Mrs. Clarke in January of this year. In their memory, Mrs. Kulberg is visiting the place of her birth and that of her parents. Mrs. Kulberg is a true westerner, but is thrilled at the beauty of Ontario and eastern hospitality.

Drug Addiction Topic at Melrose W.I.

MELROSE — There was a large attendance at the July meeting of Melrose W. I. held on the usual day in the afternoon at the home of Mrs. Clarence Hagerman. The president, Mrs. C. Wense welcomed all and thanked the hostess for opening her spacious home after which she conducted the opening exercises.

A lengthy business session followed in which it was decided to cater for a provincial organization at a turkey banquet in the early fall. The date for the short course "What Makes a Good Officer," is set for November 21 and a bus-trip on August 23rd to the C.N.E. has been arranged leaving Melrose at 7 a.m. The convener for historical research, Mrs. J. English, was made a member of Hastings Historical Society and Miss K. Homan will be guest speaker at the August meeting with Tyendinaga-Zet. Branch as visitors.

At this stage, Mrs. Roy McLaren, convener of health took charge of the program and gave the topic on "Drug Addiction." This occurs in men and women of all ages in any race and in poor or professional families. A drug addict is an emotionally sick person who can be helped by a doctor or by some normal activities while others turn to drugs.

She cited a case which had been completely cured after continued guidance. Canada has the highest rate of drug addiction of any Western country, 300 addicts for every million people. She described the successful system for these people in the United Kingdom where British police claim the illegal drug traffic has been eliminated.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE

A special committee of the Health League of Canada urges the establishment of a cross continental chain of clinics where the addict can be admitted and treated.

Mrs. J. Sherman followed with a reading, "Step Lively," which described an ideal walk which is invigorating and advised all to watch the way others walk and thus one can be guided as to the individual stride which should be graceful.

Lois read a paper on, "Are You Getting Your Vitamin C?" which stressed the great need of everyone from baby to adults receiving this important vitamin by taking citrus juices and vegetables which are rich in this ingredient.

Mrs. A. English dealt with the motto, "A Merry Heart Kills More Germs Than Medicine." A smile is a simple courtesy which creates a happy habit that lifts one above their trials. Think well of all — unselfish thoughts will bring peace to people.

Mrs. G. Stratton followed with a humorous poem entitled, "No Dieter." The Roll-Call "What I Left Undone to Come to the W.I." was most amusing and created much merriment as each revealed their negligence which is excusable on Institute Day.

Dainty refreshments were served.

It's a Women's World, Brave Builder Finds

Builder Gene Archer apparently likes to live dangerously, for he constructed his home in Denver, Colorado, designed to irritate women drivers the world over. The distaff side in Denver are up in arms over the implication that they need an extra-wide garage to get the car in intact. The gag backfired, for none of the women have allowed their husbands to even made a bid on the house.

Summer Wedding

By TRACY ADRIAN

The bride who has always longed for a big wedding, complete with traditional bridal dress, will love this gown. It is as charming as grandmother's wedding dress and as beautifully designed and modern as today.

Scalloped, imported Chantilly lace forms the bodice, sleeves and apron-effect top skirt of the dress. The apron is caught up to back with white silk cabbage roses to form a bustle. A matching rose crowns the lace pointed cap. A chapel train completes the romantic picture.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Janet R. — Dan will settle down after marriage.

Mrs. L. R. — She has so many more eligible suitors.

Janet R. — I am a girl of 22, very much in love with a man ten years older. Dan and I want to marry, but my parents are very much opposed. I feel that I am old enough to know my own mind, but I would like them to understand and accept my husband.

Dan comes from a broken home and had a very poor start in life. As a result he has had a great deal of trouble getting settled. He has had many jobs in different fields and even now is uncertain about what he really wants to do. He is making a very low salary as he hasn't very good prospects in his present job.

I feel that once he is married Dan will settle down and be able to forge ahead. He is ambitious and really wants to succeed.

Mrs. L. R. — My husband and I are all broken up about Janet's choice of a husband. She is an attractive girl, educated and refined, but she has chosen a man who has nothing at all to recommend him.

We feel that if a man of 32 is still floundering in life he is a mighty poor bet as a husband. Right now there are several men with good careers and prospects who are very much interested in Janet. They are more handsome than Dan and have attractive personalities.

Why does a girl go out of her way to choose a man who has so little to offer? The man we would like her to marry is the most eligible bachelor in our community and girls envy Janet the chance to marry him.

The Council: When given an alternative, between a man of her own choice and a man of her parents' choice, Janet cannot help but prefer her own choice.

The L. R.'s are, therefore, defeating their purpose when they try to force on Janet the man or men they consider more desirable.

The L. R.'s cannot assume that they are 100 per cent correct in their idea of the proper marriage partner for Janet. The marriages they see as so desirable may simply not be as satisfactory for Janet from an emotional point of view.

Possibly Janet has a very strong maternal and creative drive which leads her to seek out a man who needs great support in building his life. What Janet lacks in material advantages in such a marriage, she may more than make up for in emotional satisfactions.

On the other hand, we think that L. R.'s are right to advise caution and to suggest that Janet give this question close study over as long a period as possible. It is quite possible the impulses that has aroused in her are strong but superficial. Over a period of time it is quite possible she would come to feel boredom and disgust with Dan's "floundering."

It is certainly difficult to convince a young man or woman in love that it is best to give their relationship the test of time, but the L. R.'s ought to concentrate their efforts in that direction.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beekman

TODAY'S COURTEST TIP. . .ON APPRECIATION

You can work magic by saying words of appreciation to other people. Why not tell them the serious truth of this at home . . . today?

FORMAL INVITATION TO CHURCH CEREMONY NEEDS REPLY

Dear Mrs. Beekman:

1. I have received a formal invitation to a wedding in a large church here. This did not include an invitation to a reception. How should I word my "regret" to the invitation?

2. Does this invitation require a wedding present? — PEGGY

1. This formal invitation to the church ceremony only . . . the invitation that "requests the honor of your presence" . . . needs no reply. (It is an invitation to the reception that must be answered.)

2. That depends on circumstances. For instance, if you know there is to be a reception of some size and your invitation did not include an invitation to this, apparently the bride and her parents consider you as an acquaintance rather than an intimate friend, and you need not send a gift unless you particularly wish to. On the other hand, if you know there is to be no reception, or one only for the families and perhaps a very few others, and if you are devoted to the bride, then doubtless you might be inclined to send her a wedding present.

PLANS FOR SECOND MARRIAGE

Dear Mrs. Beekman:

1. My first marriage was a "run-away" marriage, and I have certainly lived to regret it, in every way. Since my divorce my mother and father have been so kind and understanding, and now that I am married again, they are doing everything to make it a happy occasion. One of the questions that is most important to me is whether or not it is proper for the bride at her second marriage to be given in marriage by her father. At the beginning of this new life we are all happily starting together, I want so much to have my father give me in marriage — If this is permissible I will be glad to say, he very much wants to.

2. The ceremony and reception following are to be in my parents' home. Blue, especially light shades of blue, is my most becoming color. I am slim, short, have light-brown hair, blue eyes. Would you approve of my wearing a dressmaker-type silk suit, in a rather light blue shade? And a small, pretty flower hat to harmonize with this shade? — A.

1. What a fortunate girl you are, to have the loving security of such a devoted and understanding mother and father. What a blessing! Indeed it is entirely correct for your father to give you in marriage in this second marriage, and I'm sure he will particularly appreciate and welcome this honor.

2. You have a perfect plan for your costume . . . it will be appropriate, and becoming.

Readers' Friday Column

As conducted by Mary Moore

Question: . . . Last year I made some jam called Pear Medley and it got only tasted good but looked so pretty . . . that I would like to make it again but I mislaid it . . . Another subject: I read an article on how some man had found a way of leaving wheat germ in the flour he mills to make bread with and I have read about wheat germ so many times . . . would it require some other adjustment? . . . N. A. T.

Answer: There is no trick or secret in grinding whole wheat with wheat germ The wheat germ is simply ground when the kernel in which it is embedded is ground. Wheat germ may be added as recipes for homemade bread by substituting it for some of the flour. For instance, if you have a recipe which calls for 3 cups sifted white flour, leave out 1-3 cup of the flour and replace that with 3-4 cup fresh wheat germ. If you would like me to give you a wheat germ bread recipe write again.

Could the pear recipe you want be one of these?

PEAR CHIPS

Four pounds each sugar, firm, ripe pears, 4 cups water, 1 lemon sliced paper-thin. 1-4 cup chopped crystallized ginger, 8 whole all-spice berries. Combine sugar and water in a large saucepan. Place over medium heat and bring to a boil. Add pears, peeled and sliced very thin and remaining ingredients and boil gently, stirring frequently, until the pears are transparent and tender and the syrup thickens. Pour into sterilized jelly glasses and seal.

PEAR AND ORANGE CONSERVE

Pare, quarter, and thinly slice 4 dozen firm pears. Add 5 cups sugar and 2 oranges cut in very thin slices, including rind. Let stand 12 hour, simmer 1- hour, stirring frequently. Pour into small sterilized glass and seal.

Question: . . . I'd like a tomato catsup recipe similar to the boughten product. How long should one cook the tomatoes for tomato juice? Mine is usually too thin . . . Mrs. G. W.

TOMATO CATSUP

Answer: (Yield: 8 10-oz. bottles) 18 pounds ripe tomatoes, 2 cups chopped onions, 1 1-3 cups chopped sweet pepper, 4 tablespoons salt, 2 cups sugar, 2 cups vinegar, 4 sticks cinnamon 1 teaspoon whole cloves, 4 teaspoons whole allspice 2 teaspoons mustard seed, 2 teaspoons celery seed. Wash tomatoes, remove stem and send cut into pieces. Chop or dice onions and peppers. Combine tomatoes, onions and peppers and cook 10 minutes. Press through fine sieve. Add remaining ingredients with spices tied in cheesecloth bag. Boil 1 hour until

Women's Groups Invited To Discuss Safety Drive

By EDNA USHER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—If Canada's traffic accident rate is to be reduced, women must become more car conscious, says Mrs. Ethel M. McLellan.

As director of women's activities for the highway safety branch of Ontario's department of transport it is her job to see that the women of the province know what's what at road safety. The highway safety branch is setting a special effort to reach women," she says, "because they train children and influence husbands. Home influence can cause or prevent traffic accidents."

SAFETY CAMPAIGN

A workshop on highway safety is planned for Toronto in September, when various groups will discuss a safety campaign. Leaders of women's groups have been invited.

"If women will train their children, almost from the cradle, to look both ways before they cross a street and not to chase a ball across the road, child deaths in traffic will be reduced," said Mrs. McLellan.

"Women must also be persuaded that children must not play on the streets. Families spend a lot of money landscaping and a garden, but don't fence. It to keep the children inside.

"Wives can influence their menfolk to drive more slowly and take more care.

"Teen - age boys and girls will speed recklessly or take pride in driving safely, depending on the attitude of their own parents. Children who are brought up to be considerate of others in all things will be considerate and safe drivers in traffic.

URGENT NEED

Mrs. McLellan says the need is urgent for women to become active in highway safety.

"In the pre-school age group, car crashes in Canada cause more children's deaths than any other single cause except respiratory diseases or influenza," she said.

In the 15-to-19 age group, more than 58 per cent of accidental deaths were in car crashes.

"Statistics about the number of children killed don't mean much," said Mrs. McLellan. "But we hope to impress on everybody the wasted lives and agony resulting from accidents."

Sunday School Lesson

Justice Depends on Freedom

By ROY L. SMITH

The weakness of any democratic government lies in the fact that the citizens who live under that government are very apt to forget the fact that democracy must be achieved afresh every day. Maintaining justice is a continuing process of maintaining freedom.

JUSTICE AND COURTS

It was one of the sources of the strength of ancient Israel that Moses established a system of courts close to the lives of the people, where the judges were easily responsive to the will of the people.

Among the ancient Hebrews, as among few other nations of antiquity, it became the custom to have local judges in each small community — individuals who knew the life of the people and the circumstances under which they lived. In practically all the surrounding nations, such courts as there were could be found only at the nation's capital where the judges were responsible primarily to the king and to the rich nobles.

By keeping the courts close to the people Moses guaranteed their freedom, for the people became their masters.

UNDERMINING COURTS

Any nation seals its own doom when it subjects its courts to pressure from any other source than that of the will of toe people. He who is master of the fountains of justice is the dictator of the people.

It is the glory of democracy that the people have a completely free access to the polls, there to choose those who are to judge them in the courts. And he is a poor citizen indeed, and a betrayer of the cause of justice, who does not go to the polls to vote, thus helping to select judges who are to apply the law to the guilty as well as to the innocent.

JUSTICE BETWEEN CLASSES

The Canadian system has succeeded very well in establishing justice between individuals. There are exceptions, of course, but for the most part the poor man has as good a chance in the courts as does a rich man. He may hire a poor lawyer and pit him against a smart one, and thus lose his case. But it is not due to any lack of justice in the judical system.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for August 10: "JUSTICE IN GOVERNMENT." Deuteronomy 16:18-20; 17:14-20; II Samuel 23:1-4; I Kings 2:1-4; 3:1-14; Amos 5:11-15; Romans 13:1-8.

We have not, however, done as well in establishing justice between classes. In practically every community there are those minority groups who never seem to be able to make themselves heard when they cry out against the injustices under which they suffer. It is at least a part of the business of the Church to demand justice for groups, as it is to demand justice for individuals.

OUR CREED AND CITIZENSHIP

In a certain community a new church was being built, and at one point it was discovered that a section of the city's building code was imposing a considerable problem. "There must be some way to get around it," one man said, to which another replied, "not as long as I am the church's attorney. There will come a day when we will want our preacher to stand in this pulpit and render judgment against the city government. When that time comes, I do not want him to have to shut his mouth lest our guilt in his honor should come to light. To break the law of the land is as sinful as to be a heretic."

Afrikaners Removing in Every Centre of Union Last Vestiges Of Britain's Conquest of S.A.

Nationalism, with full three establishment of a republic, is a dominant political trend in the Union of South Africa. In this story a Johannesburg journalist outlines the background and development of this trend in the thinking of the Afrikaners, who represent two - thirds of the 3,000,000 white inhabitants.

By LINDSAY SMITH

JOHANNESBURG (CP) — The letters of the last sounds of the Boer War have just died.

In this war, Britain defeated the hardy sharp-shooting Boers, a people who trace back to Holland of more than 300 years ago, and in a lesser degree to the French Huguenots who fled to France to live in South Africa after the revocation of the Edict of Nantes.

Canada, Australia and New Zealand lent assistance to Britain. A force of 449,000 British fought about 87,000 Boers in a war that took them 32 months.

The last signs of the war—56 years after the signing of the Treaty of Vereeniging—have not been rifle shots, but the banishing of Afrikaans from the inscriptions on every centre of the union the last vestiges of Britain's conquest of South Africa.

SYMBOLS VANISH

In the law courts and in government buildings workmen with hammer and chisel have removed the royal coat of arms or replaced one of the British crown.

The crowns on the shoulder insignia of the majors and majorsgenerals in the army, air force and the police have disappeared, to be replaced by South African symbols. "God save the King" no longer played on ceremonial occasions. The Union Jack can no longer flies side by side with the Union flag on public buildings.

These are the signs of the victory achieved by the nationalist government in the general elections, and in the provincial elections that gave the four provinces of the Union of South Africa.

There is not an Afrikaner nationalist from ailing Prime Minister Johannes Strijdom down who does not believe that the last general election was a reversal of the military conquest of the two Boer republics, and an abrogation of the Treaty of Vereeniging that followed the Boers' defeat.

REPUBLICAN THEME

The case for the Afrikaners, who are the true descendants of the Boers who fought at the start of the century, has been well put by W. van Heerden, editor of the Afrikaans newspaper. In citing a hypothetical newspaper, In citing a should be a republic in South Africa and why South Africa should not hold its present status in the Commonwealth he goes back to the Boer War and the feelings of many Afrikaners have had ever since.

He asks his readers to, make these suppositions: That Germany had won the First World War, ruled Britain for some years from Berlin and gave "self-government" on condition that the Kaiser remain emperor of Britain, represented in London by a governor-general. That the British people for 50 years had declared that this was no longer in accord, with their national interest and wanted their own head of state. That in the meantime a considerable part of the German population had made its home in Britain and come to think of themselves as Germano-Britons. "But look we are free, we are a democracy; we are a Christian state; we are prosperous; what is wrong with you that you don't want a change?" Applying this to the South African situation, he continues:

"That our population has in the meantime increased with a considerable percentage of English-speaking people who were never republicans, is readily conceded.

"Precisely for this reason Afrikaners aspiring republicans are not ask for a republic as it was, but invite their English-speaking compatriots in friendly fashion to 'Come' and let us start build something new together, in which both will be at home.'"

QUESTION ANALOGY

Mr. van Heerden has been taken up on this analogy on behalf of the English-speaking South Africans, for whom it has been pointed out that he has taken no account of Commonwealth membership which confers economic and strategic benefits and that there was no German commonwealth.

Where Mr. van Heerden is also off the trail, English writers say, is that he is dealing largely with the days of President Paul Kruger and the Transvaal Republic. He has not taken into account that the two Boer states of the Transvaal and Orange Free State were at daggers drawn and that Natal and the Cape were essentially British colonies that were incorporated into the Union of South Africa together with the former Boer states of the Transvaal and the Orange Free State by the Act of Union in 1909.

South Africa, like all the other common wealth countries, acquired full and legal independence by the Statute of Westminster in 1931. This was largely brought about by the activities of Gen. J. B. M. Hertzog, prime minister of the union until the outbreak of the Second World War.

Gen. Hertzog was largely instrumental in drafting the four-four Declaration at the Imperial conference in 1926. This defined Britain and the dominions as "autonomous communities within the British Empire, equal in status, in no way subordinate one to another in any aspect of their domestic or external affairs, though united by a common allegiance to the Crown and freely associated as members of the British Commonwealth of nations."

IRRITANT PHRASE

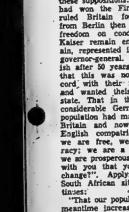
But inherent in this declaration there has been a chafing sore—common allegiance to the crown, which is anathema to many Afrikaners. It is this that results in the chipping away of the crowns and the royal insignia and their going into storage in Pretoria vaults.

While the Afrikaners as represented by the nationalist party have held full sway in the political field and have been able to eliminate all outward signs of the British occupation, and to bring in many acts to bolster their fervent belief in apartheid, the impact of the removal of so much of the old British conquest has been practically nil on the lives of the European population. The minority English-speaking section of the white population has not felt it keenly and of course, to the 1,500,000 blacks and coloreds it is just a wording at all.

The English - speaking section has not felt it because although the Afrikaans nationalists have a virtual stranglehold on the control of the country, British and European interest control an estimated 80 per cent of the economic life.

It is also throughout the length and breadth of South Africa the English-speaking town of Durban; and upon the heads of the politically - elected beauty queens.

Pheasant Crop At Codrington Now Released



TORONTO (CP) — The lands and forests department announced Thursday it has allocated this year's crop of pheasants raised at the provincial game farm at Codrington, 75 miles west of Belleville.

The crop amounted to 36,000 pheasants and about 34,000 of them will be released in the Lindsay, Huron, Tweed, Simcoe and Rideau districts. In addition, several hundred adult birds are being distributed to bird dog associations for the training of retrievers.

About 30,000 chicks included in the allocations will be nourished and cared by townships receiving them, then released at the age of five to seven weeks.

In the Lindsay district about 7,000 birds were added to the regulated townships of Clarke Mariposa, Ops and Durham County. These birds are to be given minimum bands hunters are to turn in to conservation officers.

BROCKVILLE, (CP) — The Brockville Trust and Savings Company, robbed in May of an estimated $10,000 in cash, jewelry, bonds and securities, is installing a new $10,000 vault.

UN Will Play a Major Part In Easing of World Tension

By LLOYD McDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A special session of the United Nations General Assembly, while generally regarded as the least likely to succeed of all the proposed steps to ease tension in the Middle East, is not without hopeful aspects.

While the Western powers feel that any orators rather than the main result, Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold is understood to be pleased that the world organization will thus continue to play a major part in an official capacity.

The Swedish diplomat on many past occasions has used the scope of his office in perhaps a broader way than any formal wording approved by the UN members assembled in full for, And it is felt in the current situation he is likely to take personal steps again.

BOLD ACTION

In fact he already has been considering along this line during the hiatus which resulted from the UN Security Council's suspension of debate to allow outside negotiations for the big-power conference which finally failed to materialize.

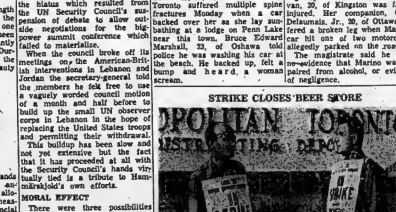
When the council broke off its meetings on the American-British interventions in Lebanon and Jordan the secretary-general told the members he felt free to use his vaguely worded responsibilities of a month and half before to build up the small UN observer corps in Lebanon in the hope of replacing the United States troops as peacekeepers in the withdrawal.

This buildup has been slow and not yet extensive, but the UN observers proceeded at all with the Security Council's hands virtually tied. The third was the emergency assembly meeting.

This last step removes the menace of the veto from the discussion, since in the assembly a two - thirds majority vote prevails, but in a legal way any action approved by the assembly can only make "recommendations" whereas the 11 - member Security Council "may take such action by air, sea or land forces as may be necessary to maintain or, restore international peace and security."

The UN's action in Korea was taken under this provision, but it escaped a Soviet veto only because Russia at that time was boycotting the council sessions and refusing to vote.

SOLVED SUEZ



During the Middle East crisis of 1956 over the British-French-Israeli invasion of Egypt, however, the General Assembly had to take over because the Security Council was veto-bound. And in the Gaza Strip and along which has kept the peace along the Egypt-Israeli border ever since was the creation of the assembly, working through the secretary-general.

Thus there is a precedent for concrete dispute - settling action on the part of the assembly despite the advisory function under which it operates technically. This offers the hope that in the current uneasiness the last alternative may not be the least effective.

SUNBATHER RUN OVER

HUNTSVILLE (CP)—Mrs. Ruth Gallacher, 31, of Downsview near Toronto suffered multiple spine fractures Monday when a car backed over her as she lay sunbathing at a lodge on Penn Lake near this town. Bruce Edward Marshall, 23, of Oshawa told police he was washing his car at the beach. He backed up, felt a bump and heard a woman scream.

STRIKE CLOSES BEER STORE

United Brewery Workers of America members struck stations at Toronto Brewers Warehouse and all union outlets in Hamilton and Toronto. The union represents 450 men who are striking for a reduction of the present 40-hour-week to 35 hours with wages boosts. A conciliation board headed by Eric G. Taylor declared itself incompetent to handle the dispute, after the union objected to Mr. Taylor as board chairman. Hotels and taverns have been stockpiling for weeks and will not likely run short of supply.

Change in CNR Auditors Brings Heated Debate

OTTAWA (CP)—A change in CNR auditors raised Commons questions Thursday about political favoritism.

George McIlraith (L—Ottawa West) said the appointment of James A. de Lalanne of Montreal to audit CNR accounts for 1959 smacks of political patronage.

CNR accounts had been audited "efficiently" every year but one since 1929 by George A. Touche and Company; also of Montreal. Mr. McIlraith wondered why the government was "discarding all that experience."

WAS DEFEATED CANDIDATE

Mr. McIlraith added that Mr. de Lalanne was a defeated Progressive Conservative candidate — a reference to the fact that Mr. de Lalanne ran unsuccessfully during the 1949 federal election in the Montreal riding of St. Antoine-Westmount. The winning candidate was then finance minister Douglas Abbott, now a supreme court justice.

Transport Minister Hees described Mr. McIlraith's statements as "cheap." He denied that political considerations influenced the appointment.

Mr. Hees said the government wanted to break a "monopoly" and give free enterprise a fair opportunity.

Mr. McIlraith asked what changing one company for another had to do with monopoly. CHANGE IS NEEDED

Douglas Fisher (CCF — Port Arthur) ironically complimented Mr. Hees on the CNR's banking activities and expressed hope the minister will soon be "equally friendly" with Canada's large corporations.

The 1957 annual report of the government-owned CNR—a huge operation with 121,000 employees—gives no indication of the amount paid to audit its accounts, Mr. Fisher said.

The propriety of Mr. de Lalanne's appointment as Commons auditor before the Commons passed a bill authorizing funds to cover certain CNR capital expenditures in 1958.

Senator Likens P.M. 'Vision' To 'Nightmare'

OTTAWA (CP) — Mild-spoken Senator A. K. Hugessen (L—Quebec) has likened Prime Minister Diefenbaker's economic expansion "vision" to a "nightmare."

"If only hope," he said Thursday, "that the Prime Minister's vision won't turn out in the end to be a nightmare which will leave the Canadian people, when they wake up from it, the bitter victims of disillusion."

He spoke in debate on an interim supply bill authorizing $1,000,000,000 in government expenditures during August and September.

Senator C. G. Power (L—Quebec) asked whether interest rates on the new conversion bond loan meant that interest paid during the 25-year term would actually mean an outlay of $1,500,000,000 for the total $6,400,000,000 conversion issue.

DON'T KNOW YET

Senator Hugessen Brunt (PC—Ontario) said the interest cost can be determined only when it is known how the loan had been subscribed. There were many securities of a wide variety of different terms to maturity and carrying interest rates ranging from 2½ to 5 per cent.

Replying to Senator Arthur W. Roebuck (L—Ontario), Senator Brunt said it will cost approximately $85,000,000 in commission fees to underwrite the loan. That figure did not include advertising and prospectus costs.

The Senate also gave final approval to amendments to the Canadian Farm Loan Act enabling the farm loan board to increase its lending capacity to $120,000,000, from the present $80,000,000. The bill was then passed by the Commons.

Later the interim supply bill and farm loan measure were given royal assent, with other legislation, by Governor-General Georges Vanier, Chief Justice Patrick Kerwin, Chief Justice Gerald Fauteux of the Supreme Court of Canada, Mr. Justice Locke and the first time as deputy for Governor-General Massey.

BRIDGE PLAYER BARRED

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Directors of the American Contract Bridge League Saturday barred Tobias Stone of New York from international matches for a year on a charge of discourtesy during a world tournament in Italy. Stone, 37, of Englewood, N.J., was found no basis for a complaint that Stone accused the Italian winners of cheating.

Oshawa Hotels Again Open Beverage Rooms

OSHAWA (CP) — Police escorted beer to Oshawa hotels Thursday as they opened their beverage rooms with non-union waiters after losing strike-bound for five weeks.

The strike began July 4 with waiters at five hotels seeking a union shop and dues checkoff. Wage negotiations were settled.

Charge Dismissed

GANANOQUE, Ont. (CP)—A careless driving charge against James D. Marino, 24, Ottawa television and radio announcer, was dismissed by Magistrate Gordon Jermyn Thursday.

The charge arose from a car-motorcycle accident June 7 on Highway 15 when Maureen Gilchrist, 20, of Kingston was fatally injured. Her companion, Owen Sweetman, 20, of Ottawa suffered a broken leg when Marino's car hit one of two motorcycles allegedly parked on the roadside.

The magistrate said he believed evidence that Marino was impaired from alcohol, or evidence of negligence.

Concerted Effort Is Needed To Teach People Importance Of Forest Fires Research

By FRASER MacDOUGALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

DORSET, Ont. (CP) — A concerted effort is needed to convince Canadians of the need for more intensive research into forest fire problems, Canadian forestry experts were told Thursday night.

J. C. MacLeod of the Dominion forestry branch at Ottawa told the National Forest Fire Research Conference it should make its aims known to the public as a prelude to seeking help of government agencies in stepping up these research programs.

Arthur Brown of the United States Forest Service in Washington who shared in a panel discussion with Mr. MacLeod, stressed the economic side of research.

U.S. expenditures for fire control in 1957 totalled $87,000,000, Mr. Brown said. Research that would increase the efficiency or reduce the necessity of these expenditures by 10 per cent annually would save $8,000,000 in fire control activity alone. The reduction in damage would be an even bigger stake.

FIRE NEAR MEET

The 140 conference delegates saw Ontario forest fire crews swing into action in earnest Thursday night when fire broke out in a log cabin near the conference site in the Ontario Forest Ranger School near this community, 100 miles north of Toronto. The men on hand for conference demonstrations used forest fire fighting pumps and hose to get the blaze under control.

The fire, which began after a heavy thunderstorm, was apparently caused by a short circuit.

Premier Frost of Ontario made a brief afternoon appearance at the conference, held in the scenic part of his Ontario legislative constituency of Victoria, and welcomed the delegates. Hon. J. W. Spooner, newly appointed lands and forests minister, added his welcome.

Another panel discussion tackled the problem of radio communications which chairman D. W. Gray of Espanola described as vital to effective forest fire fighting.

TWO RADIOS NEEDED

C. F. Platt of the Alberta department of lands and forests suggested two new radio sets are needed; one with a maximum weight of 40 pounds would be used at the base camp. A portable set, maximum weight 10 pounds, would be used at the fire. The main set should have five channels, four for short range communication, and field sets should have four. He said radio operations are hampered by unrealistic regulations of the department of transport.

C. F. Patteson of the National Research Council at Ottawa told development of required radio equipment now was an operational rather than a research problem. Equipment was available and technically had been developed to meet requirements. Greatest need now was an efficient power source.

CO-ORDINATION PROPOSED

A Canada-wide organization to co-ordinate both research and public information was proposed at a morning session. The suggestion was one of hundreds developing from 10 "brainstorming" discussion groups, each tackling a different phase of the fire problem.

From this discussion the groups moved into the field to watch use of power in fire fighting. They ate lunch in the woods, frozen meals dropped by airplane and cooked on the spot.

Directed by T. E. MacKay, head of the forest protection division of the Ontario department of lands and forests, the discussions produced such off-beat suggestions as an annual "miss forest fire" beauty contest, and a requirement that senior forestry students spend a period a year fire-fighting so they'd be inspired to organize more efficient crews.

The frozen meals dropped by plane included turkey dinner, pork, roast chicken and cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes, peas and gravy, apple pie and coffee.

H. Mesnill, director of the forest ranger school, reported that the frozen meals are still in the experimental stage to determine whether they can be used to feed fire-fighting crews. One difficulty was that commercial firms were reluctant to produce them except in quantity orders and the number of meals required ranged from 100,000 a year to several million.

Growth of Newspaper Chains 'Tending Toward Monopoly' Question Raised

The Canadian Press is the partnership through which Canada's daily newspapers exchange the news of their areas, across the country and around the world, and distribute the news of the world.

It is a non-profit-making co-operative, expenses of operation being assessed from time to time on the membership, based mainly on population of the area served.

Membership in CP, in fact not already served by existing members, is open to any daily newspaper paying an entrance fee of $500 and willing to assume its share of annual costs.

In centres where member newspapers already publish, the entrance fee—in recognition of the equity built up in CP by existing members—is one or two years' regular CP charge in the given area. One year's charge of the entrance fee if the application is for a field—morning or evening—not already occupied. Two years' charge, is the fee for an evening paper where one is already published or for a morning paper where one is already published.

BAN OUTDOOR SERVICES

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — Mayor Frank McKay has placed a ban on religious groups holding outdoor services in the city. The ban follows an incident in which the mayor said he was "insulted" and "shoved" Sunday night by crowds in central King Square listening to an Independent Church service. A minor street tussle developed and police were called to disperse crowds.

Tenders for construction engagements entered into by the Department of Highways of The Province and Sun, whose headquarters are in Toronto, Ontario and other assets were merged in a new company, Pacific Press Limited, effective June 1, 1957.

He said: "If any specific case comes to our attention whereby the existence of this agency were used to foster a monopoly by one newspaper or one chain of newspapers, we would, of course, be prepared to investigate."

Lennon Sisters Found by Son Of Lawrence Welk on Date

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — You never can tell where talent will be found —or who will be its discoverer. For example:

One evening almost three years ago a high school boy named Lawrence Welk Jr. dropped in for a date with a classmate named Dianne Lennon at her home in Venice, Calif. He found Dianne and her younger sisters—Peggy, Kathy and Janet—swinging while they washed the dishes.

There were good enough for television, he later told his father, Welk senior ducked the audition pleadings of his son for a long time until one Sunday when he was laid up with a cold. Trapped, he listened to the Lennon sisters. Two weeks later they appeared on the Lawrence Welk Show (ABC — TV, Saturdays, 9 p.m., EDT).

NOW THEY'RE REGULARS

Today, as regulars on the Welk show, they receive thousands of fan letters a week. Today, when they visit New York, you can't join them for a quiet tomato juice for autographs.

It's an astonishing thing about the Lennon sisters is that they don't want a lifetime career as professional singers with a single reservation which Peggy expressed for all of them:

"But we would like to continue singing just as long as Mr. Welk will have us."

CAN'T READ MUSIC

None of them reads a note of music. It's quite probable that when they appeared with Welk in Carnegie Hall here they were the first musical artists ever to appear on that famous stage who couldn't read a note.

Coached by their father, William, a former professional singer who now is a field salesman for a dairy, they rehearse daily and informally.

Little Mo Remains Favorite In Canadian Women's Golf

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SASKATOON (CP)—Little Mo continues as the favorite to take the Canadian women's Open golf championship.

Little Mo is 34-year-old Mrs. Marlene Stewart Streit of Fonthill and Toronto. She defeated the defending champion Thursday to pass her toughest test en route to the final.

Marlene was matched today against Dorothy Kirby of Windsor, a comparatively inexperienced player in national competition. If the semi-finals go as expected, Mrs. Streit will clash for a third time in the final with Mary Gay of Calgary.

Miss Gay, 26 - year - old secretary, was to meet Mrs. Hazel Jamison of Edmonton in a semi-final game and was favored to win.

Miss Gay, formerly of Kitchener, is a sentimental favorite among the spectators at the Saskatoon Golf and Country Club, where the tournament is being played, because she has been runner-up in the Open four times —including twice to Marlene.

Mrs. Streit dropped a 15-foot putt from 70ft off the edge of the green at the 15th hole Thursday to break the beginning of the match for Betty Stanhope of Edmonton, who defeated her last year to win the title.

Betty halved twice and then held the match even to the 14th, but she lost the par-three 15th to Marlene's two shot and the 453-yard 16th to a birdie four when Marlene made a five third shot and dropped her 10-foot putt.

Betty missed a four-footer on the 17th to halve the hole and lose the match.

Miss Gay played steady golf to oust Saskatchewan's last hope, Jeanne Goulet of Regina, 4 and 3. Mrs. Jamison downed a rather upset in beating Mrs. Robert Lyle Smith of Montreal 4 and 3.

Rough Riders, Larks Oppose Interlock Sked With West

TORONTO (CP)—Plans for an interlocking schedule for Canada's professional football teams may go by the boards unless Ottawa and Montreal officials change their minds today.

A committee of the Canadian Football League, still only a league in name, meets here behind closed doors to discuss an interlocking schedule with seven of nine teams willing to go along with the plan in one form or another, but two dead set against it.

Although representatives of the five Western interprovincial Football Union teams are flying in for a full interlocking schedule for 1959, Ottawa and Montreal of the Big Four oppose the plan.

Liz Taylor Out of Mourning Available for Movie Roles

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWTOOD (AP) — Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene:

Elizabeth Taylor is coming out of mourning over the death of Mike Todd. She is doing dating Arthur Loew Jr., scion of the show business family and a friend since her early years at MGM. And Liz has indicated she will be available for film roles that appeal to her.

"After Todd's death, she didn't care if she worked or not," said Richard Brooks, who directed her in Cat On a Hot Tin Roof. "She finished the picture only because Mike was so hepped up on it. Now she wants to work some more."

Audrey Hepburn is not worried about being directed by husband Mel Ferrer for the first time in Green Mansions. After all, she argues, they have appeared together in a Broadway play (Ondine) and on TV (Mayerling).

"Marriage is a pretty complex relationship," she says.

"If Mel and I can live together, we certainly ought to be able to direct together."

Garry Crosby's comment re Papa Bing's TV deal with ABC: "I understand it makes some films for them and then they show him the ones they don't want no part of a series for himself, favors guest shots only. Alan Ladd landed his own TV series for his son, David, who'd ever since noticed for The Proud Rebel. He doesn't want the lad to work that hard.

Ingrid Bergman finishes Pork Chop Hill and hits the road to exploit her other picture, The Big Country. He reported his itinerary in the jargon of Variety headlines: "Wash., Balti, NY, The Hub, Philly, Pitt, Chi and SF." The star will probably be the saleswomen too these days. . . .

AT THE PARK — Jerry Lewis starts on "I'll Go Naked If I Have To," his Hal Wallis production showing today and Saturday at the Park Theatre. Red Skelton co-stars in the Paramount Vista Vision comedy based on the famed cartoon character. On the same program the Technicolor musical comedy "Excuse My Dust," starring Red Skelton, Sally Forrest, Macdonald Carey and Monica Lewis. Continuous show Saturday from 1.00. Doors open 12.30 p.m.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

LES CANADIENS COMING

The Midlanders may not get a chance to cross hockey sticks with the colorful world champion Canadiens but there is a very strong possibility they will find out how good the Habs are on a softball diamond.

So says Manse Robert Temple, chief Tabby of the Belleville Rockets, who is the guiding light in a deal to bring the Selke Sharpers here for an exhibition softball tilt with his "AA" Tigers.

Temple intends to make the softball show as close to a world professional hockey champions, and Canadian national amateur hockey championship team as possible.

He has Wisner Brown, Bobby Hull, Floyd Crawford, Dep Goldsmith already under Robcat contract and will augment his squad with such Mecs as Keith MacDonald, Gordie Bell, Gerry Goyer and other diamond stars of the Allan Cup winners.

While no definite date has been set for the game, it has to be played on or before August 15 since the Canadiens' general manager, Frank Selke, has put his official foot down on the ball-playing Habs continuing their disastrous conflicting after that date.

Temple has been in correspondence with Doug Harvey, rugged defenceman of the Canadiens and one of their softball luminaries,- and everything is hunkey-dory about the Habs playing here with the exception of the definite date.

The Canadiens, through Harvey, unanimously agreed to come to Belleville especially after learning that every cent of the proceeds of the game will go to the McFarlands' Overseas Fund. The game will be played at the CNEA Park.

Practically all of the big names of the world hockey champions play softball, and reports from down east say they are as colorful on the diamond as on the ice surface. They have been playing all summer and are reported to be some pointers as ball players.

Manager Dick Rocket Richard does not play softball but he has accompanied the team on several of its junkets to foreign softball pastures and there is every likelihood the colorful Habitant star will accompany his mates to Belleville.

Temple says he will use as many McFarlands as are available on the squad that faces the Canadiens and fill in the gaps with his other Robcat stars. Bobby Hull should get quite a thrill out of facing his wintertime foemen in a vastly different environment. And methinks Bobby would like nothing better than to get out there on the mound and send as many of his puck-chasing "enemies" down whipping the wind, as possible.

The Canadiens are no strangers to Belleville. As a hockey club they have played exhibition games here on two occasions, one when "Turk" Barclay coveted himself with goal-keeping glory by shutting out the 'Hawks' for an entire period. This feat tickled the rest of the Habs so much they took up a fielding money collection and presented it to the "Turk" at the end of the game. They felt the ribbing they gave the "Rocket" was worth it.

On another occasion the "Rocket" and a fellow Canadien put in an appearance here with the Stanley Cup when the Habs' management loaned it to the Bata Shoe Company when it opened its Front Street store.

RASSLIN'

Millers in bunches looks like the motif for tonight's wrestling program at the Memorial Arena and a horrifying motif it is, what with three of the Ohio ogres on the scare program.

However all is not so terrifying when it is noted that two of the clan, Big Bill and Big Ed, will have each sparkling opposition as Ike-Ike Brazil and Dave Stack in the main event. Also that Lou Fiscella, former amateur heavyweight wrestling champion of Canada, will be the special referee. Fiscella has also done some pro grappling with success. Though these marauding Millers are large, rough and tough and can urbestir ilk nobody's business, let's see how they manage with Brazil's kobe banks and Stack's cobra hold to worry about.

Sliver Hits Home Run No 20 In Boston's 5th Straight Win; Spahn Chalks up 15th Victory

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Warren Spahn, Milwaukee left-hander, is heading toward his ninth season as a 20-game winner. If he makes it he will set a modern major league record for left-handed pitchers.

Spahn, now 37, is tied with Lefty Grove of the old Philadelphia A's among the southpaws. He still is way behind the top righthanders. Cy Young won 30 or more 18 times over 30 years ago. Christy Mathewson did it 13 times and Walter Johnson 12.

At the rate Spahn is going he will have no trouble making the grade for the third straight time. A three-run rally against Bob Friend in the seventh inning gave Milwaukee a 3-2 decision over Pittsburgh Thursday with Spahn scattering seven hits for his 15th victory. Friend, who has now lost 12 of the Braves for six innings, also was shooting for his 15th.

CARDS TOPPLED

The Braves pulled seven full games in front of the San Francisco Giants with their victory and going at St. Louis. The Cardinals scored early and often in a 13-1 romp behind Sam Jones.

Philadelphia climbed into fourth by defeating Cincinnati 5-3 behind Don Cardwell. Dave Philley's triple and Chico Fernandez' sacrifice fly broke a 3-3 tie in the eighth to beat Bob Purkey.

Johnny Klippstein saved Andy Koufax in the ninth inning to protect a 3-1 Los Angeles victory over the Chicago Cubs. The Dodgers are still in last place.

Friend has a 2-0 lead and a two-hit shutout going to the seventh at Milwaukee. Red Schoendienst opened with a single and Eddie Mathews hit his 32nd home run. A single by Del Crandall, a sacrifice and a single by Frank Torre added the third run.

MUSIAL REGAINS LEAD

The Cardinals battered loser Mike McCormick and two others for 13 hits. Stan Musial's two hits in three trips gave him the batting lead at .346 over Willie Mays' Richie Ashburn.

The Phillies had a 2-0 edge going into the seventh when Bob Thurman's third single, a single by Don Demeter and a two-run double by Bailey evened matters. Ed Bouchee's single drove in the fourth Phil run and Cardwell's single knocked in the second.

Koufax was pitching along with a four-hitter when he walked Ernie Banks and Bobby Thomson with one out in the seventh. Klippstein got Lee Walls on a game-ending double play. Thomson's 16th homer produced the only Cub run.

TIES COURSE RECORD

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Paul Harney, 29-year-old pro from Worcester, Mass., equalled the Tripoli Golf Club course record Thursday with a sparkling seven-under-par 63 to grab the early lead in the first round of the $20,000 Milwaukee open golf tournament. He tied the course record set here two years ago by Ed Furgol and Jackie Burke Jr., both of whom are competing in the 72-hole medal tournament.

Leafs, Kings Split Verdicts; Royals Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Orlando Pena of Havana Sugar Kings in the International League is one pitcher who does not become discouraged easily.

He was called upon in the ninth inning of the first game with Toronto Maple Leafs Thursday night to put out the fire with two out on first and the bases loaded. He did it for a three-run home run and the ball game.

If he brooded between games it certainly didn't show about two hours later. He was once again summoned from the bullpen this time in the eighth inning with the score tied at 5-5.

HURLS SHUTOUT BALL

He pitched 7 2-3 innings of shutout ball and the Cubans came up with four runs in the 15th inning to win 7-3. It was a quick loss for Pena in the first game but a hard-earned victory in second.

Montreal Royals shelled Miami Marlins 8-1 and Rochester Red Wings edged Columbus Jets 3-1. Richmond at Buffalo was postponed by rain.

Jim Konstanty blasted a pair of home runs and four runs batted in to lead the Royal to victory. His homer in the first inning tied the score at 1-1 and his three-run homer in the fifth frame put the game away.

BIG FIFTH INNING

The Royals came up with six runs in the big fifth which also saw Dick Teed connect for the distance blow for Rochester.

Bob Gibson struck out 10 batters and walked only two in going the route for the Red Wings. He scattered eight hits. Willie Jadlow batted 1-0 for the fifth inning Gene Oliver hit a home run with a runner on base and that was all Gibson needed.

GOALLIE OUT

LONDON (CP) — Ron Reynolds of Toronto Marlboros, junior goalkeeper, has lost part of a finger in an accident. He will miss the opening matches of the new season which starts Saturday.

Ontario, Quebec Rated Tops in Junior Tennis

Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Ontario and Quebec are favored to capture the girls' and boys' crowns respectively in the interprovincial tennis competition, opening today at the Canadian closed junior tennis championships.

The Ontario girls, who meet the western province in the series, are paced by 17-year-old Sharon Caldwell of Toronto who has defended the finals of the closed junior women's singles.

Quebec boys, playing the West, are led by the top two juniors—Andre Toupin of Montreal and Yvon Leblanc of Marieville, Que., who play semi-final matches today in the men's singles.

Quebec plays the Maritimes in the second series and Ontario tangles with the Maritimes in the second boys' series.

Thursday's action was highlighted by three upsets, one in the junior women's and two in the juvenile boys' singles classes.

—Seventeen-year-old Judy Borland of Winnipeg upset second-ranked junior woman Judy Travis of Toronto 6-4, 6-1 in a semi-final match. Miss Caldwell beat Ottawa's Pat Ryan 6-3, 6-3 in the other semi-final.

Bobby Pirie downed defending champion Michael Carroll of Ottawa 6-3, 8-6 in a juvenile semi-final and then defeated Michael Labelle of Montreal 6-3, 6-3 to advance to the final against Winnipeg's Ricky Borland, who upset second-seeded Bernard Holcup of Toronto 6-4, 9-7.

The junior men's singles quarter-finals saw Toupin beat Toronto's Don Curtis 6-2, 6-2, Leblanc down Tom McCarthy, also Toronto 6-3, 6-1, Fauquier win by 6-4, 6-1 scores over John Fraser of Victoria and Carruthers beat fellow Montrealer Derek Penner 13-11, 6-4.

Canadian Quarter Standout In Riders' Win Over Lions

OTTAWA (CP) — For the first year since coach Frank Clair came here in 1856, Ottawa Rough Riders can depend on a first-rate Canadian quarterback.

He is rookie Russ Jackson, draft choice from McMaster University, Hamilton, an imaginative caller of running plays. Judging by his performance Thursday night when Riders twisted British Columbia Lions' tail 33-27, all Jackson needs is a bit more poise and confidence on passing plays.

With an all-Canadian cast—except for import fullback Ron Quillan—Jackson mixed his running plays to the left, right and centre in a second - quarter 108 - yard touchdown drive that had some 7,000 spectators whooping it up.

GOES OVER HIMSELF

In 19 plays, with Don Plabey, Frank Fraser and Quillan carrying the ball, Jackson marched Riders to the Lions' 10, then covered himself on an option play.

Again in the final quarter, Jackson directed a touchdown drive in for another touchdown.

Meanwhile, import quarterback Hal Legrand tossed two touchdown passes to George Brancato and to Bobby Judd. Riders' first TD was scored on a 25-yard run after Ted Smale picked up Ray Lachner's fumble of a punt by Quillan. Gary Schreiber kicked two converts and Quillan a single.

START OFF FAST

British Columbia started the game with a roar, taking a 14-0 lead in the first quarter.

Mike Davies, rookie quarterback from Toronto Parkdale Juniors and defensive half, ran for a touchdown on a fumble by Judd on the Ottawa 40, and Ry Bailey plunged from close in after Lineman Hodgson intercepted a pass by Ledyard on the Ottawa 14.

Paul Cameron closed out the scoring late in the game with two touchdowns, one in a short plunge, the other on a 30-yard pass from quarter Jerry Johnson. Ted Hunt converted three times.

Rory Calhoun Favored Over Ace Armstrong

NEW YORK (AP)—Rory Calhoun, a tough slugger, is a 6-5 favorite to defeat unbeaten Gene (Ace) Armstrong, a fine boxer, in a 10-round televised battle at Madison Square Garden tonight. Both are middleweight contenders.

This is the big opportunity for Armstrong, 26, of Elizabeth, N.J., He has won all 14 of his fights in a three-year pro career. Only one was by a knockout.

Calhoun has a 35-4-1 record, including 18 knockouts.

Racing Drivers Are Suspended

TORONTO (CP)—Drivers Vern Wade and Omar Knight were suspended for infractions in Thursday night's racing at Old Woodbine Park.

Steward Clarence McPhee said Waddell was set down for "lack of effort and for careless and reckless driving" in the fourth race. Knight was suspended for crossing sharply in front of another entry, Tom Roy Jr. in the seventh.

Warns Soccer May End Up In Chaos

HAMILTON (CP) — Conditions in the Southern Ontario Soccer League may lead to chaos unless brought under control, John Peton, secretary of the Hamilton and District Soccer discipline committee said, Thursday night.

The warning came moments after the committee suspended two members of the Niagara Falls St. Anne's team which walked off the field with 13 minutes left in a game with intra-city rivals, Germania Jul. 26.

St. Anne's manager Gino Gialloreto and Secretary Fernando Beringer were each suspended until Aug. 14, 1939. The club was fined $150.

Paton said officials of the SOL have let matters get out of control and unless brought under control chaos is inevitable.

Thor Johnson of Welland Rungaria was suspended until Sept. 8 for misdemeanor. 26 Aquinos Italos of Welland. In addition the Hungaria club was forced to post a $150 bond and provide adequate police protection for future games.

Ibbotson May Prove Threat To Elliott in Scottish Meet

DUBLIN (AP) — Australians Herb Elliott and Albert Thomas packed their record - breaking cleats for Edinburgh today, leaving behind shattered world records for the mile and two-mile runs.

Elliott set a great mark of 3:54.5 for the mile Wednesday. Thomas established the world's best time for the two miles with an 8:32 clocking Thursday night.

"Now we go to Edinburgh and Scotland," the 23 - year - old Thomas said. "On Saturday we'll compete in the highland games."

Elliott said: "I'm looking forward to Edinburgh and it's probably the mile race."

IBBOTSON WAITING

Somebody else who hopes Elliott loses the mile in Edinburgh probably is England's Derek Ibbotson. The 26-year-old Englishman had the world's best time of 3:57.2 before Elliott's feat.

Ibbotson's time was not ratified as a world mark because of possible pacing considerations. But Ibbotson has failed to hit the peak form that made him the "king of the milers" last year. But Ibbotson still maintains he's the best. He's entered in the Edinburgh mile.

A race between Elliott and Ibbotson may see the Englishman pulling something extra out of the bag to surprise the fans and push Elliott to a fast time. That's the sort of last-ditch effort many think Ibbotson capable of performing.

Thomas broke the two - mile mark after Elliott had set the pace for five laps. Thomas pushed ahead on the sixth lap and raced home.

Elliott was timed second in 8:37.6. The listed record of 8:33.4 was set by Hungary's Sandor Iharos in 1955.

CANADIAN WINNERS

BATAVIA, N.Y. (CP)—It was a big night for Canadian - owned horses at Batavia Downs Thursday. Shadow Stone, owned by Wes Little of Stratford won the featured B pace for $1,300 by 1¼ lengths over Vivacious Hanover.

WINNIPEG (CP) — What's needed to boost Canadian athletics into the international sports spotlight, to greater power in Olympic and British Empire games?

What we need is a world champion to bring glamor to our sports and whip up enthusiasm among competitors and fans."

STEP FORWARD

The Canadian Legion sports training plan and coaching clinic at Toronto, Aug. 21-30, is a step toward that goal, he said.

The legion has agreed to underwrite the cost of bringing the top 10 athletes from each province to Toronto, give them a week's training under internationally famous coaches and then stage a track and field meet.

Mac Murray, national AAU publicity chairman, said lack of interest on the national level has impeded the progress of amateur sports in Canada.

"Local interest is good, but once an athlete leaves high school he or she drops from the public scene," he said.

"Their exploits are often good copy in other countries, but not in Canada. It usually takes an Olympic or B.E.G. medal to even break the barrier at home.

"One answer is more national pride in our athletes such as is given football stars.

"It's a long hard grind to international victories. It's dull because the method is usually calisthenics, work and more work. Moral support is a must."

Mawhinney, Balding Tops In Millar Trophy Golf Race

TORONTO (CP) — Defending champion Bill Mawhinney of Burlington and Al Balding of Markham, last year's runner-up, led 16 qualifiers into today's third-round play of the Canadian match play golf championship for the Millar Trophy.

Mawhinney, formerly of Vancouver, rolled over Stan Jennings of St. Mary's, 7 and 6, in Thursday morning's first round and won his second-round afternoon match one up after a tough struggle with Pete Finlayson of Toronto Forest Hills.

Balding had two easy wins, 4 and 2 against North Bay's Bob Barringer in the first round and 3 and 2 against George Kelly of Stratford in his second match.

Thursday's field of 64 was pruned to the round-of-16, to be played this morning over the Islington course.

ONE UPSET

Frank Whibley of Buffalo Park upset Lyle Crawford of Vancouver Langara 3 and 2 in the first round for the day's upset. His best Will Cunningham of London Hunt Club, 4 and 3, in the afternoon match.

Kitchener's Gerry Kesselring, stayed in contention by beating Stan Kolarof, Ottawa Chaudiere, 2 and 1, and George Gilmurray of Lingan, N.S., 5 and 4.

Bill Szrak, Port Robinson, defeated Norman Hunt, Mount Bruno, Que., 7 and 6 in his afternoon match.

Lloyd Tucker, Kitchener Rockway, defeated Vic Whibley, Guelph Cutten, one up to qualify for the third round. Peter Hillyard, Brantford, edged Guelph's Merv Costello one up. Alf Hill, Peterborough, beat Rudolphe Sluot, Royal Quebec, on the 33rd hole. Bob Gray, Toronto Scarboro, ousted Oshawa's Hal Butler, 3 and 1.

Pairing off in today's round-of-16 are Mawhinney and Szrak, Gordon Brydson and Gordon Mackenzie, Art Lamb and L. Tucker, Norm Sorrell and Hill, M. Tucker and Kesselring, Hill drop and Joe Noble, Gray and Whibley, and Lou Cumming and Balding.

There is $3,000 to be distributed among the eight top finishers. The winner gets $1,000. Consolation rounds will also be played today among losers of Thursday's matches.

81 UN DELEGATES

After a five-and-take discussion Lodge accepted this solution under persuasion of the British and Canadian delegates. A unanimous show of hands followed, with Russia withdrawing her veto "to get the troops out" demand.

The resulting assembly meeting this afternoon was expected in advance to be somewhat of an anti-climax to the council debate. The probability was that it would be only a formal call to order to conform with the UN rule that the assembly must meet within 24 hours of a Security Council call.

The big debate likely will not get under way until Wednesday or next week as suggested by British delegate Sir Pierson Dixon, to allow time for the interested nations to prepare their speeches.

BIG NAMES POSSIBLE

There is a likelihood that in view of the current optimism some figures in the higher brackets may, with to take over their countries' seats. State Secretary John Foster Dulles made a token appearance, and Prime Minister Macmillan is not ruled out as a participant.

Khrushchev has been so unpredictable in recent weeks that a sudden trip to the UN would not be surprising. But President Eisenhower, in view of the summit plop, undoubtedly will remain aloof. So, presumably, will

NO BEER DROUGHT

The company has maintained four points raised by the union in its pre-condition for maintenance of rights.

The union has countered that the company has attempted to weaken the contract.

A management spokesman said the company will resist a union demand to bring non-man stores into the bargaining unit.

Other issues listed by the company as barriers to settlement are: No additional contracting out of work (including jobs of deliveries and maintenance); a controversy over a company demand for some control over withdrawal of the existing sick leave of 40 hours a year; and a union demand that the hours of each individual be scheduled seven days in advance.

WAGES, HOURS ALSO

Overshadowed by these issues was the union's demand for a reduction of the work week to 35 hours from 40 with hourly wage increases ranging from $9 to $14 a week. Existing rates range from $1.18 to $1.38 an hour.

Although the company operates in 65 communities where the union has no bargaining status, 90 per cent of its outlets in the province are organized.

Other locals of the union now are negotiating with the province's major breweries on terms for a new agreement.

Waterloo brewery workers were free to strike Thursday but conducted no work. They are employees of Carling's Breweries and Canadian Breweries Transport Ltd.

It. That the study and additions were necessary but that Mr. Cormier should have known that changes would be needed.

SKULDUGGERY NOT SEEN

Alan Macnaughton, an Montreal Mount Royal), committee chairman, said that he "saw no sky skulduggery it will come out in due course" but that there was not any evidence of this yet."

Most of the questioning was conducted by David Walker (PC—Toronto Rosedale).

He said that the more money was spent on the building, the more Mr. Cormier would receive because his fee was five per cent of the building's cost.

Grant Campbell (L—Stormont) said the "gross negligence on the part of the designer."

Gen. Young said the delay was "faulty."

PRICE CHANGES UNUSUAL

Asked by Mr. Walker whether Mr. Cormier should have known that changes would be needed, Gen. Young said he did not know.

Mr. Walker said — and Gen. Young confirmed the figures — that the contract for excavation was awarded at $1,978,000—$8,000 more than the highest bid for the job.

Mr. Walker asked whether Minister Frenes had submitted the lowest bid for the original excavation knowing that there would have to be additional digging.

PLANNING INCOMPLETE

Gen. Young said he did not know whether the company knew this. "Most of the trouble" had been due to "incomplete planning."

He also said all the additional expenses were approved by the government treasury board but that the board had asked the public works department for an explanation for most of the major additions.

Mr. Campbell said it was a "strange coincidence" that total payments to Concrete Construction Company came to approximately the same amount as other bids for the contracts.

R. H. McGregor (PC — York East) said the committee "grew" he would prefer to do additional work.

The committee will continue its investigation on Tuesday.

PICTON

Glenora Ferry Experiencing Busy Season

PICTON — The ferry at the Glenora - Adolphustown crossing is experiencing one of its busiest seasons, Captain James Haylock stated today. An all - time record for number of cars carried in one 24 - hour day was established last Sunday. A total of 1,967 cars were handled. The previous record was established two weeks ago when 1,933 cars were ferried from shore to shore.

Both ferries run almost continuously, carrying 180 cars per hour.

While excellent service is provided, there are long lines of cars waiting at various times. This occurs when motorists from the east wish to cross to Prince Edward, and in the evening on their return home. A great percentage of them are headed for the Outlet Beach, which is being made into a provincial park. There, each Sunday and on holidays, many thousands enjoy the mile - long sand beach where the water is shallow and especially safe for the children.

There is little complaining by motorists who have to wait during the peak periods, since they realize that it is impossible for ferries to handle such a rush. Wise motorists time their arrival at the ferry either earlier in the morning, or later in the evening, and then there is less chance of having to wait.

Thirty-Four Die In Crash Near Benghazi, Libya

Taking off for Rome Plane Plunges to Ground

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (Reuters)—An airliner bound from Southern Rhodesia to London crashed today near Benghazi, Libya, and reports reaching here said 34 persons were killed.

Twenty others survived the crash but some were reported severely injured.

The plane, a turbo-prop Viscount owned by Central African Airlines, crashed shortly after it took off from Benghazi's Benina Airport. The airliner carried 47 passengers and a crew of seven. Four members of the crew, including the two stewardesses, were reported to have survived.

Another of the survivors was Sir Alfred Savage, 58, former governor of British Guiana and Barbados.

The plane had just taken off from Benghazi for Rome when it plunged to earth a few miles from the airport. It had been due to arrive in London at 6:40 a.m. EDT.

Seek Details Re Purchase Of Death Car

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate rackets investigators sought details today of the hurry-up bargain sale of a teamsters union automobile reported used later in the fatal burning in Michigan of Frank Ekerdorf.

John McClellan, chairman of the special Senate committee, ordered the inquiry Friday following testimony that the automobile was sold cheaply and for no money down to Herman Ekerdorf, uncle of the fire-victim and a former aide to teamster president James Hoffa.

Frank Ekerdorf, 56, business agent for a Pontiac, Mich., teamster local, died Thursday after, indicating to police that he suffered his burns in setting fire to a Flint, Mich., drycleaning shop Sunday night.

STILL MISSING

Michigan authorities said the nephew also indicated his uncle, Herman, 68, was at the fire scene. The elder Ekerdorf disappeared Monday and is sought on a warrant charging possession of a firearm-equipped gun.

Testimony on the sale of the 1956 Cadillac climaxed a day in the committee's inquiry into allegations that Hoffa's union is involved with underworld characters. The hearings are in recess until Tuesday.

In other developments Friday, Paul (The Waiter) Ricca, a Capone-era gangster, moved to ask why he sold his luxurious home at Long Beach, Ind., to the teamsters union for $150,000.

FOR TRAINING SCHOOL

Committee counsel Robert Kennedy said the estate was bought by the teamsters in 1956 with the announced plan of using it as a training school for business agents.

But Kennedy suggested the real reason for the sale was because Ricca was a friend of Owen J. (Bert) Brennan, one of Hoffa's treasurer allies.

Hoffa sat in stony silence during the hearing. He wasn't called to testify.

Hope for Girl, Kathy and Bing Parents of Boy

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—We were hoping for a girl, but of course we're very happy with the little fellow," proud papa Bing Crosby said Friday.

His wife, actress Kathy Grant, gave birth to a seven, pound, nine-ounce boy at a Hollywood hospital. Bing has four sons by his first wife, Dixie Lee Crosby, who died of cancer in 1952.

Crosby, 54, and his 36-year-old wife had picked out everything by mink, from booties to a layette in hopes the new Crosby would be a girl.

"We were going to call her Mary Frances but now we'll have to get another name," Crosby said.

Crosby and the actress were married in Las Vegas, Nev., last October.

Hold Steelworker For Murder in Death of Wife

HULL, Que. (CP) — City police today announced the arrest of Gaston Nicholas, 31-year-old steelworker, on a charge of murder in the drowning of his wife, Jacqueline, 27, last August 26.

Police Chief J. A. Robert called in reporters at 1 a.m. to announce the arrest of Nicholas and his scheduled arraignment later today.

Mrs. Nicholas was drowned in the Ottawa River when the canoe carrying her and her husband overturned in fast flowing shoot.

Chief Robert said he has statements from six witnesses to the drowning but refused to elaborate.

Chief Robert said that three days before the drowning a double indemnity insurance policy for $5,000 on Mrs. Nicholas's life came into effect.

The couple was married last June.

The 24-year-old daughter of Mrs. Nicholas was pregnant when she drowned.

Chief Robert said Nicholas came into the police station Wednesday at 3 p.m. Friday on "another matter" — he did not elaborate — and police decided to hold him for further questioning.

Detectives had been conducting a routine investigation of the drowning when they came across the conflicting accounts of Mrs. Nicholas's death.

Princess Margaret Ends NB Visit Asks Army to Stage Mock Battle

FREDERICTON (CP) —Princess Margaret was to end her New Brunswick visit today by watching a mock battle involving army units at nearby Camp Gagetown.

She was then to head for Nova Scotia to wind up her cross-Canada tour. The display of military might was announced by the army Friday as a last-minute change in plans.

The princess had been scheduled to fly off the camp and inspect troops but she asked for the mock battle with infantry and armored groups taking part.

A unit of tanks using blank cartridges was to be employed. An army spokesman said there would be no firing near the princess.

Princess Margaret's activities Friday ended with a hasty retreat from a harness racing meet when the area was hit by a downpour. She fled under a big black umbrella with the rest of the royal party.

Before the race, the princess was offered through her equerry, Major John Griffin, two betting tickets. The offer was made by an elderly, shirt-sleeved man who asked whether the princess would like tickets "on something she does not know."

Major Griffin declined with a smile, explaining that "who never does."

The men was not identified.

The race was almost an hour late in starting and the crowd became restless waiting for the princess to appear. An RCMP spokesman said the delay resulted from her being two hours late leaving a summer cottage about seven miles from here on the St. John River where she had spent the day.

The princess and members of her personal staff played records and had a lobster lunch at the cottage.

BREWERY STRIKE SPREADS RAPIDLY OVER ONTARIO

Company, Union Won't Discuss Moves

TORONTO (CP)—A strike by members of the United Brewery Workers of America (CLC) spread rapidly Friday in face of next week's deadline for a new contract.

Hardest hit were the resort areas where supplies were practically non-existent.

All but a few retail stores operated by the brewers' Warehousing Company in Southern Ontario were closed. Beer was available in large cities from stores operated by individual breweries. Hotels said they had supplies for several days.

DRIES UP LAKES

But for thousands of city-dwellers who spend their weekends at the lakes it was a different situation. Retail stores were closed and individual companies do not operate stores in remote areas. Hotels were few.

The strike, which started Thursday morning with a walkout of 450 employees in Toronto and Hamilton spread into the Niagara Peninsula and Western Ontario. By Friday afternoon there were numerous reports of walkouts or lockouts in the eastern part of the province as over two-thirds of the union's 1,200 members were off the job.

Neither company nor union officials would disclose their next move. The union indicated it had no intention of calling out employees at the plants who are members of a different bargaining unit. Only Carling's Brewery at Hamilton is included in the striking unit.

Atomic Submarine Nautilus Pioneers Trans-Polar Path

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The atomic submarine Nautilus headed toward Europe today after pioneering a trans - polar path for tomorrow's commerce- or missile-firing undersea craft.

The USS Nautilus—the world's first nuclear submarine — completed its 1,830-mile journey under ice four days ago. It traveled from the Pacific to the Atlantic, passing through the Arctic sea lying between North America and Russia.

The voyage was announced Friday at a special White House ceremony. President Eisenhower, in a citation to Nautilus commander William R. Anderson, stressed the commercial possibilities opened by the voyage. The military implications are obvious, but Eisenhower left them unmentioned.

"This," he said, "points the way for further exploration and practical use of this route by nuclear-powered cargo submarines as a new commercial sea way between the major oceans of the world."

While Washington preferred to ignore publicly the military implications, Royal Navy sources in London said "it means that atomic-driven submarines could cross from the north coast of the American continent beneath the ice to launch attacks on the northern shore of the Soviet Union."

There was no immediate comment by the Russians.

The Nautilus left Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, before dawn of July 23. Sailing northward, it passed through the Bering Strait, between Alaska and Siberia, and on toward the Arctic.

Cmdr. Anderson was asked whether he thought the Russians may have detected the Nautilus as it moved through the Bering Strait.

"If the Russians detected us, they're awfully good," Anderson replied.

From the Bering Strait on, the Nautilus operated in international waters. But although the Arctic Ocean is designated, as international, it is divided into spheres of interest—Russian on the one hand and, Canadian, U.S., and Danish on the other. Denmark owns Greenland.

In charting the Northwest Passage from the Bering Sea to the Greenland Sea, the Nautilus travelled for 96 hours submerged under a thick ice cover. The submarine was navigated by a form of dead reckoning.

Late last Sunday, the Nautilus reached the North Pole. From there, Anderson wrote Eisenhower a letter using the code.

Anderson left the Nautilus by helicopter when it was off Iceland. He was taken to an air base and flown by plane to the capital.

Through Anderson's matter-of-fact answers to questions shone the drama of the Nautilus' voyage under the Arctic ice and pole.

Through closed-circuit television, he said, the crew members could watch the ice above, translucent where thin enough to see the light of the bright sky above.

They glided swiftly through the buried Arctic water, above them the ceiling of ice, below them the sunken valleys and mountain ranges of the Arctic basin.

The powerful steam turbine driven by the nuclear furnace, shoved them along at 18 to 20 knots. The ocean was deep—13,410 feet at the pole.

DENY SECRET TREATY

LONDON (Reuters) — Moscow radio said Friday that under a secret treaty concluded a week ago "Britain gets the right to utilize all the bases of the Jordanian armed forces for the next five years." In London, a foreign office spokesman described the report as "nonsense."

LIBERAL LEADER SUGGESTS NEW DEFENCE SHARING

Tremendous Budget Passed in 2 Hours

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Pearson says the defence production resources of Canada and the United States should be integrated like their air defence commands.

He threw out the suggestion Friday in the Commons as the government's $1,585,000,000 defence budget for 1958-59 whizzed through the House in less than two hours.

But he didn't hold out much hope for his suggestion.

TRIED PREVIOUSLY

The former Liberal government, he said, had tried without success to get Canadians a fighter interceptor to the U.S. when Washington was admitting it was the best fighter of its type in the world.

The U.S. aircraft industry "was not going to allow any interference with its own right to produce its own aircraft for its own government."

Mr. Pearson added that he doesn't think Defence Minister Pearkes will have any more success trying to persuade the U.S. to buy the supersonic CF-105 jet, now under development.

SAYS DEFENCES ADEQUATE

Mr. Pearkes, who made only a brief speech because of his lengthy testimony before the Commons estimates committee which studied defence expenditures, rejected the contention of Arnold Peters (CCF — Timiskaming) that Canadian defences are out of date.

"We have an adequate defence to meet the possible attack of today," he said.

Mr. Pearkes also said "some major re-equipping of our army cannot be long delayed" but steps are being taken to improve the method of processing information collection by the radar warning lines.

NEED ATOMIC WEAPONS

Mr. Pearson urged procurement of tactical atomic weapons for Canadian defence.

A situation could be contemplated, he said, where Canadians under North American Air Defence Command (NORAD) would have missiles and weapons but U.S. squadrons under NORAD did have them.

3000 Cypriot Villagers Ready To Be Detained Without Trial

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—More than 3,000 Greek Cypriot villagers today told Governor Sir Hugh Foot they are ready to be arrested and detained without trial.

In a letter sent Government House and bearing 2,264 signatures, they wrote: "We are all prepared to take the road to detention camps as hostages.

"Come and lead us there in a mass dash to save your security" forces the trouble of arresting us in dribs and drabs."

The letter referred to continued arrests of Greek Cypriots following an island-wide roundup last month.

The petitioners, from a group of nine villages near here, said: "We are prepared to stay in detention camps together with all the Greek Cypriots and to be ready sent there until the injustice of it all dawns upon you."

Child, Mother Dragged 50 Feet In Thick Bush

Nearby Cottagers Panic, 3 Little Girls to Rescue

JASPER, Alta. (CP)—A purring black bear grabbed a terrified seven-year-old girl as she tripped on the steps of her cottage Friday and dragged her away to death.

Little Barbara Christine Coates was only feet away, from safety when attacked by the animal in Jasper National Park.

In a frantic effort to save her daughter, Mrs. Jack Coates ran from the cottage, took hold of the child's legs and pulled as the bear backed off with the victim between his teeth.

DRAGGED 50 FEET

The bear dragged the screaming mother and daughter 50 feet into a bush and fatally mauled the girl. It dropped the child when startled by three girls who rushed upon the scene in answer to Mrs. Coates' yells.

The bear was shot by a cottage owner as it turned to pounce on the girls.

Barbara died en route to hospital here. Coroner Dr. J. Venner attributed death to "a combination of hemorrhage, shock and a fractured spine."

PICKING BERRIES

The child was behind the family cottage at Sunwapta Falls, 30 miles south of the Rocky Mountain resort, to pick berries for a party when the bear appeared.

Mrs. Coates ran to the defence, dashed into the cottage and shouted: "It's a bear."

The bear caught Barbara as she stumbled on the steps. He snatched her by the sweater and slacks and began walking away.

Mrs. Coats was no match for the animal.

"He would stop every 10 feet, look me in the eye, shake Barbie and then back off farther," the distraught mother said. "After he had dragged us about 50 feet through the brush, I lost my grip on Barbie and shouted for help for one to help."

TOO FRIGHTENED TO AID

Other vacationers heard the screams but were too frightened to help.

"They couldn't seem to come to my relief," Mrs. Coates said. "Most of them were acting like crazy."

The big man I think he grabbed a stick—tried to help but he just seemed to freeze on the spot.

"All the time I hung on to Barbie's hand, trying with all my force to distract the bear."

Then, Mrs. Coates said, the three youngsters joined the animal. Moments later the unidentified man shot the bear as the Coates were staying shot the bear.

SHOT IN TIME

"He was just in time because the bear had started to turn on the girls," Mrs. Coates said.

Mr. Coates was fishing at a nearby stream when he learned of the tragedy until he returned.

He was packing his car to take the family home after leaving when another bear ambled up.

"I saw him and shot him and bounded into the cabin," Mr. Coates said. "Shortly afterwards a Mountie and a Metis arrived and killed that one."

It was believed to be the first time a bear had killed a human in the park.

Stelco Workers Asked to Avoid Any Incidents

HAMILTON (CP)—The United Steelworkers of America (CLC), Local 1005, has appealed to its 8,000 members to avoid any incidents before Tuesday's strike deadline at the Steel Company of Canada.

The union, in a circular sent Friday night, told members that its negotiating committee hoped for co-operation. "Do not accept rumors and we will do our best to keep you informed," it said.

The union has called for a strike at Canada's largest steel company for Tuesday at 7 a.m., following a company refusal to budge from its stand that existing contract agreements be extended for two years.

LAST-DITCH MEETING

A last-ditch meeting is scheduled for Monday in the office of Louis Fine, Ontario's chief conciliator. Company, union officials, and Labor Minister Daley, will try to reach a compromise.

The company has begun cutting back production so that all four blast furnaces and coke oven operations can be shut down should the strike begin.

Both company and the union have been adamant in their negotiations since talks ended began some months ago. Last Wednesday the workers voted to strike, if necessary to support their demands which a conciliation board recommended against any increases because of its inflationary effect in a time of economic recession.

Union and company negotiators for the steelworkers' leaders set the strike deadline after company officials left the meeting.

In announcing steps of half production in blast furnaces, and coke ovens, Stelco's manager, M. A. Leishman said the action was necessary to avoid possible damage to costly equipment.

Attorney-Gen. Asks Report On Blind River Police Situation

TORONTO (CP) — Reports of bootlegging and prostitution, lack of call accommodation and complaints against police administration in Blind River have resulted in a provincial investigation into law enforcement in the northern uranium boom town of Blind River.

Attorney-General Kelso Roberts said Friday he has asked Judge J. H. McDonald of Sault Ste. Marie, for a report on the police situation in the town on the north-ern rim of Lake Huron.

If the report doesn't satisfy him, an official investigation will be ordered.

ASKS SPEEDY REPORT

The judge is chairman of the Blind River police commission. Mr. Roberts called for the report "as quickly as possible" after an emergency commission meeting in the town.

"I hope that the local authorities will be able to clear the air but if a request is received from either of the responsible authorities, or if after hearing the report from the chairman of the police commission, I am not satisfied, I will take the appropriate action under the Police Act."

Investigations under the act are carried out only in emergencies and normally it would be up to the police commission or town council to ask for one.

CHIEF VAGUE ON COURSE

The attorney-general said complaints came from "various sources" including lack of accommodation and "the internal administration of the police force."

Newspaper stories have appeared charging that bootleggers and prostitutes exist in the town whose population has jumped to 2,800 from 1,200 after a $1,000,000 uranium discovery five years ago.

Police Chief Lawrence Dubeau and his four-man force have been under criticism.

The attorney-general said he sympathized with the problems of the burgeoning town but that jail cells supplied free had not been installed.

The complaints, which have been made from various quarters including two members of council, indicate, however, the problem goes considerably beyond the question of accommodation and must be throughly investigated."

The Ontario Police Association asked for an investigation last month on the grounds "numerous allegations of administrative inadequacies had been reported in the press, undermining respect for police service as a whole and administration of justice in general.

Two days ago a town councillor, Roger Trahan, asked for an investigation "to shut a certain newspaper up once and for all."

He said the Sault Star has kept up a "campaign of abuse" against Chief Dubeau and his constables.

The chief, appointed March 16 has fired five constables and appointed another to resign his appointment. He said he fired the five for interfering with orders, laziness, insubordination beating a 130-pound 18-year-old in a jail cell and ignoring a call about a baby being beaten and thrown into a mud puddle.

Jack Kincaid Will Stand For Nomination

Ex-Warden of Hastings county and well known Madoc village businessman, Mr. Jack Kincaid has announced that he will be definitely stand for nomination at next week's Progressive Conservative nomination meeting at Madoc to name a candidate for the up-coming East Hastings by-election.

The by-election, to be held on September 11th is the result of the sudden death due to the resignation of sitting member Roscoe Robson who resigned his seat to take place in future for the office of Hastings county clerk.

Mr. Kincaid was five years a reeve of his village council and while at county council was a member of the many important committees. In 1953 he was warden of the county and has since been out of municipal life.

Mr. Kincaid said his decision to contest the nomination was the result of the approach of a great many of his friends who had asked him to allow his name to stand.

The nomination has been called for the evening of August 15th at Madoc Armouries and at least half a dozen men are expected to allow their names to stand.

Criminal Charge May Be Laid Against Brett

VANCOUVER (CP)—City prosecutor Stewart McMorran said Friday he has received from St. John hospital collector D. A. Thompson particulars as to the application of Jack Brett, alias Dr. Jack Harris, to work at the hospital.

"It will be considered in the light of a possible criminal proceeding," Mr. McMorran said.

Brett, reporter for the Province and Sun, has said he posed as an intern at the hospital for 18 days in April. He said he did so to obtain material for a magazine article on lack of medical staff entrenchment at hospitals.

Mr. McMorran's statement followed one by Dr. Paul's board of management saying it had released information and material to Brett in the city prosecutor's office and to British Columbia's Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

MAY LAY CHARGE

The St. Paul's statement said the information and material "indicates" that a charge will be laid against Brett.

Basis for the charge, said the hospital, was the allegation committed by Brett prior to his appointment as an intern.

The document is said to bear the signature of Dr. J. A. MacFarlane, dean of medicine of University of Toronto school of medicine. Hospital authorities are advised that the signature is a forgery."

Brett has claimed he delivered three babies, assisted only by a nurse, and also treated a number of patients already had given birth, as well as attending throat, ear and nose surgery.

The hospital subsequently issued a statement saying Brett, alias Dr. Jack Harris, was present in the maternity department during the time he claims, but in each case the delivery was made by competent and qualified medical staff.

When it became apparent that Brett had misrepresented his qualifications he was discharged, the hospital said.

However the Carling's plant in Hamilton and Dominion plant in Kitchener were closed by the management and employees suspended when they balked at loading trucks sent from hotels to pick up supplies.

O'Keefe's Limited in Toronto announced it had laid off 90 workers and would stop brewing until transportation and distribution difficulties cleared up.

Officials of Labatt's in London said continued production would depend on the demand for the strike.

Ontario drinkers consume 80,000,000 gallons of brew annually, of which only 8,000,000 is sold in home delivery. The remainder is sold at retail outlets, public houses and hotels.

Brewers' Warehousing distributes 175 Ontario communities and cities about 60 per cent of the home-delivered beer and individual municipalities distribute the remainder.

IN 175 COMMUNITIES

"The company operates outlets in 175 Ontario communities and has a total staff of 1,300. Approximately 400 employees, mostly truck drivers, are covered by union agreement.

The union has demanded the agreement be extended to the remaining 65 outlets but the company argues the employees in the one-man stores are in the managerial category.

Union demands include an eight-hour day, a minimum of 40 present 40-hour work week and wage increases of between $9 and $14 to the present weekly rate of $74 to $80.

Mild Vapor Lock Just One Cause Of Engine Miss

By EUGENE MILMOE

What's causing that engine miss? A leading troublemaker during hot weather weeks is mild vapor lock — which occurs when heat causes vaporized gas bubbles to form and restrict the normal free flow of fuel.

Of course, there's a host of other conditions to consider, and many may have to be checked out before the guilty one is found. Fouled or hot spark plugs, burned or pitted points are always high on the suspect list. So are plug cables, ignition coil, and the distributor cap. Low output can be responsible for engine miss at all speeds — thus, inspection of the battery and generator should be included.

Carburetor, choke or fuel pump troubles — manifold leakage — restricted exhaust — faulty valves — or a damaged head gasket may be first make themselves known via engine miss.

• • •

P. E. writes: "My engine sometimes stalls when in the carburetor or manifold. I hope I'm wrong in assuming this m u s t mean valve trouble."

(A) Poor ignition timing, a weak fuel pump, defective spark plugs or two mixed-up spark plug cables can also cause backfiring.

From R. J.: "My mileage is about 3 or 4 miles per gallon less than it should be. Should I have the carburetor cleaned or adjusted — or both?"

(A) Why commit the carburetor? Your trouble may be sluggish ignition, poor compression, faulty fuel pump, dragging brakes, underinflated tires, etc., — or just driving tendencies which waste gas.

• • •

P. Mc. asks: "My car is equipped with automatic front and rear adjustments. Twice, while I was driving, the seat has suddenly moved position. What is wrong?"

(A) Faulty or damaged control wiring is the likely cause . . . and it should be attended to immediately.

• • •

O. S. writes: "My speedometer is inaccurate and I can never be certain I'm driving within the speed limit. It just doesn't have to be replaced, how can it be fixed?"

(A) If the trouble is due to an incorrectly calibrated speedometer, the spring must be adjusted or replaced. If cable grease or dirt is the cause, the speedometer should be disassembled and cleaned.

THIS WEEK'S SAFETY REMINDER

Keep a safety barrier between you and the car ahead — a space of about one car length for every 10 m.p.h. you're travelling.

Wants Office Of Fire Chief In Apartment

TRENTON—Councillor Lloyd Worrall, chairman of the Protection to Persons and Property Committee, in making his report, recommended that local firemen be given authority to go ahead with a plan which would change a flat apartment over the fire station into an office for the chief as well as quarters for the man.

The councillor said the sum of $2,000 has been set aside for an addition to the fire hall which would be primarily for an office for the chief. He said because it has not been settled as to whether or not the fire chief would be left in its present site or be put into a combination building with the police station in the near future, it has been suggested the apartment above the hall be changed over with the firemen doing the work and the town supplying the material. In this way, it was mentioned, it would only cost in the vicinity of $200.

Councillor Worrall told the council the notice would be given to the voluntary fireman to vacate the apartment and that work would begin when he found other suitable lodgings.

The councillor also recommended that the skylight side of the roof of the fire hall be renewed as it was leaking and he thought the work could be done for about $150.

That a complete cost study of the fire department's operation be undertaken to determine if the taxpayers in the district are receiving adequate compensation for consulting fees outside town limits, Along this same line, he recommended that during the cost study of the repair to the town bridge Brighton and Frankford fire departments be requested to relieve the Trenton department from calls to Murray township.

He said they were asking this because of the need of the ladder truck had not arrived by then there would be only one truck on the west side of the river and if it was called out of town the town would be in engine readily available to answer any call within the town.

The voluntary fireman be engaged weekly to be on duty between midnight and 8 a.m. at a remuneration of one dollar per night, and that the permanent fireman would be required to be awake at all times.

The recommendation were voted on by the council and approved unanimously. They will be back to the committee for further study.

Legion Branch Holds Meeting

TRENTON — The regular monthly meeting of the Branch No. 110 executive committee was held in the board room of the new Canadian Legion Memorial Hall on Tuesday evening, August 9, with the president in the chair and 14 branch officers present.

The financial report for the month of July, presented by treasurer W. J. B. McLaren, indicated that branch finances are in excellent condition and it was also accepted without question.

The Legion blood bank was discussed at length and it was decided to have this matter placed on the agenda for the next regular branch meeting, scheduled for Monday evening, August 16.

It was unanimously agreed to send a young Trenton lad when he returns to Variety Village in Toronto this fall.

Tenders for next winter's oil supply will be called at once.

Comrades Jack Patterson has been delegated to obtain an adequate supply of the Identity veteran graves.

The committee was reminded that Monday, August 16, the next meeting, had been designated "Air Force Night" and each member was urged to co-operate and make the event an outstanding success.

Street Flusher Cost Estimated At $12,000

TRENTON — Town council approved the purchase of a street flusher at Thursday night's meeting provided the chairman of the sanitation and waste removal committee could find the money within the current revenue.

Councillor Charles Hilton, chairman of the committee, told the council he has done considerable research work in types and prices of these machines but said it would be useless for him to go any further unless he knew the council's attitude towards it.

He said he was reasonably certain that all councillors were in accord that the town streets should be cleaned like any other town in the province and that a flusher would be the best way to do this. Other places, he said, who found them to be most satisfactory.

His asking price would be somewhere around $12,000, but that he had no definite price on any one type of machine.

On question be informed the council that his committee had decided a flusher would be better than a sweeper because the latter is unsuitable off-street parking while it was working while a flusher could clean the streets even with vehicles parked on it.

He said a flusher, which would carry about 1,200 gallons of water in its tank, could be used to assist in the control of grass fires as well as out-of-town fires so requested. He said it would also be equipped to plow snow in the winter time and in this way could make it a versatile machine which could be used all the year around.

He said the flusher could also be used on all streets whether paved or gravel, whereas a sweeper would be confined to paved.

With the approval of the council Mr. Hilton was given authority to carry on with his work in finding a suitable machine for Trenton.

Kiwanis Members Help in 'Bee' To Clean Park

TRENTON — At least 35 members of the Kiwanis Club turned out with rakes, picks and hoes to clean up Hanna Park following their regular meeting in Hotel Gilbert Thursday night.

It had been brought to the attention of the club members at a previous meeting that considerable rubbish had been scattered around the park from recent picnics and by the travelling public in trailers who have used the park and they had decided to organize the "bee" to help out the Trenton Parks Board in cleaning it up.

Last night paper was collected and put in the provided containers, broken glass was picked up and stones, which had re-an to show up under the swings and teeter-totters, were removed. This morning the park is free of all rubbish.

Members of both the Kiwanis Club and the Parks Board joined together in urging that local citizens help keep the park clean in the future. The several garage tins, which have been stolen from the park from time to time, will be replaced and Mr. Hilton has reported, these containers will be chained to trees near the picnic tables as well as having the name "Parks Board' painted on them.

Ted Snider was chairman of the Kiwanian drive and among those helping, and not a member of the club, was K. G. Wares, new manager of the Trenton Chamber of Commerce.

The business meeting in the hotel dining room was kept to a minimum with a few announcements from president Grant Gooding and the induction of one new member.

F.O. Ray Phanthun was introduced by Carl Weese and his formal induction was carried out by Claude Smith, as past president of the club.

Norm Campey introduced the guest speaker, K. G. Wares, secretary-manager of the Trenton Chamber of Commerce and he was thanked by Dick Chittim.

A directors meeting was held after the Hanna Park "bee", at the home of Norm Davis, 8 Kerr Crescent.

Sawdust Pile Fire Hazard Says Chief

TRENTON — A letter from Fire Chief Clarence Orser informed the council at their regular meeting on Thursday night that he was of the opinion that the sawdust pile on Wharf Street was a fire hazard and recommended the town undertake to eliminate it.

His letter stated there has been a number of fires in that area recently and suggests the town cut down the trees and bushes in this area to keep children from playing there.

Mayor Ross Burns told the council there have been seven calls to this same place for fires in the past few weeks and that something should be done about it. He said the town would be required to clean up the place by clearing out the sawdust or covering it with fill and to trim up the bushes as well as to clean out bushes. He said at present it is a fire menace to the Beaver Lumber Company, which has buildings and lumber yards nearby and also the Cooperage Mills.

The Mayor said he felt the fires were possibly started by children playing in the bushes and that it was becoming a nuisance to the fire department as well as causing unnecessary wear and tear on the fire fighting equipment.

Councillor MacDonald said the chip bed was quite deep and perhaps it would be impossible to remove it all. It was stated it would cost the town about $250 to clean it up.

Councillor Hilton ended the discussion by saying, "If there's nothing to it let's do it and get it done and over with."

The councillors all agreed to have the town foreman informed of their decision and have him take a crew of men down and clean it out.

The area in question is between the railroad tracks and the bay shore just south of the Canadian Legion Hall and the softball park.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Don't Be Stampeded Into Moving By Doc's Misinterpreted Advice

By THOMAS COLLINS

"Can you give me any information on the cost of living along the southern borders of Arizona and California . . . and tell me whether a retirement income of $255 a month will make it possible? My wife's doctor has strongly advised her to take up residence in a different climate, such as Mexico, and when I retire January 1 I guess we will be going to somewhere along the Mexican border — but inside the U. S."

— Wm. C. B.

I'll bet your wife's doctor didn't say any such thing. Maybe your wife was feeling despondent, went to the doctor after a week-long rain, and he told her she needed a little sunshine.

A good many people can interpret such advice to be a command to buy a train ticket to Mexico City, especially if they want to go travelling. Not a few people of retirement age — such as well as women — use a doctor's alleged advice to get them started about moving.

Go with your wife for another visit to her doctor and listen to the advice yourself. Or choose another doctor.

If you still find it advisable to move after that, you will find that the U.S. Mexican border — in the main — is a poor, desolate, parched land. Except for a few towns on the border you couldn't find anywhere to spend $255 a month. Towns and cities, in Arizona, and any of the towns from San Diego northward in California, could give you a lot more civilization for your money.

"I have bought a series of small annuity-insurance policies from my life insurance company through the years, and when I retire in 16 months at age 65 these policies will begin paying me a total of $190 a month. I think I could retire very well on that."

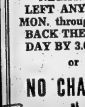
— M. R. B.

For you, yes. For your wife, and many husbands buy annuities and think it's big stuff. But a lot of these annuities don't pay the man so much per month as long as he lives, then give some unpaid balance to his survivors. This could mean $5.18 for the wife, to last her the rest of her life. Annuities are fine things. For the person who buys them. But seldom for anybody else.

"You recently had a column about four schoolteachers who rented a house in Arizona together and set up a communal way of life. You overlooked a gold mine. These former teachers constitute a veritable brain trust. With their combined experience they could set up an establishment that could tutor kids in almost any subject — and watch the money roll in!" — J.J.B.

Some of the moving van companies must have given you an unhappy childhood — the way you are always advising people not to move when they retire. Surely there must be some good excitement for picking up and going when the job no longer holds you to a certain city. What are they?"

— J.J.B.



You haven't been listening. The reasons to move, among others are: 1) when your lowered standard of living won't allow you to keep up with your friend Jones, and you're embarrassed; 2) when you've become committed to a standard of living — to fixed expenses like rent or house taxes — that the pension simply can't afford; 3) when you're convinced that here is where you live because your job has chained you here, and there are other spots on the continent you like better; and 4) when in the name of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, you want to move. This is excuse enough.

COME TO THE FAIR

Fair time is with us again with the opening of the Belleville Fair on Monday for a four-day exhibition. With all the summer activities which keep most urban residents pre-occupied with personal plans, the earlier date of the fair, like our birthdays, has a habit of creeping up on us unannounced. Not that we are not aware of it, but rather for us oldsters habit dies hard. We always associate the coming of the circus with summer and the latter part of the harvest season always means a fair time. There is an air of carnival about both presentations which appeals to old and young alike and while the circus has fallen victim to high costs of operation fairs keep making new records each year in attendance and wealth of interesting exhibits.

A fair is really made up of numerous small shows which vie with one another for the attention of the visitor. The horse races, grandstand performances, baby show and midway have great attraction for people of the country and the city. The livestock and the judging of livestock attract the rural expert for it is then he has the opportunity of comparing his own prize animals with those of his neighbors or the professionals who make the rounds of many district fairs. This friendly rivalry is good for the country as a whole for it raises the standard of the product of the farm with consequent benefit to both the producer and the consumer.

There are a couple of departments at all fairs which show the results of declining interest and they are in the realm of women's activities. We have in mind home baking and other crafts peculiar to the home. Possibly the wealth of "goodies" on display in stores and the ease with which most of such tasty products can be purchased a decline in the women's interest in such activities. We hasten to add there has been no decline in the quality of table delicacies for we have but to look around us and note the slightly overweight appearance of our populace to realize we are not suffering from undernourishment. Perhaps there is keener competition amongst women for honors in the culinary field, and more of a desire to have more time for work and other interests outside the home.

Belleville Fair, we feel, has a program of attractions which merits the attendance of a large part of the district's population even if only for an afternoon or evening. All of us can spare that much time out of the year and lend encouragement to the Fair Board to keep up the high quality of attractions for which the Belleville Fair has always been noted. Take your time to see the numerous fine exhibits, the handsome well-kept animals and poultry, the splendid array of farm implements and the modern machinery and Merchants' Buildings with their numerous booths displaying merchandise in rich array and do not forget the grandstand performances, the horse races and the midway.

In the words of an old well-known song "Come to the Fair" but come in a gala mood. You will be richly rewarded.

A MENACE TO HEALTH

As a menace to public health, the fly derives his power from the fact that he is a liquid feeder, with a weakness for milk, dung and sugar, says G. Graham Don in an article in "Family Doctor." Equally unfortunate is the fact that flies cannot take solid food. And so the fly has to liquify it, which he does by licking and by regurgitating some food from his last meal. The fly spreads disease in three ways. By his feet, through the mass of germs which cling to them. The most dangerous since we know that germs can pass unharmed through the fly and that he may pass them for a number of days after eating an infected meal. Houseflies may well be convicted for spreading typhoid fevers, the dysentries, summer diarrhoea in infants, and probably polio.

The insecticides, Gammexane and D.D.T. have given us new and powerful weapons against flies. D.D.T. is slower than Gammexane in action, but lasts longer. Surfaces sprayed with D.D.T. will remain lethal to flies for a long time. A D.D.T. solution 7-oz. is enough to cover 1,000 square feet, sprayed on a wall will sever it with a very thin film of insecticide which will remain effective against flies for about three months.

Where immediate knockdown is wanted an atomized spray containing pyrethrins is the best thing.

Quite apart from their danger to health, flies are unpleasant creatures in their habits and everything possible should be done to see that they don't contaminate any food.

CLEAR SAILING TO LABOR DAY

Civic Holiday being a thing of the past, it is now straight sailing for the opening of a new school year.

That sentence is a bit of a shocker, isn't it.

Where has the summer gone?

Of course, it isn't all gone yet! but, once Civic Holiday has passed, Labor Day and the return to school always seems only a matter of a few moments.

This year, too, the time is shortened by the fact that the first Monday in September falls on the very first day of the month.

What comfort can be gained from this circumstance may come from the reflection that this means there will be more fine weather after Labor Day than usual.

Hamsters Now Popular

BBC London Letter

Since the war guides — or flyers as hamsters, being somewhat parsimony unknown, have become familiar pets in Britain and other parts of the world. In a recent BBC broadcast Percy Parslow, a breeder of these small rodents described how their popularity began twenty years ago when a scientific expedition digging near Aleppo in Syria e a m e across a hamster's nest below the surface of the ground and discovered that the golden hamster with a litter of twelve youngsters. The thirteen hamsters were taken to Jerusalem University and became the ancestors of all the golden hamsters that we have today.

At first, said Parslow, the public was somewhat reluctant to accept this strange little creature, owing to the fact that it was confused with the European hamster and condemned as a menace and a pest. Also, owing to mistakes in methods of keeping and breeding them, some became highly strung and timid, species the first wild captives had been noticeably docile. But once it had been discovered that, under the right conditions the hamster could be accumulated in pens and free from nerves, it proved to be its own "best missionary". Very little care, he said, was necessary to keep them in condition; they would eat almost anything and were cheap to feed; and breeding was easy. Ideal for study of natural history owing to their short period of gestation — only sixteen days — and because it is possible for a class to study the full life cycle of this rodent in one form.

Safe housing was most important, Parslow said. Hamsters often escaped from hastily finished cages, and consequently their chances of survival were slight, owing to unfavorable climatic conditions in Britain, to get their inability to differentiate between edible and inedible objects. hamsters showed unrest in the presence of rats and mice, they seemed to be fearful of them and easily unafraid of all other animals. Strangely enough, his chief enemy was another golden hamster.

"From an early age these pets preferred to live a solo existence and, once paired with their own kind, only met again either to mate, or, if two of the sexes, were to fight — usually to the death. "When two adult hamsters meet, the reception is as cold as one 85-hour week.

Vanished Hobo Now Working

London Free Press

Two men were fined in London on the riding illegally on a freight train. This is an infrequent crime in these days of prosperity. In infrequent also on freight trains.

How long is it since a hobo was hauled off a freight here and landed in the pokey? The hobo, once a common phase of our life has disappeared. His "jungles" are silent and the light his self-cooked meals are quenched.

Diesel-driven trains pick up speed too fast to be boarded at the outskirst of the city, and in any case homed. The hobo is not generally considered beneath the dignity of man — provided it is a big man.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

. . YOU HAVE SOMETHING

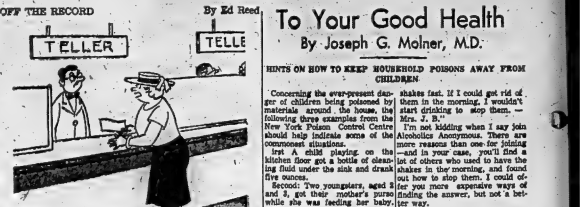
If you have never read Emerson's essay on "Compensation" you should not let another day go by without doing so. It is in itself a sufficient textbook for success.

I have read and re-read his great work for years, yet every time I pick it up I gain new inspiration. Just take these few sentences:

"A man should learn to detect and watch that gleam of light which flashes across his mind from within, more than the lustre of all the wits that jabber and sages. Yet the discrimination of true originality of thought, because it is his. In every work of genius we recognize our own rejected thoughts: they come back to us with a certain alienated majesty."

My friend, you have something! Find out what it is. Maybe it is a great idea, an original thought that may revolutionize your day in which you live, some ability to inspire humankind.

Find out what it is — and then start giving it to the world. Do not delay — do not stop — if you keep it, it will shrink your life. Emerson says: "Every man and character grows is by reacting.



You have something, my friend, Feed it. Develop it. Then give it away.

Again back to Emerson: "Insist on yourself; never imitate. Your own gift you can present every moment with the cumulative force of a whole life's cultivation; but of the adopted talent of another you have only an encumbrance, half-possession. That which each can do best, none but his Maker can teach him."

You have something. Find out what it is.

The fire is said to have been caused by the explosion of an acetylene gas tank. The following stores were burned: F. T. Ghosts Must Be Laughing

Hamilton Spectator

That portrait of Sir Wilfrid Laurier which was presented to Prime Minister Lichbraker's government by Arthur Meighen and other friends of the Canadian artist, J. W. L. Forster, has turned out to be not an original after all, according to experts at Ottawa's National Gallery.

It is described now as an "exquisitely deep reproduction" which languished for some twenty-five years in an out-house behind a structure which has been converted into a service station in Montreal. The original, the original, painted about sixty years ago, hangs in the Ottawa headquarters of the National Liberal Federation.

Naturally, there had been some embarrassment over this error made in good faith, which is to be hoped will be given the preliminary opinion that it was an original, and Mr. Ben Thompson, Progressive-Conservative MP for Northumberland presented Mr. Ben Lichbraker for hanging in his home in Ottawa.

The incident is enough to inspire several sonnnnnets. One is about the sly delight of amateur; and laymen that experts and professionals are not infallible. Another is the obvious deduction that a competent reproduction may be as good a likeness as the original. The third is that this has been another sad fafe to the Prime Minister, in that he got publicly accepted the portrait of a great rival political chieftain for whom he apparently had a deep admiration and had met as a boy, only to find that it was not all it had been reported to be.

Mr. Diefenbaker's credit, he had a spokesmn announced that the presentation would not be banished from 24 Sussex Drive, Ottawa — not all the party, the place of political history must be laughing over this innocent mistake. We can imagine only one political spirit who might chuckle more heartily than Sir Wilfrid himself.

And that would be Sir John A. Macdonald.

An Example To Follow

Sudbury Star

It's over the hill to the jail-house for motorists who flaunt the traffic laws in Ottawa. Magistrate Strike has just imposed a 10-year-old man to 15 days in jail for driving while his driver was under suspension. The driver pleaded he had taken over the wheel from his pregnant wife only a few minutes earlier because she had been made "very nervous by a car that was bumping us from the rear."

Magistrate Strike told the driver that when a person's driving license is suspended "it means just that". He also ordered the car impounded for three months.

Here is an example that can be followed by all magistrates in Ontario.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

HINTS ON HOW TO KEEP HOUSEHOLD POISONS AWAY FROM CHILDREN

Concerning the ever-present danger of children being poisoned by materials around the house, the following three suggestions from the New York Poison Control Centre should help lessen the number of commonest situations.

First A child playing on the kitchen floor pulls a bottle of cleaning fluid under the sink and drank five ounces.

Second: Two youngsters, aged 3 and 5, got their mother's purse while she was feeding her baby. Mother had a pill box of tablets. The little ones, between them, ate 25.

Third: Mother was cleaning windows and while her back was turned, the child swallowed about an ounce of the fluid she had been using.

The under-the-sink danger is one that I've stressed. The other two aren't quite so obvious, but they are perils. And the only safe rule is to keep beyond reach anything that a toddler might, conceivably eat, nibble, chew or swallow. That's one ones, inquisitive by nature, will taste anything they can get.

Even quite small babies, after touching a hot radiator, know not to touch one thing. There is no such ready way for them to learn that some things, such as pills, make them sick. This is what makes the problem of household poisoning so treacherous.

So, while the youngsters are struggling with the incomprehensible task of learning which things may go in the mouth and which must not, give them a break. Don't put bleaches, insect sprays, turpentine, or any of those types of containers which the little fellows and associate with edible fluids. Don't use milk bottles, pop bottles, fruit jars, dishes, cups, or glasses for such things.

"Dear Dr. Molner: What causes boils? They are very painful. I have been taking yeast cakes. Will they do any good?

— L. W."

Most boils are the result of a germ from the outside instead of from anything related to the state of the blood. So, except, of course, that a good diet builds general resistance, yeast cakes are not helpful. Be scrupulously, fussily careful not to let the germs spread over the surrounding skin where they might (and so often do) find some crack or pore into which they can begin to start a new boil.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Why would a small child of two years get a rupture of the navel? Because the cord wasn't tied right, or because mothers don't use bellybands, like we old fashioned mothers did? — Mrs. B. V."

Neither reason. These ruptures, or hernias, occur because there is some strain or weakness usually developed before the child was born — as from having too short a cord, which sometimes happens. The cord is not tied short, wouldn't do it, because the stump of the cord is tied quite short naturally. And the belly-band isn't sensible babies, who never cause necessary; otherwise, in the Hottentots, 1,000 miles of a belly-band, would have ruptures, too. And they don't.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I drink, stop for a few days, and start again. I will quit, then tell me what I can take to feel good in the morning and get rid of the shakes fast. If I could get rid of them in the morning, I wouldn't start drinking to stop them. — Mrs. J. B."

I'm not kidding when I say join Alcoholics Anonymous. There are more reasons than one for joining — and in your case, you'll find a set of fellows who have the shakes in their morning, and found out how to stop them. And offer you more expensive ways of finding the answer, but not a better.

Want to lose weight? It can be done if you follow the advice given in my pamphlet, "The Lost Secret of Reducing." For a copy, write to me in care of this newspaper, enclosing a large self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 5c in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader queries, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his columns whenever possible.

Wet Way For Smokers

Stratford Beacon-Herald

Lots of people who enjoy smoking would like to stop it, because they have come to the conclusion that they are smoking too much.

Such was the case with 60 men and women employed by the Morris Motor Company in Oxford, England, who accepted the offer of Dr. W. C. White, senior medical officer of the company, which employs thousands of people, to help them. He would give them anti-smoking pills that would destroy their urge to smoke.

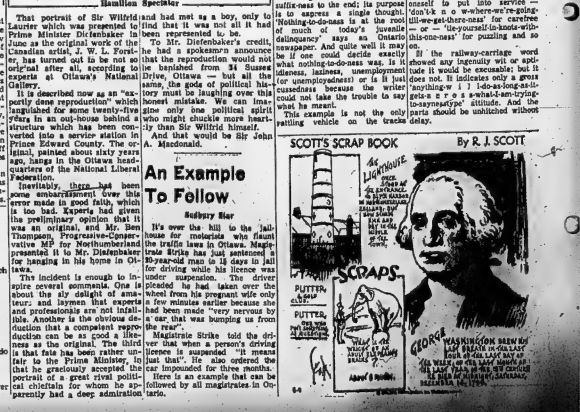
So he gave each of them a supply of pills, looking exactly like ordinary coppr sulphate, the others were told that what they were to call "placebos". A "placebo" is a perfectly harmless drug which does not contain nothing but sugar. Doctors give them to patients who have imaginary ailments, but feel that they will get better if they get medicine and know that the device is invariably effective.

At the end of two weeks Dr. White found that regardless of whether they had got a placebo or the kind containing nothing at all, 25 per cent of them workers had entirely stopped smoking. About 50 per cent had cut down on their smoking and the experiment had made no change at all. He expected that would all, so nearly all, show definite results in course of time.

The experiment demonstrated the power of imagination. "There is no short cut to quitting smoking", says Dr. White. "The only cure for smoking is to make up your mind to do it — and stick to it."

That's how he quit smoking himself, five years ago, after he had been smoking 30 cigarets a day.

Writing-in-a-Mess-Ness



Peterborough Examiner

A modern monster which threatens to clutter the printed page is the railway-carriage word. It is formed by stringing words together and attaching the hyphen-cast to put them all together to express a single thought. "Nothing-to-do-ness is at the root of much of today's delinquency" says an Ontario newspaper. And quite well it may be if one could decide exactly what nothing-to-do-ness was. Is it idleness, inertia, unemployment (or unemployedness) or is it just carelessness because there really could not take the trouble to say what he meant.

This example is not the only rattling vehicle on the tracks delay.

There it 'togetherness' for another of our fellowmen's weaknesses for alert; 'sports-type-suit' for sportcoat; 'half-fellow-well-met' for hearty person; and so on. One can invent monstrosities for oneself to put into words — 'don't-k n o-w-where-re-s-ge-ting-till-we-get-there-ness' for carefree attitude; 'by-yourself-in-knots-with-this-one-ness' for puzzling and so on.

If the railway-carriage word showed any ingenuity we might admit it would be excusable; but it does not. It indicates only a gross poverty-stricken mind. Let-a-do-ag-a-in-s-t-r-o-n-g-a-s-what-I-am-trying-to-say-ness is a monstrosity that should be unhitched without delay.

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL

IN IMMANUEL'S LAND

The sands of time are sinking,
The dawn of heaven breaks;
The summer morn I've sighed for,
The fair, sweet morn awakes;
Dark, dark hath been the midnight,
But day-spring is at hand,
And glory, glory dwelleth
In Immanuel's land.

O Christ, He is the fountain,
The deep, sweet well of love;
The streams on earth I've tasted
More, deep I'll drink above;
There to an ocean fullness
His mercy doth expand,
And glory, glory dwelleth
In Immanuel's land.

The sentiments of this favorite hymn are those of the great Scotch Presbyterian preacher and church reformer, Samuel Rutherford, who was imprisoned for treason at the behest of his religious foes during the reign of Charles II in England and whose death in 1661 cheated the royal executioner.

"Rutherford did not write the hymn. But during the months he was in prison he wrote scores of letters to his church members and friends and in these writings, nearly two centuries later, Mrs. Annie Ross Cousin, wife of another Scotch preacher, found the inspiration for a poem from which the song stamzas ultimately were taken.

Mrs. Cousin's verses were not written until 1845. Many of her lines, however, are direct quotations from the writings of the famous Presbyterian martyr and the refrain for her verses, it is said, was inspired by Rutherford's exclamation on one occasion that "Glory dwelleth in Immanuel's land". The hymn had its first publication in "The Christian Treasury", in 1857.

There is an anecdote which says that a few hours before he died, as Rutherford was asked the question, "What think ye now of Christ?" His answer came like a flash: "Oh that all my brethren in the land may know what a Master I have served and what a peace I have this day! I shall sleep in Christ, and when I awake I shall be satisfied with His likeness."

He then predicted that he would slip away in his sleep that very night to meet his Lord. Sure enough! When the next morning dawned, he had gone home.

Never robust, St. Clare bore her illness with courage for many years. On her last Christmas Eve, when she was nearly 60, she was confined to her bed and unable to go to Mass. Suddenly, miraculously, she heard organ music and saw before her eyes the celebration that was at that moment going on before the altar, some two miles away. Because of this miracle Clare was, early this year, designated as the patron saint of television.

During her final illness Clare was twice visited by the Pope Innocent IV. On both occasions he heard her confession and absolved her and both times he is reported to have said, "Would to God I had so little need of absolution."

was this: "A man can never be happy in the ministry unless he feels himself to be a channel." His nature was no D e a d Sea; it was a stream of l i v i n g water. He was a big person in a small place.

MEASURED BY SIZE

According to the world's appraisal, the first brother would have been counted a success, the second probably a failure. Society measures persons so largely by the size of their positions. The ladder of success is commonly supposed to rise from the little job to the high executive post, from the small town to the large city.

There is, of course, a certain validity in the principle that personal virtues and abilities lead to social advancement. A normal boy has ambition to get ahead in the world, to become a man who counts. A good employee is eager to improve his work and to receive the reward which goes with it. Who can gauge the impetus given to American youth by the knowledge that from the humblest beginnings our boys and girls can rise to the highest positions?

But I am raising the question whether our desire for publicity and power may not be causing us to measure people by the spread of their names rather than t h e growth of their personalities. It is a sad thing to see a small nature in a big position.

How does God make persons great in small places? For o n e thing, by making them big natures. I think we know pretty well what we mean when we speak of a big nature. We think of those who are generous in judgment, sympathetic in s p i r i t, thoughtful of others even before themselves. We think of persons who are magnanimous, not easily offended and quickly forgiving.

Such bigness of nature may be observed in some children, almost as if it were a native endowment. But a big soul is by no means all a matter of natural disposition. It can be cultivated.

To have big interests helps. I think it a great secretary who never travelled more than a few hundred miles from home in 30 years has taught a class of young people in her church.

BIG IN SMALL PLACES

She kept track of her pupils after they went forth into the world. Some of them went abroad a n d she followed them with her letters. Also she corresponded with missionary friends. Thus her lines went out to the ends of the earth. That little woman became a world citizen. She was a big person in a small place.

Great living begins at home. We are ever looking for opportunities to solve our problems. To be sure, we need great leadership in high places, but equally we need b i g people in little places.

Some years ago a city educator on a cross-country tour stopped at a small rural township school. He said the principal if it was difficult to get good teachers in that rather out-of-the-way section. The principal replied, "Oh, we have some very good teachers here. We have Plato and Shakespeare and Emerson and many others like them." To bring t h e best minds of the ages to enlighten the youth in small places is that is great teaching.

To bring the news of the world to enlarge the outlook of those who dwell in county-seat towns and villages — that is great newspaper editing.

To bring the world mission of the church to widen the sympathies and ennoble the lives of congregations on Main Streets — that is great preaching and the eventual hope of world peace.

To maintain large outlooks with local loyalties — that is good citizenship and great living.

Days and Customs of All Faiths

Lutherans of North America

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Monday, August 11 — There have been Lutherans in America since the very earliest days of the white man. They were in Florida in 1565 and in the Hudson Bay region in 1619. The first organized congregations on this continent were in Delaware in 1638.

Today marks the anniversary of the merger, in 1930, of three Lutheran Synods (Ohio, Iowa and Buffalo) to form the American Lutheran Church, one of the largest of the Lutheran groups. All three were of German background.

This American Lutheran anniversary is a good time to correct some figures. In a recent column, writing about the Eastern Orthodox people in America, we said there are five and a half million of them and they therefore outnumber several of our better known groups. Our mistake was that we included Lutherans in that statement, and a loyal Lutheran reader from Victor, N.Y., will not let us get away with it. She writes that there are over seven million Lutherans in the United States and Canada.

We do not want to get into the middle of an argument about the sizes of the various denominations, but we do owe the lady the correction she asks for. She is absolutely right. The authoritative Yearbook of American Churches, 1938 edition, shows that the 18 branches of Lutheranism in the United States have a total of about 7,300,000 members — a s d there are more in Canada.

TV'S PATRON SAINT

Tuesday, August 12 — G. K. Chesterton said of St. Clare's profession as a nun that it was a "regular romantic elopement," and, in the sense that a nun is the "bride of Christ," so it was. For Clare — "Lady" Clare, daughter of a noble family in the town of Assisi — ran away from home to devote her life to her Lord.

In the year 1212, when Clare was 18, the great and famous St. Francis had come back to his home town to preach during Lent. From the time she first heard him, there was no doubt in Clare's mind about what she wanted to do. She went to t h e great man privately and asked him to help her to live "after the manner of the holy gospel."

By Palm Sunday all was arranged, and that evening t h e wealthy debutante slipped away from home, went to the Francis can community outside the town and there was received by St. Francis himself, who cut off her hair and clothed her in the coarse brown habit which was to be from the beginning of the Poor Clares, the order of women who from that time to this have been t h e "distaff" side of the Franciscan order.

A Lift for Living

Big People in Small Places

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

Some years ago I became acquainted with two brothers. One held a very high position in the church. He was a large, man of imposing appearance. He walked and spoke impressively.

I remember an occasion when this big man felt hurt. He had been a member of a preaching mission in a New England city. He had not drawn a large congregation. He felt that he had not been properly advertised and that the entertaining committee h a d shown scant regard for his comfort. He was visibly nursing his wounded pride.

The incident, I discovered, was indicative of the man. His was not a large generous nature concerned with the causes he served. His concern was to draw appreciation and applause for himself. He was a little person in a big place.

The other brother was the minister of a small, inconspicuous parish. He served long and faithfully, never apparently concerned about moving to a larger field. His name was not known outside his community, but he was deeply beloved by those who knew him.

I recall a statement of his. It

Smith Family Holds Reunion In Bancroft

The Canadian Legion Hall in Bancroft, was scene of a reunion for one of Dungannon township's pioneer families, when the Smith family assembled for a delicious dinner and a social afternoon.

The gathering, mostly in memory of the descendants of John Jones Smith (of United Empire Loyalist Stock) and Margaret Liddle (born in the Orkneys). Who were married in the Anglican Church, Madoc, on July 18th 1878. They, together with Mr. Smith's infant, younger brother and sisters, were the first settlers in that section of Dungannon, known as the Egan Creek Settlement" (now Bethel).

A unique feature of this reunion, was that in the family occupying the head table, (sons and daughters of John Amos Smith) there have been no deaths since the family circle.

Another remarkable circumstance, concerning these six brothers and sisters, William, George of Deloro, Mary (Mrs. Adam Hough of Wellington, Hattie (Mrs. Fred Brown (of Deloro, Percy of Springbrook, Ethel (Mrs. Earl McMullen) of Havelock and John Amos, Jr. of Long Branch, is the fact that all are still married to their original partners, all of whom are in good health. The first three couples named have celebrated their golden weddings.

After the dinner John Smith of Long Branch, the master of ceremonies, introduced the couples at the head table and also introduced his infant grandson, the fourth John Smith in direct line of descent. He then carried out the features, previously mentioned, which had given rise to the idea of holding the reunion.

Wm. G. Smith, as head of the family, opened by thanking his brother for the idea, the arrangements he had made and the lassing of the hall for the occasion.

Adam Lloyd, then proposed that this be made an annual event and that it be held on the weekend closest to July 18th. (The wedding anniversary date of the couple, from whom all were descended). The decision was a unanimous "Aye."

A committee was appointed to make arrangements for next year's reunion.

President — John A. Symth, Long Branch; 1st vice-president — W. R. Luby, Peterborough; 2nd vice-president — Mrs. Earl Onderdonk, Carrying Place, and secretary — Mrs. Gerald Rosborough, Belize.

It was decided that next year's reunion will be held in Bancroft Legion Hall, on July 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. William Walbridge Barber are pictured signing the register following their recent marriage in Tweed United Church. For the bridegroom's brother, who was attending the bride's mother chose a blue lace dress, and corsage of pink carnations.

For the wedding trip to the west coast the bride chose a light blue linen dress with duster and white accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Barber are residing on Iluff's Island.

Brainy Females To Hold Parley In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — About 200 of Canada's brainiest females are to talk about everything from Africa and archives to prisoners and painters at the Canadian Federation of University Women's congress next week.

With jobs - and - diplomas - asing—a study of the people of the biochemists, biographers, astronomers and anthropologists, the women have chosen as their theme, "Candles of Understanding—a study of the people of the world through their literature."

They will hear what has been done on such subjects as federal grants to universities, equal pay for equal work, the appointment of more women senators, radio and television broadcasting, penal reform, encouragement, of the creative arts in Canada.

Some big names in the world of womanhood are to be guests of the 16th triennial congress, Aug. 12-18. They are:

Dr. Anna Rose Hawkes, Washington, president of the American Association of University Women; Irene Hilton, London, Eng., president of the British Federation of University Women; Felicia Stollman, Edam, Sask., executive secretary of the International Federation of University Women.

But the odd man will be there, too. Dr. Morris Bishop, professor of romance languages, Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y., is to speak about pulp magazines and pogranphy poetry.

WEE WOMEN

"He refuses to knuckle under!"

This - - - and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

It returns as a hazy recollection, but in our youth we seem to remember hearing another generation talking about giving the horse his head. It was man talk as they discussed or argued about relative merits of their steeds. It was giddy-up and gallop hickety-split. Well, it may be that the only difference between the choppety-clop of horses being given their heads and gasoline buggies is speed. Of course there rests here the making of quite an argument and one that could gallop off in innumerable directions.

The old timer might insist with too much truth that, after all, a horse has some brains. He reasons, he stops to munch grass and who would complain over so the oldsters claimed. But who wants to be seen munching for a jet-age.

Tomorrow may find gasoline buggies as obsolete as Dobbin. After all who would've thought an age when the boy friend will say to his best girl, "Let's go to Saturn tonight" or honeymoon where they serve Mars' cocktails and you can watch the dance of the Milky Way.

When we started out a few lines above we were actually on No. 2 highway between Trenton and Belleville. How did we get in the roof-garden of the Earth Hotel on the Moon? We'll never know because we've come home from Trenton last Tuesday we followed a station wagon with a Quebec licence. There were three adults and two children. They were unloading along and obviously they were truly enjoying it, as we listened to the four owners.

Your reporter was alone and she kept thinking to herself — there now, those happy people should have a surrey. They weren't in a hurry. They didn't want to give Dobbin his head to gallop and did they ever step on the throttle of their gasoline buggy. You could just tell that they were having a wonderful time and enjoying every minute of their drive. We did not want to lose them. They were rare and should not go at as speed as the rampage tore by us in haste, in noise and in blowing impatience. Yes, I come to think of it, they were driving about 50, but so slowly. Too, they were a rolling holiday wishing for the good old days of the prancing of a dainty dance on the Moon.

Isn't it too bad there aren't more of us enjoying the pleasure of taking a little more time to discover the pleasure. A lad told us the other day that his dad had pretty good luck hitchhiking except for one old slowpoke in a Cadillac. He never got above 50.

T & T figures that this is your three hundredth column or thereabouts. When we start having Mars cocktails, dining at the Saturn roof-garden in the Earth Hotel on the Moon and dancing with the stars, don't you suppose that we need a holiday, too. Heaven knows what we would be told if we reclined on the couch of an analyst, but it could be that we would be assured that a holiday would be good for T & T and a break for its readers. So that as it may, the management has graciously permitted us to take a break too, so our next column will come to you about this and that and from here to there on Wednesday, September 3rd. If we get to the moon we'll tell you about it and if we don't we'll try to overlook our imaginary flight and hope you will forget it also.

The historian Macaulay wrote that "Those who compare the age in which their lot has fallen with a golden age which exists only in imagination, may talk of degeneracy and decay; but no man of sense and information can, as to the past, will do disposed to take a morose or despondding view of the present." R. T. takes heart.

Writing Royalty Main Hobby of Sudbury Lady

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP)—Writing to royalty is the hobby of Mrs. Bromley Brownlee, who for the last 20 years has been trying to collect royal autographs.

But she finds the task difficult. Her collection includes only one royal signature, a gold-lettered card acknowledging congratulations on her golden wedding anniversary from Princess Alice and the Earl of Athlone. A letter from Royal household were all signed by ladies-in-waiting or private secretaries.

BEGAN IN 1938

Mrs. Bromley's first exchange was in 1938, when she wrote to Princess Louise, Queen Victoria's granddaughter, after hearing that the princess always took part in her own correspondence. A lady-in-waiting replied to her letter of birthday good wishes.

In 1939 Mrs. Bromley welcomed Princess Margaret to Canada.

She wasn't sure how to address the letter, so I sent it care of the mayor of Ottawa, Mrs. Bromley said. "The reply came back very quickly thanking me and saying the princess was happy to be visiting Canada."

Mrs. Bromley's collection, many with special crests or letterheads, now includes letters from Queen Elizabeth, Prince Philip, governors - general of Canada and their wives, Vincent Massey, Pope, Winston Churchill, Viscount Montgomery, and Prime Ministers Mackenzie King, Louis St. Laurent and John Diefenbaker.

Some Problems Answered On Travelling With Children

By SHIRLEY AND BOB SLOANE

For those who would — or must travel with their children this summer, here are some typical questions from the mail that may offer some enlightenment:

(Q) "This summer our son will be 18 months old and very lively. Since he will have outgrown the auto crib, we have a couple of problems. One is his accommodation in the car. We will have four adults. Partly he can sit in the car seat, but for more relaxed play and naps he will be in the rear seat with one adult. How does this sound to you?

"The other problem is h i s overnight bed. We don't want to rely on motels having a crib available and, as he is used to a crib at home, he might be rather lost in an adult bed.

"Our ideas so far have been a small crib we can dismantle (rather bulky?); a net hammock (we can't find one, however); a camp cot which would probably sag enough in the middle to keep him from rolling off; or a fence to strap on an ordinary bed to contain him."

— Mrs. G.L.W., Hamilton, Ont.

(A) Thanks for dusting off the memory of the auto crib. Our third was born a month ago and we'll be taking it on the road by next summer (sooner if our eldest weren't in school).

For we first crowed the car a bit, so he'll probably spend much of the time in the rear seat. If he's comfortable, he may even nap there. But there will be times when he ought to stretch out for a proper nap, in which instances he should, as you suggest, be placed in back with one adult.

It's a rare motel that has no crib, but they do charge $1 a night for them as a rule and occasionally you may find them all in use. For about $20 you can get a collapsible wire-mesh, plastic mattress which will fold and stand up against the back of the car. Then one of the adults can sleep in the dog.

This will make a completely adequate crib and be easily movable from car to room.

Your auto crib idea is unalterable for a child's leader spine and the cot will not sag enough for the baby to keep him there. Portable crib sides are a good idea, however, and are available in most department stores and children's furniture shops.

Mrs. A.B. writes:

"We are planning a trip to California and would like to take our 2-year-old with us. Please tell us:

"Do children sleep more while driving than they do at home?

(A) Fortunately, yes, or they'd be bored to death at that age.

"If so; do they sleep well at night?"

(A) Also yes, also fortunately. At least ours do, except when badly overtired.

"What toys should we take?"

(A) It doesn't matter much, as they'll love even of their favorites quickly. Some parents keep a grab bag of special playthings and bring a different one each day. Somehow our kids outsmarted us on this ruse, so we took to buying inexpensive but fascinating trivia each day in five-and-dens along the way. You'd be amazed at the 15, and 20-cent items that fascinate kids — sometimes for as long as an hour.

"Are there special articles we should add to the first aid kit?"

(A) In addition to the usual items such as bandages, iodine, and antiseptics, you'll undoubtedly find paregoric, aspirin, and antihistamine liquids are recommended by your pediatrician, useful.

"Will most motels put a extra bed in the room?"

(A) Yes.

"What might this cost?"

(A) An average of a dollar a night.

"Is it bad taste for adults to travel in pedal pushers a n d jeans?"

(A) Pedal pushers, o.k.; jeans, no. You can get only so informal before being stared at embarrassingly in such public places as hotels and restaurants. If you stick to motels and unpretentious eating places, you'll pass in jeans.

"Do most places accept or object to children?"

(A) So far our children have been accepted in Las Vegas, Miami Beach, and all other states plus ten Canadian provinces. If you find a place that won't have them, outside of the luxurious luxury resort class, advise Ripley instead of us.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF MARRIAGE OF DIVORCED COUPLE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I received my divorce three years ago, and next month I am to marry a doctor here, who has been divorced for the past t e n years. Since my divorce I h a v e been living at my parents' home, and we are to be married there with only the members of our two families, a few close relatives and a few intimate friends present at the ceremony and the small reception afterward. Please tell me the correct way to word the announcement of o u r marriage, to be sent to the t w o local newspapers for publication the following day. — Divorcee

This is a correct form of announcement: "Mrs. Hall Thompson, of 67 Park Street, and Dr. Frederick Horth, of 456 Rose Avenue, were married yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. Present at the ceremony and the small reception following were the members of the two families, a few close relatives and a few intimate friends. Dr. and Mrs. Horth will live at 456 Rose Avenue. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hall, 67 Park Steet. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Horth, of San Francisco."

You may, if you wish, include mention of schools and colleges, membership in clubs, and other information. Note: Use correct form for your name: the combination of your maiden surname and your married surname (for example, Mrs. Hall Thompson).

TEASPOON OR OYSTER FORK?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Should a fruit cocktail be eaten with a teaspoon or with the small so-called oyster fork? This is a discussion we are having, a n d we thank you for your answer. — Esther W.

A fruit cocktail should be eaten with a teaspoon, more convenient for eating the fruit itself, and necessary to sip the delicious juice. The fork is used for oysters, clams, and may be used for such seafood cocktails as shrimp, crabmeat, lobster, a n d the combination seafood cocktails.

ABOUT CHECKING HER COAT IN RESTAURANT CHECK-ROOM

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When a man and woman enter a restaurant together, should he offer to check her coat when he checks his own coat? — Sallie.

Ordinarily no. But of course he does offer to check a package or umbrella she is carrying, or a dripping umbrella she is wearing.

DON'T SAY "DRAPES", SAY "CURTAINS"

Campus Favorites

BY VERA WINSTON

College departments are smartly stocked already with clothes that should delight the campus crowd. Sure to be liked is this knit suit with seven-eighths - length jacket, which has matching slacks as well as a skirt. The coat has low pockets with raised tops going around to the back to form a back-buttoned belt. Such detail is prominent in the new fashions, ready for interesting variety at all levels.

I should say "curtains," whether I mean glass curtains or overcurtains. Is she really right about this word "drapes"? — A. L.

Hurrah for your cousin for steering you away from using that word "drapes"! She's really right in saying it's a "thick" word. Do stop using "drapes" and do use the correct and pleasant word "curtains" for anything that hangs at a window, either glass curtains or over-curtains.

FORM OF CLERGYMAN'S NAME ON WEDDING INVITATION

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My bridegroom-to-be is a Protestant clergyman; the church here is his first assignment since his graduation from Divinity School a year ago last June. He hasn't the D.D. or other honorary degree. Please tell me the correct form of the bridegroom's name on our formal wedding invitations. — E.

The Reverend Paul Alan Goode. "The" must be engraved before "Reverend," and "Reverend" should, if at all possible, be spelled in full.

Readers' Saturday Column

As conducted by Mary Moore

Question: I have misplaced a pickle recipe . . . it was called Pickled Sweet Gherkins. It was a simple recipe (not 7 day) and really excellent . . . There was a little explanation re the fact that although the cucumbers became soft in one solution, they crisped up later. This was quite true and mine were so good I almost had to "ration" them. — K.E.W.

Answer: Note to all Pickle makers! Please clip this recipe now if you intend to make Pickled Gherkins this year. Requests for pickles and preserves in heavy I will have difficulty finding space for repeats.

MARGARET HEGLER'S SWEET GHERKINS

Note: During the brining period the gherkins shrivel, but after standing in the vinegar-sugar solution for some time become firm and plump. Note 2: If you are making up a 6-quart basket of gherkins make 1-1-4 times the vinegar-sugar solution. Two quarts gherkins (approximately 2-1-2 lbs), 1-1-2 cups salt, 2-1-2 quarts boiling water, 4 cups mild vinegar (cider is recommended), 1 tablespoon powdered alum, 4 cups brown sugar, 1-2 tablespoon each whole cloves, whole allspice, celery seed, 1-4 cup white mustard seed. Wash the gherkins well and cover with the hot brine made from the 1-1-2 cups salt, 2-1-2 quarts boiling water. Let stand 24 hours, then drain. Mix the remaining ingredients, including the alum and vinegar and bring to boiling and pour over the gherkins. Put into sterilized jars and seal. Yield 4 pints.

Question: . . . At the grocery store where we deal, they have frozen rhubrab and blueberries, but no recipes on the packages and I would like to use them for pies. Could you please find me good recipes for these? . . . — Mrs. P.J.

BLUEBERRY PIE

(Fresh or frozen) Four cups fresh or frozen (2 package) blueberries, 3-4 cup sugar; 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-4 cup each cornstarch and water mixed together, 2-3 cup water, 1 tablespoon lemon or lime juice, 1 teaspoon grated lemon or lime rind. Combine sugar, 1-3 cup berries, cornstarch paste and stir well, then stir into the hot water until thick, crushing the cerries. Add lemon juice and rind, pour over remaining berries in bowl and chill and, let stand until cool. Pour into unbaked pie shell in 10 in. 1-3 pie plate, which has been sprinkled with 2 tablespoons fine breadcrumbs. Seal on gashed top crust. Brush top with slightly beaten egg whites and bake at 400 deg. F. 45 minutes.

RHUBARB PIE

(Fresh or frozen). Same as for blueberry pie (above) but increase sugar to 1 or 1-4 cups. omit water, do not precook any of the filling and replace lemon rind and juice with orange rind and juice.

Note: If desired minute tapioca may be used instead of cornstarch — 2 tablespoons being sufficient.

Study Course In Marriage Partnership

HAMILTON (CP) — The marriage partnership has attracted 75 studies at summer courses of McMaster University here this year.

Among those at school are Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Casteleo of nearby Oakville, Ont., who had been married three weeks previously. They rise at 6 a.m., start four hours of classes at 8 and after lessons study for another six or eight hours.

"Housework keeps us hopping," said Mrs. Casteleo, teacher of a grade one class in public school. Her husband is a school principal in Trafalgar Township. They met during a McMaster extension course last year.

Another married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Chamberlain, said they can't attend social functions because "it's the only time you have to mend socks."

And Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McKay said they exchange notes—literally—after classes.

The Week's News

By DAVID ROWNTREE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Nikita Khrushchev changed the time again this week. Prime Minister Macmillan and President Eisenhower fell into step and the last result was the calling of a special session of the United Nations General Assembly to map Middle East problems.

The Russian leader pulled another of his surprises last weekend when it was revealed he was in Peiping. After a flat-tasting Khrushchev held a meeting and demanded a quick summit meeting and the immediate withdrawal of British and American troops from Jordan and Lebanon.

Back in Moscow two days later, Khrushchev changed his mind about a summit meeting and called for the assembly session. It was thought Mao had inspired the about-face because a proposed high-level meeting of the Security Council would have included Nationalist China as a major power.

Macmillan accused the Russian of breaking an agreement to hold a Security Council meeting but neither he nor Eisenhower raised any serious objection. After pre-liminary work Friday, the assembly will begin talking next week.

IN PARLIAMENT

The Opposition harried the Conservative government about confidential economic forecasts and the Commons estimates committee sharply criticized the defence and defence production department heads in Parliament this week.

The government withheld a report by its advisers that the Toronto Star says presents a far less rosy picture of the economy than did Finance Minister Fleming's budget forecasts.

The opposition said that if the Liberals were wrong in concealing a tariff report on economic prospects as the Conservatives charged then, the government is also wrong now.

The estimates committee tabled a report recommending an end to duplication in the defence department's administration, more careful buying by the production department to avoid overstocking and a study of naval building costs to see if they can be more accurately estimated.

CALM IN CYPRUS

Violence and terrorism on Cyprus have taken more than 150 lives in the last two months as Greek and Turkish Cypriots fought each other and the British over the future of the colony.

This week the Greek-Cypriot underground called a truce shortly before Prime Minister Macmillan flew to Athens for talks with Greek Premier Constantine Karamanlis. Macmillan planned to see Premier Adnan Menderes of Turkey later.

STEEL STRIKE SET

The United Steel Workers of America voted to go on strike if necessary to enforce demands for higher pay from the Steel Company of Canada at Hamilton. A walkout of the 7,465 workers would close the biggest steel plant in the country.

The Ontario government called both sides to a conciliation meeting in Toronto on Monday. If that fails, the strike will be called Tuesday at 7 a.m.

Meanwhile, the United Brewery Workers of America considered a strike of warehouse employees throughout Ontario. The union is asking the Brewery Warehousing Company Limited for an eight-hour reduction in the 40-hour work week and pay increases of between $6 and $14 a week. Retail beer stores have closed in Toronto, Hamilton and several smaller centres.

FLEET AUSTRALIAN

"Absolutely incredible" was the reaction of Dr. Roger Bannister and almost everyone else when Herb Elliott, a lanky Australian of 20, ran a mile in Dublin in three minutes 54.5 seconds.

It was nearly three seconds faster than John Landy's 3:58 set in 1954.

Merv Lincoln of Australia, Ron Delaney of Ireland and Murray Halberg of New Zealand also bettered Landy's mark in placing behind Elliott.

Elliott tried for the world two-mile record the following day but he was 20 yards behind Albert Thomas, another Australian, who lowered the mark to 8:32.0.

B.C. MANSHUNT

Police, farmers and townspeople in British Columbia's Okanagan Valley hunted a suspected killer.

RCMP Corporal Ralph Brown was shot twice as he questioned a 43-year-old drifter in the slaying of Anita Budde, 27.

The man also indirectly caused the death of three other RCMP officers whose plane crashed while flying low over hilly country looking for him.

RANKER CRASH

Sixteen sailors perished when two tankers collided in fog at the entrance to the harbor of Newport, R.I. Flames broke out almost instantly when the 10,346-ton Colfuel and a 9,950-ton coastal tanker smashed into each other. Twenty-six men suffered burns. The larger ship was empty but the smaller carried 32,000 barrels of gasoline.

TOUR NEARS END

Princess Margaret neared the end of her Canadian tour. She leaves from Halifax on Monday. After two days of rest in Ottawa and at Harrington Lake in Quebec's Gatineau Hills early this week, she arrived in Montreal to be greeted by cheers, blasts of sirens and some loyal wolf-whistles. Then she flew to Quebec and the Matthews. After a long day in Fredericton, the princess spent Friday relaxing.

MIDDLE EAST QUIET

Rebels in northeast Lebanon broke a week-long truce in clash with government forces that killed 13 men. Otherwise the Middle East was quiet during the week. Israel relaxed her ban on Western military flights over her country after Premier Nasser of Jordan had been stopped for three days.

PRINCE RUPPERT RIOT

A mob of 1,000 hurled bottles and stones in a Sunday morning fracas with police in Prince Rupert, B.C. Twenty persons, including five policemen, were injured.

Mayor Peter Lester read the Riot Act twice and police exploded tear gas bombs before calm was restored. About 3,000 visitors had packed into town for the last day of the city's celebrations in connection with B.C.'s centennial.

HOFFA QUESTIONED

James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, was criticized at a U.S. Senate committee hearing for not living up to his promise of getting rid of racketeers and hoodlums.

He denied getting any part of a $17,500 payoff to stop a strike against Detroit laundries in 1946 and said he won most of $60,222 that he had invested in what he knew about from horse-racing wagers.

In Pontiac, Mich., Frank Kierdorf, a teamsters business agent, died from severe burns. Officials said he had tried to set fire to a dry-cleaning shop. Hoffa denied any knowledge of the arson attempt.

MARITIMES MEETING

The Atlantic provinces and the New England states held a three-day conference on economic problems. Officials agreed to increase trade of food products, study freight rates and exchange university staffs and students.

New-Born Mule Looks and Hops Like Kangaroo

PESCOTT, Ariz. (AP)—A mule that looks and-hops like a kangaroo has created a mystery at the J. E. Martin summer stable in this Arizona city.

The mule, born Wednesday night, is the offspring of Martin's seventy-year-old Belgian pony, Jacky, and a burro. At least Martin thinks it was a burro.

The foal's hind legs are normal, but the front ones are only six inches long. Soon after its birth, the creature bounced to the nearest clump of bushes and hid.

Martin never has seen a hopping mule before. He says most of them scarcely was a for several days after birth.

Slayer Electrocuted

OSSINING, N.Y. (AP) —John Angelo Lamarca, kidnap-slayer of infant Peter Weinberger, went to his death Thursday night in Sing Sing Prison's electric chair.

Lamarca, 33, who once blamed the crime on his need to raise $2,000 to pay for storm windows and other household goods, had hoped to the last minute he would be saved.

Radio appeals and a flood of telegrams to Governor Averell Harriman's office proved futile. Lamarca Wednesday lost a final court appeal in the 1946 abduction.

Lamarca, the father of two young children, said nothing as he was escorted to the chair. However, he began to whimper as he was strapped into the device. Executed at 11 p.m., he was declared dead three minutes later.

His wife, Donna, remained with him in his cell until 9 p.m. The doomed man was heard to call out occasionally "maybe they'll save me yet."

Fatal 'Human Torch' Burning Arson Case That Backfired

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — A secret witness, a scorched flashlight and a mysterious black Cadillac added up today to what investigators believe was a case of arson that backfired in the fatal "human torch" burning of an ex-convict teamsters union official.

Three days after he stumbled into St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac with more than 85 per cent of his body burned, Frank Kierdorf, 56, a business agent for teamsters Local 332, died Thursday shortly after becoming a convert to Roman Catholicism.

To the end, Kierdorf insisted that he was set afire by two men who lured him from his home Sunday night, doused him with a fluid and ignited it.

However, Michigan Attorney-General Paul Adams told reporters he is convinced Kierdorf was caught in a blazing trap while trying to set a Flint, Mich., drycleanin gshop afire.

Adams said a secret witness has told police he stopped his car when he saw the fire, watched the two men running from the building and then heard a third man screaming inside. Adams added: "So far we left with the possibilities that this was an organized attempt as part of Kierdorf's union activity or that he did it on his own."

The black Cadillac turned up in a used car lot and was described by Adams as possibly the getaway car from the Flint fire.

The car was owned by a teamster local but had been turned over to Kierdorf's missing uncle, Herman Kierdorf, 68, who disappeared Monday after visiting Frank in hospital.

Hermatt, wanted by police for further questioning and on a charge of having a gun silencer in his possession, sold the Cadillac to a used-car dealer for $1,700 and then vanished, Adams said.

Investigators found a scorched flashlight in the remains of the dry cleaning establishment, but bit of evidence completed a picture of what they said was the probable explanation.

Frank Kierdorf's fatal burns:

After setting a device to explode into flames at the Latrelle Cleaners Sunday night, they said, Kierdorf dropped his flashlight. His companions beat out the flaming clothes and drove Kierdorf 31 miles to Pontiac, presumably to throw investigators off the track, the investigators said.

Gaelic Scholar Disagrees With Bard Historian

Editors note: Scots - born Malog Calum MacLeod was named Gaelic advisor to the Nova Scotia education department in 1956. This year he will become Nova Scotia's first professor of celtic. Recognized as the leading Gaelic authority in Nova Scotia, Malcolm MacLeod disagreed with the bard-historian of the Clan MacMillan who Wednesday criticized the lack of Gaelic culture in Cape Breton.

Written for The Canadian Press
By MAJOR CALUM MacLEOD

HALIFAX (CP) — cannot agree with the Rev. Somerled MacMillan of Paisley, Scotland, bard-historian of the Clan MacMillan, who implied recently that Cape Breton was not the North American stronghold of Gaelic culture he understood it to be.

The Gaelic seed was sown by the first highland Scottish settlers, although in certain areas it may have fallen upon stony ground, the promotion of Gaelic continues favorably.

It can be seen in the day-school curriculum in Cape Breton, at the Gaelic summer schools, in adult classes assisted by government grants, in the weekly Antigonish newspaper (The Casket), in Gaelic street signs, in religious services and sometimes in election campaigns when used by politicians.

AHEAD OF HOMELAND

In the world of Gaelic longstaying records we, in Nova Scotia, can claim a definite first. Scottish Gaelic lessons for beginners, Series One, was produced in 1957. Scotland has not yet ventured to manufacture such a disk.

Looking back towards 1900 we in Cape Breton can claim the record for the only all-Gaelic newspaper in the world that lasted for 12 years—MacTalla (Echo).

A few years ago Hugh MacPhee, Gaelic producer for the BBC in Scotland, was on a simultaneous broadcast of talks from Scotland to Cape Breton as MacPhee. He indicated that he was under the impression that more than Scottish Gaelic was spoken per capita in Cape Breton than in northern Scotland.

FULLY AGREES

I agreed completely with MacPhee's evaluation because it coincided exactly with my professional observations of a period of years.

We in Nova Scotland appreciate such encouraging words from an expert and wise schoolmaster.

If I have a reason to believe there has been any over-all deterioration of Gaelic since MacPhee's visit.

As to what of the future of Gaelic, the promising and conflicting. I should say. The establishment of a department of Celtic studies at St. Francis Xavier University this year is surely a most significant step toward the academic prestige and preservation of the language our forefathers loved so well.

Joint Approach To Solve Issue Over Doukhobors

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton said Thursday night he is hopeful the federal and British Columbia governments will reach an agreement within the next few days on a joint approach to solve B.C.'s Sons of Freedom problem.

He told the Commons the whole question is being considered in the light of the offer of the radical Doukhobor sect to return to Russia with government financial assistance.

Mr. Fulton spoke after H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West) and Murray McFarlane (PC—Kootenay East) appealed to the government to take action to put a stop to acts of violence by the sect.

The Doukhobors came to Canada from Russia at the turn of the century and nearly all of them settled in interior British Columbia.

Most of them—some 12,000—are law-abiding citizens but the 1,000-member Sons of Freedom sect, which broke off from the main group, has for decades been noted for periodic acts of terror and vandalism.

Fishing in Fresh Water

CANADA

Freshwater fishing in the sister lakes Winnipeg and Winnipegosis yields 35 million pounds of fish a year — a catch second only to the 45 million pounds annually hauled out of Canada's Great Lakes. Inland fisheries — which account for 10% of the national catch — are of major economic importance to the areas concerned. Above, fishermen reel their nets after a successful day on Lake Winnipegosis.

Gimli on Lake Winnipeg is a thriving Icelandic fishing community which was settled by pioneer Icelanders in 1875. These fishermen travel up to 200 miles by motor launch to gill-net pickerel which are filleted, ice-packed, and shipped across Canada and the United States. Canada possesses more than half of all the fresh water on the earth. Some of the choicest food and game fish in the world are to be found in her sparkling blue lakes and swiftly running rivers. Govt. Will Look Into Gasoline Price Wars

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton informed the Commons Thursday the combines investigation branch plans to inquire into gasoline price wars.

He was replying to Douglas Fisher (CCF—Port Arthur) who said the Garage Operators Association of Ontario has complained that gasoline price wars are perhaps contrary to the Combines Act and the Unfair Competition Act.

Mr. Fulton said the complaints "allege matters which, if substantiated, would warrant investigation with regard to discriminatory pricing contrary to Section 412 of the Criminal Code."

Two officials of the association had been interviewed by the director of the combines investigation branch and the "situation complained about is under study in the branch with a view to making a more formal inquiry or investigation as soon as staff is available."

NEED MORE FACTS

Mr. Fulton added: "Until the inquiry is launched and more specific facts are ascertained it could not give any indication of the direction in which the inquiry may lead us."

The minister also said four inquiries now are under way with a view to changes in combines legislation.

These inquiries dealt with automobile insurance; automobile financing; trade practices; and discriminatory pricing generally.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

By WINIFRED WILSON

A WARBLER'S LIFE

Undoubtedly, North American warblers are the most fascinating, yet the most puzzling of all our birds. The general public knows practically nothing about them, amateur birders are both thrilled and perplexed by their numbers, their beauty, and their rapid movements; experts are intrigued by their great variety and by one professes to have mastered the warblers. Some people are unable to hear their particularly high little voices; others cannot differentiate between such similar songs. The fact is, one needs to have keen hearing, a good ear for music, agility for getting around, and great patience.

The very name "Warbler" is a misnomer, because these animated jewels of Birdland do not, their attractions, cannot truthfully be said to warble. Their songs are though, perhaps, persistently repeated, are actually very simple. Warblers with rich, clear voices are definitely in the minority.

Winter is spent in the tropics, and of the more than one hundred kinds, only about one fifth migrate to the east of the Rockies. The plumage of these birds not only differs with the species, but in most cases with the sexes. To add to our confusion, many males have a different plumage in autumn from what they have in spring, and some females change, and often the young are not exactly like either parent. In spring the males are color is yellow, but black, white, red, chestnut, green, blue, orange are all to be found. In autumn more green is seen. Three or four of these colors are sometimes in the plumage of one bird, and patterns are infinite.

NESTING OPERATIONS

Nesting operations begin about the time the males arrive. In the breeding grounds, the dates depending upon the species. The height of the home varies from that of the ovenbird, on the ground, to a blackburnian's, which may be 85 feet up in a tree. The usual type of nest is a simple cup, a very few are roofed and have a side entrance. When building, the females get scant assistance from the males, and practically none in incubating the eggs, which average four. Time off duty is very short for the 11 or 12 days of brooding. When first hatched, the babies are blind, have very little down, and yellow mouth linings. Then the father generally takes turns with the mother carrying insect food. In about nine days the nestlings make their first flight. The young migrate in autumn still wearing their immature attire, and males do not change to the bright adult plumage until just before starting from the tropics in spring.

The long-range outlook of the United States weather bureau for the 30-day period ending Aug. 31 calls for temperatures to average below normal seasonal readings throughout most of Eastern Canada with above-normal readings predicted for the southern half of the four western provinces.

Precipitation is expected to be moderate over much of the country but rainfall is expected to exceed normal in a band stretching through the northern parts of Quebec and Ontario, nearly all of Manitoba and much of Saskatchewan.

Figures at right side of map show normal temperatures and normal precipitation in inches of rain for cities in various regions. (CP Newsmap.)

Writ to Extend Policy's Period Has been Issued

HAMILTON (CP)—A writ to extend an insurance policy's period two days so that $5,000 may be paid an estate of a man killed in a plane crash which took 79 lives last August, was issued here Thursday in the Supreme Court.

The writ, against Continental Casualty Company and Jack House of Post House Travel Bureau, both of Toronto, seeks to extend to 23 days from 31 days an insurance policy bought through Mr. House by Charles Albert Gresley, a 48-year-old retired CNR engineer from Willow Cove, Ont., who died in the crash.

The estate claim notes that the 31-day period, alleged to have covered a month's trip to Great Britain, expired before a Matilines Central Airways Airliner, carrying Canadian Legion members and their families returning from a holiday in England, took off for the flight home.

The writ asks that the period be extended and that payment of the $5,000 be ordered to the estate, two of whose beneficiaries are George V. Gradey of Aldershot, Ont., and Mrs. Georgina Mirich of Hamilton, son and daughter of the man killed aboard the plane which crashed Aug. 10, 1957, east of Montreal.

T. J. McKenna, solicitor for the estate, said he believes the action is a test case and that a number of other lawsuits are awaiting the claim's outcome.

State Police Hold Suspect

BROCKVILLE (CP) — State police in Alexandria Bay, N.Y., are holding a suspect in connection with the Aug. 2 robbery of Mrs. Myrtle Heffernan, 56, of nearby Grenadier Island, it was learned here Thursday.

Provincial police are still investigating the robbery in which $607 cash and $500 in bonds were stolen from Mrs. Heffernan's restaurant. Grenadier Island is 20 miles west of here.

Crown Attorney Harwarth Atkinson said future action was undecided. He said that if sufficient evidence is found against the suspect a certain type of proceedings might be instituted from the attorney-general's office within the week. The suspect was not named.

Mrs. Heffernan, who was beaten over the head by the bandit, operates a resort on the island with her husband.

PRAY TO GODDESS

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Nepal's orthodox Hindu government today organized mass prayers in hundreds of local temples to appease the angry goddess Kali and thereby arrest a cholera epidemic. The disease in the last month has claimed 200 lives. The government has offered a prize for files killed but the people are not responding, fearing divine displeasure.

Algae Blamed For Bad Smell Over Great Lakes

TORONTO (CP)—Don't blame sewage for the unpleasant odors that linger over the Great Lakes during hot summer days and nights—blame algae.

City engineer Douglas McCarthy of the Toronto works department Thursday denied a suggestion by Reeve Marie Curtis of suburban Long Branch that raw sewage from the Canadian National Exhibition was befouling Lake Ontario.

Mrs. Curtis said the sewage was causing algae and the algae was causing odors.

"Existing sewage," says Mr. McCarthy, "the signs was a general condition in all the lakes during warm weather. And anyway, the raw sewage said to empty into Lake Ontario goes through filtering and processing plants first. Only "quite diluted sanitary sewage" ever gets into the lake, Mr. McCarthy said, and then only in extraordinary circumstances, such as storms.

Hopes Session Will End Aug. 23

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton indicated Thursday the government may not proceed this session with all proposed government legislation now before the Commons.

He was asked in the Commons by William Houck (L—Niagara Falls) whether the government plans to go ahead this session on a bill dealing with human slaughtering of animals.

"We are having a look at the legislative program to see what the situation is in that regard," Mr. Fulton said.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said earlier this week that the government plans to proceed with all government legislation now on order paper — 31 measures — as well as nine bills forecast in the throne speech. At that time he said the government hopes the session will end Aug. 30.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The Kelowna Packers, runners-up to the McFarlands in the Allan Cup battles last spring are rushing the season — or are they? It seems they've started "pickin' 'n' carry.

"Out here," they boasted when they heard the McFarlands were the loyal opposition for national championship honors, "we either eat Macs, or throw 'em away."

GERRY GOYER

The sample of Macs that came from the east were too elusive to catch and throw away, and, as it was proven, too tough for the Packers to digest.

But that fact did not stop their undercover department from carefully scrutinizing the eastern "samples," and filing away their findings for future reference.

Apparently they did not find all the Macs "cute" for they pigeon-holed one of the players as a likely Packer-of-the future, and quite recently decided to do something about it.

In other words they liked what they saw when Gerry Goyer was cavorting on the ice. So don't be surprised if you hear an ex-Guelph Junior "A" star will be wearing a Kelowna uniform come puck-chasing time.

According to the McFarland front office the Packers contacted Goyer among other eastern stars, and dangled a tempting offer under their hockey noses. Gerry, it is reported, liked what he saw when he was in the Okanagan Valley. He also liked what the Packers had to offer and contacted Manager Drury Denyes of the Macs about it.

"If Gerry wants to go to the Packers we will not stand in his way," Denyes told this department yesterday. "All in the topflight additions coming to the McFarlands, Gerry might have had trouble making the team this fall. He will catch on for sure with the Kelowna Packers."

Mrs. Goyer is said to be in favor of moving to the fertile valley of the Okanagan so everything appears hunkey-dory except for a wrinkle or so that has to be ironed out.

According to the Eastern senior "A" league's book of rules any player must be waived out of the loop before going to an outside club. Goyer will be placed on waivers immediately, Manager Denyes said. However he did not believe the waiver would be exercised.

If and when Goyer does make the move he will find a wide field for his athletic activities. They will keep him busy on the isolation in the winter and in the summer he'll be able to enjoy to the full his favorite hot-weather baseball. Baseball is a healthy sport out yonder in the valley of the Macs and Gerry should fit in very nicely with his topflight diamond ability.

Moving to the British Columbia town will not deprive the tall centre of the opportunity to make a trip abroad next winter. The Packers, it will be recalled, were named by the CAHA as Canada's representatives to Canada in a tour of Russia, while the Macs are making hockey hay at the world championships in Prague, Czechoslovakia.

The player-loaning tentacles of the Packers probed farther east than this home of the Allan Cup. Poking around a golf course in his home town of Cornwall the other day Orval Tessier, whom the Macs are vitally interested in, admitted he had been approached by Packer coach Jack Riley regarding Packer championships and taking in the borsch-caviar junket.

O'Reilly painted a glowing picture of the Okanagan Valley and its advantages, Tessier said. "They sent me a folder about the valley and outlined the joys of living and working there, and playing in their league which they said was compact and travelling almost nil."

However, Tessier is reported to have expressed a yen to be back with an old buddy named Bo Hilderbrand, and with the management working hard to unravel the "red tape", don't be surprised to see "Tess" turn out with the Allan Cappers.

SOFTBALL

Remember the Cobourg-Point Anne softball battle gets under way tonight at 6.30 sharp at Ox Point, instead of the usual 7.00. In the first game, that starts at the local diamond at 6.30 sharp, seven innings will be completed, so in fairness to all concerned, the Point Anne management decided to start all games from now on, at 6.30.

Ford Visions Record; 'Ready' Witt Sparks Bucs

Lefthander Posts 7th Blank In 2-0 Victory Over Boston; Pirates Scuttle Redlegs 1-0

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

George (Red) Witt appears to be the answer to Pittsburgh's long search for the battle start-ing pitcher behind Bob Friend, Ronnie Kline and Vern Law.

Although rookie Curt Raydon also has won five games, Witt's brilliant three-hit shutout of Cincinnati Friday night draws attention to him.

Witt, farmed out to Columbus of the International League in May, has rolled up a 9-2 record since his recall. He was working on a shutout against St. Louis last Sunday when the curfew stopped the game after five innings. He struck out 10 Redlegs, including Bob Thurman four times, in his 1-0 victory over Joe Nuxhall.

Pittsburgh, momentarily derailed in Milwaukee, again is making menacing gestures in the National League race. The Pirates trail the Braves by eight games but are only one game behind San Francisco Giants.

STILL LOSING

The Giants continued their fearful slide, losing their 10th in 11 starts in bowing to Los Angeles Dodgers 6-3. The Giants remain seven games behind Milwaukee.

Philadelphia rallied to beat Milwaukee 7-6 on Bob Bowman's ninth - inning single. Bowman's three-run pinch homer had tied the score in the sixth. Dick Farrell was the winner on relief over Don McMahon who replaced Juan Pizarro in the sixth.

Del Ennis' two-run-slam homer in the sixth broke up a duel between Vinegar Bend Mizell and Dick Drott with St. Louis downing the Chicago Cubs 6-4.

Ennis' blast was the only run of the Pirat-Redleg game. He beat out an infield hit in the sixth, took second on a sacrifice and came home on Roberto Clemente's single.

TIES SCORE

Bowman's sixth-inning homer tied the score at 5-5 in Philadelphia but Milwaukee went ahead again in the seventh on Hank Aaron's triple and Wes Covington's single. The Phils winning rally started when Ed Bouchee led off with a double. Dave Philley followed with a pinch single and took second on the throw to the plate. Then Bowman came through with the winner.

A boisterous crowd of 45,998 welcomed the Dodgers home to the Coliseum for a 19-game home stand. Charley Neal threw a home runner in the fifth, a 350-foot drive over the left field screen, off Lew Burdette. Don Drysdale was the winner.

It looked like the bases in the sixth on two singles and a walk. Ken Boyer's sacrifice fly tied the score. Willy Mays Moon was walked intentionally. Ennis hit his grand slammer.

Tied for Top Milwaukee Open

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Cary Middlecoff erupted from a closely bunched pack Friday with a six-under-par 64 and tied young Paul Harney for the 36-hole lead in the $30,000 Milwaukee open golf meet. Both have 131s, nine under par.

One stroke behind them in the battle for the $6,200 first prize over the Tripoli Golf Club par 35-35—70 layout was a 29-year-old South African, round-necked Gary Player of Johannesburg.

Toronto's Jerry Magee fired a 70 Friday, which combined with his 71 card Thursday left him with a 141 total, eliminating him from the final 36 holes limited to 85 players with 145 or better.

Whitey Ford is sailing along with the best earned run average in the majors since Joe Chandler in 1942. The New York Yankees' chunky lefthander posted his seventh shutout Friday night, lowering his ERA to 1.66. Chandler led the American League 15 years ago with a 1.64 ERA. The lowest in the National is 25 years was Carl Hubbell of the Giants with 1.66 in 1933.

Ford's 14th victory shunted Boston Red Sox 16½ games behind the league leaders who continue to march toward the early pennant clinching date in history. Without Ted Williams, who was out of action with a sprained left wrist, Boston had no punch. The Sox accumulated weakly 3-0 with only three hits. Two of the hits came in the fourth but a double play followed Pete Runnels' single and Jackie Jensen was cut down trying to stretch double into a triple.

SAILS BALTIMORE

Washington sank Baltimore 4-2, the Orioles' 11th straight defeat. Pinch hitter Ed Fitzgerald's season Dick Hyde, a key figure in more than half of the Senator victories, saved the day in relief of winner Russ Kemmerer in the eighth. It was his 5th successful relief job plus nine victories on his own.

Cleveland broke loose with six runs in the third inning for a 10-4 victory over Detroit. Rookie Jim Perry took over for Jim Hadcat Grant with two out in the fifth and blanked the rest of the way. It was his first victory of the year.

Frank Lary pitched himself out of one jam after another and went the route to his 13th victory despite 14 White Sox hits. Al Kaline and Charlie Maxwell each drove in a pair of runs in Detroit's 4-2 victory.

RUNNELS STILL LEADS

Pete Runnels held tight to the American League batting lead with one hit in three official flings against Ford for a .335 average. Nellie Fox is the losing pitcher.

Roy Sievers and Jim Lemon each had two hits in Washington's attack on Jack Brown and two successors. Bob Baltimore drove in a run, including the 21st homer, came off Kemmerer.

Ted Garver of the A's was the victim of Cleveland's big splurge in the third inning, losing his eighth.

Chicago had at least one base runner in each inning and at least two in all but the last inning but Larry Ierfi 13 stranded. Early Wynn was the loser, ending Chicago's four-game winning streak.

Centennial Fishing Derby In B.C. Is Worth $10,000

By NEIL MACDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Care to pocket $10,000 for landing a salmon?

The $10,000 first prize will go to the fisherman who reels in the heaviest salmon during British Columbia's centennial salmon derby, and it is having hopefuls from as far-as Mexico City, New York and Toronto. The three-day event opens Sept. 6.

For the angler whose fish is a scale or two lighter than the winner, there's a 22 - foot cabin cruiser as second prize. The next will receive car - top boats equipped with outboard motors of 5-9 horsepower. The next 20 will be engraved, self - winding wrist watches.

RICH EVENT

Altogether the prize list is worth about $30,000. The next biggest fish derby in this area is a one-day affair Aug. 17, in which an average of 25,000 anglers compete for prizes valued around $7,000.

Sure winners are the boat rental people.

One group at Ladysmith, B.C. has rented a tug and barge. They plan to pile small surface craft on the barge and tow them to the fishing area. The launchings should resemble the back movie-type amphibious landings.

Boats from Seattle, Tacoma and Portland react clubs also plan to join the invasion.

Entry fee for the three - day derby is $2. All sports will be turned over by the sponsors—a local radio station and a supermarket chain—to the University of British Columbia and to the association of fish and game clubs for fish and game research.

WELL PATROLLED

Anyone contemplating some ingenious type of fraud in the big fish derby might as well know that officials will have 23 patrol vessels, including RCMP, city police and air-sea rescue boats on hand.

Sinden Back With Whitby Says Brabin

KINGSTON (CP)—Wally Brabin, general manager of the Kingston hockey club, says defenceman Harry Sinden of Whitby Dunlops had "crossed out his frizulites" with that club and would be back with Whitby for the 1958 season.

Sinden, an earlier had expressed interest in playing for the Kingston entry in the eastern division of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A League, apparently was dissatisfied with the job offered him here.

In explaining Sinden's move to the club's annual shareholders' meeting, Brabin said that the player could hardly be expected to move from Oshawa where he had a good position to take a lower paying job in Kingston.

Brabin also announced Kingston will negotiate with four players from the now defunct Cincinnati club which is a part of the Rochester Americans farm system. These players will not be purchased outright but will play in Kingston under an agreement with the Canadiens organization.

Fishing area will be marked on the log, and any fish entered from one of these regions will come under the microscopes of the DFC laboratory. Sponsors said that four prize-winners in a recent Seattle derby were charged with attempt to transmit fraud and were sentenced to seven years.

There are no official handicaps. Authorities explain that it is usually a rank amateur who captures the biggest fish.

Fishing will be confined to the

Irate Fans Demand Refund After Main Bout Is Halted

Protesting against the sudden ending of the main wrestling attraction, irate wrestling fans staged a demonstration in the Kenora City Arena last night demanding their money back.

Police rushed around the upstairs main office and the downstairs ticket offices shouting their demands. The main part of the usual Friday night crowd remained to see what might happen. One arrest was made.

The crowd slowly dispersed after the arena management put in a call for police reserves. A half dozen officers arrived on the scene but at no time did the crowd get out of hand.

The scheduled main bout between Ed and Bill Miller and Bobo Brasil and Dara Singh was abruptly halted by Referee Lou Pitocca after three minutes of action when Dara Singh, the crowd ignored a warning that the bout would be stopped if options persisted in pelting the wrestlers with missiles, mainly beer cups.

The Miller brothers were downed with paper pellets when they started for ringside. The crowd closed in on them, booing the missiles which hit them. Finally the Millers turned and went back to the dressing room.

Referee Pitocca investigated and it was announced over the public address system that one of the Miller brothers had sustained a minor head affair being struck by a piece of iron wrapped in paper. It was then the fans started booing and throwing.

This prompted the warning that the bout would be halted if another object was thrown in the ring. Everything went well for three minutes, then someone threw a paper cup into the ring.

Referee Pitocca did not hesitate. He ordered the wrestlers to the dressing room and left the ring himself. The crowd waited for some minutes then began attendants started to clean up the ring, signifying the bout was terminated.

The bout with the "bad guys" in wrestling appearances here, have proved unpopular with fans in the area, they did not increase their "popularity" in the main event, when another brother Dan was wrestling Pat Flanagan. They staged a ringside demonstration including the ring and on a couple of occasions were guilty of throwing paper cups into the ring themselves.

They assisted the ring with their brother prior to the start of his bout and he was ordered out by the referee. Their actions appeared to be the prelude into a scheduled anti-Miller mood. The bout, incidentally, was to be a two-fall affair but when he tripped and pinned Flanagan after bounding off the ropes.

The first fall was won by Maurice Lapointe who defeated Pat Fraley after eighteen minutes of wrestling.

It was announced that next week's main bout would be a "world's championship affair" between the current titleholder, Dick Hutton and Yukon Eric.

Four Canadians Readying for Moscow Shoot

CONNAUGHT RANGES, Ont. (CP) — Four Canadians are shooting at the national pistol and rifle championships here as a tuneup for the world championships at Moscow later this month.

They are RCMP Cpl. Jim Zervis of Hamilton, Ont., who will shoot only in pistol competitions at Moscow; and smallbore rifle experts Corporal Gerry Ouellette, Windsor, and Edmond L. Warner of Summerville, Que.

Bob and Warner both had firsts in Friday's smallbore matches.

17 BULLSEYES

Bob shot a 396-point score of a possible 400, to win the 100-yard match for iron sights and with 17 bullseyes in the 20 scoring, a dime-sized circle at the centre of the target.

Warner won the 100 - yards sporting rifle match, fired from prone position, with 190 of a possible 200, including 11 bullseyes in the 5-string.

Ouellette, 34, who has been shooting since he was 12, is "very excited" about the chance to travel behind the Iron Curtain.

MAY NOT SEE MUCH

He said he is sure whether the team will be able to see more of Russia than Moscow and its ranges.

The Canadians will be away for two weeks, returning Sept. 1.

The four-day Ontario Rifle Association matches wound up here Friday. Today the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association services rifle meet gets in full swing Monday with some preliminary events scheduled for Sunday. Final of the pistol and rifle grounds to-

Miller, Durelle Bout Looms For-Montreal

NEW YORK (AP) — President Truman K. Gibson of the International Boxing Club said Friday he hopes to sign Archie Moore for a defence of his light-heavyweight title against Canadian Yvon Durelle at the Montreal Forum, Oct. 22. The bout would be televised.

Gibson conferred with Jack (Doc) Kearns, co - manager of Moore. Kearns said Moore was interested in fighting Durelle of Belle Isle, Nfld., in Oct.

In his last defence Moore knocked out Tony Anthony in the seventh round at Los Angeles, Sept. 30, 1957. Anthony since stopped Durelle.

Durelle, holds the Canadian and British Empire light heavyweight titles. He stopped South Africa's Mike Holt at Montreal, last July 31.

In Moncton, Durelle's manager, Lou Viau, was commended:

"We'll just have to wait and see if Moore will agree to terms."

Shaban said he was talking with Jack Kearns, Durelle's New York manager, Friday.

He said he also conferred with Moore's manager Jack Kearns today but nothing definite resulted."

Leafs, Royals Keep Pace in International

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Chakales, former major leaguer now pitching for Rochmond Virginians, knows yesterday's debut didn't make a dent in a close ball game.

But it did make the opener of an International League twi - night doubleheader to Rochester Red Wings 8-7, the Virginians losing scoreless tie on their hands in the nightcap. Close in the eighth as Dereo Johnson hit a three-run homer.

BISONS SPLIT

Buffalo Bisons bounced back to beat Columbus Jets 6 - 4 after losing the first game of their doubleheader 3 - 2 as Minneapolis Royals edged Havana Sugar Kings 4-3 and Toronto Maple Leafs defeated Miami Marlins 5-4.

Getting only eight hits in the nightcap, the Bisons made seven of them count for six runs to get a split. Benny Daniels recorded his 10th triumph of the year for the Bisons in the opener.

The score was tied 2-2 in the sixth inning when Columbus pitcher Raul Sanchez of the Sugar Kings walked George Anderson with the bases loaded for the go-ahead winning marker. Bob Lennon of the Royals opened the inning with a frame to add a little frosting to the cake.

Rene (The Whip) Valdes, a lanky righthander, went the route for the Royals to register his 12th victory against 15 setbacks.

ROCKY TIES RECORD

First baseman Rocky Nelson tied a 36-year-old club home run record as Leafs defeated the Marlins.

Nelson's homer, which led off the fifth inning, was his 30th of the season and equalled the output of Red Wings, who established the mark in 1925. Nelson is a cinch to break the record. There are 26 games remaining in the 154 - game schedule. When Wings collected his 36 homers Leafs played a 168-game schedule.

Lew Morton hit a bases-empty home run for Toronto in the fifth inning. The loss Miami run was scored in the fifth when short stop Bob Micelotta homered.

Righthander Eddie Blake went the distance to pick up his eighth win in 16 decisions.

Eskimos Defrost Tiger Cats, Stamps Swamp Golden Bears

HAMILTON (CP) — Jackie Parker was in for one of his playing nights but it was long enough to lead Edmonton Eskimos to a 19-7 exhibition football win over the Grey Cup champion Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Don Getty, spindly-legged graduate of the University of Western Ontario led the Eaks most effectively and the visitors were behind 7-0 to Hamilton at half-time following a scoreless first period.

It was Parker who fired 16 yards to halfback Jo-Bob Smith in the third quarter for the first Edmonton touchdown, then added a touchdown himself in the fourth.

INSURANCE MARKER.

Jim Shipka added an insurance touchdown late in the game with a three-yard plunge, culminating a drive from midfield. Lee Mohre for the only conversion of the game.

Tiger-Cats got on the scoreboard first when Gerry MacDougall's kick, aimed for a field goal, went wide to count a single.

Ron Howell scored the home town's only touchdown early in the second quarter.

For Hamilton, Hubert Bobo, former Ohio State half, shone both ways. He piled up 54 yards on 11 carries and contributed the lone 11-yard runs in Hamilton's lone touchdown drive.

SARNIA (CP)—Calgary Stampeders minus quarterback with the same abandon that they minted plays Friday night and came up with a 33-1 victory in an exhibition football game with Sarnia Golden Bears of the Ontario Rugby Football Union.

The Western Interprovincial Football Union team had five pivots showing the 5,000 fans here Friday night.

Calgary and Sarnia rocked to a 1-1 tie in the first quarter, then with two downs gone, Nobby Wirkowski came in late in the second and scored the touchdown parade.

SCORED TWO

Dick Washington plunged for two and Dean Renfro and end Ernie Warlick took passes for touchdowns. Jim Bakhtiar, the Iranian fullback who was an American rookie with the University of Virginia, crashed through for the other touchdown.

Doug Brown, who kicked the single in the first quarter converted field goals for the two conversions.

The only Bear to hit the scoreboard was import quarter Frank Hall, who matched Brown's first-quarter single.

Calgary picked up 20 first downs to the Sarnia 12. The Stamps threw 25 passes and completed 14, but two were picked off by the Bears.

Sarnia completed six of the 20 tried.

Carkner Bests Sleepy Dawe Point Blanks Cobourg 2-0

COBOURG\ — Sleepy Dawe, Cobourg Merchants brilliant mound ace, met the inevitable here, last night.

Dawe, almost invincible under the lights on the home diamond set his mates down in order as Point Anne's righthander, bowing in a thrilling mound duel 2-0 as the Oz Pointers rode to their second victory in as many played starts over the lakeshore squad.

The third game of the four-of-seven district softball league finals will be played tonight at Point Anne starting at 8 sharp.

Dawe, assisted in the first innings when the Pointers scored both their runs, then settled down to a bitterly-fought pitching battle with Carkner. The Cobourg hurler reached for one of the first-inning klowed but two more singles over the rest of the eight-inning route. He struck out ten and issued four walks.

Carkner was never in better form. He sprayed six hits over the ten-inning route, registering a pair in the sixth. Twelve Cobourg batters reached at a safety but while only two got a free ticket to first base.

The game was won and lost before a lot of the faithful had settled in their seats.

Carkner, the first Pointer up, reached first on Cobourg's first baseman Jackie Marsh's passed ball. Jackie Wardhaugh drew a pass and both runners moved up a base on a sacrifice bunt by Ken Dawe tossed another free ticket to first baseman Wardhaugh going to third, later crossing the late on an infield out by Bill Shaw. Goalie Carkner out and Pat Gilmour smacked out the first of the Oz Pointers trio of hits. Doug Sadler was tossed out to end the inning.

The Pointers' started mild threats in the fourth and fifth innings when Gilmour and Jones batted out singles but Dawe was down to choke the rallies. He retired the last twelve men to face him.

Carkner was brilliant in the clutches. He had two men on and none out in the fourth and sixth, but retired the side. Without damage done. Again in the eighth and ninth Cobourg put two runners aboard but "died" as the Ox Pointer hurler forced batters to fly or ground out.

"Sleepy" tried hard to pull his game out of the fire, smashing out a double and single, but Carkner, Wardhaugh to pin and O'Brien singling to round out Cobourg's half-dozen safeties.

Pat Gilmour had two of the Pointers' trio of singles. Dave Jones getting the other.

Roly Campbell and Pat Marchie will likely get the nod for mound duty in tonight's tussle at Point Anne.

SEATTLE (CP) — The best speedboats and the finest drivers in North America—including Bob Hayward in Miss Supertest II of London, Ont.—Sunday will try to block Seattle's Bob Muncey in Miss TimeTavern as he makes his bid for a third successive victory in the Gold Cup race.

Little Headway Made on Interlock Sked

TORONTO (CP) — Representatives of Canada's nine major football teams made little headway at another meeting Friday on the question of setting up an inter-locking schedule between the East and West.

Don McPherson of Regina, chairman of the Canadian Football League's interlocking schedule committee, reported the Big Four unions definitely favor such a partial East-West schedule. It was decided that both the Big Four and Western Interprovincial Football Union should discuss the matter further at separate meetings and report to him by Oct. 1.

McPherson said he will decide then after hearing view of both leagues what further action will be taken. He believes the Big Four and WIFU will come up with solid proposals about a limited interlocking schedule.

Asked whether there is a possibility a partial schedule would be introduced for the 1959 season, McPherson said: "I just don't know."

Marlene, Mary Clash Again In Canadian Women's Final

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SASKATOON (CP)—The Canadian women's golf championship will be decided Saturday in a battle of titans.

It pits Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto, who has won it three times, now as the defending champion, against Mary Lena Faulkner of Calgary who has lost four times.

The two were to battle it out in a 36-hole match today. They qualified for spectacular golf in Friday's semi-final.

Mrs. Streit, a 36-year-old secretary who formerly lived in Kitchener, dropped fastidious putts on the 18th and 21st holes to stay in the running and then win on the first hole over Mrs. Ron Hunt, Jamison of Edmonton. Mrs. Streit, 5-foot-6 and blonde, weighs 130, of Winnipeg, 6 and 5.

MARLENE FAVORED

On the basis of her previous four victories—the first was in 1951—and her triumphs in the Canadian and women's amateurs, Mrs. Streit was favored to win the battle in the gallery at the Saskatoon Golf and Country Club had been made. Miss Gay is sentimental favorite, hoping she can leave the runner-up line behind.

Miss Gay's sensational golf display Friday left the crowd of 500 spectators gasping as she poured on the big one.

She was particular at the 20th hole when she and Mrs. Jamison came in all even. Mary's drive was long and straight down the out and far over the green, leaving a "practical" putt from the edge. She sank it.

EXTRA HOLES CLOSE

That forced extra holes. The two teed off the 19th in par fives, split the 20th in one-over-par fours when Mrs. Jamison produced a four-foot putt that would have sunk it, and halved the 21st in bogie fives.

Mrs. Jamison boldly stroked in the 30-foot downhill putt that, putting the pressure on Miss Gay again. She calmly produced another tough putt from eight feet to halve the hole.

The 22nd hole with both so tired they said they could barely lift their clubs, Miss Gay had a drive and Mrs. Jamison a dribble.

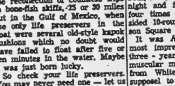
Mrs. Streit was deadly with her second shot, landing behind and dropped her putts with regularity to defeat Miss Jamison. Mrs. Streit had up well to the seventh hole, but the pace told and she was unable to match the veteran the rest of the way.

Be Sure of Your Life Preservers

For a great many years a high percentage of the life jackets in use on pleasure craft and commercial steamships have been constructed of canvas stuffed with kapok. When new and immersed in clean water, these jackets do the job for which they are intended.

They have been under suspicion, however, since 1938 when many lives were lost in a ship sinking. The kapok jackets failing to float as intended. The real answer to the water-proof and flotation qualities of kapok has come to light recently through an accidental discovery on a Danish steamship named Helge Juul.

Mr. Ejler Jensen of the Danish Ships Inspection Service, h a s learned that for 20 years m o r e than have been going to sea with faulty life jackets. One day, while testing life jackets, he accidentally placed one of them in a watergasoline mixture. It sank almost immediately.



Kapok floats is light, fluffy and very resistant. But it is covered with a waxlike substance which almost any oil product will dissolve and destroy rather quickly. That done, kapok no longer is waterproof and it sinks at once, as he described the process as "fantastically."

From the convenience standpoint, kapok jackets are superior to cork or balsa. They are soft and they fold easily into irregularly shaped storage places. They make good cushions, always providing that they have been kept away from oil or gasoline.

Somewhat recently the manufacturers of kapok life preservers began recognizing the fact that oil or gasoline renders kapok the useless. It has been excluding the kapok fibers in plastic bags or covering them before covering them with canvas. Thus the destructive effects of either oil or gasoline can be blocked effectively.

As this is written, the writer has almost shriveled against all the recollection of countless trips in home-fish skiffs, 25 or 30 miles out in the Gulf of Mexico, when the only life preservers in the boat were several old-style kapok cushions which no doubt would have failed to float the load of fish contained in the water. Maybe I was just born lucky.

But I don't like to take chances. You may never need one — let us hope that you don't — but when you do need one, there is no substitute.

MOSQUITO CONTROL

Those who have had an annual holiday weather pest, the mosquito, well controlled only in rather rare cases, have found that the use of insecticide, usually kerosene.

Draining marshes is apt to be costly and time consuming. Spraying the drained area, also costly, destroys the mosquito larvae; in addition it destroys most of the vegetation. In short, a marsh which has been drained under the mosquito control program was quickly converted into useless land, a biological desert.

Now some smart biologists have come up with a new idea in mosquito control. Instead of draining marshes they construct dikes about seven to degree the water. Spraying is eliminated entirely.

Mosquitoes do not like it a t all water for breeding. What larvae does manage to hatch out s o o n finds itself converted into f i s h food. The wildlife which uses the marshes benefits by the increased depth, and the areas continue to function as marshes should or even more effectively than former methods.

HOOKING MORTALITY

For a good many years, it has been a moot question as to t h e mortality among released fish which have been hooked on bait as compared to those which were hooked on fly. Arguments were loud and long, but there the matter stayed, status inconclusive.

Now Michigan comes forward of an experiment designed to decide the matter, after which Inches. Instead of bait, "hardware" spinning lures were used.

Fifteen anglers fished for five hundred and eleven hours w i t h spinning and "hardware" spinning lures. Twelve hundred and fifty-nine trout were caught, and released. The number of trout taken on fly was 1.3 per cent. Of the number of fish caught on spinning lures, 4, 6 per cent died after release.

I suppose that this proves something, but it fails to alter in any way my personal conviction that a trout formed when spinning rigs were first introduced and which I have not altered since then. It is this — viewed from any angle, a spinning rig has no rightful place in a trout stream.

Ace Armstrong Whips Calhoun

NEW YORK (AP)—Undefeated Gene (Ace) Armstrong of Elizabeth, N.J., turned puncher Friday night and floored Rory Calhoun, four times en route to a one-sided 10-round decision at Madison Square Garden.

It was Armstrong's 16th win and seventh by knockout today of his three - year career. Calhoun, a muscular middleweight from Great White Plains, N.Y., was supposed to be the puncher but was fatigued from trying to topple the punching.

The 26-year-old Armstrong, who weighed 160% to 154, floored his 32-year-old rival in the first, second, fourth and sixth rounds and staggered him in several other rounds of the bristling battle.

Al Balding Only Favorite Remaining in Millar Golf

TORONTO (CP)—Al Balding of Markham is the only pre-tournament favorite remaining today as the Canadian match play championship move into the semi-final round at the Islington Golf Club course.

Balding, runner-up for the Millar Trophy last year, won his two matches Friday in easy style to move into this morning's semi-finals with veteran Lloyd Tucker of Kitchener Rockway and Joe Noble, Toronto Thornhill, and Bill Kozak, Port Robinson, two dark horses who upset some of the favorites.

GIANT KILLER

Kozak was the giant-killer, upsetting defending champion Bill Mawhinney of Burlington and Vancouver, one up, in the third round. Noble toppled Kitchener's Gerry Kesserling, 2 and 1, in his quarter-final.

Noble opposes Balding in the first semi-final, Kozak is pitted against Tucker.

Balding advanced with a 5 and 4 win over Lou Cumming, Toronto Gold Club, in the round-of-16, and a 3 and 2 victory over Frank Whibley, Buffalo Park Club, in the quarter-final.

TUCKER TOOK SMITH

Tucker rallied on the last nine of his quarter-final to oust Norm Smith, Toronto York Downs, 2 up.

Kozak defeated Gordon Bryden, Toronto Mississauga, one up in his quarter-final. Kozak's morning round was a battle of nerves with Mawhinney.

Losers of Thursday's first and second rounds played an 18-hole medal consolation round. Lyle Crawford of Vancouver shot a 69 to take $100. Hal Butler of Oshawa had a 69 for $80. Bill Richardson of Brampton received $60 with a 73.

Among other money winners was Ben Norris of Timmins, with 75.

SPORT IN BRIEF

RELEASE HALFBACK

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts released import halfback Don Feller, formerly of the University of Kansas Friday. A first-year player, he was used infrequently during the Big Four club's first two exhibition games. Argos also add the playing status of import half Corky Tharp is still in doubt. The two-year veteran with Toronto suffered a broken thumb during Wednesday's game with Calgary Stampeders.

PALMER WITHDRAWS

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Masters champion Arnold Palmer, top money winner in the current golf tour with $60,000, pulled out of the $35,000 Milwaukee Open Friday after the second round. The La-trobe, Pa., golfer said his wife, Winnie, gave birth to their second daughter, Aug. 2 and is due home from the hospital today. He wanted to be home with her.

Nine Lives of Elfego Baca Newest Disneyland Classic

By BOB THOMAS

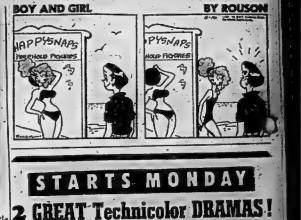
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Latest to join the larger - than - life folk heroes of the Walt Disney stable is a handsome young Latin from New York's Staten Island named Robert Loggia.

Having chronicled the real and legendary exploits of Davy Crockett, Andy Burnett, Zorro and others, Disney now is taking on a new figure. He is Elfego Baca, who died in 1945 at the end of a fantastic career in the American southwest.

A onetime friend of Billy the Kid and foe of Pancho Villa, he managed to escape unharmed from dozens of six-shooter encounters. The most notable was when he fought a lone 35-hour gun duel against 84 Texas cowboys. He killed four and wounded eight.

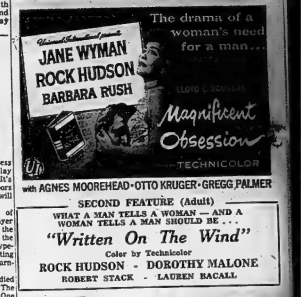
This adventure is featured in the first sequence of the Nine Lives of Elfego Baca, which will launch the Walt Disney Presents (formerly Disneyland) series this fall. More will follow.

Should it get the full Davy Crockett treatment, that could mean that Loggia might be identified with Baca for the rest of his acting life. Does that worry him?



"Not at all," he replied. "Fess Parker has been able to play other roles besides Crockett. It's true that they're all the outdoors type. But I don't think that will happen to me.

Bob is a New York boy of Italian descent, a football player and journalism graduate of the University of Missouri. But the footlights won out over the typewriter and he tried his luck in life in New York. His 1954 earnings: $1,000.



But he kept trying and studied with coach Stella Adler. The jobs started coming in TV. One on Playhouse 90 brought him to the attention of the Disney studio. Now he's Elfego Baca.

"It's my first time in boots, and I'm having the time of my life," he confessed.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Sunday, Aug. 10, 1958

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — That spiritual guidance which you seek is within easy reach. Either through study or listening to inspired advisor. However, take care on the road and must be cautious in your speech, your attitude towards others.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — By reverting to the teachings you had at your parents' knees, and adding the best of what you have since learned, you will get a lot of your present dilemma. However, guard against disputing present harmony at home or there is trouble.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — A splendid day for listening to the voice of your own conscience as well as fine preachers who shower pearls of great wisdom on you. However, don't worry over some situation so intense that you ruin your digestion and good fellowship.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — By changing your ideas you will soon be able to solve personal problems amazingly well. Live more ideally but take care you do not argue over money with an opinionated friend and waste time foolishly.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — It is imperative today that you do not get into any hassle with anyone over financial or property matters for the simple reason that you have an axe to grind with a Bigwig. Be absolutely certain before you act or speak.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) — Give particular attention now to civic or philanthropic affairs. Also, it will be possible now to get the support and backing from merchantmen, banking institutions and the like for the happy conclusion of any current interest.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Excellent day for getting an unlikely new and better setup that you have long aspired to. Put in motion quickly and let it work successfully. Gain greater knowledge, too, in many directions.
